Two Ring Wedding Unites Faye Johnson, H. Windsor

Rings and vows were exchanged today in All Saints Anglican Church as Faye Nellie Louaine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, became the bride of Haley D. Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Windsor of Collingwood. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Boddy and the Rev. E. C. Moore.

The setting was a background of pink and white gladioli in baskets. Mrs. Stuart Mitchell of Lang sang the "Lord's Prayer" just before the bride entered, and as they signed the register, "O Perfect Love." The wedding march and accompaniment was played by Mrs. A. Logan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely wedding gown of white satin with inserts of lace in the design that were repeated in the long train. Her finger tip veil was caught to a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Miss Georgina Windsor, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was frocked in pink satin with pink net and wore a picture hat of pink mohair. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ernest Smith, wearing blue satin and net, and Miss Grace Marshall dressed similarly in yellow. Their pleated headdresses were in matching shades. Each attendant carried a Colonial bouquet of roses. Miss Doreen Johnson, younger sister of the bride, was her flower girl and wore pale blue dotted nylon and a sweetheart hat to match and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Bill Millen. Ushers were the bride's uncle, Mr. Melville Adams of Toronto, and Mr. Donal Allen.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a gown of grey crepe with lace and wore a picture hat of black mohair, black accessories and red roses in her corsage. Mrs. Windsor, mother of the groom, was in a black and pink ensemble with wide-brimmed hat of black taffeta and pink gloves and her corsage was of pink roses. They assisted the bridal party to receive the guests afterward at Club Aragon.

Later, wearing a navy dress, with picture hat to match and topcoat and accessories in loganberry shade, the bride left with her husband to spend a honeymoon at Brant Inn, Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Windsor will reside at 388 Armstrong Drive.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

KILL NOXIOUS WEEDS

The weeds in that vacant lot on your street are unsightly . . : and they're a nuisance too. The seeds blow into neighborhood gardens and cause extra back-breaking work for everybody. Why not arrange to get together with your neighbors some evening soon to kill those weeds . . : and tidy up the lot while you're at it. You'll improve the appearance of your community, cut down your own garden work, and demonstrate your "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Consideration of Rights An Aid to Happiness

A woman once said to me that the first three years of her married life were bitterly unhappy. She and her husband were in a perpetual fight over everything and nothing. Then she suddenly realized that it was just as important for him to be happy as it was for her to be and she began stroking his fur the right way, instead of getting into his hair, and the result was the storybook ending, "and they lived happily ever afterwards."

Dorothy Dix

I wonder if this isn't the whole of the law and the prophets about how to make marriage a success, instead of the prelude to divorce? I wonder if what's the matter with marriage isn't just plain, unadulterated selfishness, instead of the seven deadly sins? For, after all, the number of philandering husbands and wives is small, and when we see so many of our friends, whom we know to be people of high principles and who were desperately in love when they married each other breaking up their homes because they can't get along together, we can't understand how it happens.

Yet perhaps the reason is just as plain as the noses on our faces. It's because both the husband and the wife sought their own particular pleasure. Each wanted the other to be happy and have a perfectly blissful time doing the things that he or she personally liked to do. Otherwise no soap.

Ideals Totter

Probably every young couple who gets married started out with the full determination to be an ideal husband and wife and to do everything they can to make each other happy, and the first rift in the lute comes when they discover that they haven't the same taste and habits and that the thing one dotes on doing, bores the other one to tears.

The wife wants to dress up and step out of evenings. The husband wants to sit at home and rest his feet. The wife likes plain cooking. The husband is an epicure. The wife is extravagant, the husband thrifty. Each is determined to change the other to the way he or she was brought up, and each considers the other a meanie, or a tyrant, or a tightwad, because he or she will not adapt himself or herself to the other.

So many marriages goes on the rocks. Another home is broken up. Another batch of children are made motherless or fatherless. All because a man or woman considered it more important that he or she should have his or her way than that a home should be kept together.

Theoretically every wife wants her husband to be happy, but the catch in it is that he has to be happy her way. He has to live in the house she picks out. He has to eat the food she sets on the table. He has to give up his friends for her friends. He has to let her rear the children according to her standards. Or else.

And the queer part of it all is that these women, who rule their husband with a rod of iron, so seldom even give a single thought as to whether they are making their husband happy or not. Apparently how a husband feels about being made a doormat doesn't concern them. They've got what they wanted and that is all that counts with them.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, August 15

Sunday's horoscope shows a rather static condition of affairs, generally, with little disposition for enjoyment, social activities or romantic adventure. The augurie are for a rather serious state of mind and emotions in which ther might be an inward turning toward spiritual or mystical reflection or contemplation. It would be well to sidestep suspicious or subtle complications, intrigues or delusions.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a period in which they may be inclined to be morose, introspective and suspicious. Social, business, mental and romantic inclinations may be static or else lean toward the illusive, subtle, crafty, easy victims for dupes and spurious propositions. Under such morose or distorted state of mind, philosophic, mysteries or escape literature might prove consoling. But discriminate even in that diversion.

A child born on this day may be of the introvert type, with a studious, contemplative and nonresistant disposition. It may be easily duped, even by its own suspicions or gloom.

For Monday, August 16

Monday's astrological forecast is for a depressed and disturbed outlook in which the energies and emotions are likely to seek outlet and escape in some overwrought, dangerous and excitable expression. The physical condition might be at the root of this fixation, or restless, feverish or emotional urges might incite to rash, reckless and regretable actions. Accidents, fires, dangers are around and machinery should be guarded against.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is might take themselves in hand, as a tendency to the rash, hectic, wayward and dangerous, might flare into explosive heights, regrettable and having disagreeable reactions on health, digestion and as well on domestic or social peace of mind or happiness. Calm control and determined effort to sidestep diaster are recommended. Business could have some atomic explosions as well.

A child born on this day is likely to be temperamental, reckless, difficult and dangerous—to itself and its interests. Early discipline could prove effective in inculcating calm and control, as "temper tantrums" might be evidenced early.

Eye For Fashion In New France

MONTREAL, Aug. 14—(CP)—The women of New France three centuries ago were as chic as their modern counterparts of Montreal and even in those days fashion was important.

"Then the women were not just cooks, housekeepers, courtesans or princesses," said Roger L. Regor, professor of costume history at the Central School of Arts and and Crafts. "A great lady of this period was Madame de la Lande who negotiated an exchange of prisoners between Count Frontenac and Sid William Philps when Quebec was attacked in 1690.

She wore an attractive dress, similar to the type fashionable in France a year or two earlier. Each new ship from France brought back from Paris new dresses, fabrics, millinery and accessories which were copied and worn at the court of the Governor."

Prof. Regor has designed historical costume dresses worn by waitresses in several hotels in the Laurentians.

First Purchase Of Wheat At Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Aug. 14.— The Quaker Oats plant here reported Friday that on Thursday it purchased the first 1948 wheat. The grain, grown by George Blow who farms near the government elevator on Eleventh street, graded No. 1 Northern, weighed 63 pounds to the bushel and was running around 10 bushels per acre.

Railway Reports

Wheat harvesting will be general across the prairies in another two weeks, railway crop reports said Friday. Rye harvesting is now under way or about to start, and is 90 per cent completed in the Warman-Humboldt area. Harvesting of oats and barley has started in some areas in Saskatchewan.

Recent rains in central and northern Saskatchewan have checked drouth deterioration and helped fill out grain, but more rain is needed to complete filling and help late crops along for feed.

Crop conditions remain poor in the Shaunavon, Wood Mountain, Swift Current and Tisdale areas, and some fields between Rosetown and Saskatoon have been plowed under or are being used for feed.

Wheat harvesting should be general in Manitoba next week, with ampel moisture reported and all grains in good condition.

In Alberta, wheat harvesting has started in the Taber area and should be general in the south next week. Excellent growing weather was reported in the north, with prospects of a bumper yield in all crops.

Labor Act Scored By CCF

EDMONTON, Aug. 14—(CP).—The CCF promises, if elected in the August 17 Alberta general election, to repeal legislation which provides for penalties against organizations and individuals guilty of illegal strikes or walk-outs.

The CCF in its platform declares it will wipe out those amendments to the Alberta Labor Act passed at the last session of the Legislature by the Social Credit Government. The CCF would put into effect "trade union act to speed up the settlement of industrial disputes through collctive bargaining."

Urging approval of a publicly-owned power system in the plebiscite in conjunction with the election, the party declares that rural electrification is one of the major planks in the CCF platform.

The plebiscite will ask Albertans if they want rural electrification development by private enterprise or by the government's Alberta Power Commission.

The CCF also promises a province-wide system of hospital and health care regardless of the individual's ability to pay and an immediate survey of road needs with a "vigorous program of market-road improvements."

A CCF Government would pay 50 per cent of the cost of elementary and secondary education and continue equalization grants to school divisions.

Coast Air Control Centre Directs Over Vast Area

MONCTON, N.B., Aug. 14 (CP) —One of North America's two oceanic air control centres, situated at the Moncton airport and operated by the federal department of transport, has a jurisdiction extending from the New Brunswick-Maine border to mid-Atlantic and covering hundreds of thousands of square miles.

Moncton Air Control is closely linked with the other centre, at New York, and both are associated with the International Civil Aviation Organization.

When an eastbound trans-Atlantic airliner takes off from Canada or Newfoundland it reports to Moncton Air Control, and continues to report every hour until it is halway across the ocean. Westbound planes also report hourly from the time they reach mid-Atlantic.

Course, speed, altitude and position of planes are marked at regular intervals on a 40-foot-long flight progress board, showing at a glance the location of each commercial plane in flight over a vast area. Sometimes at midnight, normally the busiest period, 35 aircraft are posted.

If an hour passes wtihout an airliner checking in by radio, Air Control alerts search and rescue stations as far away as Newfoundland and Bermuda. Then, if authorities consider there is a real reason for worry, Air Control co-operates in the search for the missing aircraft. It did this when the Bermuda Queen made a forced landing on the Atlantic with 62 passengers and a crew of seven. They were rescued by a United States coastguard vessel.

Staff Of 26

The air control centre has a staff of 26. O. L. Morris, the senior controller, works in an atmosphere of maps, charts, telephones, teletype machines and recording devices.

The big Moncton airport, five miles outside the city, is an alternative landing base for most trans-Atlantic planes. Each of the three main runways is 4,000 feet long and 200 feet wide. One is being extended to 6,000 feet and getting an eight-inch concrete layer over its asphalt surface. It will be able to accommodate aircraft larger than any yet built. The other runways will be improved similarly.

Cost of the whole deevlopment program, including a new administration, passenger and immigration building, is estimated at $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Its air approaches clear because of its higher elevation than the surrounding countryside, the Moncton airport has an average of more than 2,000 landings and take-offs a month, necessitating continuous operation of a control tower. The airport organization numbers more than 200, in addition to 250 employees of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Gravel Smothers Pedigreed Bulldog

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 14 — (ENS). — When Paul O'Sullivan's English bulldog chased a truck last Wednesday afternoon, he didn't know that it was the end of his world that he was chasing, but it was.

The pedigreed dog died under the weight of five yards of gravel, to the grief of his owner, and of those who, like Paul, are acquainted with the aristocracy of the dog-world.

Tuffy O'Toole was his registered name. He was the son of Councillor Peter Macmillan's Captain Ajax and Dewhurst Trudy Belle. On his father's side, the grandsire was Kempston Crusader's Legacy, and the great-grandsire, Kempston Crusader, was one time champion English bulldog of the Dominion.

His mother's side of the family was aristocratic, but not distinguished. His maternal grand-dam was Dewhurst Victoria, and the grandsire Cambridge Skipper, the great grandparents being Nugget's Repulse, sire, and Gathered Gold, dam.

This is the second bulldog bred by Mr. Macmillan to die under an automobile after going to a new owner. The other one died some years ago at Algoma, after being run over by a car, when he eluded his owner, Dr. MacIntosh.

Gore's Landing

"I remember the early expedition into the silent woods, when some luckless young pine, delicately tufted, or beautifuly pointed cedar was cut and pruned for the Christmas tree. Every Canadian who has spent a boyhood in the country where the northern lakes are, remembers these things and many more at Christmas. His heart warms to the like dreamers about him; he thinks well of his country and the people who have made it; and the old words repeat themselves upon his tongue with an especial tenderness—'Peace on earth and good-will to men'."

The village remained much the same in size through the years, a few small industries, a store or two, the hotel and the dock. The congregation continued to be small at times very small. From time to time a family left, or a new family came.

In May, 1887, Trevor Owen, a former cavalry officer, arrived from England with his wife and four children. Derwyn, the eldest, was 10 years of age.

Here the future Primate lived for six years. He went to the little village school. (It was not as in the old land where they wore mortar boards and walked two by two. As he said, it was at this school that he learned some of the great lessons of life. He treasured some of the valuable experience he had here.) For a uniform, he wore a shirt, pants, and one suspender. If you wore two suspenders, it would have appeared that you were putting on airs. In this village and at this school, he made some of the lasting friendships of his life.

Here he got to know people, types of people that later he found in every parish. Here he came close to the real lives of Canadian people. He knew their hopes and fears, their virtues and their limitations. He carried with him into later life a quality of kindly understanding that made him at home with the people of our Dominion, and beloved by all. Like so many who have once lived here and left, he looked back with affectionate memory to this part of the world where the loveliness of nature brings peace to the soul.

Returned, With Thanks

Rabbi Sees Future For Jews In Empire

LONDON, Aug. 12 — (CP). — There is no conflict between British ways and the ways of the Jewish community, Rabbi Israel Brodie said in a sermon when he was installed as Chief Rabbi of the United Hebrew Congregations of the British Commonwealth and Empire.

"You and I must believe that the community through the Commonwealth and Empire is yet destined for still greater things in the service of Israel and mankind," he said. "We must not be dejected or indulge in self-pity or bitterness because there are elements in this country whose behavior is repugnant to the British tradition of freedom and fair play."

Rabbi Brodie succeeds the late Very Rev. J. H. Hertz.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

RECOVER FROM ERRORS

Everybody makes mistakes. That platitude fits the best bridge players the same as anybody else, though of course the best do not make too many errors. But you will usually find one striking difference between the real star and the average pretty fair player. The top-rankers do not let themselves get upset by a slip, but gather themselves together and make a strenuous effort to recover from the loss threatened by the lapse. Lesser performers are prone to go into a panic, upon realizing a mistake, and so take the full loss from their fumble.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	4♥

Several different kinds of bidding produced that contract in a pair duplicate, and several types of play ensued. At a number of tables West led the club 7 to the J, the heart 5 was led to the 10 and K, and East sent back the spade 2. In some cases South made the correct play of the spade 10—based on reckoning that East might make that lead if holding the J, but would not if holding the K. In these cases, the 10 forced the K and A, leaving the Q high. A heart trick was then conceded, and the rest were the declarer's, giving him an extra trick.

At two tables South played hastily on the spade 2 return, putting in the Q, so that the K covered by the A left East with the high J. Immediately one of those declarers realized his mistake and, sore at himself, promptly led a heart to the A, whereupon East scored the spade J and held him to exactly game.

The other South who made the bad play of the Q on the spade 2, went to work to repair the damage, keeping his wits about him. The next thing he did was lead the diamond Q from dummy, ready to finesse. East covered, the A scored, and the diamond 5 was led to the 10. Back to his own hand came this South with the club A and laid down the diamond J, hoping both defenders would follow suit. When they did, the spade 3 was discarded. That assured the same extra trick made by the players who played properly to the third trick. The bacon had been saved.

Your Weekend Question

Under what circumstances can it be logical to jump in the bidding all the way from an ordinary game to a slam without asking about aces or controls by any special measures?

British Contract For N.Z. Produce Protects Farmers

WELLINGTON, N.Z. Aug. 14 —(CP)—The main features of the new seven-year contract negotiated by New Zealand for supply of dairy produce to Britain are that the price is still well below world parity and that New Zealand has secured the right to divert produce to other countries if necessary for the procurement of essential commodities.

The latter provision is likely to be of importance if the dollar situation becomes worse and New Zealand is unable to purchase essential goods from the United States and Canada under existing arrangements. Early this year New Zealand refused approaches from Canada to buy butter because she was committed to send virtually the whole of her exportable surplus to Britain.

Under the new contract New Zealand will still send almost all her butter and cheese to Britain—97 per cent of her exportable surplus compared with 97½ per cent in the past season—but she has secured a provision that the quantity is subject to review annually or at any time if necessary to produce essential goods selsewhere.

This clause is of special importance in view of a scheme proposed by the Federated Farmers of New Zealand that 1,000 tons of butter and 1,000 tons of lamb, be diverted to North America to pay for essential farm equipment —principally tractors, hay balers, rakes, power motors, and plain and barbed wire—which cannot be obtained in sufficient quantity from Britain.

The farmers contend that unless these supplies can be obtained production must fall. They state that the purchase of this equipment in America would ultimately be to the benefit of Britain as they assert they could produce at least two extra pounds of produce with the new equipment for every pound diverted to America. The Federated Farmers can arrange, if the scheme is credits of $5,000,000 in both the 1948-49 and 1949-50 seasons from the Bank of America.

$1,000,000 For Tractors

Finance Minister Walter Nash is discussing the project with the Federated Farmers, but in the meantime he has announced that a further $1,000,000 has been made available for the purchase of tractors from dollar sources, on condition that tractors he purchased from Britain if available.

The prices fixed under the new dairy produce contract with Britain are considerably above last year's. The butter price is an increase of $6 above last year's, and more than double the price of butter in the early war years. However, it is still well below that at which Britain is buying butter from foreign countries.

The New Zealand contract provides for an annual review of the price with a maximum variation up or down of 7½ per cent in any one season.

New Zealand dairy farmers generally regard the price as satisfactory, although the general view is that it might have been a little higher.

Under the guaranteed-price system farmers are paid an agreed figure related to costs of production and incomes of the rest of the community, and the balance goes into a reserve account which will be used to maintain farmers' incomes in times of falling prices for their produce overseas.

Young N.Z. Newsboy Is Monty's Friend

INVERCARGILL, N.Z., Aug. 14 (CP)—One of Field-Marshal Viscout Montgomery's best friends in New Zealand is Olive Adamson, 12-years-old newboy. When "Monty" was in Invercargill last years Clive offered him a paper but refused to take any payment. The incident led to a friendship which has developed steadily.

Both correspond regularly, Clive tells his friend how he is getting on at school and "Monty" tells him about his travels in many lands. On the anniversary of their meeting Clive received a letter and a collection of photographs to add to his prized Montgomery souvenirs.

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

Fall Fairs Circuit Opens At Belleville Monday, Aug. 16 — Ernie McWilliam's Corn Test Plot On Owen Murray Farm Confirms Results of Last Year — Ayrshire Bull Sells For $4.500.

Canbred 250, one of the domestic hybrid corns, is too weak and wowed in the under-pinning for serious consideration in a local grain program. That is an obvious decision from the test plots Ernie McWilliam is growing this year for demonstration purposes on the Owen Murray farm, along the Peterboruogh-Port Hope Highway.

This variety of Canadian hybrid is congenitally bow-legged. It lacks a stout root system, and most of its stalks are shaped like the sign of parenthesis (). That is one of the immediate results from the McWilliam planting of nine hybrids and five open pollenated varieties. In this enterprise M. McWilliam is repeating the corn display he grew last year on the farm of John Lillico. Final conclusions will have to wait for September, first frosts and other conditions testing the compartive adaptability of these varieties.

On the basis of tests in two successive years, Mr. McWilliam convinced himself that Wis. 625 and 606 can be safely and strongly recommended for local planting. They are vigorous in growth, are well fortified in their root system and are amply cobbed.

Interested farmers can do a little examination themselves. The plantation is close to the highway. The varieties are plainly identified, two rows to each name-stake. The land didn't receive any special treatment.

Other varieties that have done well are Wis. 275 and Wis. 7. As for the McWiliam reference or rating list, Canbred—250 is rubbed out.

County council's scholarship of $100 to be applied on a general course at O.A.C. is one of the prizes for junior farmers at the Peterborough Exhibition which Don Milburn thinks eligible contestants are overlooking. And for the junior section entries should be at F. C. Paterson's office Aug. 16.

The livestock judging competition is for two divisions of juniors. One is open to the members of livestock clubs only; the other to farmers and farmers' sons under 26 on Aug. 1. Contestants in both divisions judges the same stock,—beef and dairy cattle, heavy horses, sheep and swine. Prizes range from $10 down through $9, $8, $7 and so on to five one dollar prizes.

Section two, for both divisions of contestants, with separate prizes in each division, is a contest in the identification of trees, weeds, hay and pasture plants, seeds of agricultural crops and and common livestock feeds. A total of 30 specimens will be submitted in five classes. Top prizes is $7, second $6 and so on down to five one dollars prizes.

Section three is the agricultural quiz for which at least 25 questions are being prepared. Top prize is $8.

Frank C. Paterson with the help of Murray McRae has been working this week on details of the competitions. Lynn Fair of Ontario county will be in charge of the quiz.

TOLSTOY'S HARVEST SCENE

Russian women doing the work of men on the land perpetuates an old Slav custom, an estimate of women in eastern Europe and down to the Mediterranean that persists into this day of advancing mechanization. They were casually noticed by Tolstoy in his recollection of a harvest scene, nearly a century ago, that presents many familiar aspects of the seasonal work now past its peak in the Peterborough district.

This quotation from his first work 'Childhood," written in 1852, glows with color and action and is replete with detail that is graphically sketched into the broad picture.

'Harvesting was in full swing. The limitless, brilliantly yellow field was bounded only on one side by the tall, bluish forest, which then seemed to me a most distant, mysterious place beyond which either the world came to an end or uninhabited countries began.

The whole field was full of sheaves and peasants. Here and there among the thick high rye where a strip had been reaped one saw the bent back of a woman reaping, the swing of the ears as she grasped the stalks, a woman bending over a cradle in the shade and bundles of rye scattered over the reaped parts of the field which was all covered with corn flowers. In another place peasants in their shirts and trousers stood on the carts loading up the sheaves and raising the dust on the dry, scorched field.....

The peasants voices, the tramp of horses and creaking of carts, the merry whistle of quail, the hum of insects hovering in the air in steady swarm, the odor of wormwood, straw and horses' sweat, the thousands of different colors and shadows with which the burning sun flooded the light yellow stubble, the dark blue of the distant forest, the light lilac clouds, and the white cobwebs that floated in the air or stretched across the stubble,—all this I saw, heard and felt."

In those days of primitive agriculture the grain crop was cut with hand sickles and cradles.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, has received a supply of two publications of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for distribution among persons who are interested in their subjects. One is entitled "Farm Poultry," 117 pages of general information prepared by the staff of the Department of Poultry Husbandry, OAC.

The other is a complete report of the 1948 convention of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, 250 pages. It comprises all the addresses and papers that were given at the convention on such subjects as feed grain problem, winter wheat programs, seed cleaning, pastures and grassland planning, weed control, soybeans, hybrid corn and so on.

These books may be had on application at Mr. Paterson's office.

The contest article by Hugh Renwick of Otonabee is included in the crop improvement book. It was written for the better grasslands essay contest. Here are a few quotations from the Renwick article: "If we improve our grasslands by breaking up old pastures, fertiling and sowing to improved permanent pasture mixtures we can carry more cattle per acre . . This greater production is possible because with the modern grass seed mixtures there is earlier grass in the Spring, better grass in the Summer, and later grass in the Fall.

Better grassland means not only growing but also caring for the grass. To have the most palatable and nutritious grass it must be pastured in rotation and kept clipped down, encouraging growth."

WINTER WHEAT TEST

Superiority of Cornell 595 in a yield test with Dawson's Golden Chaff was demonstrated at the Wheatland Day held at Spruce Grove Farm, Baden, Ont., July 28. It was conducted by W. H. Waddell, wheat specialist of the Department of Field Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College.

Two plots of exactly four acres each had been prepared side by side in the same field and in exactly the same way. It was field of alfalfa-timothy sod and was broken up only two weeks before seeding. A high yield was therefore not expected.

The Waddell report of results continues: "Combining of the two plots could not be done during the field day due to previous rains, but was completed the following week. The grain from each plot was taken to the cleaning plant in Baden and carefully weighed.

The results are somewhat surprising. The four acres of Dawson's yielded 117.7 bushels or 29.4 bushels per acre. The same area of Cornell 595 yielded 147.7 bushels or 36.9 bushels per acre, giving Cornell an advantage of 7.5 bushels per acre.

Some winter killing accurred in each plot but the damage was not extensive. However, the cold Spring with drying winds caused both plots to suffer badly, but Cornell appeared to make a better recovery from this Spring injury and this was reflected in the yield

In test plots throughout Ontario for the last five years Cornell 595 has outyielded Dawson's by over two bushels per acre. This new variety was produced at Cornell University, Ithica, N.Y. and was introduced into Ontario in the Fall of 1943. It is highly resistant to loose smut which has been causing heavy losses in wheat fields in Ontario in recent years."

The Burnside sale of Ayrshires at Howick, Que., last Saturday dispposed of 46 head totalling $34,870, an average of $758, a record for Canadian Ayrshire sales. They averaged slightly more than $2,000. Six females averaged $1,716.

MILK GONE WITH COWS

Export of more than 50,000 cows to the United States during the first six months this year represents a loss to Canada of approximately one-quarter of a billion pounds of milk, or the equivalent of more than ten million pounds of butter.

That was one of the causes of this country's butter shortage set out in the brief of the National Dairy Council to the Dominion Cabinet this week recommending remedial action against an increasing scarcity through next winter that gives all the appearance of being more acute than a year ago. Depleted herds cannot be restored in productive numbers as rapidly as they can be sold in an active and remunerative market.

The proposals of the Dairy Council were actuated by a desire to escape the consumer criticism which was directed at the dairies of Canada occupying the front line of the industry. Their conditional suggestions approached the point of authorization of a sale "of a suitable substitute" which newspapers generally interpreted as an expression of approval of margarine.

Recommendation of a sufficient quantity of import butter would have to recognize scant probability of supplies from New Zealand and the Argentine. Return of rationing seemed another dubious alternative. Failing relief from those quarters the Dairy Council suggested a substitute with eventual removal of the butter price ceiling.

Dairy sentiment was plainly stated in the brief. "We leave what substitute is chosen to government policy. All we know is that the industry was so embarrassed by the wave of consumer criticism during last winter's shortage that we feel another must be averted."

Adds Up

Butter stocks on August 1 were nearly 13,000,000 pounds below that date in 1947, and it is expected that the overall shortage for this year will be around 10,000,000 pounds. And that is exactly the figure the brief mentions as the equivalent loss of butter from the sale of those 50,000 cows this year up to the end of June.

The number of milk cows at Dec. 1, 1947 was 3,666,000 or seven per cent less than the 1937-41 average of 3,949,000.

And the number of heifers last December had decreased 2.9 per cent as compared with the total in December 1946.

In 1942 the per capita consumption of milk in all dairy products was 1,283 pounds. Population increased from 11,381,000 in 1940 to the estimated figure of 12,850,000 this year. So, on that basis of population and the 1942 rate of milk consumption, plus another 800 million pounds used on the farms, Canada's domestic milk requirement for 1948 is computed at 17,300 million pounds. This year's production on the basis of the figures to the end of June would be approximately 16,500 million pounds, which was said in the brief to be lowest since 1940.

Another salient quotation from the brief was that nine quarts of milk make one pound of butter. The present ceiling on butter allows the producer 68 cents for his nine quarts of milks as compared with something like 95 cents for the milk when it is sold as fluid milk.

These are some of the facts and reasons why the membership of the National Dairy Council is apprehensive of being against left holding the bag as a long winter period until next April approaches with portent of less butter in the land than a year ago.

Fewer cows, more people, and milk in butter yielding the farmer less than milk in the bottle. That's another brief.

LIVERPOOL — (CP). — Perfumed rubber mats and floor-covering in six different scents are being exported to Far Eastern and South American countries whose inhabitants object to the usual scent associated with rubber.

DOWN YONDER IN the corn field, the tall young husbandman is Ernie McWilliam providing contrast of the merits of several varieties of hybrid corn. His second successive year test plot is on the Owen Murray farm, about four miles west of Peterborough, on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway. Wisconsin 625 and 606 at the right demonstrate their superiority in height, lush leafage, straight, vigorous stalks stoutly rooted, and well advanced to maturity, as compared with Canbred 250 that speaks weakly for itself. Fourteen varieties, in double rows, were grown on ordinary soil conditions. The Canadian hybrid 250, below, shows typical specimen that want to lean against something or lie down. They lack the strong root system of the corn shown at the right, and are comparatively short in stalk. Mr. McWilliam's test plots are his own enterprise in offering practical guidance to Peterborough farmers becoming more actively interested in hybrid corn.

Break-in Fails 2 Men Flee From Police

One Uses Revolver To Break Away From Taxi Driver

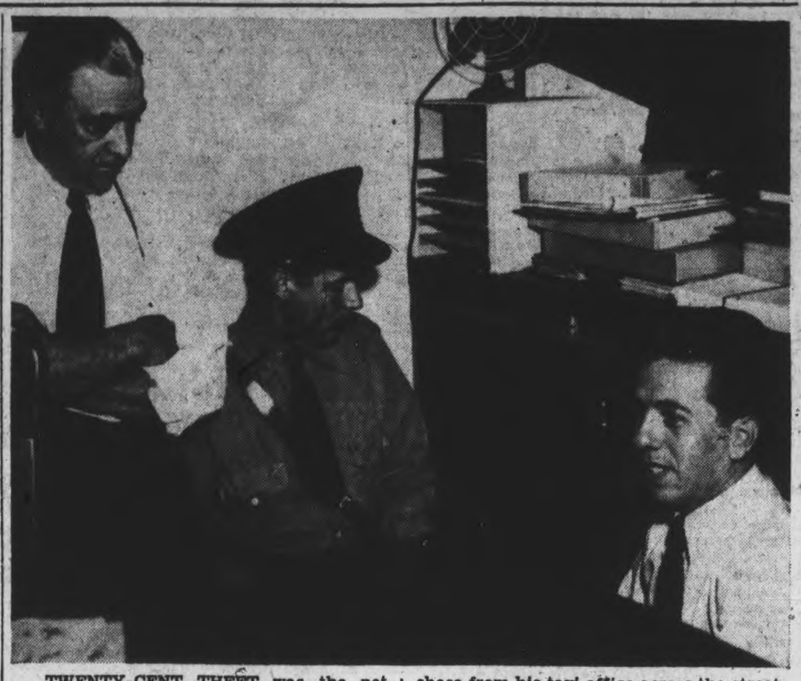
Two men escaped police and volunteer pursuers here Sunday night following their unsuccessful attempt to rob the offices of Cherney Brothers' Furniture Store at 178 Hunter St. West. One of the pair held two men at gunpoint while he slowly backed away before continuing his flight.

The would-be thieves were first detected close to midnight Sunday by PC Stewart Fife, rookie police officer, making a routine check. The two men were standing in the doorway at the rear of the furniture store.

When they were ordered to stop by the officer, the two started to run. They disappeared for a moment behind a sloping ramp, then reappeared running across a flat roof at the back of the store.

One shot was fired by PC Fife as he followed them. The men jumped off the roof, a jump of about 14 feet. Running along the driveway beside the store, the two emerged on Hunter St., where one turned west on Hunter St. and the other ran south across the street and into a laneway out of sight.

Attracted by the shot and the noise of the chase, Edward G. Cooney of 173 Crescent St. and his son Cecil Harvey, ran out on Hunter Street from their taxi office across the road. Mr. Cooney called "Stop!" to the man running west on the street and he and his son overtook the fleeing man.



Draws Revolver

The taxi operator grabbed the man by the shoulder, swung him around. At this point, the man drew a revolver and shoved it against Cooney's stomach. He held father and son at the point of his gun while he slowly backed further along Hunter, then turned sharply and ran.

The office of the furniture store, police found, had been thoroughly ransacked. The investigation showed that the drawers of the office desks had

Remand Minille For Two Weeks

KINGSTON, Aug. 16. (CP) — Nicholas (Nick) Minille, 31-year-old convicted armed robber, was remanded today until Aug. 30 on charges of forcibly escaping from the penitentiary here and freeing two other prisoners, Ulysses Lauzon, Windsor gunman, and Donald (Mickey) McDonald, Toronto high-jacker.

Minille asked two weeks to prepare his defence.

Police said the trio sawed their way out of prison the night of last Aug. 17 after placing dummies in their beds to fool guards. They scaled the prison wall by means of a rope stolen from one of the penitentiary shops.

Capture 1 Man In Store Break-in LONDON, Aug. 16. (CP)—One man is in jail awaiting sentence, two others are being sought and a city constable is nursing a broken left ankle as the result of a breakin at the Brewers' Retail Store early Sunday.

Awaiting sentence is 42-year-old George Richard Stedman, of Vancouver. In city court today he pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and attempted theft and was remanded a week by Magistrate Donald Menzies.

Meanwhile, detectives continued their hunt for two men who were chased from the rear of the store. The constable, a rookie making his first important arrest, returned to the store after a fruitless hunt for the pair and arrested Stedman as the latter came out of the plate glass window.

Cabinet Talks Over Defence With Forrestal

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said today "all aspects of defence co-operation" were discussed at a two-hour meeting of James Forrestal, United States defence secretary, and the defence committee of the Canadian cabinet.

Mr. Claxton and Mr. Forrestal met reporters at a brief, unspectacular press conference. Mr. Forrestal arrived here Sunday on a courtesy visit and will leave tomorrow.

The U.S. secretary said he considered the meeting "a profitable, interesting and useful exchange of views which I hope will continue in the future."

Mr. Claxton said: "One of the most satisfactory things for us was to find out how much the planning of the two countries is moving along the same lines."

Long-Term Question

Mr. Claxton said it was too early to say how much military equipment would be based on British and how much on American design. It was "a long-term question."

Mr. Forrestal said the change in Newfoundland's political status was too recent to give any statement about American defence bases there. He said there have been no discussions between the Canadian and American governments.

Mr. Forrestal was alone on the first of his two visits to parliament hill today.

15 Raiders Board Lake Ship Seize 4 of Crew Members

HAMILTON, Aug. 16—(CP).—Unrest returned to the Great Lakes today as police sought some 15 raiders who swarmed aboard the freighter Westmount and seized four crew members, forcing them to dog-trot through city streets under pain of beatings. Police said they had little to go on because none of the seamen captured Sunday in a brief scuffle reported recognizing members of the boarding party, some of whom carried clubs and one wore a hood.

The captured seamen identified themselves as members of Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union. The Westmount is owned by Canada Steamship Lines, one of four companies the rival Canadian Seamen's Union called a strike against for refusing to sign new bargaining agreements with it.

The CSU claims the Federal Government has recognized it as legal bargaining agent for lake seamen. The companies refuse to deal with the union because they contend it is Communist infiltrated.

The daring raid spread confusion aboard the ship. The boarding party clambered up a ladder from the Steel Company of Canada pier in Hamilton Bay, where the Westmount was docked. Crew members wakened at 6 a.m. said men were running about telling them the ship was about to blow up.

Whistle Confusing

Ten blasts from the freighter's whistle, apparently meant to sound a repel-attackers' alarm, convinced some of the crew it was true.

The boarders persuaded four seamen to quit the ship—George O'Brien, 28, Pictou, NS; Russell Hawley, 25, Ingonish, NS; Herbert Corbiel, 22, Honey Harbor, Ont., and Eugene Vacheresse, James River Station, NS. O'Brien, who said his back was injured when pushed against a ladder, later was admitted to hospital for X-rays.

The four seamen said they were made to run through the streets in their stocking feet, closely followed by a green-colored jeep. If they stopped, they were kicked and beaten. They were set free after several miles of this.

Fourth engineer Bruce Woods said raiders broke into his cabin, where his wife was spending the week-end with him. He said they apologized and left after he told them: "You can't touch me; I'm an officer."

Troops Helping In Flood Areas

EYEMOUUTH, Berwickshire, Scotland, Aug. 16 —(Reuters)—Troops, engineers, and county authorities joined hands today in a drive to fill 20 gaps in communications where bridges were damaged or washed away in the floods which have swept over southeast Scotland since Thursday.

At least 50 road bridges were damaged or destroyed in this area and Nortumberland, most northerly county of England's east coast. Forty of them—including 32 in Scotland—were made impassable.

Landslides blocked many roads as flood waters gradually receded and subsidences undermined railroad tracks.

Continuous watch was kept on the railroad embankment which has been holding back millions of gallons of water from this town of 2,500 inhabitants. The water subsided a little yesterday, but during the night the embankment started to crumble away in places.

Attempts to siphon off the water were expected to be made today, and it was also proposed to bore a hole in the embankment.

29 Estonians Reach Quebec Hope Canada Takes Them

QUEBEC, Aug. 16 (CP)—Immigration officials today were pondering the fate of 29 Estonian refugees who arrived here Saturday night in a little 30-ton craft after crossing the Atlantic from Scotland.

The Estonians, who described themselves as "refugees from Communism," put in at Quebec after several days of battling the current of the lower St. Lawrence river.

They had originally come from Sweden after leaving their Soviet-occupied country. They spent some time in Scotland's western Hebrides before starting across the Atlantic. They arrived at St. John's, Nfld., last month and left for Montreal early this month.

They were questioned by port authorities who discovered they had no Canadian entry papers. Immigration officials placed them in detention barracks and got in touch with headquarters at Ottawa.

No Official Word

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 (CP) — A senior immigration authority said today no official word has been received from Quebec City about the arrival of 29 Estonian refugees who crossed the Atlantic in a 30-ton boat.

Commenting on a Quebec dispatch about the Estonians, who described themselves as "Refugees from Communism," he said a full report from the immigration men there would likely reach Ottawa in 'two or three days."

He declined to say what the status of the 29 would be. Any person seeking entry to Canada must state his case in full to immigration authorities, the official said. The case is studied and a decision made on the basis of that information.

Allied Envoys Again Confer At Kremlin

MOSCOW, Aug. 16.—(AP). — Envoys of Britain, the United States and France conferred again today with Foreign Minister Molotov in the Kremlin.

The series of conferences started July 31.

The western diplomats are seeking a basis for talks to end the east-west differences and to solve the problem of blockaded Berlin.

Stop Clerk On Way To Bank Cash

Liquor Control Board Receipts Snatched In Heavy Noon Crowd

OSHAWA, Aug. 16—(CP).—A bold hold-up man knocked down a lame brewers' retail store bookkeeper, Cecil Bonnetta, 36, shortly after noon hour today in crowded downtown Oshawa, and escaped with a satchel containing $5,000 in cash and $4,000 in cheques.

The pair escaped in a black automobile stolen from Toronto and headed west of No. 2 Highway.

Later police learned from Oshawa police that one of the two men left the west-bound car, and entered a coupe with Manitoba markers. This car moved to the east of Highway 2, and immediately Provincial Police, throughout all eastern Ontario moved to block all roads. At two o'clock no word had been received from any of the police cruisers indicating the car had been found.

Bonnetta told police he had just alighted from his automobile and was walking towards the Royal Bank when he was pushed from behind and the satchel snatched from his grip.

He said the thief made his getaway in a black car driven by an accomplice.

Police say the automobile in which the pair made their escape bore Hamilton area license plates and tallied with the description of one stolen over the week-end in Toronto.

The bandits headed down a one-way street and through stop lights to head west on the old No. 2 Highway. Later one transferred to an east-bound coupe.

All highways in the Oshawa area were blocked by police shortly after the robbery.

Good Description

An accurate description of the man who snatched the satchel was given police by Bonnetta. He was about 40 years of age, five feet nine or ten, 160 pounds, medium complexion and was wearing a straw hat, blue shirt and gray slacks.

As soon as Bonnetta was pushed to the sidewalk, he began to shout for help. He then rushed into the bank and asked employees to notify police.

Oshawa police believe the robbery was carefully planned. They said the bandits must have known Bonnetta visited the bank at noon each Monday and entered by the rear door towards which he was heading at the time of the theft.

Bonnetta told police he had driven as usual from he brewers' store to the bank and just as he walked away after putting a nickel in a parking meter, he was struck from behind.

He said neither his assailant nor the driver of the get-away car had guns.

The holdup men came into town from the direction of Toronto just before the robbery, police were informed by Bonnetta. A boy told police the car almost ran him down as it went through a caution light shortly before the theft.

One man reported to police that the car almost collided with two other automobiles as it travelled at 60 to 70 miles an hour in the wrong direction on a one way street.

Japanese Girl Held For Treason

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP). — Attorney-General Clark today directed the arrest in Tokyo of American-born Iva Toguri D'Aquino in connection with wartime broadcasts over radio Tokyo.

The Attorney-General said Mrs. D'Aquino, native of Los Angeles and the wife of a Portugese citizen, will be brought back to the United States to answer a treason charge.

The Justice Department said Mrs. D'Aquino was one of at least six English-speaking Japanese women to whom United States fighting men applied the name of "Tokyo Rose" as a result of broadcasts beamed to United States forces in the Pacific between 1943 and 1945.

Big Break-Through

ATHENS, Aug. 16—(AP).—The Greek army, exploiting a brilliant break-through on the guerrillas' southwestern flank, advanced nearly two miles today to within 700 yards of the main Grammos summit along the Albanian border. A general staff spokesman said national forces now are turning back to snap a trap on the guerrillas in the southwestern and central areas of the Grammos mountains front.

Russia Prepares Purge List For All Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—Berlin's Liberal Democratic press declared today the Communists have prepared a purge list of hundreds of thousands anti-Communists upon whom revenge would be taken if the western allies left the city.

The newspaper Montags Echo said a Communist fifth column is working in the blockaded western sectors of Berlin, occupied by Britain, the United States and France.

"The Communist spy system has wormed its way into industrial workers' councils, into commerce, into postal and telegraph spstems of western Berlin and there makes systematic preparation for "X-Day"—the day the Communists hope the western allies will leave Berlin," the Liberal Democratic newspaper said.

Berlin's anti-Communists urged the west to take a firm stand in the Big Four negotiations in Moscow, while German Communists prodded the elected city government of Berlin to quit.

Must Not Withdraw

Ernest Reuter, whose election as Lord Mayor of Berlin was vetoed by the Russians in June, 1947, declared "there cannot and must not be a simple and convenient withdrawal" of the western powers from Berlin.

Reuter—a Communist turned Social Democrat—declared Sunday in a broadcast on the American-sponsored German radio that Germans deserve a better judgment by world opinion now than when the war ended.

Reuter was elected Lord Mayor of the City Assembly on June 24, 1947, the Soviets vetoed his election, labelling him anti-Russian. A four-power agreement provides that the election must be approved by all four of the occupying powers.

Berlin's three anti-Communist parties—the Socialists, Christian Democrats and Liberal Democrats—and the anti-Communist Trade Union Federation, demanded also that the western envoys in Moscow take an uncompromising stand on the currency issue. In a memorandum to the western military governments they asked that the British, American and French sectotrs of the city be placed upon a western currency basis.

Report U.S. Buyers Balking At Cattle Prices Asked By Canadian Farmers

Retail Beef Prices Throughout Province Show Little Increase Yet; Livestock Market Slow To React To Change

TORONTO, Aug. 16—(CP).—The Toronto livestock market was slow to react today to the end of the embargo on shipments of Canadian cattle and calves to the United States. Prices moved ahead three to five cents a pound, live weight, on some grades in early trading but the market did not react as sharply as had been expected to the removal of the export restrictions, announced last week.

Cattle and calf receipts, 5,200 head, were normal.

F. J. Bridle, official of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, reported some 15 US buyers who invaded the market balked at prices asked by farmers and dealers.

Some observers reported the asking price was 40 per cent higher than last week. That would mean increases of seven to 10 cents a pound.

One US buyer said he was prepared to pay 26 to 30 cents a pound but could find no takers.

F. C. Fletcher, stockyards manager, said: "Buyers and sellers are all at sea. It may take all day to find out what is going to happen and what the prices will be."

Not At US Levels

He said Canadian cattle could not be expected to sell at US levels. Top price for best steers on the Chicago market last week was 41½ cents a pound, live weight. "Our quality is lower," he added. "US cattle are fed a high quality of corn while Canadian cattle get softer grains and do not finish off so well."

Throughout Ontario, retail prices of beef and veal were generally unchanged although some centres reported increases.

Some restaurants boosted prices. In Toronto, some raised meat sandwiches five cents each last Saturday.

In Kitchener, wholesalers and retailers expected prices might react to the livestock market by Tuesday and go up. In some Cornwall shops meat went up three to four cents a pound. Stratford butcher shops maintained last week's prices but some restaurants increased their charges for meat dishes and sandwiches.

In Toronto, large retaail stores reported that prices of meat were unchanged from last week, although increases are expected before the end of the week. Packers said they have not increased wholesale prices to retailers but advances will follow the livestock market upswing.

St. Thomas reported increases in the retail price of beef ranging from one to 1 cents a pound. Dealers said beef by the carcass went up six cents.

Meanwhile a few restaurants in city have increased price of their meat sandwiches, dinners and salad plates containing meat. Most restaurants, however, held

Arab Snipers Fire On Traffic Near Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Israeli army said Arab snipers fired on Jewish traffic today on the Judean mountain road two miles west of Jerusalem.

The report followed a day in which Jerusalem resounded to the heaviest fighting since the second United Nations truce started four weeks ago. Both Arabs and Jews accused the other side of starting the battle.

The army announcement said there was skirmishing in four areas of Jerusalem and asserted that "Arab military activity continued steadily in the last 24 hours."

The rifle fire in the Judean hills was the first reported against traffic there in nearly three months.

Mortar and heavy machine-gun fire resounded throughout the Jerusalem area Sunday only 48 hours after the deadline for a new truce. Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator, had asked both sides not to fire after the early morning hours of Friday.

The Jews, listing five casualties, said the Arabs were responsible.

(A spokesman for the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion said in Amman the Jews attacked Legion forward posts. The Arab spokesman said the attack was launched after U.N. observers notified the Legion Saturday night that Isroel had accepted Bernadotte's order not not to return fire.

Blast In Reno Leaves 5 Dead

RENO, Nev., Aug. 16. (AP)—Fire, a shattering explosion and panic among several hundred spectators left a toll of five dead, one missing and 137 injured in Reno's worst tragedy in its history.

The fire broke out about 10 a.m. Sunday in a frame and brick building in the old business district. It drew several hundred onlookers, massed around the scene just a few blocks east of the city's gambling quarter.

The sudden explosion and fire killed the fire chief of a nearby city and four men. A sixth, a Reno fireman, was missing. The blast sprayed injury among the spectators. Some were tramped in the rush to get away.

Officials said preliminary investigation disclosed no dynamite was involved in the blast. Property damage was estimated, unofficially, at between $100,000 and $300,000.

Hiss, Chambers To Meet In Spy Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) —A possible face to face meeting today between Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers held the prospect of a fresh climax in the Congressional spy investigation.

Whatever the outcome, the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee planned an early recess in the current phase of its thrill-a-minute hearings.

Attorney-General Tom Clark has whipped out a contention the inquiries have damaged administration efforts to crack down on Communist activities.

The Hiss-Chambers meeting—if it occurs—could make or break the whole House investigation.

Hiss, a former top state department official who now heads the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, has been named by Chambers as a member of an "elite" Communist underground which Chambers insists operated in Washington more than a decade ago.

"Never Seen Him"

Hiss testified he had never "laid eyes on" Chambers before and would like to do so. That was in the fact of Chambers' sworn testimony that he even had visited Hiss at the latter's home.

To give Hiss the requested chance to confront Chambers in the flesh, and to help resolve doubts in the minds of members, the committee invited both to appear this afternoon (2 p.m. EDT).

Neither was subpoenaed, and members said there was no assurance that the meeting would take place.

Committee members said it was probable the hearings would recess either late today or tomorrow for a week or more to give investigators time to develop new leads. An interim report is likely this week.

Likely to be questioned later is Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, 52-year-old Russian school teacher whom the Soviet consulate in New York "rescued" from anti-Stalin friends helping her miss a boat back to Russia.

Reds Charge US Attache Doing Spy Job In Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 16—(AP).—Pravda charges an assistant United States naval attache in Moscow was nabbed receiving secret military information from a Soviet official and was hustled out of Russia by demand of the Soviet Government. The charge by the Communist party newspaper exploded amid indications the three Western Power envoys will renew their talks at the Kremlin today on the East-West crisis.

The assistant naval attache, Lieut. Robert Dreher, was "caught with the goods in his hands," Pravda said Sunday. Both Dreher and the Russian official involved confessed, the newspaper said.

The United Sates Embassy was told that Dreher "had been caught in espionage," Pravda said, adding:

"The evidence was so indisputable that the embassy did not even try to conceal it and, without protest, fulfilled the demand of the ministry of foreign affairs that Dreher immediately leave the Soviet Union."

American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and the United States naval attache, Rear Admiral Leslie C. Stevens, refused to comment on the accusation.

(In Washington, however, the state department charged the Russian authorities framed the espionage charge against Dreher. The department said the evidence was planted by the Russians after Dreher had applied for a Soviet visa to leave the country.")

Pravda said Dreher, dressed in civilian clothes, met a Russian customs official—whom it termed a Soviet agent of naval intelligence identified only as "E"—in the Moscow customs office to receive "secret military information."

Soviet security officers, the newspaper said, had watched the customs official because he gathered "secret information." While the two men were exchanging written information, Soviet security agents entered the room and caught them, Pravda said.

Has Neck Injury In Collision

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 16. (ENS) —Albert Hollings of Campbellford suffered a neck injury and deep head cuts early Sunday morning when the car he was driving met in head-on collision with a car driven by William Langmuir of Havelock, on Highway 30 near Trent River village.

Langmuir, believed to have a fractured nose, was taken into his home not far from the accident. Two passengers in the Hollings car, Kenneth Campbell and Lyal Oliver, both of Campbellford, were cut on the face and head, and given first aid at a nearby farmhouse by Dr. D. J. Holcroft of Havelock.

Cause of the accident is unknown, and Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings is investigating.

Official Joins Plant Picket Line

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 16.—(CP)—T. J. Cook, general manager of McKinnon Industries, had to join the picket line to gain entrance to his own plant today.

Executive and salaries office workers were shoved aside when they tried to enter the strike-bound plant. By joining the tightly-packed picket line they were able to march around with it until it passed the main entrance, then step out into the building.

The heavily-strengthened pickets were posted at all entrances by members of Local 199 United Auto Workers (CIO)-CCL). On a wage strike for the last month, the union claims the company is using office workers as "scab" labor to run two motors.

About 75 workers were able to get into the plant today but were told to go home until further notice. It is expected temporary headquarters will be set up outside the plant for top executives.

Industrials And Golds Show Firmer Tone

TORONTO, Aug. 16 — (CP). — Industrials and golds showed a firmer tone in light trading here today. Western oils dipped sluggishly downwards and base metals were steady.

Utilities led the slow rise in industrial groupings on small fractional gains. Bell Telephone was up ¾ and C.P.R. gained ⅛. A few papers were moderately active for some good gains. Consolidated Bakeries and Canadian Bank of Commerce advanced ⅜.

La Luz and Kerr Addison edged ahead in senior golds and Dome dipped ¼. Gains ranging from 1 to 15 cents were scattered among selected juniors. Campbell rose 15 cents and Central Patricia 3.

Waite Amulet, Normetal Golden Manitou, East Sullivan and Eureka edged ahead in spotty trading in base metals. International Nicekel eased ¼ and Torbrit Silver, Silanco, Quebec Labrador, Sherrit and New Calumet were down from 1 to 7 cents.

Home Oil and Calgary and Edmonton dipped 10 cents in western oils. Anglo-Canadian was down 4 cents and Atlantic Oil, Consolidated Homstead and Globe Oil gained a penny.

all been pulled out, rummaged through and then replaced.

The intruders did not get through to the big safe in Cherney's. It contained Saturday's cash receipts—which company officials admitted would have amounted to a "pretty big sum."

Entrance had been made by a window in the back of the office.

Night Search

Search for the two men continued throughout the night. Under Acting Police Sergeant Gordon Trennum, city police carried on a city-wide investigation without locating either of the men. Engaged in the hunt were PC's Stewart Fife, Vern O'Donaghue, Douglas Farthing, Allan Edmison and Harold Andrews. Provincial police of the district also assisted in the hunt.

This break-in was the latest of a series in the city and immediate area which have been unsuccessful. Police would not comment as to whether they believed this "job" to be the work of the same parties responsible for the other break-ins or attempts recently.

Cabinet Talks

Laurier, ignored three official cars waiting at a curb, and took a stroll down tree-lined Wellington street. He sat down on a bench to admire the 300-foot Peace Tower to Canada's parliament buildings. He finally headed back to the hotel when a photographer spotted him.

The next time, he was heading for the meeting with the cabinet committee. Mr. Claxton, U.S. Ambassador Ray Atherton and other officials were with him.

As they walked up the paved roadway to the side entrance of the east block, a family of American tourists stood and watched and the father took pictures. A reporter asked if they knew the people in the procession.

"No," the man said, "we just took pictures of them anyway."

"The little guy is your defence secretary, Mr. Forrestal."

"Well, well," the man said. "That makes the pictures better."

There still was no indication that anything of lrage importance in itself would be discussed at the meeting with the Canadian minisers.

The committee includes Defence Minister Claxton, chairman, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, Trade Minister Howe, and Finance Minister Abbott. Its advisers are the four chiefs of staff and L. B. (Mike) Pearson, Mr. St. Laurent's undersecretary.

Mr. Forrestal, small, formidable member of the Truman administration and a former Wall Street broker, arrived at Rockcliffe Airport at 1:58 p.m. Sunday aboard his silver, private four-engined plane. He was greeted by Mr. Claxton, Ray Atherton, US ambassador—whom he greeted as "Ray"—Air Marshal W.A. Curtis, chief of air staff, US military attaches and an RCAF band and guard of honor.

He was accompanied by four personal aides but not high advisers, adding weight to official contentions that this is nothing stronger than a friendly call in return for one Mr. Claxton made to Washington months ago.

Canadian Government Fails To Give Athletes Break

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Aug. 16 — (CP). — Canadian Olympic officials might well take a tip from those who looked after entertainment for the big United States Olympic team.

The Americans did things in a big way for their athletes while the Canadians more or less had to live a life of poor relations.

After the end of the first week of the Olympic Games, when the track and field and the swimming and wrestling were all over, Canada's competitors wandered about their camp at Uxbridge or went into London.

Not so the Yanks. They had sight-seeing tours arranged for them in special buses and guides who pointed out the historic spots.

The Canadians' day was dull unless they made their own fun.

Many would like to have seen the Tower of London, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, the blitzed east-end areas and Windsor Castle.

But all this takes time and effort —and money—and in strange surroundings many of the youngsters were not up to the tricks of getting around.

Let Athletes Down

Officials of the Dominion and Provincial Governments and the Canadian Olympic brass-hat administration pretty well let the boys and girls fend for themselves

Before the Games Canada House gave a reception to the Canadian athletes. There were soft, and even hard, drinks and delicious pastries on the tables.

But the timing of the affair could have been better. The reception was held late in the afternoon and the athletes returned to camp too late for dinner and with a day's training shot to pieces.

The Americans held off the receptions and tours until their all-conquering athletes had done their stuff.

"There was nothing definite arranged because there was enough as it was," said one Canadian official.

The "enough" was an airview of the city arranged by an airlines company, a buffet and cabaret affair arranged by a newspaper—News of the World—and a dance at Hammersmith Palais de Danse given by the Mayor of Hammersmith.

The Canadian Olympic committee arranged a bus tour the first Sunday the team was here.

It was a flop. The athletes had training to do.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—(CP). —One of the leading packers here said today if butchers did not get $1 per pound for choice beef steaks, "he would be out on the street."

The packer said increases of from six to seven cents at the wholesale level had ben tacked on to beef prices today. Veal had increased from 35 to 45 cents per pound since last week at the wholesale level.

"It's a most terrible thing," he said. "The ordinary working man can't afford it."

Baby Girl Dies In Hospital After Ether

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — A 23-year-old airman's wife wept softly yesterday over her baby girl's coffin in a Toronto funeral parlor. Florence Ann Herdman, 2-year-old daughter of Floyd Herdman, stationed at Trenton, died Friday on an operating table at Kingston General Hospital shortly after she had been administered ether.

"Flo-Ann," who was to be operated on for a cleft palate, probably suffocated, said Dr. Harold Angrove, who administered the anaesthetic.

"The baby's vocal cords swelled," Dr. Angrove explained. "The ether was being administered through a small tube placed through the mouth. The proper amount of ether had been given the baby. In all my years as a doctor, I have not experienced a case such as this."

Floyd Herdman, Flo-Ann's dad, said his only child had undergone the first stage of the operation about three weeks ago. Both he and the doctors agreed that it had been a success.

Fraser Armstrong, superintendent of Kingston General Hospital, said: "Dr. Angrove has been attending these operations for many years and he is very experienced." The superintendent will be supplied with a full report.

Wait Several Months

The baby girl's mother and father had been waiting to have the operation performed for several months. Dr. D. L. C. Bingham performed the first operation on the baby girl and he and Dr. Angrove were in charge of the Friday operation.

Kingston coroner, Dr. M. J. Morrison said the child's throat had "suddenly closed...the first breath of the anesthetic might have caused an irritation and swelling of the throat...she died about 10 minutes after the first signs of trouble were noticed."

Airman Floyd Herdman and his wife divide their residence between Toronto Brighton, a town near Trenton air station. They are presently living at 78 Newmarket Ave. with relatives. The couple were in Toronto when informed of Flo-Ann's death.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Wrap Jet Engine In Blanket

Everyone knows that a jet engine can propel a plane at terrific speed. But few realize the importance of insulation both to the engine and to the plane.

A Johns-Manville development known as the Thermoflex Insulation Blanket is now used in the aviation industry. Its job is two-fold. First, it protects adjacent parts of the aircraft from the intense heat generated by the engine. Second, it helps make possible greater engine efficiency.

The Thermoflex Insulation Blanket is only one of many Johns - Manville Insulations that control temperatures from 400 degrees below zero to 2,800 degrees above. In fuel alone, these J-M Insulations save industry millions of dollars every year.

If you have an insulation problem, why not call in a J-M Insulation specialist. Contact Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto.

You've Got to Spend Money to Make Money

A man saves up some money. He starts a business.

He can't keep the business a secret or he wouldn't get any customers.

He puts up a sign or prepares some handbills or puts a little ad in the newspaper to let people know he is in business.

HE SPENT A LITTLE MONEY TO MAKE A LITTLE MONEY.

He starts doing a little more business.

He goes to the bank; gets a loan to increase his stock, to improve his location — whatever it is the loan was granted to improve his business.

HE SPENT A LITTLE MONEY TO MAKE A LITTLE MONEY.

This cycle continues on to infinity. Success is there — all things being equal — for the business man who understands and practices the elementary principle that you've got to spend money to make money.

You couldn't get even 2% interest if you didn't invest at least one cent, would you?

And spending money for newspaper advertising is about the smartest thing a business man can do.

Most retail businesses were built through the vision of a man who realized a truth important to you and me that YOU'VE GOT TO SPEND MONEY TO MAKE MONEY — SPEND MONEY FOR GOOD NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Says Education Entails Much Sacrifice

COBOURG, Aug. 16—(ENS).—The results attained by education didn't always justify the expenditure and sacrifice involved in providing it, declared Rev. J. P. Collins, pastor of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, Cobourg, in addressing the regular weekly luncheon of Cobourg Rotary Club. Father Collins is a comparatively new arrival in Cobourg, succeeding the late Dr. P. J. Kelly in April, a few months after the latter's death.

At the outset of his remarks, Father Collins paid tribute to Rotary for its social welfare work. In addition Rotary was valuable to its members through the fellowship it provided and the principle of service aided in the individual member losing any tendency to become self centred. Going on to discuss education, the speaker said that young people were apt to forget, ar fail to realize in the first place that education was an expensive thing and one which entailed sacrifice. Both in social service and education, the recipients were prone to accept things as a matter of course without proper appreciation.

The speaker recalled that when Gene Tunney was training some years before he met Dempsey, he realized that his hands were not in shape and had to be toughened. He accordingly went up north and worked in a lumber camp, not far from where a Catholic priest, a friend of Father Collins, was stationed. Through his fellow cleric, Father Collins learned of the sacrifice made by Tunney in sawing and using the axe in bitter cold weather with bare hands in order to get them into condition.

"Tunney, a very fine type of individual, knew he had to sacrifice his comfort in order to get into shape. No man, no matter what calling he is in, can properly appreciate anything for which he hasn't worked," declared Father Collins.

There was a duty on the part of those engaged in social welfare to see that the assistance was appreciated, not for the personal glory of the person dispensing aid but to mold character by instilling a realization on the part of the recipient that he was being helped by the sacrifice and energy of others. Parents could do much in the home to train their children to appreciate the many services which were given to them and in appreciation attain a higher sense of values, Father Collins said.

NEARING THE END of her last voyage, the U.S. flat-top Sable, slated to be cut up for scrap at Hamilton, was too wide to make the trip through the Welland canal and is shown at Port Colborne where 18 feet will be cut off each side of her 102-foot deck. This will allow her to pass through the 80-foot wide canal locks. The aircraft carrier is the converted luxury passenger cruise ship, Greater Buffalo, and was used for training naval cadets during the war.

When Trout Strikes Fisherman Puts Worm In Mouth, Throws Cigarette Away

COBOURG, Aug. 16.—(ENS).—There is a story going the rounds in fishing circles and it is said to be authentic too, about a local hardware employee who, in spite of his many years with rod and reel, can still get excited when a big one gets on his hook.

The angler in question was fishing out at Cold Creek and ran out of worms. He had a piece of chub on the hook, laid the rod on the bank with the line in the water and then sortied down the creek to hunt up his pal who had the worms. He got a couple of worms and had just reached his fishing spot when he saw the end of the pole dip and the pole start to move out into the water.

In one hand he had a cigarette and in the other two worms. In the general confusion of reaching for the rod before it put out to sea, he threw the cigarette to he ground and shoved a worm in his mouth instead of vice versa, and grabbed for the pole in the general confusion. Spitting the worm out and hauling on the pole he landed a very fine trout. Now every time any jokester drops in the store the query is, "how are the dew worms?"

On the drugstore counter ham, beef and corned-beef sandwiches went from 15 to 20 cents, and chicken from 20 to 25 cents.

Parcel From Peterborough Gladdens English Family

George Clark of the Examiner's staff of carriers who is spending the summer in Britain sends a clipping from the Gateshead Post referring to the delivery of a food parcel from Peterborough through the Princess Elizabeth marriage gift fund.

"I thought the clipping might be of interest to Mayor Ovens and people back in Peterborough seeing that it mentions the old home town," George wrote to an Examiner friend.

The story was, in part, as follows: "Gift from Canada a Mystery: While neighbors are having a more austere fare, Mrs. Honor Emms, her husband and two little daughters will be dining on some of the rationed delicacies sent in a "mystery" gift parcel from Canada.

The parcel, donated by the citizens of Peterborough, Ont., through the Princess Elizabeth gift fund, arrived last week, just one day after the family had moved into their new home at 14 Lumley Gardens, Felling.

"It came as a very welcome surprise," Mrs. Emms told a Gateshead Post reporter, "but what I'd like to know is how and why it was sent to us. I have no relatives in Canada and know of no one who could have forwarded our address. As it happened, it came when my larder was empty. It really was a most pleasant coincidence just after getting the first real place of our own—we have waited two years—the parcel should come."

Enclosed was a personal letter from the Mayor of Peterborough, Wm. G. Ovens."

George Clark has been visiting London, the Abbey, St. Paul's, Tower and Bridge, but has not seen any stray steaks in his travels. He was through Devon at Wolverthampton met a young girl, Shirley Whitaker, "who stayed with Mrs. Whalon, Homewood Ave. During the war she attended P.C.I." He is returning to Peterborough at the end of September.

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (Reuters)—Desertions among Russian troops stationed in Berlin are rising steadily and some units particularly those of the zonal frontier, have become so unreliable that they have been sent back to Russia in a body, the British-licensed newspaper Montags Echo said today.

"In Soviet diplomaic circles it is pointed out that Russia could not possibly go to war at present, because of the unreliability of the occupation troops, which would lead to a rising throughout eastern Europe," the paper said.

U.S. Republicans Worried About The Senate

We intimated in these columns recently that one of the worrisome possibilities facing the United States Republican Party in its Presidential year campaign was a Democratic Senate after November's election. This has since been confirmed by dispatches from Washington, outlining the general situation and discussing briefly the Republican Senators whose failure at the polls might leave their party holding the Presidency and control of the House of Representatives, but facing a Democratic—and hostile—Senate. Since this would leave the United States with something considerably less than the strong, united Government considered essential, the situation is of interest, we think, to many Canadians.

* * *

A switch of four seats would throw the U.S. Senate to the Democrats, and there are at least six Republican Senate seats regarded as shaky. First on the list is Senator Cooper of Kentucky, whose chances have been hurt by the nomination of Senator Barkley for Vice-President. The latter is very popular in his native Kentucky, and his ticket might easily carry the state. Then comes Senator Wayland Brooks of Illinois, one of Col. McCormick's most obedient servants, and there are signs that Illinois is rather weary of being ruled from the office of The Chicago Tribune.

* * *

Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota also faces political trouble, most of it created by his own record. He supported the late Franklin Roosevelt in 1944, and the regular Republicans were infuriated. Then, after building up a record as a liberal, he became one of the most reactionary members of the Senate, with the net result that he has lost heavily in both conservative and liberal support. The other shaky Republicans are Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, Senator Edward V. Robertson of Wyoming, and Representative Ross Rizley of Oklahoma, who is making a bid for a Senate seat.

* * *

There are, of course, states in which the Democrats are none too sure. These are Montana and New Mexico, and the surprising possibilities of North Carolina and Tennessee. Despite these unsure Democratic seats, however, Washington observers believe that if the voting generally is close, a Democratic Senate is almost a probability, but if Governor Dewey wins by a landslide the Republicans will retain control of both Houses of Congress. It will be regrettable if there is another division of power after the U.S. election, for it would likely mean a continuation of the political manoeuvring of the present Congress, which has contributed to uncertainty regarding U.S. foreign policy, despite the reassurances of both major political parties of that nation.

Making Our Flesh Creep

The dairy interests are making our flesh creep these days by their dark predictions that we shall have no butter to put on our bread by Christmas, unless the Government re-imposes rationing, or undertakes to import butter in large quantities. It is interesting, also, that the National Dairy Council (which acts as kind of semi-official advisor to the Government in such matters) has mentioned that a "suitable substitute" for butter might be permitted. Obviously margarine is meant, though the dairy interests hate margarine as the Devil hates holy-water. The Dairy Council has called on the Government to attempt to import sufficient butter to make up the shortage. That in itself is a concession, for the Canadian dairymen do not relish competition from outside butter. (There is, for instance, a virtually prohibitive 12-cent-a-pound duty on foreign butter imports.) Since there is little possibility of other countries like New Zealand and Denmark having butter available for export to Canada, we shall still be faced by a butter shortage. In that case, the Council recommends that some substitute for butter be made available. The substitute would be margarine. This recommendation is an even greater concession for the dairymen to make.

* * *

Now that the dairy industry has spoken officially and since the consuming public has long been demanding margarine as a substitute for costly and scarce butter, and almost every daily paper in the country has decried the ban on margarine, as unsound, unfair and unwarranted, will the Government take action to repeal the ban? Indirectly it has already done so: the ban has been referred to the Supreme Court which will test its legality. The Court is unlikely to hand down a decision before December, at the earliest. Even if it decides that the ban is invalid, will that not be too late to relieve the situation this autumn? Other Government action is indicated.

Just What We Want!

A young American architect has recently given expression to an idea which is, we feel, revolutionary in the best sense. He wants to build houses in which all partitions are prefabricated, and so arranged that ceilings can be raised or lowered at will, and walls, stairways, kitchens and bathrooms shifted from place to place according to the whim of the owner. This is just what we want —the kind of house, in fact, that we have dreamed of for years!

Not everyone agrees. Consider this comment from the Kingston Whig-Standard:

We dislike thinking about the things that might happen to absent-minded husbands or husbands who, for various reasons, might be moving about without turning the lights on. Even when no more than furniture has been moved about, husbands have taken the odd toss and have had chunks bitten out of their shins by coffee tables. But when we think of the defenceless creatures smashing into walls that were not there when they last left the house, trying to climb vanished stairs that were there when they last left, and scrambling pitifully to find their bearings in rooms unaccountably increased or decreased in size, the perils of this new idea in architecture become painfully apparent, and we think something should be done to prevent its proponent from carrying it out.

This seems to us to be a thoroughly reactionary attitude. In any case, our contemporary has not weighed the advantages of the plan against the trifling disadvantage which he mentions. Your Aunt Minnie comes for a visit: after the first month you have a wall-moving party and reduce Aunt Minnie's bedroom to one-eighth of its original size: if she cannot take the hint, you lower her ceiling so that she has to go to bed on her hands and knees; then you shift her into the cellar. Or suppose your elder daughter has reached the time of life when she considers it necessary to take three or four long baths each day: you simply move the bathroom into your bedroom, and defy her to enter. Or suppose your wife is entertaining her pokerwork club on the night when you want to do some heavy reading: you create a large drawing-room for her, and a snug den for yourself. The possibilities are infinite, and we hail the Elastic House of the future as the solution of society's most vexing problems.

Do You Want a Friend In Nigeria?

Elsewhere on this page we publish a letter from a boy named L. A. Odejimi, whose address is 72 Griffith Street, Ebute Metta, Lagos, Nigeria. He wants to correspond with some Canadian boys and girls, and we hope that some of our younger readers will write to him.

It is a quaint letter, but we hope that you will not laugh at it. If you feel inclined to sneer, ask yourself how good a letter you would be able to write in Hausa or Yoruba, which are the principal languages of Nigeria. Nor would it be fair to laugh at the naive confession that "those who love me call me Jimmy Boy"; those who love you probably call you Sugar Puss, which is even funnier.

Surely there must be in Peterborough a few young people with a sense of adventure and an interest in geography, who will write to this young man, halfway around the earth, and tell him about Canada, send him some maple leaves, and some maple sugar, and in return receive the letters and pictures which he promises? If the brotherhood of man means anything to you, this is a chance to show it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"The height of a girl's ambition is usually about six feet", says a wag. Though we have known a few who settled for less.

A Hollywood report denies that screen stars do their washing in their swimming pools. We always thought they washed their dirty linen in the courts.

And Kings" "Of Cabbages

By PETER ELIOT

IT would be interesting to survey the vast resources on which Churchill has drawn for his famous speeches. "Blood, Sweat and Tears," taken from one of his best and the title of a volume which came from him early in the war, makes interesting speculation. Byron used an almost identical expression—in a different context — which may have proved highly suggestive to Churchill. G. M. Trevelyan, in that masterful piece of poetic prose English Social History, draws attention to the Byron passage in the Age of Bronze:

See these inglorious Cincinnati swarm,
Farmers of war, dictators of the farm;
Their ploughshare was the sword in hireling hands,
Their fields manured by gore of other lands;
Safe in their barns, these Sabine tillers sent
Their brethren out to battle. Why? for rent!
Year after year they voted cent for cent,
Blood, sweat, and tears—wrung millions—why? for rent!
They roar'd, they dined, they drank, they swore they meant
To die for England,—why then live? for rent!

An earlier reference is found in John Donne's Anatomie of the World: the First Anniversary,

Shee, shee is dead; shee's dead; when thou knowst this,
Thou knowst how drie a Cinder this world is.
And learn'st thus much by our Anatomy,
That 'tis in vaine to dew or mollifie
It with thy teares, or sweat, or blood: nothing
Is worth our travaile, grief, or perishing,
But those rich joyes, which did possesse her heart,
Of which she's now partaken, and a part.

AN amusing incident concerning the Canadian poet, Bliss Carman, is related by E. A. Bostwick, the famous St. Louis librarian, in A Life with Men and Books, published by W. Wilson and Co. The story was told by John H. Boner, an intimate friend of Carman's, and a poet himself. Having received a telephone call from Carman, who had just issued a new volume of poems, announcing his arrival in New York, Boner invited to dine at his home on Staten Island. On the way home, he paid a hurried call to the publisher of Carman's verse, picked up the new edition of his latest work which was prominently displayed when the Canadian poet arrived. The flattered guest commented on its presence and his host assured him that it had been his daily companion.

When Carman called at his publishers' following the visit to inquire about how sales were going, he was told that the new edition was going like hot cakes. "Why just the other day," his publisher gushed, "there was a fellow over on Staten Island, named Boner, who was in such a hurry to see the book that he couldn't wait for it to be sent. Came for it himself." Telling the joke on himself, Boner said that Carman lost no time in letting him know that his harmless his scheme had been uncovered.

JACOB Epstein, the famous sculptor, tells an amusing story of J. B. Priestley. "It's like this, Epstein," Priestley said after suffering through several sittings. "I look upon this bust as an insurance for both of us being forgotten. If you get forgotten, their is your bust of me. If I am forgotten, there is your bust of me." But Mrs. Priestley was more downright. "Well," she said, "at any rate the back is unmistakable."

IN a well known London club (writes Harry Schnur in his Jewish Humour) Disraeli happened to be in the company of a noble lord who made no secret of his dislike of the Jews. Somehow the conversation got on to Tibet, and he the noble anti-Semite observed with an unmistakable sneer:

"They tell me it's a very fortunate country —they have neither swine nor Jews there."

"Then we must both travel there, my Lord," was Disraeli's prompt rejoinder.

LEGENDS grow about writers—thus there is a Johnson legend and a Goldsmith legend, a Charles Lamb legend and so on. Is there a Macaulay legend?—for Macaulay has suffered at the hands of the critics. Augustine Birrell said that Macaulay wrote in a style in which it was impossible to speak the truth. Others condemned him for superficiality and warned up-and-coming writers not to imitate him.

"From the time that he was three year old (writes his nephew Trevelyan—ahother historian with a special distinct style—in his Life and Letters of Lord Macaulay) he read incessantly, for the most part lying on the rug before the fire, with his book on the ground, and a piece of bread and butter in his hand."

"Mrs. Hannah More was fond of relating how she called at Mr. Macaulay's and was met by a fair pretty, slight child with abundance of light hair, about four years of age, who came to the front door to receive her, and tell her that his parents were out, but that if she would be good enough to come in he would bring her a glass of old spirits; a proposition which greatly startled the old lady, who had never aspired beyond cowslip wine. When questioned as to what he knew about old spirits he could only say that Robinson Crusoe often had some."

Seeking Rest Of Niagara Gold

Jack Johnston, an Australian diver, has designed special equipment for an attempt to secure the gold still in the steamer Niagara, lying off the New Zealand coast at a depth of 500 feet. The Niagara was sunk by a mine in 1940 while on a voyage from Sydney to Vancouver. She carried gold bars to the value of $8,000,000. In 1941 an Australian salvage team, including Johnston, recovered all but 25 bars, worth $330,000.

The divers cleared the bullion room. It is believed that the missing 25 bars were dropped by the mechanism grab while being hauled to the surface. This means that they may be anywhere in the wreck.—Australian News.

CATS, SUICIDE, RESENTMENT

Sir: The saying may be true that it was only a cat but children as well as adults, if they like their cat, they have a right to do so. I do not wonder now that there are so many of these pets killed on our streets, after seeing three in a car who are classed as human beings, try to run over a cat on George Street south of Romaine.

It was some one's pet. Perhaps if some one had taken it into a home the owner being a very sick child it would have been quite a shock to see the mangled body.

These people who have no more respect for an animal than the driver of the car should realize the highway is for man or beast.

These are the sort of people who drive up close to pedestrians to get a thrill at seeing them jump and I believe and no doubt others do that several people that are killed, are murdered. I have seen some close calls, and had some myself.

If people's feelings can be hurt on the killing of a cat, they can also be hurt in other ways.

There is a resentment among the people at the publicity given through the press when there is a death supposedly caused by suicide. God alone knows how relatives and friends feel without having such a gruesome account published as was recently in the press. I think this is going too far.

There are class distinctions made when something like this occurs which makes this unsavoury news more repugnant.

A leading shirtmaker says that buttons that laundries can't tear off shirts have already been invented.

Anyway, the announcement suggests a number of other gadgets that would make the machine age a smoother one:

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And again, departing from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, he came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of Decapolis. And they bring unto him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; and they beseech him to put his hand upon him....

And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain. (Mark 7: 31, 32, 34, 35.)

* * *

And, behold, two blind men sitting by the way side, when they heard that Jesus passed by, cried out, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou son of David. And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou son of David.

And Jesus stood still, and called them, and said, What will ye that I shall do unto you? They say unto him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed him. (Matt. 20: 30-34.)

Beer And Cake At 105

The news, fortunately, isn't all of violence and dissension: there is, for example, that little story from Pittsburgh of Grandma Dent's 105th birthday which she celebrated with beer and cake. "Beer", the reporter wrote, "is one of the favourite beverages of the little old lady", which leaves us consumed with curiosity—are her other favourite beverages merely tea and ginger ale or, perchance, gin and brandy?

Grandma Dent still sings and dances at the cut-up of the old ladies' home where she resides. Moreover, she has her glass of beer each afternoon. Having no liking these hot days for an argument with our prohibitionist friends we shall not even hint that this is a case of cause and effect, but we can go so far as to suggest that here is an interesting combination of circumstances from which any reader may draw his own deductions.

And we hope no reader misses the significance of that lunch of beer and cake. A cheese sandwich goes well with beer, so we are told by those who should know, or apple pie, or a beefsteak and potatoes, but there is no traditional sympathy between beer and cake as between, for example, ham and eggs or roast beef and Yorkshire puding. In fact we have an idea that accomplished beer-drinkers would shudder at the thought of taking cake with their libations. Mrs. Dent's ability to combine the two, and on her 105th birthday, and presumably without endangering her chances of being 106 a year from now will seem to them a tribute to an iron constitution suitably supported these many years by the lady's favourite beverages.—Ottawa Journal.

84,000 Watch Olympic Games Closing

By JACK SULLIVAN.

LONDON, Aug. 16— (CP). — Although United States athletes were the biggest point winners in the Olympic Games which ended here on Saturday, Sweden almost stole the show.

The versatile Swedes finished second to the Americans in all sports points totals as well as in the chief single sport, track and field.

In scoring 371 points to United States' 666, the Swedes surpassed such bigger, traditionally athletic countries as France, which was third with 230.5 points and Britain which was sixth with 170. Canada placed 19th with 35 points.

Some 1,500,000 spectators paying £500,000 ($2,000,000) saw the competitions which started July 29. Interest did not lag for 84,000 saw the final ceremonies on Saturday.

Standing in respectful silence, the throng stood and watched the Olympic flame extinguished. The flags of 59 countries were lowered, and the 1948 Olympics — the 14th modern Games—were over.

5-Hour Finale

The five-hour finale, began with the colorful equestrian competition, the Prix de Nations. The unforgettable spectacle closed in brilliant sunshine after many days of hot sultry and rainy weather.

The closing of the games was pronounced by J. Sigfried Edstrom, president of the International Olympic committee. He called upon "the youth of every country to assemble in four years in Helsinki" for the 1952 games in Finland's capital.

The Sunday Times sums up the games editorially:

"The Olympic flame is quenched, but not the spirit that informs the games and has been so happily displayed at Wembley and in all the Olympic centres. Typical was the positive sense of relief, mixed with sadness as it was, with which the British sporting public learned that the single track title our athletes had seemingly won was lost after all to the Americans—relief at the expunging of any thought that honors had not gone to the best men."

Shoot For Record

MONTREAL, Aug. 16 (CP). — Montreal Royals are shooting for an all-time home attendance record and the International League club appears a cinch to crack the present mark of 442,000 fans in the final four weeks of the schedule. The Brooklyn farmhands have nine more playing dates at home, including four on which doubleheaders will be played, and so far have drawn 414,000 paying customers. Sunday's crowd of 18,627 boosted the total over the 400,000 mark.

Cricket Team Fails To Show Up

Local cricketers were disappointed on Saturday afternoon when the Oshawa team failed to put in an appearance at Nicholls Oval to play in a match arranged between the two clubs.

It will be remembered that on June 26 the two clubs met in Oshawa; the final score was Oshawa 117, Peterborough Whitakers 57, and the much improved local team were keen on reversing that result.

On Saturday the boys themselves worked hard preparing the grounds. Wickets were pitched, the ground matting laid down, sight screens put up and the other necessary pre-match work done. The ladies were on hand with the usual refreshment, and at the appointed time all was ready for the match—except the presence of the opposition. After waiting until 5 o'clock for any information the local officials decided to call it a day.

A Practice

During the wait the local team put in some useful practice under match conditions which was very useful in view of the fact that the county team will be playing on Labor Day in Toronto against the winners of a Wentworth Co. vs. Halton Co. match in the final of the competition for the Matthews Trophy, emblematic of the county cricket championship of Ontario. Incidentally that will mean the local men have travelled more than 1,000 miles to fulfil their out-of-town engagements.

There is no match at the time of writing arranged for next Saturday, but there will be a full match practice in view of the approaching championship final.

It may interest our readers, especially of the older generation, that July 17 just past was the centenary of the birth of W. G. Grace, the world's greatest cricketer. He was born on July 17, 1848, and died Oct. 13, 1915.

On Saturday, Aug. 28, the Toronto Parkdale are expected to play at Nicholls Oval.

Father And Son Take Top Honors In DCRA

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP) —A Toronto father and his son Saturday competed against each other for the famed Governor-General's Gold Medal. The father, 60-year-old Lieut. James Boa, placed first; his son Gilmour 24, second.

The father-and-son combinaled the field of 149 contestants in the thrilling marksmanship finale that ended the six-day Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet here.

An unusual occurence of the meet was the lifetime disqualification Friday of one of Canada's crack shots, Maj. Fred J. Goodhouse of Ottawa. He would have been the 150th contestant in the Governor's match.

For Lieut. Boa, who has been shooting in DCRA meets since 1908, it was his first time as winner of the Gold Medal.

Firing over the long, wind-swept 900-yard range, he put on a dazzling display of marksmanship, carding 14 bull's-eyes with 15 shots to overtake his son's three-point lead from previous 300 and 600 yard range shoots.

Lieut. Boa shot 46, 49, 74 for a score of 169 of a possible 175. His son fired 49, 49, 68 for a total of 166. An almost clean sweep of the meet's top honors was made by Lieut. Boa.

Sets Record

He set a record by taking the DCRA Silver Cross in Grand Aggregate scoring for the third time piling up a score of 594 of a possible 635.

He followed this up by topping the list in the Bisley aggregate with 673 of a possible 805 to win the Silver Medal of Britain's National Rifle Association and head the selection for next year's 18-man Bisley team. He thus becomes a three-time Bisley member, for he made the team in 1920 and 1934.

Taking second spot in Bisley team standing was Maj. Desmond T. Burke of Willowdale, Ont., a Bisley veteran and many-time winner of the King's Prize. Gilmour Boa was sixth in the Bisley standing.

The King's Medal match, main event for servicemen, was won by Lieut. R. F. Fendick of the Command Ordnance Depot, Montreal. He posted 166 of a possible 200.

A charge of infraction of firing rules in this match brought lifetime disqualification to Maj. oGodhouse. He was also ordered to forfeit cash prizes of $52 and a DCRA Silver Medal, won in the Life Members match.

Maj. Goodhouse stated he will appeal the sentence passed unanimously by the DCRA Council, although he admitted to the Council he had broken the rule.

The Maharinee is smoking a choice Havana cigar. They left New York recently on the S.S. The verbal brickthrowers claim that the Maharajah dipped into the state treasury for ten million dollars for his six-week "vacation" spending spree. In no apparent hurry to go home and resign, the Maharajah is taking life easy at his Surrey country home in England. His attitude to the legislature's abdication demand is that no one has the authority to ask him to do so.

Australia Ahead On Second Day Of Test Match

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(Reuters). —Batting carefully and confidently on an easy-paced wicket, Australia today carried their Saturday's score of 153 for two wickets to 243 for four wickets by lunch time on the second day of the fifth and final test match against England at the Oval cricket ground.

Opening bat, Arthur Morris, was undefeated with 134 runs, to put Australia 191 runs ahead with six first innings wickets to fall.

Morris' century was his second successive test hundred, and he is the only batsman on either team to hit three hundreds so far during the test series. Without giving a chance, the fair-haired Australian reached his century in 3½ hours.

Lindsay Hassett helped him in the second century stand of the innings—the pair put on 109 for the third wicket — but Hassett was tied down to defence for most of the time and was out leg before wicket to Jack Young, the Middlesex spin bowler, for 37.

By getting Keith Miller stumped for 5, Eric Holies, Warwickshire leg spinner, claimed his third wicket of the inning. He was easily England's best bowler during the morning session, which was watched by more than 20,000 spectators in glorious sunshine.

UP IN SIZE IN BEAUTY IN COMFORT IN LUXURY IN PERFORMANCE

Until you see the 1949 Mercury, examine it in detail, ride in it and drive it, you certainly won't realize what a step-up this car has taken. It's definitely a bigger, heavier car. It's distinguished in appearance, outside and in. In the way it handles, responds, and hugs the road it has set a new standard of performance.

Stepped up in comfort. This new Mercury's "Lullaby Ride" marks a sensational advance in soft-gliding, vibrationless motion. For stability and quietness, there's a super-rigid frame. The new 110-horsepower, V-type, 8-cylinder engine rests in this frame on only three rubber-cushioned mountings. Seats are moved forward and located well down between front and rear wheels. Independently suspended front wheels have alloy-steel coil springs with aeroplane type shock absorbers. Extra-long rear leaf springs are mounted parallel to the frame. The car rides on big, low-pressure tires.

Stepped up in luxury. In size and interior luxury the 1949 Mercury steps far ahead. Rear seat is a full five feet wide. The almost unbroken sweep of safety glass allows a wide-open view in all directions. Fittings are distinguished in design. Choice of three beautiful upholstery fabrics. Fresh, screened air can be brought in as desired, with Mercury's built-in Ventilation System.

And what a car to drive. New, balanced, feather-weight steering. Extra low centre of gravity gives road-hugging stability. Mercury Duo-Servo brakes for safety and ease of operation.

In new styling, in distinctive beauty, in riding luxury and in flashing performance it gives new meaning to motoring. Yes, in every detail the 1949 Mercury has "stepped up".

Petes Yank Out a 10-9 Win Over Batawa In Neat Tussle

The Petes edged out Batawa 10-9 here Saturday before a big crowd to increase their lead in the COBL over the second-place Bata bunch. The game was enlivened considerably by a wrestling match in the fifth inning, resulting in Johnny Aquino of Batawa and Tommy Foley of the Petes being ejected from the game. Foley, hit for the second time by a pitched ball by Ken Peacock, threw his bat at the relief pitcher. Promptly Acquino jumped him and they grappled on the grass till other players broke it up.

THREE IN THREE — Howie Dalton hit three for three, one a homer, for the Petes here Saturday as they edged out Batawa 10-9 in a fine COBL contest. Dalton leads the league in batting.

Peacock relieved Kev Kennedy in the fourth frame, while Ed Whitehill hurried to the rescue of Doug Loucks in the eighth as the Shoemen threatened to come from behind. They made it close in the ninth as the Petes kicked in with three errors. Howie Dalton hit three for three for the homesters, one a homer, as Bob Crowe got a triple and double in four, and Ed Starr a triple and single in four times. Dick Bridgeman led Batawa with three in five, one a double, and Spencer got a triple and single in five.

Came Back

It was an interesting, if lengthy game, with Batawa coming back to threaten in seven frames and having the winning run aboard at the final out. The fielding was good most of the way, but the Petes got jittery to bobble several in the last chukker. A pick-up by Joe Stewart — back after a long lay-off owing to an injury — at first and a running catch in left by George Walton were local fielding features, while Watson and Kennedy pulled off swell catches in the field for the visitors.

The Petes took an early 2-0 lead in the second and made it 7-4 on some solid hitting in the fourth. But Batawa came back for four in the fifth and, after the Murphyites got three in he seventh, they tallied a trio in the eighth—chasing Loucks, who had gone well till then—and added a brace in the ninth. On earned runs it should have been 8-5 for the Petes, but was still a good game.

Electrics Held To 5-5 Tie By O'Hallorans

C.G.E. and O'Halloran's drew 5-all in a soccer league game on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park before a fair attendance. C.G.E. played the game with 10 men and lost another through being sent off.

Within a three-minute period there was two goals scored. Cotton placed Strong in possession to open the scoring. O'Halloran's went right back to get the equalizer through Duffus with a terrific shot. On the next raid Chamberlain, O'Halloran's, made a spectacular one-handed save from Cotton's left-footer. After 10 minutes of play, Strong made it 2-1. This success was short lived when O'Halloran intercepted a C.G.E. break away to send Duffus right up the centre where he slammed home a 20-yard drive into the far corner of the net. Welland kept up a steady barrage of shots on goal with Bobby Strong being the dominant factor in making the count read 3-2 at the interval with an overhead shot.

On resuming, C.G.E. still with 10 men battled hard to hold the lead and were rewarded when Turner sent a twisting ball inside the upright to make it 4-2. On a visit to the C.G.E. goal Art Downer scored when Stan McGann headed the ball into his own goal.

They followed this up with another through Smart and Duffus on combination making the count 4-all. A penalty was awarded O'Halloran's that was questioned by an Electric player and resulted in him receiving his walking ticket. With only nine men and Cotton being badly injured, O'Halloran's took the lead on a similar performance by the Smart-Duffus combination, to lead 5-4. With a few minutes left, Strong carried the ball, along with Cotton, into their opponents' area where Turner got the equalizer—5 all.

O'Halloran's — J. Chamberlain, goal; A. Downer and A. O'Halloran, full backs; D. Gray, A. O'Halloran and P. Conners, half backs; C. B. Smart, E. Duffus, J. Seabrook, A. Featherstone and E. Boone, forwards; subs, J. Richardson, J. Scott.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Senior Petes pulled out a 10-9 COBL victory o'er Batawa Shoemen before a goodly gallery Saturday aft in Riverside, a bit too close for comfort. We had 'em 7-0 to end the fourth and it looked like a shoo-in, but the Shoemen (sounds like poetry, eh?) kept pecking away till they finally had Doug Loucks out of there and were working on Gunner Whitehill. Had the winning run aboard, too, when the final out was made. Petes drove Kennedy off the hilltop away back in the fourth and later got several runs off Peacock. But Batawa fielded better and actually had one more hit. However, the Petes, led by Dalton, showed the way in extra-base blows. Some good fielding seen in this scrap.

* * * * * *

Speaking of scraps, Tommy Foley and Johnny Aquino were tossed out in the fifth for staging a wrestling match—without a license, we imagine, at that. Peacock, relief hurler, was pretty wild, hitting Starr once and Foley twice by pitched balls. Two were too many for Tommy and he chucked his bat toward the mound, the twirler dodging it handily. Then Catcher Aquino jumped Foley from behind, wearing his pad and mask, and they grappled on the ground with no one getting hurt ere it was broken up. Tommy, having been in the army, should know that a good general never goes on the attack without knowing that his flanks and rear are protected! But it added some exictement to the game, anyway.

Juniors Go Again

And we trust that the outside umps at the junior joust at a quarter to six tonight in Riverside keep control of things, also. As Kinsmen and Kiwanis are replaying he deciding game of their Lakeshore Junior League semi-final series, and the boys are by no means friendly on the diamond this semester. Nor right after a game, either.. Weather being right, this one rates quite a crowd, as these future senior stars—some play senior ball now, on the side—are playing for keeps in this series. Winner to meet Oshawa a bit later this week.

* * * * * *

Prexy Dot Millar advised us Saturday that the girls' games tonight would be betwixt Lakefield and Lindsay at seven, and same squads right after if Lakefield wins. If Lindsay wins, they are intermediate "B" champs of the loop, and in that case Marines and Westelox will open their intermediate "A" finals in the nightcap. So, that's the setup, and all four teams will have to be available since time is running out when PWSU playdowns must commence for the "A" and "B" winners. We also have a junior entry awaiting word on Ontario playdowns.

Re The OASA Setup

And Secretary Bert Bailey explains the men's setup. The OASA insists on us having an intermediate "A" team ready by Thursday, but Bert is after a week's extension. In any case, the executive and four managers got together and okayed B-A going into the intermediate "A" playdowns, as they led the loop at the end of the schedule. They'll meet Kingston shortly. Thus, the winner of the Legion-Knights' series tomorrow will go into senior "B" playdowns against Oshawa early in September. A tougher job, likely, in the advanced company, but one never knows. Anyway, Legion meets K. of C. tomorrow eve at 8.15 in the only game of the night to settle it.

* * * * * *

They split evenly Saturday to sew up the four-in-seven semi-final series at three wins each. Legion romped to a 15-5 triumph in the opener but Knights showed their old come-back spirit by waltzing to an 11-2 victory in the second struggle. As a huge crowd looked on. Not the best of ball and slow in spots, but highly interesting owing to the importance of these games now. Bob Greenlaw and Terry Woods earned their wins with fine flinging in each fray. Dalton led his side at bat both games as Garvey led Knights in one, and five hit good for 'em the second tussle. And, despite some bad errors, a lot of good fielding was seen. The one tomorrow will pack in the customers.

About Lacrossers

Let's see the lacrosse setup. Senior "B" Petes go to Orillia on the morrow and the same squads tangle here on Friday. Owen Sound "A" lacrossers have an exhibition here Monday next. Tonight at nine in Miller Bowl, the Port Hopers and intermediate "B" Petes meet in the fourth fray of their best-of-seven playoffs, the locals having a 2-1 margin on games now. Return one in Port Hope on Thursday. The following players will wear Petes' uniforms tonight: Renwick, McMaster, T. Lynch, N. Caravaggie, G. Hill, A. Caravaggie, J. Whitnell, Hickson, VanAllen, Crowley, Willis, Revoy and Roche. Minor melees go on this week as scheduled.

Knights and Legion Divide To Force a Seventh Fray

After six semi-final City Softball League playoff games at the Bowl, Legionnaires and Knights are still tied, splitting evenly Saturday night before a huge crowd. The deciding game will be staged there at 8.15 Tuesday night, it being the only fixture of the evening. Legion trounced K. of C. 15-5 in the first part of Saturday's twin bill, but Knights came back to wallop Legion 11-2 in the nightcap. The games were slow and rather loose, but highly interesting because of their importance.

Bob Greenlaw hurled six-hit ball and fanned eight to give Legion their victory as his buddies hit Woods and Crowley fairly hard to roll up the count in four big heats. Bud Harrison hit two homers, while Scriver got got one. Dalton led the belters with three in five as Parnell got two for three, and Lewis two in five. Fred Garvey hit safely twice in three appearances for Knights and Spencer bashed out a four-base blow. A shoe-string catch by White was a fielding gem. The box score:

Second game

In the last tilt, Terry Woods showed a real reversal in form to throw seven-hit ball, while Reid gave way on the Legion mound to Parsons in the third after giving up four runs. K. of C. kept after the latter, too, to earn the win handily. O'Heron Sullivan, Tompkins, Condon and Willshaw all hit well for the victors, with O'Heron having a homer and double in his three and Sullivan's trio including two doubles. Dalton again led Legion with four for five. Outstanding catches were pulled off by Harrison, Condon and Wade, the latter having seven putouts in centre. The box score:

Remember When...

By The Canadian Press

A wild Syracuse southpaw called Johnny Vander Meer walked 10 men but limited Toronto Maple Leafs to five hits to give the Chiefs a 3-1 International League victory 11 years ago today. The next year he found his control and made the experts throw the record book out the window by tossing two consecutive no-hit games for Cincinnati Reds. Vander Meer is still on the Reds' pitching staff.

Bantam Title Is Taken By East City

Ray Pammett's East City bantams won their City Baseball League title Saturday evening in Riverside by trouncing Westenders 19-3. Scriver, Withers and Cunningham hit homers for the winners and Pammett had a double. Three hits each were garnered by Pammett, Spencer, Scriver, Withers, and Cunningham of East City as Halliday got two and Cupoli one for the losers. Teams:

Put Lead Seals On DCRA Rifles

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, Aug. 16.—(CP). —Officials took action to ensure that competitors in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association here were not firing with illegally improved rifles. They clamped a lead seal around the rifle stocks of the leading 25 marksmen in Saturday's Governor-General's Prize match half-way through the contest.

The move followed the lifetime disqualification of 63-year-old Maj. Fred J. Goodhouse of Ottawa, and what DCRA Secretary Col. R. J. Birtwhistle termed "persistent rumors that marksmen were using centre-bedded rifles."

He explained thta centre-bedding was a method of packing the barrel of the competitive .303 calibre army service weapon with rubber and springs to give its user a decided advantage over other shooters.

Following the match, the 25 rifles, including those of prize winner Lieut. James Boa of Toronto and his son, Pte. Gilmour Boa, who placed second, were stripped by four armorers. All rifles passed inspection.

Indians Sweep Twin Bill As Athletics Whip Yanks

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lou Boudreau's mid-July prediction that his Cleveland Indians would win the American League pennant looked better than ever today.

The first-place Indians are 1½ games ahead of Philadelphia Athletics, 2½ in front of Boston Red Sox and five ahead of New York Yankees.

Further cause for jubilation among the Indians is the fine pitching form displayed by the two Bobs, Feller and Lemon, who hurled the Indians to a 6-2 and 8-0 sweep of their doubleheader with the White Sox in Chicago Sunday.

The happiest note for the Indians in Sunday's triumphs was Feller's fine showing in the first game in which the former fireball specialist spaced 11 hits for his 12th victory. It marked the first time he has pitched a complete game since he was beaten by the Browns 3-2 July 11.

Lemon's victory enabled him to become the first pitcher in the majors to win 16 games. He permitted only seven singles.

Plays Big Part

Manager Boudreau played a big part in both victories. He collected seven hits in 10 times at bat, scored three times and drove in three runs.

The Athletics rebounded from their two crushing defeats at the hands of the Yankees by whipping the world champions in both ends of their doubleheader at the stadium 5-3 and 5-3. The first game went 10 innings. The twin triumph enabled the Athletics to take over second place from the Red Sox who were held to a split by the Senators in Washington. After Washington won the opener 5-4, the Sox came back to win the nightcap 8-7.

In the remaining American League game, Detroit Tigers came up with two runs in the top of the ninth inning to break a 1-1 tie and defeat St. Louis Browns 3-1.

Brooks Drop Braves

Brooklyn climbed back within three games of the National league-leading Boston Braves by defeating the Braves 4-2. The third-place St. Louis Cardinals picked up a half-game on the leaders, dividing a doubleheader with the Pirates in Pittsburgh. They now trail Boston by 3½ games. The Cards won the opener 8-3, but lost the nightcap 5-4.

The Phillies set back the fifth-place New York Giants twice 8-1 and 7-5. Chicago and Cincinnati divided a doubleheader. The Cubs won the opener 7-6 and the Reds copped the afterpiece 5-0.

Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., started for the Athletics in the opener which drew the largest Yankee Stadium crowd of the year, 72,468. He had a 2-0 shutout going into the ninth inning and appeared on his way to his ninth victory of the year when he threw a home run ball to Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees with one man on. It was the Yankee Clipper's 26th of the year and knotted the count.

Carl Scheib relieved Marchildon and the Athletics came roaring back with three runs off Ed Lopat in the 10th to put Philadelphia in front. DiMaggio tripled in another Yankee run in the last of the 10th, but Lou Brissie replaced winning pitcher Scheib and retired Larry Berra for the third out.

Triple Big Blow

Mike Guerra's bases-loaded triple was the big blow for the A's in the nightcap. Bill McCahan won his third game, but yielded home runs to Berra and Tommy Henrich to give the Yankees a total of 101 for the season. It marked the 25th year that the Yankees have reached 100 or more home runs, a major league record.

McCahan needed help from Dick Fowler of Toronto, the A's top hurler, with an 11-4 record. Fowler hurled the last 2⅓ innings and pitched hitless ball, walking none and striking out two.

No-Hit Game Pitched By Newcombe

By The Associated Press

Don Newcombe, 24-year-old negro righthander of Montreal Royals, has realized the ambition of all pitcher—a no-hit no-run game. He tossed the second no-hit no-run game of the International League season Sunday when he blanked Toronto Maple Leafs 8-0 in the second half of a doubleheader. It was his 13th win against four setbacks.

Three of the walks he issued came in the fourth inning with only one out. But Newcombe fanned pinch-hitter Oscar Judd of Ingersoll, Ont., and Vic Barnhart to get out of the jam.

Judd tossed the season's first no-hit no-run game when he blanked Syracuse Chiefs, 7-0 June 14. This also was a seven-inning game.

The Leafs won the opener from the front-running Royals, 14-8 to end a 16-game Montreal winning streak. Hank Biasatti blasted a two-run homer and Johnny Welaj cracked one with the bases loaded to feature the triumph. Judd started for the Leafs but Al Porto took over in the sixth with the Royals ahead, 6-5, and won out when Toronto counted nine runs in the last three innings.

Take Twin Bill

Newark's runner-up Bears took both ends of a twin bill from Jersey City Giants, 7-5 and 3-1. Rookie Hank Workman's 11th homer with one on in the last of the ninth enabled the Bears to take the first game. Jackie Wallaesa and Johnny Lucadello also homered for the Bears.

A two-run circuit drive by Joe Collins in the fifth inning provided Newark with its margin of triumph in the second game.

The third-place Rochester Red Wings dropped 2½ games behind the Bears by dividing a doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons.

Al Papai was nursing a 3-0 lead when he blew up and yielded five runs in the seventh inning, and the Bisons went on to post a 9-3 victory. Homers by Larry Barton and Marty Tabacheck figured in the uprising.

A seventh-inning four-bagger by Dick Cole decided the nightcap in favor of Rochester, 2-1.

Syracuse Chiefs snapped their nine-game losing streak by dumping the last-place Baltimore Orioles twice, 6-1 and 3-1.

Claire Trevor Wants To Get Stellar Roles

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16 (AP)—After all these years, Claire Trevor has decided she wants to be a star.

Claire has specialized in first-class supporting parts, such as those in "Stagecoach," "Dead End" and "Murder, My Sweet," while taking an occasional flier at leading roles. This has been going on for 15 years and now she is aiming at the top bracket.

"Until now I always thought of the movies as a temporary arrangement," she explained. "I had always thought of myself as a stage actress. But I had a few flings at the stage and I decided I like pictures better.

"Now that I no longer feel temporary in the movies, I want stardom."

Pioneer Honored

Mack Sennett, Canadian-born comedy pioneer, will be honored with a dinner at the Masquers Club this week. Frank Capra, Leo McCarey, Harold Lloyd, Bustea Keaton, and Frank Fay will be among the speakers

Hollywood's conscience has been hurting since D. W. Griffith died in obscurity.

To-day's Feature:

Hollywood sights and sounds—Robert Cummings trying on wigs for his "Reign of Terror" role.... The Charles Laughtons moving into their new home, which she decorated....

Barbara Bel Geddes piloting a huge camera boom around the "Best Things" set.... Ex-cartoonist Gary Cooper making sketches as the architect in "The Fountainhead"....

Capsule Review

"The Pitfall" (UA) is a frightening preachment for erring husbands. It shows what happens when a married insurance man (Dick Powell) takes a fling with a model (Lizabeth Scott). The result: Two shootings and much unpleasantness. Told starkly with unpleasant characters, the film will please fans of realistic drama.

Taking an advantage of their opponents' fumbles, Toronto Beaches' Indians downed Winnipeg Blue Bombers 12-9 at Winnipeg Saturday in the first of three exhibition football games in the west.

More than 5,000 shirt-sleeved fans sat under a brilliant sun to watch their favorite Bombers literally toss the game to Toronto with two fumbles good for two touchdowns.

Quarterback Joe Kane sparked the combines' attack with a second-quarter touchdown, converted by Johnny Lake, after Bob Hazel had given them a 1-0 lead in the first quarter. Bud Hewitson added another five points with a touchdown in the third quarter.

In a breath-topping finish that was a repetition of his Quebec Open victory Friday, Bob Gray of Toronto Scarboro shot a 71 at St. Marguerite, Que., to win the $500 Alpine open golf tournament.

That made it three in a row for the burly shotsmith who also won the 1948 Ontario Open.

A United States all-star team from Chicago's National Soccer League battled the Canadian champion Montreal Carsteels to a 3-3 draw at Montreal Sunday in the first game of a home-and-home, total-goal series for the Triner Trophy, emblematic of International soccer supremacy. The teams will meet against Sept. 12 at Chicago.

Cyrl (Cy) Thomas, Edmonton member of Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, suffered a fractured wrist in an automobile collision at Edmonton Saturday. He told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., dropped in a birdie four on the 18th hole to boost himself into a tie with Otto Greiner, Baltimore, Md., at the end of he 72 holes of play in the $10,000 St. Paul open golf tournament at St. Paul, Minn., Sunday. The birdie gave Demaret a four-under-par 68 and a 273 total.

100,000 Pilgrims Flocking To Quebec Shrine

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 16 — (CP). — A record crowd of 100,000 pilgrims today headed for the Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre near Quebec City or returned home after taking part in the 60th anniversary of the Shrine of Cap de la Madeleine.

The huge crowd arrived Sunday in special trains from Montreal, Ottawa and other points. One group of 145 came from Chicago led by Archbishop Francis Beckman and there were others from St. Boniface, Man. and Lowell, Mass.

Many attended the first mass at dawn Sunday and some 30,000 marched through the city to the Shrine Sunday night in a spectacular torchlight procession.

The Shrine to which miraculous curative powers are attributed was jammed for high mass celebrated by the newly-appointed auxiliary bishop of Quebec, Most Rev. Charles Omer Garant. Sunday afternoon, he officiated at the blessing of the sick.

The statue of Our Lady of the Cape, housed in the Shrine, was the centre of attention as thousands overflowed this mecca for Roman Catholic pilgrims. When the statue was dedicated eye-witnesses reported it opened its eyes and gazed skywards.

Other witnesses attested that when the new church was built a bridge of ice formed across the St. Lawrence River enabling stone to be transported to the site of the structure.

Several remarkable cures have been reported at the Shrine this summer, including the instantaneous recovery of voice by sister Camilla, a Toronto school teacher who had lost her power of speech.

TWO UNITED CHURCH clergymen and their wives by the name of Smith met for the first time while attending the 31st annual Summer School for Clergy at Macdonald College which just concluded. Rev. Malcolm P. Smith and Mrs. Smith, of Robinson United Church, London, Ont., are the couple on the left, while Rev. Robert S. Smith and Mrs. Smith, of Quyon, are on the right. The latter Mr. Smith has just completed 40 years in the ministry. Here, they are looking over some of the stock in the Macdonald College book store.

Campaign Ends As Alberta Votes Tuesday

EDMONTON, Aug. 16.—(CP). —Alberta tomorrow registers its reaction to its Social Credit government's bid for a fourth straight term in office. More than 450,000 voters have, besides, the choice of electing to power either C.C.F. or Liberal parties.

For the 11th Legislature's 57 seats 173 candidates have been nominated. There's a Social Credit candidate in every constituency. The C.C.F. is contesting 51, the Liberals 49, and the Independent Movement (in the last Legislature the official Opposition) nine. In addition there are three Independent Social Credit, two Labor-Progressives, and two others.

The Government dominated the recently-dissolved 10th Legislature, holding 51 seats.

Radio campaigns of all three wound up Saturday. Sunday Liberal leader Harper Prowse made his last appeal for support at a Liberal party picnic attended by 700 persons. Tonight Premier Manning addresses a rally winding up the Social Credit campaign. Climax of the C.C.F. drive was reacher last week when Alberta leader Elmer E. Roper teamed with national leader M. J. Coldwell to address 1,200 supporters—the campaign's largest audience.

Mr. Prowse, 35-year-old leader of Alberta's resurgent Liberals said Premier Manning's government had "frittered away" the Social Credit policies it inherited from the late William Aberhart.

Liberals, accused of being "old line," in turn considered Premier Manning and his followers "older in their minds" and more Conservative than members of any other party.

Public ownership of electric power, a major election issue, also is subject of a plebiscite to be submitted tomorrow.

Two Big Reports Will Shape Farming Economic Trends

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 — (CP). — Two big reports which will do much to shape economic trends in Canadian agriculture will be issued from the Captal this week, both from the Bureau of Statistics.

They will deal with wheat. One, to be released Tuesday, will estimate the size of the 1948 Prairie wheat crop. The other, scheduled for publication Thursday, will announce the size of the carry-over of wheat at the opening of the new crop year last August 1.

The crop estimate will be the most important since it, indirectly, will indicate how much money Prairie farmers will have during the next year for purchase of goods and needed equipment, renovation of their farms and general upkeep.

Until the report comes, it would be difficult to hazard a guess. However, the new crop is expected to be smaller than that of last year, when 340,000,000 bushels were harvested. The crop in 1946 was a bumper one—413,000,000 bushels.

The wheat carryover, which indicates the amount of wheat left in the country after exports and domestic usage, can be estimated at about 95,000,000 bushels on the basis of figures which have been released thus far. This would compare with a carry-over of 84,000,000 bushels last year.

Canada's exports during the 1947-1948 crop year totalled around 180,000,000 bushels. Another 150,000,000 bushels was used at home for bread-making and other domestic consumption.

Health Project

Federal authorities expect the provinces to begin submitting health projects next month. The $30,000,000 in Federal grants available to the provinces will be paid out only against specific projects and in two cases—cancer control and hospital construction—must be matched by corresponding advances of provincial funds.

Although $30,000,000 is available for the grants, it may be some time before the provinces begin drawing the full amounts allocated to them.

Berlin Tension Increases War Danger

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont., Aug. 16—(CP)—Max Beloff, reader in the comparative study on institutions at Oxford University, declared Saturday that tension arising from the current crisis in Berlin presents a danger of another war.

Mr. Beloff advised the 17th annual conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs that western power diplomacy "is simply an attempt to find a way of paying adequate blackmail (to Russia) to allow us to remain in Berlin."

Author of the book, "The Foreign Policy of Soviet Russia" Mr. Beloff said, "there may be no price and we may have to withdraw from Berlin.

"By driving us out and forcing us to hand over 2,000,000 Germans to them, it would be a confession that in spite of setbacks, Russian progress is irrisistible."

"The tragedy of Berlin is that something not worth a third world war has brought us into very real danger of such a war."

The meeting that ends next Saturday also heard Dr. Karl Polanyi, visiting professor of economics at Columbia University, New York.

He said the collapse of Germany and Japan left great areas of the world without power to maintain security, and with only two other groups to do this, insecurity and fear resulted.

He said that the true measure of the present war danger lay in the fact that every country of Europe, except Russia, has ceased to be a power in its own right.

Concealed Birth

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 16 — (CP). — An unmarried mother who told police she kept the body of her stillborn baby in a dresser drawer for three weeks before having it thrown into the harbor was arraigned Saturday without plea on a charge of concealing a birth. Florence Shaw, 27, appeared with the confessed father, William Tobin, 21, and both entered no plea. The hearing is scheduled for next Thursday.

27-year-old Arab Chieftain Fighting With Stern Gang

JERUSALEM, Aug. 16—(CP) —Sheik Yussuf Abu Gosh, 27-year-old Arab village chieftain, Sunday said he has commanded a group of 70 Arab fighters with the Jewish "Fighters for the Fredom of Israel," the so-called Stern gang.

At a press conference, the Sheik disclosed he was the first Arab to fight with the Jewish underground against both the British troops and Arabs in Palestine.

In his native village of Abu Gosh, seven miles west of Jerusalem, 15 Jews and Arabs sat down at the same table on a hill-side overlooking the strife-torn Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway to than the Sheik for his services "to Palestine."

In particular they honored him for his part in the spectacular escape from the British hospital in Jerusalem in April, 1947, of 22-year-old Guelah Cohen, the Stern gang's pretty underground radio announcer, captured by British police in Tel Aviv in February, 1946, and sentenced to seven years imprisonment.

Miss Cohen was present Sunday to thank her liberator.

The Sheik gave as his reason for joining the Stern group his conviction that "the British were in Palestine for their own ends and not to promote peace among the people or to do constructive work."

"Since the Stern group were the only ones fighting the British, I thought I should join them," he said. "I am interpreting the feeling of 50,000 Arabs of my district. They all are willing to discuss peace with the Jews. I believe both peoples can rebuild this country together for the benefit of both."

Won't Oppose Operation To Save Child

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 — (AP) — Mrs. Irene Lamphere, 21-year-old mother of toddling Pamela Frances, said Sunday she will no longer oppose a delicate operation which may save the child's life.

Twenty-two-month-old Pamela was born with her bladder outside her body. Doctors give her two years to live unless she undergoes a dangerous operation to correct the condition.

"I didn't realize there were so many other (cases)," said Mrs. Lamphere. "Now I know a lot of babies who had the operation and are now perfectly all right. I see no use of my holding her back. I'm going to leave it to the doctors as to when the operation should be performed."

The young mother opposed the operation until now. She said she had been told Pamela would have only one chance in 100 to survive the operation. Disagreement over whether the surgery should be performed has estranged Mrs. Lamphere and her husband, Fred, 23, a shipping clerk, who has favored the operation. Fred asked Judge Walter R. O'Malley for a court order compelling surgery.

A panel of seven doctors, including deans of four medical schools, will examine Pamela next Sunday and report their findings in writing to the judge.

See Boost In Beef Prices Early This Week; Restaurants To Be Affected

No increase in the price of beef or veal was reported early today by city butchers, nor was there a price jump in restaurant meals in these two meats. However, they expected an increase this afternoon. Gordon S. Matthews of Canada Packers said today: "The Toronto market is not settled. This is just a guess, but I'd say prices on live beef would be up three to four cents a pound, with an increase of eight cents a pound on wholesale dressed beef carcasses. How much the retail price would go up, I couldn't say."

One butcher said packers are not quoting prices or selling beef, and another said he expected word from a Toronto packer, but that he didn't know what would come of it.

In general, butchers said they didn't know what might happen, but that there should be news of an increase by this afternoon.

Beefsteaks were boosted two cents a pound on Friday, but there was no change in the prices for roasts.

Fire Levels Garage Estimated Loss $400

Approximately $400 damage was caused by fire early Saturday evening at the home of Robert Little, Monaghan Rd., near Cameron St. The garage, in which the fire started, was practically destroyed and the back end of the house was scorched. Other week-end fires were at the Erskine Ave. dump, where sawdust caught fire on Saturday morning, and a chimney fire on Sunday afternoon at the home of L. Phillips, 100 Lee St., but no damage was done.

HOOT MON! LOST CAUSES

During the Lions parade Saturday night, a weird thing happened at the corner of Water and Hunter Sts. "And then 20 Scotchmen marched over it," commented one.

"Lucky they didn't see it," added another (obviously a renegade Irishman), "or there would have been a stampede."

Stony Lake Taxpayers Say They Get Little For Taxes

For their $25,000 annual taxes, the 10,000 Stoney Lake cottagers receive comparatively few benefits and municipal services. And their annual expenditure in the district amounts to approximately half a million dollars.

These figures were quoted by Leo Dorfman at the annual meeting of the Cottagers' Association Saturday at Juniper Island. The tax total, he said, was obtained from officials of the four townships bordering Stony and Clear Lakes.

Mr. Dorfman suggested that effective steps be taken to get some return from the taxes paid to the townships. The area was said to need improvements to roads, police and fire protection, provision of a game warden for the summer, better docking facilities and the marking of rocks. It was felt that some action should be put forth to emphasize to the municipal authorities the importance of the large summer colony from which they receive various advantages.

Nine directors were elected as follows: Mrs. J. B. Garland, Port Hope; Stanley Dodworth, Pittsburgh; Keith Russell, Toronto; B. K. Johnston, Toronto; Dr. S. Braund, Peterborough; Lyman Crawford-Brown, Toronto; Robert Willoughby; Ken Slater, Toronto; Harold Knapman, Picton.

Membership Up

Mr. Dodworth, president of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, was chairman of the meeting of shareholders Saturday. He reported an increase of 22 members. Mrs. Garland presented the minutes of several meetings of directors. The report of the treasurer was read by W. A. Richardson of Peterborough who recalled that he was appointed to the board at the request of the other directors following the death of Douglas Hammond. He said the financial position of the association showed an improvement of about $1,000 over last year.

Thefts from cottages, of which there are about 25 break-ins annually, was discussed. Incidental payments were authorized. Mr. Russell spoke at some length of the Stony Lake Aquatic Association, its affairs and objects, chiefly regattas, sailing races and general entertainment. Prizes at the recent Stony Lake regatta amounted to about $1,000 in value, largely contributed by merchants of Peterborough, Lakefield and the district.

Merchants Debate Santa's Reception

Santa Claus may be coming to town—if enough money can be raised to rent the 14 floats, depicting Mother Goose characters, now being built in Windsor, which will be routed through many Ontario cities. Recently the Peterborough Business Men's Association sent out a letter to all downtown store owners, requesting them to donate a minimum of $10 for the rental of the floats.

Seven of the 14 floats are powered, and the other seven will be drawn by trucks or tractors supplied by the group sponsoring the parade. Many of the floats are animated, and have sound effects. Between them will walk comic characters which will consist of large papier mache masks worn by boys.

DISCUSSIONS RESUMED

City council has resumed discussion of the terms of agreement with Peterborough Bus Lines as a condition of the extension of their present franchise.

Those from Peterborough are Mrs. Stanley Richardson and son Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jones. Also in the car and injured were Mr. and Mrs. McCaskill of Hamilton.

Whoopee, 2 Youngsters Toss Store Receipts From Car Window, $30 Still Missing

Paper currency didn't mean anything to the two small children of Everett Ross, grocer at 769 Park St. On the way to the bank this morning to deposit Saturday receipts he called for a few minutes at the office of Gordon Hancock in the Greene Building, Charlotte St. He had put the bills in the glove compartment, and in his absence the youngsters opened its door and began tossing the colored paper around. Some fluttered out onto the pavement and were blown about nearby. Pedestrians were pop-eyed and began picking up twos, fives and tens. A constable happened along and all but $30 was recovered. Persons who picked up the missing $10 and $20 bills are advised that they should be returned to Mr. Ross.

Car Takes Fire Driver Escapes Then Collapses

Charles Steadman, 459 Murray St., is in hospital today receiving treatment for head injuries sustained when his car caught fire, went off the road and struck a tree. The man was found unconscious at the scene of the accident, one-half mile north of Nassau on the Lakefield Highway about 1:30 Sunday morning. He was taken to Dr. Hugh Gastle at Lakefield by two Peterborough men, Sherburn Woods, 866 George St., and Robert Reynolds, 191 Rink St. After emergency treatment, the doctor had the man taken to hospital here where it is believed he will be allowed to go home today.

Steadman was returning from a fishing trip in the north. According to his memory, while rounding a turn, his motor caught fire. In an effort to bring the car to a stop as soon as possible, he turned the vehicle off the west shoulder of the road.

The edge of the road was much sharper than the driver calculated and the car plunged down the embankment, ran a short distance and struck a tree. Mr. Steadman, who received the head cut from the impact, jumped from the car and started to shovel sand and earth on the motor to douse the fire.

"I must have passed out," was all the explanation that he could give police, as he did not remember anything after that. The two men found him lying on the ground near the car.

Provincial Constables Emmett Crough and George Henderson investigated.

Uses Ball Bat, Croquet Mallet, Billiard Cue Fails To Beat Golfer Using Orthodox Clubs

In golf, a baseball bat isn't quite as effective as a golf club, though Dr. Harold Worton put on a pretty impressive showing with the former Saturday at the Peterborough Golf Club. Series golfers coming through were, well, shocked on reaching a fours performing in an odd manner. At least one of them was. "Doc" Worton, resplendent in white plus fours, et al, was going around using only a baseball bat, a croquet mallet and a billiard cue!

Playing him and using orthodox clubs were Andy Rutter, Al Winslow and Ernie Braund. They had side bets up and Worton, missing but three cuts at the little ball, was a minor loser on 18 holes. He could get but 150 yards on a swing while his opponents went over 200. His score was 135, while Winslow carded 103, Rutter 93 and Braund 92. And they gave him two strokes a hole. Al tried the bat but missed 12 cuts and Andy and Ernie had little better luck. They threaten to try archery on the course next.

Demand For Space Brisk At Exhibition Grounds

Demand for display space at Exhibition Park is regarded by G. A. Gillespie as an evidence of the return of public interest in the big show that is now only eight days away.

"We could have filled twice the space," he said today. "There are more than 50 exhibits in the big building that was the drill hall during the war years. Manufacturers, merchants and others were quick to take space, and that part of the work offered no problem."

Mr. Gillespie is calling a meeting of all committee chairmen for Monday night. The time for committee room planning has passed, and the days of taking off coats and rolling up sleeves are here.

"Everything is in good shape. There are no complaints, but we are ready now for the chairmen to line up their committees for the action that is soon going to be required. The grounds are in fine condition. We have had fine attendance of workers at our office meetings, from here on the chairmen have to take hold."

Mr. Gillespie took on the job of manager because he has long been interested in the Peterborough Fair, was one time president, and also because he likes to be doing things.

"The members of the board do not feel that we made any sacrifice of the grounds during the war years. They were glad to have it used as a military camp, and a help in winning the war. Those years were a set back, but all we need is the goodwill of the people of this district and we'll be back on our feet in fast order."

Three Languages Spoken By Girl Guide And Scouts

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y., Aug. 16—(CP). — At a 40-tent camp here 50 girl guides and girl scouts from Canada, Brazil and the United States are learning to live in a spirit of international unity despite language barriers.

Assembled for the duration of the girl guide and girl scout world conference which ends Aug. 23, the girls, who range in ages from 16 to 21, have found friendships at the camp almost instantaneous.

Typical of the comment was that of Donna Jean Haley of Windsor, who said that coming to the camp was "one of the most exciting things I've done." Miss Haley added that living in the camp where three languages, English, French and Portuguese, are spoken freely, has shown her how "suspicion disappears as soon as people get to understand each other."

Local guides and scouts will be interested in knowing that the secretary to Miss Kidd, who is in charge of the camp, is Miss Grace Winch, commishsioner for Rchmon Surrey, wth whom Mrs. R. Whalon, district commissioner for Peterborough, became acquainted while attending Lady Baden-Powell's birthday party in England last year. Mrs. Whalon is anticipating a visit with Miss Winch in Toronto late ths month.

In the camp, Canadian girl guides and rangers, Brazilian girl scouts called "Bandeirantes," — after the pioneers who first explored their country—and United States senior scouts, mingle in each of the 10 living areas—living and working closely together.

The international linguist of the camp is Maria Thereza Dutra of Sao Paulo. She speaks her native Portuguese, manages a little English for her United States fellow campers and uses the French she learned as a child in Paris to converse with Blanche Houle of Three Rivers, Que.

One Canadian guide, in complimenting the Brazilians, said that they are "wonderful cooks and . . . so gay."

Lockington-Calvert Union By Candlelight At Lindsay

A candlelight wedding ceremony Saturday evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lindsay, united Ruth Evangeline Calvert, Reg.N., and Allan Reid Lockington of Peterborough, with the Rev. Donald McQueen officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Calvert, Reaboro, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lockington, Nassau.

The church was decorated with gladioli, ferns and candles, and the music was played by Mr. Robert Cutt, organist. During the signing of the register the bride's sister, Miss Barbara Calvert, sang "Through he Years."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. James Calvert, the bride was gowned in white nylon with cape sleeves, yoke and mittens of white net. Her veil formed a coronet of white net and was caught with white rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Mary Thorburn, Lindsay, as maid of honor, was frocked in orchid silk mesh, fashioned in pinafore style, with picture hat of black mesh with orchid trimming. She carried yellow roses with mauve sweet peas.

The groomsman was Mr. Harry Lockington, cousin of the groom, and the ushers were Bert Calvert of Oshawa and Stewart Lockington of Peterborough, brothers of the bride and groom.

Afterward a reception was held at the home of Mrs. M. Thorburn, in Lindsay, where the bride's mother received wearing a dress of black crepe with black felt hat, and had a shoulder bouquet of gladioli and roses. The groom's mother, who assisted, was attired in navy crepe with hat of matching felt and wore a bouquet of gladioli and roses.

On a wedding trip north the bride travelled in a dress of blue corded silk and wore black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockington will live in Peterborough.

English Amazed At Food Ads In Examiner

Mr. Thomas Metcalfe of 180 Perry St. is not letting his "green thumb" lose its magic through disuse while on a three month holiday in England, Over there he is lending his brother, Arthur Metcalfe, a hand in his large garden in York.

Staying at Langton House, Osbaldwick, York, where he was born, Mr. Metcalfe is daily renewing acquaintance with people and scenes of his boyhood. He has six brothers and three sisters to visit during his stay.

However, he just couldn't do without news from Peterborough for that length of time so he arranged for delivery of the Examiner, and reports it is arriving regularly. His sister-in-law writes 'Your paper is of great interest over here, particularly it's size in comparison with our single sheet of four pages."

"The advertisements are a happy hunting ground for the women who spend lots of time comparing prices and groaning with envy at the goods offered. In many cases your prices are lower than ours, though, of course, we cannot assess the difference in quality (if any) while the variety of foods advertised is a source of amazement to English housewives."

Mr. Metcalfe is expected back in Peterborough about mid-October.

Book Sales Falling Readers Choosy

LONDON, Aug. 11 — (CP). — Publishers report a decline in the sale of "undistinguished" novels and illustrated books for very young children.

One attributed the lesser demand to demobilization. "During the war fighting men and women read any kind of fiction that came their way. Now that peace offers more competition for their spare time they are more discriminating."

MARGATE, Kent, England, Aug. 11.—(CP).—A 17-year-old German youth, describing himself as a clerk in Leipzig Town Hall since 1947, has asked Mayor W. J. Perkins to find him British pen pals.

"We become very poor in Germany," he wrote. "We have not the simplest things and very few food. The little children get no milk or butter and become very ill.

"The people get cross to one another because they are hungry. Conditions are bad all the way round. It is very terrible."

DOROTHY DIX

Prankster Husband's Tricks Often Become Unbearable

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a man whom I love more than anything and who loves me as much as I do him, but we are about to part because of our difference in personalities. We have tried hard to get along together as we have three adorable children, but we are always on each others's nerves.

Dorothy Dix

Our difficulty is my eternal sincerity and his eternal joking, which is driving both of us crazy. He is mad about pretending that he isn't going to do something and then, when I finally lose my temper, he says he was just kidding. I get no enjoyment out of doing a thing after I have had to argue about it and have it explained to me.

What can we do to reconcile our difference, if anything?

MRS. W. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A practical joker and a woman without a sense of humor must make a combination that is as impossible to blend as oil and water, but how come you didn't find that out before marriage, instead of discovering it afterwards?

Romantic Courtship

The only explanation I can find for it is that during the days of courtship the prankster was so filled with romance that he forgot to be humorous, and that the pretty girl was so bemused by her love dream that she believed all of her fiance's wild vows of devotion to be a mere statement of how he felt owards her. Susceptible to proof, if need be.

Certainly no two people could be less adjusted to each other than a perpetual josher and a woman without a funnybone. They never understand each other, or speak the same language, or get the other's point of view, and life is a very boring affair in a case where the husband has to furnish a diagram with his witticisms and the wife is so dumb she can never be made to see what makes people laugh.

But, after all, it seems a great pity to break up a marriage and half-orphan little children over a comic strip. So why not eliminate the humor motif from the marriage? My suggestion would be for the husband to save his jokes for the boys downtown, not use them for home consumption, and for the wife just to stick to the basic affairs of life.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have attended a number of luncheons and dinner parties where the hostess did not sit down with the guests. She not only spent the entire meal period serving them, but even washed the dishes afterwards. Don't you think it would be possible to plan a menu which required a minimum of serving and which would permit the hostess to eat with her guests? I have been to parties where neither the hostess nor host ate with their guests.

What is your opinion?

A READER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Page Emily Post! I never before have heard of a hostess not sitting at the table with her guests and eating with them, and I should think it would be very embarrasing to all concerned if she did not. Surely the guests must feel very awkward and as if they were not wanted and that their hostess was merely paying off a debt that she would be glad to get off her mind.

Bird Changed Sex Reaches Ripe Age

VANCOUVER, Aug. 11 (CP).—Goo-Goo, a bi-sexual mallard that wanted to see how the other half lived, now is rated a centenarian.

At the ripe old age of 13, the pet of Mr. and Mrs. William Lamountaine is the equivalent of a human well past the century mark.

About 10 years age Goo-Goo eschewed the mundane female life of egg-laying, at which she was no amateur, and began to change to a quacking, gaily-plumaged drake. Mrs. Lamountaine's suspicions of the chameleon process were confirmed by a game warden.

The bird had achieved a complete change of sex.

Now slightly lame and too heavy to fly, Goo-Goo lives a quiet retired life, but still looks and acts like any well-dressed drake.

17 Per Cent Increase In Price Of Pears

HAMILTON, Aug. 16—(CP).— An increase of 17 per cent over the 1947 price for Nos. 1 and 2 Bartlett pears has been awarded fruit growers by a board of arbitration headed by Judge A. B. The award set No. 1 Bartletts at $117.50 a ton, compared to $100 for last year. No. 2's will sell to the canners for $82.50, compared with the 1947 price of $65. No. 1 Keiffer pears remain at the same level, $60; but the No. 2 variety are up $5 to $40.

The board set the price of plums at $80 a ton, the same as for 1947. This was a decision which met with the approval of most canners because according to their brief, the market was glutted with plum produce and the market was poor.

EVERY HAND IMPORTANT

Rubber enthusiasts, who have never played in tournaments, often do not know that there are two entirely different ways of scoring a match between two teams of four. One is the cumulative method whereby the total net contract points of the team's two pairs are compared with those of the opposing team's two pairs. The other is called the board-a-match method. In this, every deal is as important as every other deal, since your team gets one match point for scoring better on a particular deal than the other fellows, half a point for tying on it and zero for losing it.

Pass	Pass	Rdbl.

This deal decided a national championship. It was the match-point team event, and the bidding at Table 2 gave the title to the combination of Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. A. M. Sobel, Simon Rossant and Peter Leventritt, all of New York. To be more particular, it was the bidding of Mr. Rossant in the North, opposite Mr. Leventritt, that swung the balance.

Since both declarers made their contracts, the redoubled spade slam produced more points for North, by far, than the undoubled diamond slam gave to South at Table 1. To be exact, it was 1,570 for the spader against 920 for the diamonder, a swing of 650.

In match point play, however, that big margin gave the winners of the deal no more match points than if they had won by a mere ten. Some other deal on which one pair got 110 for making 2 spades, worth 60 plus 50 for part-score bonus, whereas the opponents made 100 for setting some contract a trick, would produce the same single match point earnable through a big swing.

	♠ K 8 6 3 ♥ A Q ♦ K 5 ♣ Q J 10 5 4

After the club 3 lead, how should South seek the largest possible number of tricks on this deal, and how can West thwart him?

God took her home to Heaven,
Before she was soiled on earth."

—Ever remembered by grandpa and grandma Smith and uncle Harold and aunt Lillian.

Traffic Accidents And Drownings High On List Of 28 Fatalities

By The Canadian Press

A death toll of 28 persons—two of them under mysterious circumstances — marred Eastern Canada's week-end, with traffic accidents and drownings high on the list.

Police said they were investigating the discovery of the body of a new-born baby girl in Montreal and the death of Arthur Asselin', 35, whose body was found in an isolated bushland shack 100 miles north-west of Ottawa.

Traffic accidents and drownings each accounted for 11 of the fatalities recorded since early Saturday as motorists and swimmers sought to escape the heat, a Canadian Press survey showed today. Two persons were killed by train, one in a fall and another in an accident while at work.

Quebec reported 14 deaths, Ontario nine, Nova Scotia three and New Brunswick two.

Begin Investigation

A Montreal police homicide squad was expected at Fort Coulonge, Que., 50 miles northwest of Ottwa, to investigate the finding of Asselin's body in a shack near Foran Lake Dam, another 50 miles north of Fort Coulonge. A search party discovered the body after he was missing 11 days on a hunting and fishing trip.

Police declined to say whether death was due to natural causes.

The baby's body was found wrapped in paper and wedged between two garbage cans in Montreal's downtown Recollect street. Mrs. Joseph Menard told police she took the package into her house Saturday, thinking it was left by a deliveryman.

Three double tragedies were reported — two of them drownings and the other a traffic accident.

Two girls drowned when their canoe capsized Saturday night on Lake St. Joseph, 20 miles west of Quebec City. They were Lucette Dufour, 20, of St. Gregoire and Pauline Grenier, 18, of Beauport. Two others kept afloat until rescued by clinging to the overturned canoe.

Another Upset

Another capsized canoe Saturday caused the deaths of two youths in Hamilton Bay. Bodies were recovered but neither of the youths was identified. Police said one who gave his name as Joe Murphy when renting the canoe also gave a Hamilton address that proved fictitious. They were awaiting further word from a Rockton resident, who telephoned to say his son went to Hamilton with another youth from Galt and thought they might be the victims.

A picnic outing ended in tragedy on the Hull-Maniwaki highway near Wakefield, Que., Sunday. Two Ottawa district residents — William H. B. Hoare, 60, and Moyra Bayliss, 15, died of broken necks when a truck carrying nine persons overturned after the steering wheel snapped as it hit a hole in the middle of the road.

One person suffered a broken leg but the other six escaped.

Traffic Fatalities

Ontario traffic fatalities included: Ronald Oliviero, five, of Detroit, who died in a Welland hospital from injuries suffered when his father's car crashed; John Coulter, 36, of Stittsville, killed when two trucks collided Saturday 35 miles west of Ottawa; John Campbell Shaw, 72, struck by a street-car in west-end Ottawa; Jerry Nichol, 78, partially-blind, knocked down by a truck near Owen Sound.

In Quebec, seven-year-old Paul Durivage was killed Sunday when struck by a truck near his home at Farnham.

Adolphe Gerard, 61, was drowned Saturday in the canal near Beauharnois, Que. The body of Andre Riopel, 28, missing from his Montreal home since Wednesday, was found in the Back River Saturday.

Two men were struck and killed by trains in Quebec Saturday. The body of Conrad Binette, 40, was found on the railway tracks near Sherbrooke, an arm and leg missing. Jean Paul Vallieres, 38, was struck by a train near St. Romauld. It was believed he fell asleep sitting on the tracks.

Mabel Trudeau, 18, of St. Johns, Que., died Sunday night when a truck crashed into a ditch near St. Matthias, Que. At St. Jovite, Que., an 18-month-old boy drowned in the Red River while his parents were at church.

Falls Out Of Boat

At Quebec City, L. H. Cummings, 67, fell out of his motorboat Saturday and drowned in Lake St. Charles. Dr. L. Nelson of River Rouge, Mich., who drowned in the Detroit River near Amherstburg, also was believed to have fallen from a boat.

Henry Walcarius, 57, died in hospital at Tillsonburg, from injuries suffered in a fall. Clifton Perrin, 29, was killed when a descending dozer-bucket at a gravel pit near North Bay, broke his neck.

Peter Ross, 27, drowned Saturday night while swimming near Halifax. Other Nova Scotia fatalities included: three-year-old John Kaiser, struck by a car in Halifax, and George Arthur Whalen, four, knocked down by a car in New Glasgow, NS.

In New Brunswick, Eugene Lloyd, nine, died after being hit by a car at Staint John, and Thomas W. Griffin, 49, was drowned Sunday when his boat capsized off Carter's Points in the St. John River.

Suggests Indians Appeal To UN

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 16—(CP)—The United Nations, which has a thing or two on its mind already, was pointed out today as the only hope the Canadian Indian has of obtaining justice.

Big White Owl, a Deleware Indian from Toronto otherwise known as Jasper Hill, associate editor of Native Voice, told a meeting in this western Ontario village the tribes were making steady progress civilization until the arrival of white men in the country.

He said that perhaps the United Nations could right ancient wrongs.

"The Indian has been cheated, subjagated wrongly, and the only hope is to turn to the tribunal for smaller nations," Mr. Hill said.

He spoke at the unveiling of a monument to the founding of the village where the first Protestant missionaries preached to his forefathers.

Red-Ruled Athletes Seek To Stay In Britain

LONDON, Aug. 16 — (AP) — Athletes from Communist-dominated eastern Europe who came to Britain for the Olympics are seeking ways to avoid going home.

A check today showed at least five men—two Czechs and three Hungarians — have announced plans to stay in England. Several Yugoslavs and Poles have asked about their chances of staying here or going to Canada or the United States.

Three Hungarian swimmers, Oszark Dzuvik, 23, Elmer Szatmari, 22, and Desso Gyarmati, 21, received permission from the home office to stay here for an extended time.

Two Czech swimmers, Limhart and Kolar, have asked through Czech relief organizations about going to Canada.

The home office has not announced how many applications for registration to remain that it has received or approved. However, it did keep its aliens' department open all day Sunday, an unusual procedure.

A FRAME BARN and a quantity of fodder were destroyed by fire on a farm at Agincourt Sunday afternoon. Firemen from Agincourt, Scarboro and North York battled the blaze and although they were unable to save the barn, they prevented the flames from spreading to near-by buildings. The farm recently was purchased by William H. Wright of Barrie.

National Memorial Unveiled At Mission

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 16—(CP)—A national memorial marking the site of this old Moravian village 15 miles northeast of Chatham, was unveiled Sunday.

Plaques commemorate the founding of the Indian mission by Rev. David Zeisberger of Bethlehem, Pa., in 1792, and the founding of the village by the exiled Delaware Indians.

Prof. Fred Landon, vice president of the University of Western Ontario, Ontario representatives on the National Monuments and Historic Sites Commission, unveiled the plaques before an audience that included many of the descendants of the original settlers.

The dedicatory address was given by Arthur R. Ford, chancellor of Western and editor-in-chief of the London Free Press.

Varied Bill Of Fare Prepared For Canadian Electoral Table

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 — (CP). — A varied bill of fare is going to be set before the Canadian citizen when next he draws up to the electoral table.

The men — the various platforms of the political parties — will have everything from soup to nuts, and the man who is going to pay the bill will be able to select his political dish from policies stretching from the far right, through the middle and into the extreme left.

With Liberal convention on the record and the other two to come, the election platform outlook shapes up something like this:

Liberal — Middle-of-the-road generally, but veering slightly to the left.

Progressive Conservative—Far to the right, with free enterprise as the banner.

C.C.F.—Far to the left, with a sweeping program of socializing banks and industry in the party's first term.

The Liberals, in their platform adopted here early this month, erected a platform pretty generally coinciding with current government policy. However, they applied a slight leftish tinge to it, possibly in recognition of C.C.F. gains in Federal by-elections and the Ontario general election.

An instance of this was the plank calling for state action in those fields where "the public interest calls for public enterprise." Marketing legislation for farm products was another plank indicating this philosophy.

Few Concessions

The Progressive Conservatives, according to advance predictions, will make few concessions to Socialist sympathizers and will shoot the works on the doctrine of free enterprise.

However, it will probably go as far as—if not further than—the Liberals in advocating social security measures for the aged and sick. These would include retirement pensions at 65 with no means test, health insurance, accident and sickness benefits and extended unemployment insurance—all on a contributory basis.

Another top Progressive Conservative plank, party sources say, will be heavy emphasis on the development of natural resources as a means of maintaining employment, staving off any depression and developing the nation.

Fuel Policy

It is stated that specific proposals will be formulated for a fuel policy; development of power resources, partitcularly on the St. Lawrence river and in Saskachewan, and development of mining and other enterprises in the north.

The Progressive Conservatives may embark on a policy of outlawing the Communist party in Canada.

For the C.C.F. the main platform plank will be its wide socialization program.

Under this plan, there would be "social ownership" of the chartered banks, railways, coal and steel industries, meat-packing and some industries supplying farmers, and the electricity, gas and oil industries. Both public and private investment would be controlled.

There would be be a broad social-security program, and plans for health, agriculture, trade and assistance to retarded areas such as the maritimes.

Doubts Any Delay

TORONTO, Aug. 16 — (CP). — Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, said Saturday he doubted if political developments in the United States would delay approval of the joint U.S.-Canadian St. Lawrence River power development.

Heavy Traffic Court Held At Hastings

HASTINGS, Aug. 16 (ENS). — Fifteen people appeared before Magistrate Baxter at Hastings Court on Friday afternoon. Thirteen motorists received fines of $5, and $2.50 costs, for driving with inadequate lights. They were Mrs. Mary Towns, RR 2, Hastings, Frank Dainty, 28 Detonia Park Avenue, Toronto, Charles Davidson, RR 3, Havelock, J. J. Lynch, RR 3, Hastings, Ernest S. Fairfield, Norwood, Charles Sharp, 47 Pharmacy Avenue, Toronto, Donald Telford, Lloyd Baker, Hastings, Arthur E. Walters, 640 Bolivar Street, Peterborough, Roy Edward Palmer, 329 George Street, Toronto, Gordon Parker, RR 3, Rosenath, Donald H. Lewis, RR 2, Hastings, Earl Mahoney, RR 1, Campbellford.

Leslie Pool of RR 3, Hastings, was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, on a charge of careless driving resulting from an accident on August 1 of this year.

For selling vegetables in the village of Hastings without a permit, Vito Miecoli, of 154 Morrow Street, Peterborough, was fined $10, with $2.50 costs.

All charges were laid by Chief Constable L. W. Potten.

Magistrate Baxter said he was pleased to see that action was being taken for insufficient lighting which could be the cause of serious accidents.

War Veterans Pledged To Just Peace

FORT ERIE, Aug. 16 — (CP). — Some 50,000 war veterans of Canada and the United States ended Sunday a four-day meeting pledged to peace.

The international peace encampment was advised in the final speech of the meeting that a just peace could not be attained at the price of loss of freedom.

Maj.-Gen. Arthur E. Potts of Ottawa declared, "we are not willing to accept peace at any price, to accept a peace which means giving up our liberties and the individual freedom which is our heritage.

"That is what we fought for in two wars; that is what so far we have been able to keep. . . .

"We almost got tired of listening to speakers tell of our undefended frontier.

"Yet here, we have something very precious, something which makes possible the close understanding between those of us who are close neighbors."

The delegates pledged support to both the U.S. and Canadian governments in presenting to the world "a united front in the interest of permanent peace."

Four-Day Congress

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—(CP). —Solemn high mass in Notre Dame church Sunday concluded a four-day Marian Congress on studies of the Assumption held at the University of Montreal. Delegates sought to discover whether the Assumption—the raising of the Virgin Mary's body in heaven —could be proclaimed as Roman Catholic dogma. They decided to recommend that a request be addressed to Pope Pius for a definition of the Assumption.

Nurses Stage Protest

LONDON, Aug. 16.— (CP). — Uniformed nurses from Portsmouth, Oxford, and Ipswich joined with their London colleagues Sunday in a protest march from Trafalgar Square to Hyde Park. There, they demanded a minimum wage of £5 ($20) for a 40-hour week from the start of their training. It was the first public protest by members of Britain's nursing profession.

Say Soviet Seals Off Area Sets Up Rocket Guns Along Salzwedel Border

Rumors Grow In Berlin About Suspension Of Marshal Sokolovsky; Moscow Fears Firing Poor Propaganda

BERLIN, Aug. 17—(AP).—The British-licensed newspaper Telegraf said today the Russians have sealed off an area along the Soviet-British border near the city of Salzwedel and have set up rocket guns there. The report has not been confirmed by any other source. Some observers thought the report might refer to Soviet army summer manoeuvres near the zonal frontiers. A report from Hamburg Monday quoted German border police in the British zone as saying these manoeuvres were nearly over.

German border-crossers in the area reported seeing heavy Russian artillery and tank columns moving around Salzwedel, apparently in manoeuvres.

The American-licensed Dena News Agency said a former German policeman had been kidnapped by the Russians across the American-Soviet frontier.

The man was identified as Willie Koehler, who formerly lived in the Russian zone, but was reputed to have moved to the American zone when he refused to take employment offered him by the Russians. The Dena report said he was lured across the border by a call to fetch a package and then "seized and dragged off into Russian captivity."

Report Suspension

Rumors were revived today that Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, has been superseded.

The Liberal Democratic newspaper Montags Echo said Monday night Sokolovsky eventually would be replaced by Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky. It said the latter had been given the task of converting the Soviet-sponsored German Socialist Unity Party (S.E.D.) from a mass party into a central group with the aim "of gaining power by legal or illegal means in Germany."

The paper said: "Moscow is dissatisfied with the policies of Marshal Sokolovsky in Germany but does not dare dismiss him during the current Berlin crisis for fear of giving the western powers a chance of exploiting such action for propaganda purposes."

Take More Food

More evidence came from the Soviet zone that the Russians are requisitioning foodstuffs from eastern Germany to make good their promise to feed all Berlin. The western press said the measures are causing Soviet food shortages.

The western sectors had food troubles of their own.

In Hof Monday a crowd of 10,000 workers and housewives, protesting against high fruit and vegetable prices, shouted "hang the profiteers." The demonstrators called out by a Bavarian workers' union, roared their approval of a resolution calling for a buyers' strike.

United States air force headquarters announced that the largest American plane in Europe, a C-74 Globemaster with a wingspan of 174 feet, will fly a cargo of flour to Berlin today. It is reputed able to carry 20 to 25 tons.

Laborer Runs Crime School; Jailed For Year

TORONTO, Aug. 17 — (CP). — Gordon Wright, 26, who police say ran a crime school for juveniles, was sentenced today to one year on two charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

He still faces seven charges of receiving stolen goods.

Police testified Wright, an unemployed laborer, received liberal fees for advising young thieves in seven burglaries. The juveniles are said to have kept Wright supplied with parts for his automobile and provided him with money to meet instalment payments. In return they got money to spend on candy.

Wright Gets Benefit

"He (Wright) admits he was present when these break-ins were planned," said Detective Thurston. "He was the only one who benefitted from the crimes. The kids bought light bulbs, gas and oil for his car and spent their share of the money on candy and things like that."

Wright was held after the arrest Sunday of a 16-year-old youth and four juveniles ranging from 12 to 14 years old. A citizen caught them dividing up loot stolen from a theatre. The boys will appear in juvenile court next week.

Forrestal Silent On Conference

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(CP). — Defence Secretary Forrestal of the United States conferred with leading Canadian figures in military affairs Monday, including the present and two former defence ministers.

In the one touch of business in his two-day "courtesy" visit, he met the defence committee of the Cabinet and its highest advisers for two hours.

There was nothing to indicate that the talks were concentrated on any particular subject. Mr. Claxton told a press conference they covered "all aspects of defence co-operation" and expressed satisfaction that Canadian and U.S. planning was along similar lines.

Charge Jews Seize Government House

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, Aug. 17 — (AP). — Official Amman sources charged today that Jews, using tanks and artillery, seized a Government House Monday night in the Red Cross security zone south of Jerusalem.

A statement released here also charged that Jews disguised in "United Nations uniforms" attacked nearby irregular positions from the security zone early today.

The Government House had been under the Red Cross flag since it was evacuated May 14 by the British High Commissioner, Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, as his place of residence.

The statement did not explain what it was referring to by "United Nations uniforms." Uniforms worn by the Swedish, American, French and Belgian truce observers belong to each country's military services.

Heavy Attack

Jewish forces heavily attacked Arab Legion positions at Deir Abuter in southern Jerusalem today and were thrown back with "several hundred killed," an official statement said today.

WORLD'S BEST - KNOWN sports figure, and home-run king of baseball, Babe Ruth, who died in the Memorial Hospital for cancer and allied diseases in New York. He was 53.

Home Run King Babe Ruth Dies Of Cancer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 —(AP)— Babe Ruth is dead.

The one-time New York Yankee slugger, wasted by two years' illness and almost constant pain, died of cancer of the throat at 8:01 p.m. EDT last night. He was 53.

A priest who administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church said "The Babe has been prepared since July 21 for his death."

Ruth never knew that he had cancer, however.

More than 100 children who were gathered outside Memorial Hospital Centre for Cancer and Allied Diseases walked sadly away after the end came.

They were representative of the thousands of young and old who had stood vigil in relays outside the hospital where their stricken idol lay suffering. Millions of others all over the world had kept rooting for the Babe.

A mass for Ruth will be held Thursday morning in St. Patrick's Cathedral, but funeral plans were incomplete early today.

Memorial Programs

Two radio network memorial programs are scheduled for tonight—NBC from 9 to 9:30 p.m. EDT and ABC from 9:30 to 10.

President Truman led the United States in paying tribute to the Babe, who batted his way to major-league baseball immortality during 22 playing years.

The President's message of condolence, first of many received at the Ruth residence, said:

"A whole generation of boys now grown to manhood will mourn the passing of the home-run king of the baseball world.

"Babe Ruth had all the qualities of a hero, and as an exemplar of clean sport was an inspiration of tens of thousands of rooters of all ages all over the country...."

The President told Ruth's family: "To you and to all who mourn with you, I offer this assurance of heartfelt sympathy."

Ruth lapsed into unconscious-

Russ Teacher Tries Suicide After Breakdown—Consul

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)— The Soviet Consul-General, Yakov M. Lomakin, says the Russian woman school teacher who leaped from a third-floor window of the Soviet consulate last week was attempting suicide "in her despair" after a nervous breakdown.

Lomakin blames "White Russians" and United States officials for the leap.

The consul-general charged Monday night at a press conference that anti-Communist White Russians had kidnapped and drugged the teacher, Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, several days before she jumped.

Lomakin said responsibility for her leap last Thursday lay also with American officials, whom he accused of actions and statements leading her to a "nervous breakdown."

Mrs. Kosenkina, who suffered multiple fractures and other injuries, is reported slightly improved, but still in critical condition at Roosevelt Hospital.

The New York Times said today it had learned "from trustworthy sources" that an exhaustive report by the city police department on the case had been made to Mayor William O'Dwyer and forwarded to federal and state prosecuting authorities.

The police report, the Times said, declares that Soviet charges that the teacher had been kidnapped are "unfounded."

The New York Star said college teachers and magazine staffs will come under scrutiny of the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities.

"It will take the form of attempting to determine just how much headway has been made on U.S. college campuses by Communists," the story said. "Teachers will be summoned from most of the leading universities in the eastern U.S.A."

Dairies Begin Own Butter Ration Plan

Voluntary System Expected To Tide Customers Over Winter

OTTAWA, Aug. 17 — (CP). — A dealer-administered butter ration indicated for Canada Monday by the National Dairy Council became a housewives' headache for customers of Ottawa dairies today.

One dairy manager said a rush on supplies "has forced us to begin an informal rationing plan." Another said he will keep his customers on quota, "until the government gives us something to augment our stocks."

W. K. St. John, secretary of the dairy council, in an interview Monday night said a voluntary system of rationing by dealers may begin shortly in all principal Canadian cities.

Meanwhile, Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin of the Supreme Court set Oct. 5 as the date for the hearing on the constitutionality of Canada's 62-year-old oleomargarine ban. The hearing is expected to last three or four days, but final judgment is not expected to be handed down until some time later.

Butter substitutes was one method the dairy council recommended to the cabinet to ease the butter shortage.

Announce Plans Soon

Mr. St. John said the government should announce its plans to meet the shortage as soon as possible. A gray market in butter already existed in Canada, he said. A black market by unscrupulous dealers would follow unless the government "does something to ease the shortage."

Butter stocks were decreasing and consumer demand increasing, said Mr. St. John. By Christmas the shortage would reach its critical stage.

The voluntary rationing was necessary, he added, if dealers expect to supply some butter to their customers ove. the winter months.

He estimated that Canada's stocks of butter during the next 12 months will oe approximately 24,000,000 pounds below requirements. Canada's shortage last year, he estimated, was about 10,000,000 pounds.

Monty Appeals For 150,000 Men

BLACKPOOL, Lancs., England, Aug. 17—(AP).—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery asserted today that the world is existing in "more of a truce than a peace," and called for 150,000 army reserves to back up Britain's defences.

"A somewhat uneasy peace is brooding over the world," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a ceremony conferring upon him the freedom of Blackpool.

"It is more of a truce than a peace; it is a period of exhaustion, ill-described as 'peace,'" he said.

"The territorial (reserve) army is a vital factor in our system of national defence and preparedness," he said after asserting that "the best chance of avoiding war in modern times is to be prepared."

"It needs," said Lord Montgomery, "150,000 active, energetic, enthusiastic, and intelligent men and women by next spring."

Marquis Of Blandford Visits At Balmoral

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Aug. 17 (AP).—John George Vanderbilt Henry Spencer-Churchill, the 22-year-old Marquis of Blandford, whose name currently is linked romantically with that of Princess Margaret, went to Balmoral Castle today to be the guest of the royal family.

The Marquis, cousin of Winston Churchill, was accompanied by his sister, Lady Rosemary Spencer-Churchill.

THE WAY IS BARRED by a policeman's night stick stretched across the doorway to Zot Chepurnykh (Right), first secretary of the Russian Consulate, in his third attempt to see Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City. Charge Secrecy Oath Violated At Spy Inquiry

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — (AP). — The House of Representatives Un-American activities committee seethed today with a behind-the-scenes war over what one member called "violation of an oath" by a committee member or staff aide.

It seems that a solemn promise not to talk was exacted from everyone present when Alger Hiss, former state department official, testified at a closed-dinner session Monday. Yet morning papers published many details of what went on.

One angry member told reporters today that he will demand that the committee investigate the "leak." He asked them not to use his name until he makes his formal demand at the committee's next session.

"It is obvious from reading the papers that someone violated that oath. As soon as the full committee meets again, I intend to take this up and find out who is guilty. It is a fine thing for a committee questioning the word of witnesses to have an oath violated by someone officially connected with it," he said.

Raps Program

Meanwhile, Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) struck out anew at the government's loyalty program. He declared that several persons suspected of spy activities have stayed in "sensitive" Federal jobs "either through influence or neglect."

The House committee rang down the curtain with a terse statement that "we will resume public hearings on the espionage case Tuesday, Sept. 7."

WANT INFORMATION

OTTAWA, Aug. 17—(CP)—A Prices Board official, commenting on rumors of butter hoarding said the board would like information for prosecutions.

Troop Movements Revealed British Cabinet Investigates

LONDON, Aug. 17—(Reuters).—The Cabinet, concerned at leakage of secret military information, will investigate how news leaked out Monday that troops of the Guards Brigade are being prepared for sailing to Malay, it was learned authoritatively today. The news was first published in a London morning newspaper, causing the War Office to be bombarded with inquiries.

The War Office indicated that a statement would be issued but this was repeatedly postponed until a spokesman late Monday finally stated: "All troop movements are secret."

It had been known in informed quarters here for some time that the Guards — the British Army's best trained fighting unit — were being sent to southeast Asia as a show of strength against Communist terrorists.

The Government, however, was anxious for security reasons that this should not be generally known.

Political circles believe the leakage may have been discussed at Monday's sudden meeting of Ministers attended by Foreign Secretary Bevin, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones and service chiefs.

Hamilton Police Look For Oshawa Bandits

HAMILTON, Aug. 17 (CP). — Police are on the alert here for the bandits who grabbed the week-end receipts yesterday of an Oshawa Brewery retail store and were reported to have escaped in a car bearing Hamilton licence plates.

City police said today that the car was from outside Hamilton and that its theft had not been reported here.

Inspector A. R. Knight of the Provincial Police at Dundas said today that his force had been alerted by a radio broadcast shortly after the robbery.

Moscow Talks Nearing Climax

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 — (AP). — Observers are as much in the dark as ever today about results of the latest talks between western-power envoys and Foreign Minister Molotov. Some believe the length of Monday night's session indicated the conferees were getting down to concrete problems.

(A London informant said Monday Molotov was to give Russia's reply to western proposals for settlement of the Berlin deadlock at the meeting. He said the talk "might possibly be the climax" of the 18-day negotiations.

(In Frankfurt, the United States military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, said he expected the western powers to stick to their plans for Germany. He indicated the west will continue going ahead with plans for a west-German government.)

Find Constable's Body

KINGSTON, Aug. 17 — (CP).— The body of RCMP Constable James Henderson, 23, of Oshawa, who was drowned when he fell from the Kingston-based RCMP patrol boat a week ago Saturday, was recovered today by fellow constables. The body was removed from the waters near Howe Island, about one half-mile from where it is presumed he fell overboard.

Constable Henderson fell from the afterdeck of the patrol vessel early in the evening of August 7. The boat was returning from duty at Gananoque.

Armed Pair Take $2,237 From Office

Girl Clerk Drops To Floor, Calls Police Department

TORONTO, Aug. 17 —(CP)— Two men were captured and the loot recovered today, less than five minutes after two armed men robbed the Toronto Fuels Company office at Queen and River streets near the east-end Don river of $2,237.

In custody are J. Walter, 24, of Hamilton and Jack Checkett, 27, of Toronto. Police said they found the money, loosely rolled, in Walter's pocket. They found a gun on Checkett and another gun in the car driven by the pair.

The quick capture was made possible by two Fuel Company employees, Alice Furniss and Walter Donley. Miss Furniss dropped to the floor of the office during the robbery, dialed the police department and sounded the alarm by phone. Donley led a chase with a truck as soon as the men got away in their car.

Wild Chase

The arrests followed a wild chase of some six blocks. A police cruiser, who joined Donley's truck in the pursuit, forced the bandit car to the curb. Police said that Checkett appeared to go for his revolver but desisted when he was warned.

The two men entered the Field Company office shortly before 11 a.m. One fired a shot within an inch or so of the right hand of paymaster Clare Schurter who was talking with general manager Oliver Ferguson. The bullet cut a furrow in the top of the desk and then struck and damaged an adding machine.

One of the pair said: "Take it easy and no one will bother you."

Schurter attempted to make a break for the front section of the office but was ordered to remain at his desk.

The pair then walked into the case of cashier Larry Robinson and ordered him to hand over the cash. Robinson did so and the men ran out to their waiting car.

Miss Furniss made her phone call to police as soon as the shot was fired.

"We were all scared to death," said Della Fos, an invoicing clerk who was still trembling more than half an hour later.

Raise Grant $500 For New TB Beds

TORONTO, Aug. 17—(CP).— Health Minister Russell Kelley announced Monday the Ontario Government has increased by $500 the grant for each new hospital bed devoted to care of tuberculosis patients. The former grant was $2,000, the rate now paid for new beds on chronic or convalescent hospitals.

Present plans call for the addition of 400 beds to some 3,600 beds now available for this type of patient. One of the first sanatoria to take advantage of the increased grant is the institution in Ottawa where a wing will be built to accommodate 130 beds.

Mr. Kelley said the incidence of TB in the province has increased. The additional beds are required because of the increase in population over the last decade.

Recapture Two Men 1 Prisoner Still Free

GUELPH, Aug. 17.—(CP). — Claude Gamache, 21, of Ottawa, one of three prisoners who escaped Monday from the Ontario reformatory here, is still at large despite an all-night search by guards.

Two other escaped prisoners—Thomas Wheelwright, 19, of Hamilton, Alexander Szoke, 18, of Windsor—were captured shortly after they broke away from a gang working at a landscape project. They were rounded up by guards and citizens as they headed for the city.

Gamache was serving a term for breaking parole and forgery.

Ogdensburg Pact Turning Point In War

Claxton And Forrestal At Ceremonies Marking Friendship Dedication

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Aug. 17. —(CP).—Canada's Defence Minister Claxton today hailed the 1940 Ogdensburg agreement on joint North American defence as the turning point in the recent war.

Both he and Defence Secretary Forrestal of the United States spoke at ceremonies that commemorated the historic decision of the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King by dedication of a plaque of friendship.

Mr. Claxton said it was probably "the first occasion when two ministers of defence (not ministers of war, mind you) have met together on an unarmed frontier to rededicate their nations to the great cause of mutual peace."

Thousands crowded into this St. Lawrence river city from neighboring Prescott, Ont., and elsewhere on the eighth anniversary of an agreement that has been extended into peacetime on a permanent basis. The ceremonies coincided with celebrations marking Ogednsburg's 200th birthday.

A band from the Royal Canadian Regiment participated.

Only Hundred Words

Mr. Claxton recalled that the agreement followed a meeting in a railway car and "consisted of little more than a hundred words in the form of something typically North American—a press release. Its arrangement was "repeated many times in the pattern of Allied organization." It, he agreed with former U.S. War Secretary Stimson, turned the tide of war.

Its peacetime extension, the Joint Defence Board, has "dealt satisfactorily with all matters relating to our common defence."

Contending that "only the free can be friends," Mr. Claxton said something deeper than governmental pacts cemented Canadian-American amity. "The ties that bind our people are more than material."

"But the one sure way of losing our heritage is to begin to think that peace, security, progress, prosperity or happiness are either automatic or easy.... the fight for freedom has to be won over again each day, for we believe that there can be no lift without liberty.

"We have shown that the sort of relationship which must exist between nations if they are to survive is possible and practical."

Switch Signals Workers Quit

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 — (AP) — In a quick change of last-minute signals, 24,000 workers in seven International Harvester plants were ordered on strike to-day. The workers are members of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO).

Instructions to walk out followed by just a few minutes union announcement that "International Harvester has made an offer... ..that is worth considering." The rejected further negotiations and that the strike was on in the contract dispute.

The company, a spokesman reported, made two alternative offers which the union considered. One was to extend the existing contract for 30 days to permit more negotiating time. The other was to sign immediately a memorandum incorporating such points as have been agreed to plus a provision to include in a master contract all subsequent agreements.

Wages were not involved in the dispute which concerned grievances, apprenticship and arbitration procedures. The union received an 11-cent increase June 23.

Grasshoppers Invade Ontario And Quebec

OTTAWA, Aug. 17 — (CP). — Grasshoppers invaded some Ontario and Quebec communities in large numbers Monday, but Federal scientists said no reports of serious damage had been received.

Among the larger centres, they made appearances in Montreal and Ottawa.

A dry summer accounted for the unusual numbers of the insects, an official of the Entomological Branch said. However about 90 per cent of the hoppers are killed because of climatic conditions, but this summer had been unusually favorable to their growth.

ness shortly before death came.

"The Babe died a beautiful death," said Rev. Thomas H. Kaufman of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Catherine of Siena.

"He said his prayers," the priest states, "and lapsed into a sleep—and he died in his sleep."

After Ruth said his prayers, the priest administered the last rites.

At Ruth's bedside when he died were his personal physician, Dr. Hayes Martin; another physician, Dr. Loton Rasmussen; the priest and two male nurses.

Dies of Cancer

Dr. Martin revealed that death was caused by cancer. Throughout the Babe's long illness the exact nature of his ailment had not been disclosed.

At the hospital when the end came were Ruth's wife, Claire; his two adopted daughters, Mrs. Daniel Sullivan and Mrs. Richard Flanders; his sister, Mrs. Wilbur Moberly; and two intimate friends, James Chapman and J. Paul Carey.

Ruth, who had been in hospital much of the time since undergoing a neck operation Jan. 6, 1947, was placed on the critical list last Wednesday when pulmonary complications set in.

He staged a surprising weekend rally, and on Sunday sat up in an easy chair for 20 minutes while relatives and old friends visited him. Yesterday, however, his condition grew steadily worse.

George Herman (Babe) Ruth, product of a Catholic training school for boys at Baltimore, retired from baseball in 1935 after setting 76 records—62 of which still stand.

708 Home Runs

He hit a total of 708 home runs in regular games. After starting his baseball career as a pitcher, he was transferred to the outfield because his batting power was wanted in every game.

Players and fans paid a standing tribute to the Babe Monday night when word of his death reached the Polo Grounds, where an exhibition game between the Yankees and New York Giants was in progress. It was there that Ruth made his first appearance as a member of the Yankees. Similar tributes were paid at other ball parks.

The New York Herald Tribune, reporting that a new drug had been used on Ruth, said today his death revealed that he "played a dramatic role in one of the most exciting medical investigations of the generation."

The newspaper said doctors tried to save his life with teropterin, and he was one of the first patients to receive injections of the new drug.

Hopes Fade

Improvement in his condition after the injections was described at first as remarkable, the story said, but the improvement was temporary, causing hopes for the new drug to fade.

The paper said the lessons learned from the drug's use "may provide valuable clues to the cancer problem," but declared "doctors cautioned that the drug must not be considered a cure for cancer."

Ruth had entered the hospital last June for further treatment.

On July 26, he left his hospital bed long enough to attend the premiere of "The Babe Ruth Story," the film version of his life. He remained through only part of the picture.

Never Equalled

Ruth's record of 60 home runs for the Yankees in the 1927 season never has been equalled.

He was released by the Yankees in 1934 and wound up his playing career the following year in a brief, two-month stint with the Boston Braves.

Although he was mentioned often in succeeding years as a likely candidate for various managerial berths, the offer of a job that would have made Ruth's life complete, never came.

The closest he ever got to a realization of his managerial ambitions was a title of assistant manager while with the Braves and a hitch as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers through part of the 1938 season.

He was one of five children of a Baltimore saloon keeper. Ruth's mother died when he was 13 and his father lived long enough to see Babe reach his second year in the major leagues.

When he was seven years old, Ruth's parents placed him in St. Mary's industrial school at Baltimore, run by a group of Catholic Brothers.

Great Tribute

One of the greatest tributes to the popular star came last June 13, when the Yankees celebrated the silver anniversary of their big Bronx stadium, built with money the Babe helped pull through the gate.

On that day the famous No. 3 which Babe Ruth always wore on the back of his uniform was officially retired in his honor, never to be worn again by a member of a Yankee team. The uniform, worn on that occasion for the last time, was presented to baseball's hall of fame.

The Babe himself, leaning heavily on a bat and with tears streaming down his pain-wracked face, made ony a short talk. But into it he packed all the pride and happiness that went with his memories of the game and the tribute he was being shown.

Harvest Hopes Rise

LONDON, Aug. 17 — (CP). — Harvest hopes are rising in the southern and eastern counties of England after two successive days of sunshine and drying winds. The cautious opinion of most farmers is that 10 more days of fine weather will enable the bulk of the grain harvest to be safely gathered in. Harvesters have turned out by the thousands to repair damage done by the wettest August on record.

60 Passengers Injured In Derailment

RUGBY, ND, Aug. 17 — (AP). —About 60 persons were injured when 10 cars of the Great Northern Railway's westbound Oriental Limited left the tracks near this north-western North Dakota town Monday night.

Thirty-five of the injured were brought to the hospital here, but early to-day only two were listed as in critical condition. About 25 others were given first-aid at the scene of the accident.

Three coaches, three sleepers and a diner left the tracks and tipped over. A mail car, a baggage car and a sleeper for train crew members also left the tracks but remained upright.

The first coach to leave the rails was badly damaged. Its forward end hurdled a small ditch beside the track, coming to rest on the opposite bank.

The eight cars at the back of the train remained on the tracks.

Uninjured passengers and rescue workers removed injured from the first coach.

Passengers and trainmen agreed that the train was running rather slowly at the time of the accident. Some passengers said it was just "ambling along," while a trainman estimated the speed at around 45 miles an hour.

England's Loss Seen Inevitable

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(Reuters). —England's batsmen fought a grim rear guard action on the third day of the fifth and final test cricket match against Australia at the Oval here oday.

But poor light and then heavy rain stopped play just before tea and innings defeat seemed inevitable.

England had then lost seven second-innings wickets for 178, still 159 behind Australia.

Les Hutton played a particularly fine defensive innings of 64, defying the splendid Australian attack for 4¼ hours before he touched a fast riser from Milder.

Hutton was given able suppo from Denis Compton, the pa.. batting on 61 for the third wicket in a stand of nearly two hours. Compton fell to a fine catch in the gully by Lindwall when he had 39.

Batting defensively, England had scored 121 for two second-innings wickets by lunch.

Port Bailey, a small canners village on the northeast end of the island, is approximately 40 miles from Kodiak.

The name of the cannery, cause of the fire and its extent were not learned immediately, but the coast guard said the need for evacuation indicated the cannery probably was a total loss.

Inflation Moves On In Britain Facing Tests

LONDON, Aug. 17 (Reuters).—The government's plan to counter inflation by freezing wages and profits will be severely tested in the next few weeks when wages claims amounting to £120,000,000 ($480,000,000) will be considered.

In spite of government appeals to labor for patience, claims on behalf of 4,500,000 workers—more than one-quarter of the working population—have been put forward by their unions.

The Trades Union Congress, one of the bulwarks of the Labor government, is in a peculiar position. It has pledged its tsupport to the government's freezing policy which was announced last March but now is faced with the fact the majority of its affiliated membership of 8,000,000 want more pay.

The whole question is likely to be thrashed out at the TUC's annual conference next month.

The latest claim is that of the 650,000 railway workers who want an extra 12s 6d ($2.50) a week.

Other Claims

Details of other claims now pending are:

Engineering workers—a court of inquiry, set up by Labor Minister George Isaacs to consider the claims of the Confederation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Unions for an extra 13 shillings a week for 2,750,000 engineering workers, is holding its first meeting this week.

Shipbuilding — Some 250,000 shipbuilding workers are renewing their claim for 15 shillings a week more. The claim was rejected by the employers in May.

Miners—Leaders of the National Union of Mineworkers will meetmeet in London soon to begin drawing up plans for a new cost-of-living bonus. This will later be submitted to the National Coal Board, which runs the nationalized coal industry. The bonus is believed to be 10 shillings a week.

Nurses—Claims on behalf of student nurses for increases in pay from 100 to 250 per cent will be considered later in the month.

Pass Examinations

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 17 — (ENS)—Word was received here on Saturday that Paul O'Sullivan and Frank Linton, who tried their first year examinat ions as Canadian Life Underwriters at Peterborough last May, have passed.

Both the young men are understood to have obtained high marks, and will try further examinations this year.

THE ILL WIND of the Russian blockade of Berlin blew some good to Fritz Horn, owner of a sawmill and a coal yard in Berlin. There was plenty of sawdust in Horn's yard. He couldn't give it away. There was also plenty of coal dust that wasn't much good for anything Horn acquired a lot of oil that had been intended for use in German army flame throwers. He combined the oil, sawdust and coaldust and produced fuel bricks that are serving fuel-starved Berliners well. Horn (left) is shown selling the bricks in his office, which is crowded from morning until night. One brick is sufficient to cook a family dinner and give them warm water for dish-washing.

Port Hope Chief Resigns The Fifth In Four Years

PORT HOPE, Aug. 17—(ENS).—Chief Constable Ernest Purdy resigned from the police department at last night's meeting of council. The chief's resignation was dated yesterday and it was accepted withan a short time after it was referred to the police committee. The Chief Constable's resignation was not asked for, Councillor William Austin told the Examiner after the meeting, and the reason he resigned was to take a job with the Port Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Company.

During the interval between his resignation and the appointment of his successor, Sergeant Albert Warren will be acting chief of police. Rumors were prevalent yesterday after it became known that the job of chief constable would be vacant and a large gallery of spectators was at the meeting. Some were in connection with a petition for a sewer on Hope Street. Three members of the police department, in addition to the chief, also were in the gallery.

As far as could be gathered from what transpired at the council meeting it was a straight case of the chief getting a job with more money and one in which he was through for ths day when his day's work was done. Mr. Purdy told the Examiner that he had another job and that when his day's duties were over he was free from worry and responsibility, in contrast to police work. The chief had no further comment in regard to the matter.

Mayor W. R. Jex said at the council meeting that he was sorry to see Chief Purdy go as he had done a good job. The next step was to advertise for a successor. Councillor Austin added his regrets to the chief's resignation and wished him good luck in his new position.

Port Hope has seen many changes in its police heads since Chief Tom Murphy resigned during the past war after many years' service. After Murphy resigned council appointed Gordy Hardy of Oshawa, who remained a little over a year. He was followed by Dave Collins, formerly of York township, who stayed a short time to be succeeded by William Carson. Carson resigned in 1946 and Ernest Purdy, who had been sergeant since 1944, moved up to chief of police. And so, the "chief wanted" sign will be hung out again.

HICCOUGHING FOR 173 DAYS, Pauline Lucas, 31, of Waynesburg, Pa., manages a smile between the racking hiccoughs. Physicians are working to find a cure for the hiccoughs which have worn her down from 129 pounds to 78. She hiccoughs as many as 75 times a minute.

Fish, Game Club For Juniors To Be Formed

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 17 — (ENS)—Formation of a junior Fish and Game Club is forecast here, with the blessing of the senior club, according to an announcement made here during the week-end by A. Sarginson.

Mr. Sarginson has arranged a meeting of interested juniors for Saturday, August 28, at the Aron Theatre, at which it is expected that there will be a large crowd.

The object of the club will be to instil in the youngsters a love of the outdoors and a respect for the necessity of conservation of all wild life.

Mr. Sarginson, who was an instructor during the war, will also undertake to instruct the youngsters in the care and safe handling of firearms of the more common type.

He stressed that the organization meeting to be held at the theatre will be for girls as well as boys, and wants to have as many girls as possible present.

Citadel Band Provides Concert

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 17 — (ENS)—Campbellford enjoyed a musical week-end during the visit of the Salvation Army Citadel Band of Oshawa, 35 members of which came here with Major H. G. Roberts.

On Saturday night, several hundred people heard the band perform on both sides of the river, and on Sunday, in addition to the regular services, the band also gave concerts on the lawn of the public school in the afternoon, and in the Hollywood Theatre at night.

The band also led the parade to the cenotaph on Sunday afternoon, when members of the Canadian Legion observed the annual Decoration Day ceremonies, which were attended by a large crowd of townspeople.

Major In SA Meets Old Friends

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 17 — (ENS). — Now commanding officer of the Oshawa Citadel Corps, Major H. G. Roberts, who addressed the audience at the band performances during the week-end was stationed here as a lieutenant in 1930.

At the time he was in charge of the Campbellford detachment and knew most of the people in town. He expressed his pleasure at being able to visit here again.

Another Campbellford resident accompanying the band was Ernest R. Smith, who ordinarily plays the bass drum. Mr. Smith came to town in 1911 from his home at Norwich, England, and at that time, stayed at the old Gibson House.

He went overseas from here in the First World War with the Midland Regiment, and left town shortly after his return from overseas, when he went to Oshawa to work in the General Motors plant, where he has worked ever since.

Congratulations To Upper School Students

A particularly good showing has been made by the pupils of P.C.V.S. who wrote Upper School Matriculation Examinations this year. Of 614 papers written there were only 34 failures; 135 papers gained first-class honours. Firsts in Senior Matric are not easily come by; indeed, they sometimes seem harder to get than comparable standing in first year university examinations. This is the best showing that P.C.V.S. has made in at least thirty years.

Peterborough's Collegiate Institute has long had the reputation of being a good school. The influence of such a school upon a community is hard to estimate, but it is tangible and benign. The day may not be too far off when Peterborough will need another collegiate school; when that day comes the new school will be the child of a mighty mother, and the inheritor of an excellent scholastic tradition.

The Domination Of An International Waterway

A week ago today we commented upon the probability that Russia would seize control of the river Danube, the most important waterway in Southern Europe; its seizure, we said, would be a major victory in the cold war between East and West. Today that seizure is a reality, and the international control of the Danube which has existed since 1856 is no more. Russia has won, and by her usual overreaching, bullying method.

* * *

The control of the Danube now lies in the hands of Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Roumania and Bulgaria — all countries with territory on the great river; the sixth controlling member is Russia, though the Danube does not flow through Russia. The Russians may point out that Britain, France and Austria, which formerly sat on the Danube Control Board, had no territory on the river either, but the important difference is that when the former board controlled it, the Danube was open to traffic from end to end; now the area within Russian control is closed to all but Soviet shipping.

* * *

At a time when communications in Europe are very bad, and when the importance of water transport is very great, such conduct is scandalous. But what is the use of applying such words as "scandalous" to the behaviour of Russia? Her diplomats know no law save Russian advantage, and no considerations of shame or decent international dealing influence them. It is plainly to Russia's advantage to control the Danube, and she now controls the greater part of it. The mighty waterway has become an instrument of Soviet policy, and the Beautiful Blue Danube which has figured so largely in European history, has become the Red Danube, and will remain so for an indefinite period of time.

Tuttle Trail

Star-gazing is a hobby not greatly to our fancy. We scan the stellar spaces only when good and easy occasions present themselves, as for instance on the recent summer nights from the dock of a cottage on the Kawartha Lakes. To make a habit of it would be chilly business. Not for us an outdoor siege on a camp-stool in a crisp October night, with our neck craned and an eye frozen to a telescope. In these August evenings, however, with the slanting Northern Lights aflicker and the canopy of the heavens tranquil, the stars are pleasant companions and a solace to our soul.

It is satisfying to look at the Big Dipper (the Great Bear) and to show a more astronomically-ignorant mortal beside us how to locate the Polar Star. And see, there is Cassiopeia's chair, and Cygnus the Swan with his wings apart and his neck stretched out. And here Vega, in solitary brilliance. Wonderful to think that she may have stopped giving light thirty years ago and that still we see her, so far has her beam to travel to our eye. And there Arcturus rises. What fables of antiquity and of modern science the heavens unfold! What worlds beyond imagination are here to view! What vast and awful solar systems cloud the Milky Way! In the silence of the night we sense the affinity between the microcosm of man and the macrocosm of the universe, and there is no room for pettiness in either.

But to return to Tuttle about which we had intended to write. Tuttle is a comet which first came to the light of night in 1858, an off-shoot of Saturn. Tuttle fades into obscurity in 120-year cycles but comes into prominence every August through debris being shed from its body—showers of shooting stars from Tuttle. The display occurs annually between August 9th and 13th. The stellar fireworks were scheduled for last Tuesday night after ten p.m. Did anyone see the shooting star-dust? Did clouds obscure the view? We apologetically have to admit that the ceiling of a bedroom obscured ours.

Sauce For The Gander

Two interesting sidelights on religion in Ontario have appeared in the news during the past fortnight. First, the Lord's Day Alliance brought about the closing of Wasaga Beach as a place of Sunday entertainment, one of the chief charges brought against the Beach being that the noise from its entertainments disturbed worshippers in a nearby church. Second, a Pentecostal preacher was fined in Port Hope for declaring his faith in a voice which disturbed people at a considerable distance from his tent. It looks as though what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander in this Province, and to disturb the service of the Lord, and to serve the Lord in a noisy fashion are equally distasteful to the law.

We wonder, however if such incidents as these are not too common in Ontario? Is it in the true spirit of Christ to insist that some thousands of people go without the entertainment they apparently want, in order that a small congregation may worship undisturbed? And is it just to fine a tent preacher for disturbing the peace when a prominent Toronto preacher extends his sermons into the street by means of a system of loud speakers? And in this connection we recall that it is not so long since a group of preachers wanted the C.B.C. to bar all broadcasting save church broadcasting from the air during the hours of evangelical church services—eleven to twelve in the morning, and from seven to eight at night—on Sundays.

Churches only weaken themselves when they resort to the law to gain ends which they cannot achieve by persuasion. Unfortunately in Ontario there are many churches which are more concerned with legality than with spirituality.

No Place For Witches

The Society of Magicians, which has its headquarters in London, has refused to admit women to its membership.

This seems, at first, a remarkable ruling. Witches have given many famous names to the history of magic, and it seems likely, upon the whole, that there have been more female practitioners of the Black Art than male. Witches have outnumbered wizards, perhaps ten to one.

Yet we cannot share the indignation which our contemporary, the Brantford Expositor, expresses on this matter. Witches, though numerous, have rarely risen to the highest rank of enchanters. As in the other arts, women seem to lack the qualities which are required for the greatest achievements of magic. Most witches have belonged to the lowest class, fit only for such drudgery as concocting love philtres, revealing the whereabouts of stolen cattle, and "overlooking" the neighbours' children (which should not be confused with "baby-minding"). The greatest enchanters have been male.

And why not, after all? The Devil, as everybody knows, is male, and he likes to keep the best of his gifts in the brotherhood.

Please Sign Your Letters

During the last few weeks we have received several letters to the editor which we should have been glad to publish if they had been signed with the names of the writers. Plainly it is time to repeat our already oft-repeated rule that we can publish no letter in our columns, unless the name and address of the writer are given; pen-names may be used, but the true name must also be given for our private information.

The reason for this rule is plain enough. We are responsible for everything which appears in these pages, and we must know who is using our columns to express an opinion. We repeat, therefore, that we will not publish any letters which are signed with pen-names alone.

By A Bookman Born

Margaret Williamson in The Christian Science Monitor

THERE is just no way of explaining the bookman to his unsuspecting fellows. The bookman born is likely to be possessed of strong idiosyncrasies totally unaccountable to outsiders. That is to say: information which, to the rank and file, would appear only so much black ink on white paper can cause the eyes of the bookman to snap and his simple heart to leap. And this is what happened to the writer when she first saw the announcement of a book called "Maria: The Potter of San Ildefonso," by Alice Marriott (University of Oklahoma Press, $3.75.).

Miss Alice Marriott, it is well understood, writes about the Indians of the Southwest, among whom she has lived and whom she knows with remarkable insight. She wrote, a few years ago, a strange and utterly fascinating book called "The Ten Grandmothers," replete with Indian folk ways, Indian lore, and Indian colour. And the memory of that book, together with one or two others by this same author, was enough to cause the writer to mark down this new book's title and its publication date in red ink on her calendar. Because, you see, the writer had herself visited San Ildefonso Pueblo, near Santa Fe; she had been in Maria's house, where she talked with the potter and was privileged to buy one of her pottery bowls. To this day, it stands in a proud place on a windowsill in her library.

WHEN the writer was setting out for New Mexico, a friend asked her whether she liked Indians. "I don't know," was the one possible reply. "I have never met any Indians, really."

But this uncertainty lasted only until the writer's first morning at Santa Fe. For, immediately she had eaten her breakfast, a cordial new friend arrived to take her away in his car. That was a sensational morning filled with new, astonishing impressions. Over sandy, rutted roads they went, where great ruddy bluffs formed the further wall of the valley and the flat-topped "Black Mesa" brooded somberly near at hand. It was not long before they entered the Pueblo Indian village of San Ildefonso where, in the big plaza around which were built the low adobe houses, there loomed a giant cottonwood tree. Over all shone a bright, an almost metallic sun, through an almosphere biting and crystal clear. Although the month was February, the air was so dry as to preclude any temptation to feel cold. Indians in their bright shawls moved about at their work or leisure, and small children played in the shelter of hard-packed adobe walls. The writer was entranced and, there and then, she knew that she did like Indians or, at least, that she was enormously interested in them.

IT is, perhaps, true that there are today fewer Indians in such pueblos as San Ildefonso, true that their folkways and their ancient traditions are less devotedly preserved; true that their young men and women are attracted to the cities and to walks of life which prevail in the wide world. Still, when the writer was there, the ancient dignity and beauty of the life was abundantly manifest—a life where modern habits and the thinking which harks back even to prehistory are inseparably mingled.

Visitors look on at the Indian dances, when permitted, arriving in their motorcars and accompanied by other indications of what is termed civilization; and presently they are gazing at a spectacle, they are hearing sounds which transport them back, by dint of symbolism, to prehistoric times. The almost hypnotic beating of the drums, the strange processions in and out of the kivas, the barbaric costumes and the sand-muffled shufflings of the dance — they all pertain to an age of which one has long ago lost sight; and still they persist into the era of motor traffic and the marvels of television. Who can explain such inconsistency?

IF anyone can explain, it is Miss Alice Marriott. She is wise, and so she spent long hours in the quiet company of Maria, the most celebrated of the San Ildefonso potters; they sat in the sun up against the warm adobe wall or else, if it were summer, within the cool abode house while Maria's clever brown hands shaped a pot or a bowl. Miss Marriott listened with such meekness and understanding that, when she wrote this book, it was as if Maria herself were speaking. It tells of the now elderly woman's childhood and youth, of what her life was composed, day by day, there in the remoteness of an Indian pueblo. It tells of her growing up and marrying Julian and of all that came after—the happy things and the difficult things together. And, more than all, it tells of the making of the pottery.

Many of the Indian women, of course, made and still make pottery. "Pottery making belongs to all," said Maria firmly when she was urged to sign her work, as she did finally sign the jar which now belongs in the library of this writer. But Maria and her Julian, Julian when he was still clearheaded and a beauty-loving artist, before the misfortune of strong drink overwhelmed him, these two discovered new patterns, new skills, and new methods of working.

For instance, it was Julian who evolved the now celebrated "black on black" pottery; and Julian whose sensitive hands did not design the patterns so much as feel them develop under his fingers as he proceeded with his work. Little wonder that, largely through these two Indian artists, was the art of pottery-making revived, so that today many admiring visitors tread the sandy approach to the house of Maria, on the edge of San Ildefonso Pueblo; at the top of a little hill overlooking the adobe village.

THE reading of this book is a rewarding experience — not alone to a person like this writer who chances to have been in Maria's presence. To those living in the busy, noisy places of the world, there lies inherent in the setting and in the unfoldment of this story of the Southwest a most beautiful dignity and serenity. One learns to understand a little about the heritage and the philosophy of the Indians. Through the voice of Maria, the potter of San Ildefonso, one learns it; because Miss Marriott had the delicacy and the extraordinary humility to allow Maria to speak through her. The Indians appear to share little the customary roughness and vulgarity and aggressiveness of the world. They are content to work together and for the common good. It is recorded that they have this saying: "A man's strength grew if it were bonded with the strength of his fellows, as the blocks of adobe were bonded one with another to make a wall."

STOP PUSHING

Tale Of A Spinster

(By Harold Nicolson in The London Spectator)

WE used, when we were young, to be told a cautionary tale, designed to warn us against the effects of pessimism upon human judgment.

It was the story of a middle-aged spinster who had been left a legacy sufficient to bring her in an annual income of £300 a year. She was a confiding soul, who combined a taste for necromancy with the habit of believing that the worst was certain to occur. Having read in a magazine that the world was bound to come to an end within a period of ten years, she organized her life accordingly. Selling out all her capital, she devoted the ten short years which remained for humanity and herself to sampling all the experiences which she had hitherto been denied. She purchased a set of ivory knitting needles, she engaged a personal attendant of the name of Armstrong, she rented a villa at Barbizon and a bungalow at the Ankhor Vat, and when the end approached she was living on what remained of her capital in a modest but not uncomfortable inn at Palmyra.

When her D day had come and gone, she remained on at Palmyra, persuading herself in her flustered way that the magazine might possibly have made a miscalculation about the actual day of the week or even month of the year. But when it became quite evident that it would be her capital rather than the world which would come to an end, she killed herself quite quietly among the ruins of Zenobia's colonnades.

I have frequently been reminded of this story during the last few months. There are people who are so convinced that life in this angry world will cease to be worth living that they come to long for what the Victorians called "released". There are others who imitate the example of my spinster and spend their capital on living what would be riotously were it not so rationed. And there are others again to whom the future is so thunderous that they wince away from it in black despair.

I confess that I am incensed by those who fail to understand that the future, although it may be unpleasant, will certainly be interesting. And that I have a deep respect for those others who, in our uncertain age, refuse to be intimidated by Tiridates and embark on projects which will take fifteen peaceful years to mature.

Letters To The Editor

BOYCOTT HIGH PRICES

Sir: Kindly forgive my taking up your time with this letter, but I must blow off some of this steam in some direction.

Surely it is time we "free" Canadians used a little of this freedom and got together to fight this crazy rise in the cost of living. I could give many illustrations of how this rise is soaring higher each day, but I think the following will be sufficient. A farmer woman on the market a week ago last Saturday, was quite satisfied to sell her eggs at sixty-three cents a dozen until a friend of hers came up and quietly informed her that the A. & P. were selling theirs at eighty-one cents dozen. Immediately, she changed her price to eighty cents. This is what is happening in all fields, not only eggs for farming produce. Something very fishy is behind this sudden increase, and the government's silence to the people's demand for price control.

If this "Democratic" government of ours desire a race of weak idiotic people to inherit this country of ours in the coming generation, they certainly are going about it the right way. Everything that growing children require is so high that the ordinary person cannot buy sufficient to maintain perfect health. They lifted the embargo on meat to the U.S.A. because they need more American dollars. That's alright too, but American dollars will be no damn good to people without food in their stomachs, clothes on their backs and roofs over their heads.

Let's get together, Canadians, and start campaigning, and boycotting high priced articles. The Americans have refused to buy meat in certain parts of the States and the butchers admit that it is now being felt. Our government thinks that we won't stick together in anything like this; well let's show them we will.

I'm sure the editor of our worthy paper will welcome more letters on this subject, and he is at liberty to give my address to anyone desiring to form or be a member in orgnization to combat the above mentioned price rise.

Yours sincerely,
G. C. THOMAS.

A FARMER'S VIEWS

Sir: Is no one brave enough to suggest sites for Market, Library, Memorial etc., or is the time too uncertain?

Since the remark—that receipts from market do not pay for its cleaning; and the council's 2 o'clock closing—points the way the wind blows—the present market must move. What caused the downfall of the market?

Ghosts of an abundant yesterday say it was the depression, its low prices, and the oppression and suppression of war years.

What caused the depression? Depression they say always follow war, but the last depression was before the war. That bloody abortion provided funds to lift us out, and make work for thousands in cities. A ghoulish sort of cannibalism.

Spirits from that graveyard of hope's are calling now to halt and think before another holacaust. 'Depression they say is accouched by Capitalism out of Democracy fathered by Greed.' By the same token could halcyon years be gendered by charity, Christianity? Simply, practice what we preach.

The country, husband of the city, has been betrayed, divorced, exploited. In buying and selling the city beats him both ways. She is prosperous, has a New Look, new buildings. He is weatherbeaten, calloused, but brown and tough and has a 'New Outlook'. The city he knows has been riding a 'merry-go-round', and the ride is about over—unless—but that later.

We know we cannot live by bread alone, nor as yet can we live without it. It is a question of how long old men, women and children can stand it. The men are getting older, the children will follow to the city. Today in many parts of country grain in sheaves is lying unstooked in rain, work is always behind. Men, boys, long for efficient help and machinery—high priced and scarce. The heat of sun, cold of winter and accidents take their toll also.

Statesmen go to Europe to find solutions to our problems. Why go there? All our wars have hatched there. Why copy them? Let's be original, typical and bonafide Canadians, realize our own worth, capable, honest, rugged, reserved, but resourceful, like our land. All we need to do is use our brains and co-operate, always admitting the need and help of the Deity who created us.

Perhaps have a wedding of city and country by having the market and Library down on the Exhibition grounds — food for body and soul. A large parking space would make it always accessible.

For those who want a park, compromise by a border of roses or perennials, a pool of water lilies, with memphapsyche (2), a fountain that might serve also for a memorial to Walter Stocker (that you mentioned in an editorial).

Now don't you think it is time that some sort of memorial or 'thanks for service rendered', be given the country. When food is cheap and plentiful, no one says a word, but now that it is scarce and going up, howls are heard on all sides.

To make it more plentiful and perhaps cheaper, why not have service stations throughout the country equipped with up-to-date tractors, combines, hay loaders, ditch diggers etc., manned by farm lads or those with a yen for farming at reasonable rates? And more 'Experimental Farms', or rather 'Practical Farms' that caters to the bonafide, and does not kotow to the rich or pseudo. Now would be a good time to go head with the 'Fife [illegible]', memorial farm on its original si...

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true.

Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go....And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world ....I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your father.

They answered and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham. But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham....

Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it....He that is of God, heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God. (John 8: 12-14, 23, 33-40, 43, 44, 47.)

The Impending Crisis

Mr. Gardiner's statements regarding the prospect of early shipment of cattle to United States markets and the probable removal of the ban on export of coarse grains has already sent meat prices spiralling upward. However, the worst is yet to come. If, as and when the bars actually come down the whole Canadian economy will jump up to the U.S. level; there will be buying strikes, workers' strikes, serious food shortages, and widespread distress.

A certain percentage of the agricultural population would profit temporarily by increased cattle prices and greater returns for coarse grains. A much larger percentage of the agricultural population would be decidedly worse off, especially dairymen and poultry raisers. Everyone producing a product that is being exported under price contracts would be hurt.

The Government is on the spot. If controls are maintained, that action will be used against them with considerable effect. If the bans are removed it will cause widespread confusion, economic maladjustment and a jump in all prices. Even cattle feeders themselves will go into the market quaking, when the time comes for them to buy stockers and feeders.

One can argue that sooner or later we shall have to jump up to the same level as the U.S. economy and we might as well do it now. If all our trading were done south of the border that would be sound argument; but we are trying to trade with the world and it will be quite unwise, in the opinion of this journal, to step up our costs and price ourselves out of world markets.—Farmer's Advocate.

Gave Up Pitching So Ruth Played Daily

By Associated Press

Babe Ruth, who died Monday night, chafed at being a pitcher in Boston, in his earlier days. He wanted to play every day. He liked to perform in the outfield and occasionally took a somewhat awkward turn at first base.

The Sox won the American League pennant in 1915 with Ruth's pitching help and repeated in 1916 and 1918.

It was while he was still with the Red Sox that Ruth switched to the outfield and started his long distance hitting feats. As a reward for slamming 59 homers for the Yankees in 1921, he received a contract for $52,000 salary for 1922.

His hitting fell off during that season to .315, but in 1923 he came back with a .393 batting average during the regular season, and three home runs in a record-smashing rampage against the Giants during the World Series. He was named the American League's most valuable player. That was the year the Yankee Stadium was opened.

His 'Jinx' Season

The year 1925 turned out to be the Ruthian "jinx" season. Topping various difficulties, including a severe case of influenza, was Ruth's famous stomach ache. He collapsed en route home from spring training and was weeks in a hospital from the combined effects of indigestion and influenza.

Climaxing this when he returned to action, he staged a row with manager Miller Huggins for which he was fined $5,000 for "misconduct off the playing field" —stiffest penalty ever pinned on a player. He vowed he would never again play for Huggins, but he cooled off finally, realized his mistake and admitted it. The fine was revoked. However, for the first time since he became a regular performer, his batting average fell below the "respectable" .300.

In 1926, at 31, he batted .372, hit 47 home runs and paced one of the greatest teams in baseball history into the first of three straight pennants. The next year, he turned in the greatest slugging record of all-time, with 60 home runs in the regular season, and he hit 54 more in 1928.

Called His Shot

In the World Series of 1932, probably the most amazing of the Babe's diamond accomplishments occurred.

In the third game, smarting under the taunts hurled at him by the Chicago Cubs, the Bambino stepped to the plate to bat and warned pitcher Charley Root that the first good toss would be walloped into the centre field stands.

Every fan in the crowd of 49,986 saw him dramatically point to a spot in the distant bleachers, "calling his shot." And he did just what he threatened, blasting a home run almost exactly to the place at which he had pointed. The partisan crowd stood and cheered.

In 1933, the great baseball machine that was Ruth began to show signs of running down. His salary was cut to $52,000, his home run production fell off to 34, and the following season, 1934, was his last full campaign with the Yankees.

Salary Disputes Ballyhoo

There was only one Babe Ruth. Training rules meant little to him. In his heyday he used to average a dozen "hot dogs" every day during the baseball season. He also was a heavy cigar smoker and tobacco chewer. There were annual salary disputes with Rupert amid much ballyhood.

THE DAY OF GLORY for the home run king, Babe Ruth, who died Monday, were long and many. The crack of Babe Ruth's magic bat still lingers in the ears of those lucky enough to hear it and see the soaring home runs that followed.

Typical Ruthian Gesture was this—cap off, bowing to the roaring thousands whose idol he was.

The Bambino never forgot the kids—not even in the pain of his long illness. Though suffering, the Babe cheerfully autographed this ball for Danny Williams, an orphan, who called on Ruth to wish him well.

Colorful Babe Ruth Rescued Baseball From Public Disfavor After Scandal In 1919

By The Associated Press

Babe Ruth rescued baseball when it was tottering in the wind of public disfavor under the impact of the 1919 "Black Sox" scandal and with his mighty bat he went on to change the entire complexion of the national pastime. Baseball, in turn, brought him rich dividends in fame and fortune.

The big, lovable, happy-go-lucky Bambino was more than a star. He was a symbol. Baseball players might come and baseball players might go, but regardless of their achievements, none ever could supplant him in the public mind as the personification of everything that was great and spectacular in the game.

He had an indefinable something called color. Other players might be huge, others some day might even hit more home runs during a season. But the Sultan of Swat had that inborn instinct to make every act and every move exciting.

Wherever he went, crowds surrounded him. He was the idol of the kids, the greatest of all in the hearts of the fans. The "stomach ache" that kept him out of the lineup for about 50 games in 1925 became almost a national calamity.

Revolutionized Game

To Ruth more than any other man went the credit for revolutionizing the game and introducing the modern era of baseball. With the home run, he brought millions of fans through the turnstiles.

The Yankee Stadium, massive baseball plant that his bat helped to make possible while he was rightfielder for the New York American League team, was known as "the House that Ruth Built." Ruth also was directly responsible for a tremendous increase in the players' salary scale.

He turned baseball from a pitcher's stronghold to a batter's paradise. The ball was changed to put more "rabbit" in it. The squeeze, bunt and steal system gave way to free swinging and big innings. The fans cheered the heavy hitting and particularly the Ruthian long-distance dynamiting.

How well they loved it was evidenced by the financial rewards Ruth received. In 22 seasons he earned $896,000 plus $41,445.11 as his share of World Series receipts and around $1,000,000 from endorsements, barnstorming and the movies. Two seasons — 1930 and 1931—paid him $80,000 a year, $5,000 more than the President of the United States received.

Hit 714 Home Runs

Through advisers, he invested so well he realized a $2,500 monthly income by the time he was 45. This despite the fact that he once said he had lost or been defrauded of a quarter of a million.

During his major league career the Babe hit 714 home runs in regular season play, including 60 in one season. He had a slugging average of .847 in one season and a lifetime slugging average of .690. His lifetime batting average was .342.

"Shucks," he once said, "I could have hit a .600 lifetime average easy. But I would have had to hit singles. The people were paying to see me hit home runs."

Ruth set a record by smashing three home runs in a World Series game, accomplishing that feat twice. He was in 10 World Series —three while with the Boston Red Sox and seven with the Yankees. He batted in more runs than any other player — 2,209 — and scored more runs himself — 2,174 —than any except Ty Cobb. He also struck out more times than any other, 1,330, and received the most bases on balls, 2,056.

In Hall of Fame

The records he set were not confined to batting. As a pitcher he hurled 29 World Series innings in a row without allowing a run.

That string began in 1916, when he pitched 13 innings for the Red Sox in one overtime game with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and was carried over to 1918, when next the Red Sox reached the post-season classic. Then he hurled one complete nine-inning scoreless game and seven more whitewash frames in another against the Chicago Cubs.

He had held, in all, 76 major league records — so may that the statisticians gave him an entire section to himself in the record books.

The Babe was in the first group of players to be named to Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., along with Ty Cobb, Hans Wagner, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson.

A big-bodied, spindly-legged man in whose vast paws a bat looked like an oversized toothpick, Ruth had been in the big leagues as a southpaw pitcher for six years before he started his amazing domination of the game in 1920, the darkest period in the national pastime's long history.

Restored Confidence

Baseball had been rocked by the "Black Sox" scandal, in which six members of the Chicago White Sox "sold out" the 1919 World Series. Confidence in the game had been shattered further by the death of Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, as the result of being hit by a pitched ball.

Into that depressing picture stepped Ruth with his big bat. In the 1920 season he hit the then unbelievable total of 54 home runs to take the fans' minds off the "Black Sox" and the Chapman tragedy. The next year he made it 59. And in 1927 the Bambino amassed 60 round-trippers, a record destined long to stand.

That 1927 feat was all the more remarkable because of the fact that he had only 43 home runs when the season entered its final month and hit 17 in September, a time of the season when players are usually tired from the strenuous campaigning.

Edward G. Barrow, the man who converted Ruth from pitcher to outfielder and thereby started him on his amazing career, said of him:

'Never Made a Mistake'

"There never has been anybody like Ruth and there never will be —and not only for his home run feats either. The Babe was a wonderful, natural, versatile ball player. He could do everything on the diamond and do it well. He had what is called baseball brains. He never made a mistake on the ball field. He knew instinctively just what to do."

Barrow was manager of the Red Sox when Ruth set a then major league record with 29 home runs in 1919. He and owner Harry Frazee sold Ruth to the Yankees for $125,000 in cash and several players and in 1920 the King of Clout more than repaid his purchase price by his home run hitting. Barrow followed the Babe to the Yanks, becoming business manager under Col. Jacob Ruppert and, after the brewer-owner's death, president of the club.

He early showed aptitude for baseball. One of the school's faculty, Brother Gilbert, encouraged and coached him. Realizing the youth's potentialities, the Brother asked Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles to look him over. Dunn watched the youngster play in one game and immediately signed him to a contract as a pitcher.

In the spring of 1914 the six-foot-two, 200 pound recruit, with his flat broad nose, large ears and limitless stamina, reported to the Orioles at a salary of $600 a year. This was increased to $900 after the first month and to $1,300 after the second month. Before the season was over, Dunn sold Ruth to the Red Sox for a sum reported to have been somewhere between $2,900 and $10,000. The Red Sox sent him to Providence, but recalled him after brief seasoning.

Bambino Well Known To Associated Press

By the Associated Press.

The Bambino was so well known in Japan, where he barnstormed, that Japanese marines in World War II used his name as a battle cry on one occasion—apparently the only American name they knew—as they charged US Marine lines on New Britain.

"To hell with Babe Ruth," they cried.

But the charge was scored as an error — 30 of the Japanese were struck out for good.

Ruth, commenting on the incident, said:; "I hope every Jap that mentions my name gets shot —and to hell with all Japs anyway."

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Father Ted Flanagan(athletic director at Toronto St. Michael's College, said Monday at Toronto the school's hockey team would be bolstered by two new students next season.

One of them is Donald Rope, outstanding centre with Winnipeg Monarchs last year, and the other Len Haley, formerly with Edmonton Juniors.

Playing in the junior division of the OHA, St. Mikes won the Memorial Cup in 1946-1947. Former Toronto Maple Leaf great, Joe Primeau will coach again next season, Father Flanagan said.

At St. Paul, Minn., Jimmy Demaret Monday took first money of $2,45 from Otto Greiner of Baltimore in the playoff of the St. Paul open golf tournament. Demaret shot a four-under par 68 while Greiner was carding his poorest round of the tourney for a 70. They finished the scheduled 72 holes of the open tied at 273 Sunday, forcing them into the 18-hole playoff.

Boston Braves' Alvin Dark picked up six points during the last week in his drive to overtake St. Louis' Stan Musial as the National League's bat leader, it was announced at New York on Monday night. Musial, who continues to lead the senior circuit in virtually every offensive department, dropped from a .388 batting average to .381 through Sunday's games.

The same official averages saw Dark, the sparkling rookie shortstop, slip only one cog—from .334 to .333. Andy Pafko of the Chicago Cubs remained in third place with .327.

At Chicago, it was disclosed that Lou Boudreau's sizzling bat —which collected 19 hits in 37 trips to the plate for the week— brought his average to .361 and within striking distance of Ted Williams' American League-leading mark of .377. The Cleveland shortstop-manager had climbed 16 points from a week ago. In the same period, through Sunday's games, Boston's stringbean outfielder had dropped 10 points. Dale Mitchell, Boudreau's teammate, climbed 10 points in the week to hold third spot with .336.

Neil "Lucky" Lott was severely injured at the opening of the Belleville Fair Monday. He and his troupe of daredevil drivers were performing driving over a ramp, laping a transport and landing on bales of straw. When a front tire blew the car swerved and rolled several times down the track. He was picked up unconscious and taken to hospital.

Moe Abramowitz of Montreal, coach of Canada's Olympic basketball squad, Monday was believed suffering from either pleurisy or pneumonia after his arrival home Sunday from London.. His doctor ordered him to bed immediately.

He said through his wife that an official statement on what happened to Canada's cage team in London will be made when Manager Laurie Irwin returns.

Harrison Dillard, the hurdler-turned-sprinter who scored a surprise victory for the United States in the 100-metre dash at the Olympic Games, smashed a 20-year-old European record in winning the 200-metre dash in an international track and field meet at Paris on Monday. Dillard, running around one turn, covered the distance in 20.8 seconds to become one of the few sprinters ever to step 200 metres around a curve in less than 21 seconds. The previous European record was 20.9 seconds, set at Berlin in 1928 by Helmut Kornig. The Olympic record is 20.7, set by Jesse Owens at Berlin in 1936.

Gus Lesnevich, Jersey Joe Sign For Bout

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP). — The Tournament of Champions has signed Jersey Joe Walcott and Gus Lesnevich to meet September 21, a bold move that might give the fledgling promotional group control of the next heavyweight boxing champion.

Jersey Joe and the ex-light-heavyweight king will tangle on the same card with the Tony Zale-Marcel Cerdan title tilt in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium.

To get Walcott and Lesnevich to take part in the big fistic double-header, the T of C guaranteed each of the heavies $5,000 At first sight it looks like a costly manoeuvre since Zale, the middleweight champ, has been guaranteed $120,000 and Cerdan $50,000.

But with the extra hundred grand, Promoter Andy Niederreiter, who runs the T of C, got an "exclusive" agreement Monday from both that the winner will make his next start for the T of C.

Thus, Niederreiter's group has gained control of at least two of the four top contenders for the crown Joe Louis plans to doff. Britain's Freddie Mills and Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles also figure. Charles is under contract to face Jimmy Bivins in Washington on September 13.

Mills, the light-heavy champ, who beat Lesnevich, originally was scheduled to fight Lesnevich a return on the Zale-Cerdan show but declared himself out because of head injuries. He may be ready to go again in two months.

Babe Ruth's Death Played Up In Britain

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The death of Babe Ruth was front-page news in Britain today. British papers, short on newsprint, told the story briefly.

The longest account, a quarter of a column, appeared in the Daily Express. All the stories emphasized that Ruth was the idol of millions of Americans and a symbol of American sport. They also pointed up his large earnings as home-run king.

BABE RUTH RETIRED from baseball in 1935 after setting 76 records, 62 of which still stand.

Lindsay Girls Take Series Over Lakefield

Lindsay beat Lakefield 15-3 before a good crowd at the Bowl last night to take the Girls' Softball League intermediate "B" championship. They earned the right to go into PWSU playdowns by taking straight games in the best-of-three final series. The Lakefield lasses hit well and left a lot of runners on bases for lack of punch at payoff times and they kicked the ball in costly fashion several times. Lindsay clinched matters with a nine-run outburst in the fifth frame.

There were few strikeouts by the pitchers, P. Wasson taking over for Lakefield in the seventh. N. Clements, I. Bullock, H. Deyell and M. Owen went best in the field. D. Wood had three hits for Lindsay, as M. Chase hit two homers, while J. Bryans and D. Hunter bashed out triples. H. Dunford led the losers at bat with a brace of bingles. Those extra-base blows by Lindsay helped considerably in piling up the count.

8-Team Circuit Gorman Plan

OTTAWA, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Tommy Gorman, president of the Ottawa club of the Border Baseball League, said today plans are being made for a new eight-team circuit.

It would include Ottawa, Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Kingston of the Border League; Quebec City, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke and Granby, the Quebec-Province members of the Canadian-American League, and Plattsburg, N.Y., which had a Can.-Am. team until the advent of wartime travel problems.

Some consideration also had been given to formation of clubs in two other Ontario cities, Belleville and Peterborough.

"We are doing very well here," said Gorman, whose Ottawa Nationals are leading the Border League, "but the travelling cost is too expensive."

He said that George Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues, will be in Ottawa this week to discuss plans for the new loop.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Lot of provincial baseball playdowns coming up for local teams right shortly. Intermediate Petes are readying themselves for an early showdown with Belleville, and likewise our juniors will be in against Oshawa, probably this Saturday. Juvenile "A" squad—and that setup has remained obscure recently—is paired with Oshawa, while the midgets (who settle their series in Riverside tonight) meet Lindsay this week-end. East City bantams won their title and go against Trenton, and it should be by Saturday, too. Peewees are still fighting it out to see who plays Kingston in the first round. The senior Petes will be in COBL playoffs, winner to meet Toronto in OBA playdowns later.

Another mention of the pro ball school, sponsored by St. Louis Cardinals, in Belleville this Friday and Saturday. Open to all boys 17 years of age to 23, trials starting each day at 11 a.m. and going right through under guidance of two Cards' scouts. Drills include running, fielding, hitting and throwing, with pitchers doing their stuff. Also a scrub game or two with players picking their positions. Prospects should bring spikes and gloves, also uniforms, if they can. And player signed to a minor contract will get all expenses paid. A number from here and Lindsay are expected to take in the school.

This Is The Payoff

Knights and Legionnaires settle their City Softball League four-in-seven semi-final serial tonight at 8.15 in the Bowl, weather permitting. Only game of the night there. Winner goes in against B-A then in the loop finals and also will be the senior "B" representative from here, as B-A goes into intermediates "A" playdowns. Against Kingston, while the senior "B" team hits Oshawa. Local champs get the George Dormer Trophy. Likely another record crowd as this one settles it, and one team will be washed out about 10 this eve.

* * * * * *

In the last game, Manager Freddie Garvey brought up an interesting point, claiming that a player who knocks a bag loose in sliding into it must grab onto that loose bag or he can be put out. None of us had rule books at the game and there was some doubt about it, but Umpire Dormer called it correctly, saying a player didn't have to hang onto a loose bag. Looking it up later, we found this line in Sec. 10 of Rule 46 of the latest OASA book: "....but, if the base-runner, in attempting to reach a base, detach it from its fastening before being put out, he shall be declared safe." And that's that.

Lindsay Won Out

Quite a crowd of softball fans saw two girls' playoff games at the Bowl last e'en, and the Wednesday offering should draw well, too. In the opener, Lindsay drubbed Lakefield 15-3 to end the intermediate "B" series as champs and go into the PWSU playdowns. Lakefield fought hard but errors hurt and Lindsay lasses deserved the series. Westclox opened the intermediate "A" finals under the arcs with a 12-0 coat of whitewash over Marines. Seven runs the first heat did it, and the Outboards were missing plenty. Otherwise it would have been a swell scrap and, in fact, it was a good game after the first. Norma Kennedy was in prime form on the Clockers' mound, but Marines may reverse matters on the morrow.

* * * * * *

Early last eve, the Lakeshore Junior Baseball League prexy sent word that, to settle matters betwixt the local teams, a brand new two-in-three semi-final series would be staged between Kinsmen and Kiwanis. So they played the first one last p.m. in Riverside with Kiwanis romping to a 17-6 victory before the largest crowd of junior ball fans here in years. Kiwanis were in top form and Kinsmen were below par in this one, and the well-matched teams tangle again over there tomorrow evening at 5.45, third game if necessary being on Friday. Winner to meet Oshawa in loop finals. An executive meeting with managers at the "Y" right after the Wednesday game to arrange for all local minor playdowns, Phonse Brioux advises.

* * * * * *

Petes Take Locos

A two-run first inning was all the senior Petes needed to win in Kingston last night but they went on to take a 7-1 verdict. Bill Edger scattered six hits in a dandy slab showing, fanning 10 and walking but three. Petes fielded well and hit in the clutches. Ump Tom Wood chucked Locos' manager, Ole Olsen, and player Ferguson out of the game in the sixth for yapping too strenuously on a called strike. Petes play Dit Clapper's NHL All-Stars an exhibition here this Thursday, the House of David an exhibition here next Monday, and they go to Belleville on Tuesday. That winds 'em up unless their replay with Kingston locally is required.

Kiwanis Opens New Series With A Victory

By FRED MAYBEE

Before the largest crowd that has witnessed a junior baseball game at Riverside Park in years, Kiwanis defeated Kinsmen 17-6 last evening as the two opened a new best of three semi-final series for local supremacy and the right to meet Oshawa in the finals.

"Cack" Pagett went the route for Kiwanis and, aided by steady support afield, particularly from Collins at second, his outfield and Menzies, who caught a fine game, and hefty work at bat by his mates, came through to victory. Pagett hit a homer and double and drove in four runs, while LaPlante scored four and batted in three to lead the attack on Plunkett and Sullivan, who had an off night. Errors aso hurt the visitors' cause, while Lady Luck took a hand with a few freak bounces, to aid the winners. For Kinsmen, Fitzgerald, McGillen, Dugan, Wyatt and Legrow tried hard all the way, with the first three getting two hits apiece. Punkett and Sullivan also hit well but were inefective in holding Kiwanis.

Wednesday evening, however, the teams renew their struggle and with a revamped line-up, Kinsmen hope to show a record crowd what a good team can do and even up the series. Last night's game was cleanly played throughout.

Prexy Gracie Resigns From Soccer League

The Peterborough and District Football Association held its longest meeting in history on Monday evening in the YMCA with president William Gracie in the chair and a full executive present.

A. Welland, CGE; Eldon Downer and Kenneth Downer, Petes, were cautioned about their unsportsmanlike conduct on the field of play, which resulted in the referee putting them off the field. The board spent over two hours hearing the cases.

The president sent in his resignation, stating his objection to the insulting remarks made to him in endeavoring to conduct the business of the association, from the players of a specified team, But he decided to carry on until the re-organization meeting next Monday evening in the YMCA at 7.30. They will have to appoint a new secretary-treasurer also, as he sent in his resignation for the same complaint.

No game on Tuesday evening.

Wednesday —Legion vs. Petes. Referee, J. Chamberlain.

Thursday at Omemee — Lindsay vs. CGE.

Saturday — Petes vs. O'Hallorans. Referee, R. Strong; Lindsay at Omemee play Legion. Referee, S. McGann.

CGE were granted permission to play CGE in Toronto on September 4.

A special meeting is called for next Monday evening to re-organize soccer in the city.

LOCKE PLAYS IN CALGARY

Golfing Bobby Locke reached Calgary on Monday en route to Banff where he will relax before continuing his current exhibition swing across Canada against Stan Leonard, Vancouver professional. The South African shotmaker plays at Calgary today, but expected to undertake a casual game at the Banff course "because I want to have a try at it before I leave the country."

Believe Bomber Chances Much Weaker

(This is the first of a series of three articles on the prospects of teams in the Western Canada Football Union. The next will be about Saskatchewan Roughriders.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17—(CP).—The grape-wine has it that Winnipeg Blue Bombers this year will have a tough time winning the Western Canada Football Conference, let alone the Canadian championship.

Despite the apparent strengthening of the other two teams — Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders — in the Western loop this season, Bomber officials are confident they have "just as good a club" as the one which pushed Toronto Argonauts to the limit before dropping a 10-9 decision in the Grey Cup final at Toronto last fall.

But the grandstand quarterbacks point to the loss of veteran centreman Mel Wilson to Montreal Alouettes and tackle Bob Smith to the American professional ranks. Gone also are quarterback Harry Hood and lineman Bert Iannone to Stampeders, while Gordon (Red) Smith has placed himself on the sidelines because of unsatisfactory financial terms.

Not Optimistic

Bombers' 12-9 defeat at the hands of Toronto Beaches Indians in an exhibition here Saturday did not add much support to the Bomber officials' answer that the holes left by departing players "have been well filled."

Back to coach Bombers for his third term is Jack West, former athletic director at the University of North Dakota.

Eight imports are lined up, which West must cut down to five before the league's opening game here next Saturday against Roughriders. Of the eight, Bob Sandberg, starry import from Minnesota who carried the bulk of the load in Bombers' effort in the 1947 Canadian final, and Don Hiney, diminutive North Dakota field goal artist, stand out as "certainties."

Orillia Minors Here

Orillia midgets and juveniles play local lacrosse teams a twin bill tomorrow night in Miller Bow. The Peterborough midgets won in Orillia by a close margin, and the return game should be good. Orillia juveniles are in fine shape and the locals will have to hustle in their tilt, starting at 8.30 o'clock.

While the intermediate Petes were beating Port Hope last night, the mionr lacrosse set-up had to be switched. But the playoff games scheduled for last night will go on tonight as follows: Kiwanis vs. St. Paul's, Cavanagh's vs. McGillis and Comstock's vs. Legion. On Thursday, the games previously listed for tonight will be played as follows: Kiwanis vs. St. Paul's, Montreal vs. Tudhopes, and Cavanagh's vs. McGillis.

TWENTY WINS AGAIN? - By Alan Maver

England Has Trouble In Match

LONDON, Aug. 17— (CP). — Batting defensively, England had scored 121 for two second-innings wickets by lunch on the third day of the final cricket test match against Australia at Kennington Oval today. They then needed 216 runs to avert an innings defeat with eight wickets to fall.

Needing 283 runs to sav an innings' defeat with nine wickets left, England was soon in trouble when the third day's play began before 20,000 spectators.

Len Hutton and Bill Edrich, playing quietly and confidently on a wicket that looked full of runs, had added only 10 to their over-night score when Ray Lindwall, the lanky Australian pace bowler, sent down an exta-fast ball which beat Edrich and uprooted his off stump. Edrich had scored 28.

With two wickets down for 64, Denis Compton joined Hutton at this critical stage and looked strangely unlike his normally confident self taking 20 minutes over his first run. He could do littel right and was lucky to be still in after 40 miutes, by which time he had scored nine, including one four.

The English pair survived and were still together at lunch in spite of superb bowling by both Lindwall and big Bill Johnston, the left-arm medium pacer. Hutton was then 42 and Compton 37.

Score card:

England, first innings	52
Australia, first innings	389
England, second innings—
L. Hutton, not out	42

Westclox Take First One From Marines

Westclox walloped Marines 12-0 at the Bowl last night in the first game of the Girls' Softball League intermediate "A" finals. A big crowd saw a fine game after the first frame, but Westclox racked up a seven-run margin in the initial inning. Norma Kennedy hurled three-hit ball and whiffed 11 in a fine showing, always being ahead of the batters, and she had perfect support. Marines kicked in with seven bobbles and they hurt plenty, as the count would have been closer iwth good fielding by Outboards. E. Whittaker went well on the losers' mound.

N. Whetung and T. Dorrest of Westclox, with M. Behan and A. LaPointe of Marines, were best in the fielding department. N. Kennedy had a double and single, A. Anderson a homer and a single and B. Morrow two singles for Westclox, I. Clarke hitting a triple. None of the Marines got more than one safety. The same squads clash again at the Bowl tomorrow night.

The teams:

Call Reese Best Shortstop Leads Team To 6-2 Victory

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pee Wee Reese is the fairhaired boy of Brooklyn Dodger rooters and the backbone of the club's infield, or as some of the boys put it: one of the few pros on the team."

The 29-year-old shortstop has not made an error in the Dodgers' last 25 games and his brilliant play both at bat and afield has been instrumental in the Dodgers' bid to overhaul the pace-setting Boston Braves in the National League.

The popular shortstop played a leading role in the Dodgers' 6-2 triumph over the Braves in Boston Monday night, starting a four-run rally with a triple and handling eight chances afield flawlessly.

The triumph cut the Braves' lead to two games over the runner-up Brooks.

With the Dodgers leading 2-1, Reese, who is batting a cool .300, opened the eighth inning with a triple off relief pitcher Bob Hogue. Before the frame ended the Dodgers had scored four runs to sew it up.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals also gained ground on the Braves, moving to within 2½ games of Billy Southworth's crew as a result of their 9-7 conquest of the Cubs in a day game at Chicago.

Stan Musial paced the Cards' 14-hit assault against five Chicago pitchers with his 29th homer, a double and two singles. Del Rice and Erv Dusak belted round-trippers for the Red Birds.

In the only other game played in either circuit, Cincinnati Reds downed the Pirates 5-2 at Pittsburgh Monday night.

Lefty Johnny Vander Meer went the route for the Reds, yielding five hits including homers by losing pitcher Hal Gregg and Wally Westlake.

Leafs Trounce Royals 7-5; Bisons Triumph

By the Associated Press

Saul Rogovin, who gave up attempting to crash the major leagues as an infielder, stands an excellent chance today to make the big time as a pitcher.

Th 25-year-old right-hander of the International League Buffalo Bisons has won 12 games and lost only five for the Bisons. Rogovin hung up his 12th victory and his ninth as against only one loss since May 31, when he pitched the Bisons to a 3-1 four-hit triumph over Rochester Red Wings Monday night.

The setback cut the third-place margin of the Red Wings to half a game over Toronto Maple Leafs, who downed the league-leading Montreal Royals 7-5. The Leafs sewed up the game with a five-run rally in the third inning. Stan Lopata's three-run homer highlighted the uprising.

Newark's runner-up Bears outslugged the Jersey City Giants 8-6. Two run homers by Lou Novikoff and Hank Workman were responsible for the Newark triumph.

Syracuse Chiefs made it three in a row over the last-place Baltimore Orioles, beating the Orioles 9-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Johnny Hetki. Clyde Vollmer poled his 28th homer, a triple and single to spark the Chief attack.

Mason To Stay In Hollywood For 12 Monhs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17 (AP)—James Mason may become a regular addition to the Hollywood film colony. The star has rented his English home, obtained a year's lease on a house here and says he'll hunt for another local residence after that.

Among Mason's plans is an independent company to make the film version of the novel, "Del Palma," written by his wife, Pamela Kellino. Both will appear in the picture, but, oddly enough, she will play the second lead.

Sailing, Sailing

Burt Lancaster and 20th-Fox couldn't come to terms, so Richard Wildmark got the "Down To The Sea in Ships" role, his best to date. The studio has built a 25-ton sailing ship for indoor shooting of the picture.

Columbia invited big George Adams, leader of a local gypsy colony, to see "The Loves of Carmen" to check his reactions on the way Gypsies are pictured. Bib George approved, particularly the way Gypsies are pictured. Big chicken with her hands. "That's how a Gypsy would do it," he said. However, he thumbed down "Golden Earrings" because Marlene Dietrich was too sloppy in it, "dipping her hands in fat and licking them."

Turhan Bey, a brave lad, ventures to name the glamor men ("if one can use such aword for men") of the film world: Clark Gable, Tyrone Power, James Stewart and Cary Grant. Note his selection is 75 per cent American. Turhan explained: "Foreigners seem to glitter for a moment and then decline very rapidly. I am a case in point."

Horse Opera

Capsule Review: "Red River" (U.A) contains everything a Western should have and throws in a few things more It is better constructed than most horse operas, being a grand scale story of a huge cattle drive from Texas to Kansas in 1865 John Wayne and Montgomery Clift carry their chores with assurance aided by an equally rugged cast.

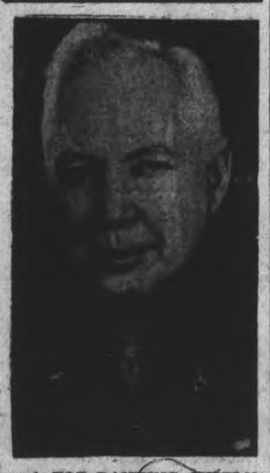
Decide No Appeal For Maj. Goodhouse



OTTAWA, Aug. 17—(CP)—An appeal by Maj. Fred J. Goodhouse, 63-year-old Ottawa marksman who was barred for life from Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meets, will not be heard.

Col. R. J. Birtwhistle, association secretary, said Monday the DCRA council, which passed the unanimous ruling, had made a final decision and there could be no appeal.

Maj. Goodhouse had announced he would make an appeal against the severity of the sentence passed on him for an infraction of firing rules Friday in the King's Medal match.

Col. Birtwhistle said:

"He was warned once before, after a similar infraction of the rules, that he would be disqualified if it happened again . . . it's dead, settled."

A TOP RANKING SUPPLY expert, Maj. Gen. George A. Horkan (above) has been assigned as Chief Quartermaster of the U.S. Army European Command according to an announcement from Washington. Horkan, formerly in charge of the return and burial of American war dead, will take over direction of operation "vittles," the airborne freight line supplying Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

More than 40 brethren participated in the parade from Madoc Orange Hall to the church. The service was conducted by Rev. George Nickle, past deputy grand chaplain of the Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of Canada. Assisting was the Rev. M. W. Heslip of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc. Miss Anne Nickle of Madoc was the soloist. The sermon was preached by Rev. G. Nickle who chose as his subject "The Rock Foundation of Protestant Faith."

Plant Closed At St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 17—(CP)—A shutdown of the strike-bound McKinnon Industries was ordered Monday by company officials. The move, taken after minor skirmishing Monday between office workers and salaried personnel and pickets, leaves only company police in the sprawling plant which normally employs more than 3,000 St. Catharines workers.

The company, a subsidiary of General Motors Corporation, has been strikebound since July 14 when Local 199 of the United Automobile Workers (CCL) called out 2,650 production workers in an effort to obtain parity of wages with Oshawa and Windsor General Motors workers.

"The union has seen fit to resort to unlawful mass picketing of our plant," a company official said Monday. "We do not want to have our supervisory, salaried and office personnel subjected to the abuse many of them received this morning. It has, therefore, been decided to close down all operations until further notice."

The union asked for a 26-cents an-hour wage increase, made up of a 16-cent demand "to make up cost of living increases, plus 10 cents to equalize rates with Oshawa."

Decides Hospital To Get Assets

TORONTO, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Mr. Justice G. A. Gale of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled today that realized assets of the estate of John Ross Robertson, late owner of the Evening Telegram, be turned over forthwith to trustees of the Hospital for Sick Children.

His judgment, handed down today, also provided that proceeds from unrealized assets, including the Telegram, be turned over as soon as they are sold.

These findings were made in Mr. Justice Gale's answers to 10 questions arising from Mr. Robertson's will. They had been submitted to the court for clarification and direction by executors and trustees of the Robertson estate.

The judgment did not fix any time limit for sale of the paper, the chief asset of the estate.

If ruled, however, that the refundable portion of the Excess Profits Tax paid by the Telegram from 1943 to 1946—amounting to $170,692.74—should go to the estates of the next-of-kin, the widow and two sons, rather than to the hospital.

Bill Barring Indians From Govt. Introduced

CAPETOWN, Aug. 17 (Reuters) —A bill to deprive Indians of the representation in the South African parliament granted by the Asiatic land tenure and Indian representation act of 1946, was given first reading in the Union House of Assembly today.

Representation of Transvaal and Natal Indians in the Senate and House of Assembly was included in the 1946 act by former premier Jan Christiaan Smuts to recompense Indians for the land-tenure restrictions in the same act. Under the restrictions, Indians are not allowed ot acquire fixed property in Natal except in defined areas.

The Nationalist party, then the opposition, violently opposed the measure because it granted communal franchise to Indians.

Slow Horses Balk Smugglers

WINDSOR, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Slow horses and fast police work have been the downfall of Michael Checholowski, Windsor plumber who was caught smuggling gold nugets across the border.

He was given a two-year suspended sentence by Federal Judge Arthur A. Koscincki, of Detroit, when he pleaded guilty to the gold smuggling charge.

The man who lost an apartment house and his wife's beauty shop through picking the wrong horses was deported to Windsor last Friday.

Checholowski was arrested last Aug. 6 by United States customs agents who had a tip he was bringing gold into Detroit from Northern Ontario mines.

They posed as jewelers and caught Checholowski when he offered to the agents gold nugge valued at $1,000.

Several months ago, Checholowski said at a local bankruptcy hearing he had gone broke playing the horses at Windsor bookmaking establishments.

Dairymen Say Rationing Only Answer

A survey of Peterborough dairymen in regard to dealer rationing of melting butter stocks shower that most butter makers felt that rationing was he only solution to saving stocks that will reach an all-time low by Christmas. But, controls bring hoarding as was shown late last year when a supply control system was set up; after the period was over sales for butter for a two-week period showed hardly any sales as customers knifed away at accumulated home stocks.

If rationing were set up by dairies, executives do not know just what guage could be set in order to make a fair distribution. They have no means such as wholesalers supplying dealers on previous purchase figures. One solution, as seen by Ted Weir, manager of Silverwood's Dairy, would be for the Government to allow the manufacture of butter with a lower butter fat content.

Where the product now contains 80 per cent butter fat, the addition of oils to the extent of 15 to 20 per cent would still make the product acceptable, he says, and the saving would spread the butter fat thinner. Failing this, Mr. Weir said, oleo should be introduced to tide over the critical period ahead.

Even though there is more than 18,000-ton butter surplus in Australia this year, 95 per cent of this wil lgo to short-rationed Britons. There is also a large surplus in the Argentine but shipping costs would make the laid-down product prohibitive in price.

PCVS Pupils Set New High Record

Of the 614 papers written by students of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School in the Upper School Departmental examinations in June they were successful in 580 or 94.46 percent. This figure, according to Principal C. S. Browne, is the highest in his experience in the collegiate and he has been a member of the staff since 1914. Last year the pupils passed in 91 percent and in 1946 in 90 percent.

But it was not alone the number of papers written and were successful in that the students excelled but 135 were first class honors, 155 second class honors and 111 third class honors or 63.3 percent of the papers written were in the honor class.

The results are believed to be amongst the highest in the province and Mr. Browne said the showing resulted from an exceedingly good year's work on the part of both the teachers and the pupils.

Lindsay Gets Million Dollar Casing Plant

LINDSAY, Aug. 17 (ENS)—The Visking Corpn., Chicago, Ill., have announced that plans have been lai dto build a modern million dollar plant on the 17½ acre tract recently acquired at the Bobcaygeon Road and Colborne Street, Lindsay.

The plant will be of steel, concrete and brick construction, to be sprinklered and fireproof throughout and will provide approximately 75,000 square feet of floor area chiefly on one floor. The 17½ acres were acquired in anticipation of adding further buildings which may be needed for expansion, said the announcement. Local labor will be used and employed, given to approximately two hundred persons when the Lindsay plant is completed, and in full operation. The principal product to be manufactured will be cellulose tubing used by the meat packing and sausage making industries as casings for sausages, hame, meat loaves.

"Many good plant locations were studied and evaluated. The final choice was due to a preponderance of favorable factors of greatest relative importance in the celluose casing industry." The company officials interviewed expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of Industrial Commissioner Dan McQuarrie and the mayor and town council.

Canada imports $1,000,000 worth of casings from the United States every year.

Chairman of School Board D. V. Canning Dies Suddenly

D. Vernon Canning, chairman of the Peterborough Board of Education and manager of the Industrial Controls Division of the Canadian General Electric Company, died in St. Joseph's Hospital on Monday afternoon after an illness of eight days. Mr. Canning was taken to the hospital a week ago last Friday, after suffering a heart attack, and although his condition was considered critical he was reported in the past few days as making some recovery. However, he suffered a second attack on Monday and died shortly after.

Elected to the Board of Education on January 1, 1942, Mr. Canning has been a member ever since, serving as chairman in 1947 and being re-elected to that post this year. For four years Mr. Canning was chairman of the Property Committee and the effort he put into that position was soon evident in the improvements being made to the school buildings. Then as vice-chairman and chairman of the Board he gave a leadership that is seldom found in civic bodies. His hobby was the Board of Education and many hours he put in in helping to improve the Peterborough educational system. During his time on the Board he saw progress being made in improving the lot of the teachers, the pupils and the maintenance staff. He never missed a meeting and had the ability to size up a question, and if he felt it warranted his support he threw his whole weight behind it, but if not, he was quick to express his reasons why he could not give it his support. He never sought to curry favor, he was absolutely frank, and always tried to work in the best interests of the whole educational system.

Joined CGE In 1921

June 2, 1921, on graduating from McGill University, Mr. Canning started his continuous service with the Canadian General Electric Company in the Test Department. In 1922 he was transferred to Switchboard Engineering, when he had completed the company's test course. Nine years later he was appointed engineer of the Industrial Control Department and in December, 1947, manager of the Industrial Control Division, then being established.

In the plant he was known as "D.V.," and was highly regarded by both management and workmen. Often it was said that when a difficult engineering job arose it was usually given to "D.V."

A member of the Board of Health for the past four years he was greatly interested in the amalgamation of the city's health services, and while he was determined that the Board of Education's health service would lose none of its efficiency, he had in recent months been working towards bringing an amalgamation about.

Mr. Canning was a member of the Murray Street Baptist Church, secretary-treasurer of the Board of Trustees, and chairman of the music committee.

Mr. Canning was born 49 years ago in Brockville where he received his public school education. He went with his family to Montreal in 1913 and attended Montreal High school. He graduated as an electrical engineer from McGill University in 1921 and was a registered professional engineer.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Ethel Heron; one daughter, Kathleen; his father, William Canning, of Montreal, and a sister, Mrs. Harold G. Timmis, of Three Rivers.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the Comstock funeral home to Murray Street Baptist Church for service at 3.00 p.m. Rev. Ivan Moragn will be in charge and burial will be made in Little Lake Cemetery

"In the passing of Mr. Canning," said K. S. Wightman, inspector and superintendent of schools, "the Board of Education has lost one of its most valued members, and we who knew him well, a much loved friend. The years during which he served on the board were a time of growth and reconstruction, making heavy demands on the time and energy of the members. This he gave without stint, and the progress made has been due in no small measure to his good judgment and wise leadership, as chairman of various committees, and for the past year and a half as chairman of the board. His services to the schools will not soon be forgotten; but most of all, we shall remember those personal qualities which endeared him to us—his absolute directness of thought and speech, the wit that enlivened many a dull meeting, and that great kindness of heart which characterized his approach to every problem."

Ian McRae, works manager of the CGE, in speaking of Mr. Canning, said he had lost a very close personal friend, the company has lost a fine manager, and the city a public-spirited citizen.

Girl 4, Hit By Car Has Broken Leg

Four-year-old Catherine Foster of 580 Patterson St., is "doing nicely" in hospital today. She is recovering from injuries of a fractured leg and shock received when she was struck by the car of Elwood Hendren of 275 Sherbrooke. The child was struck in front of her home Saturday afternoon. The car struck her with its fender and carried her about 25 feet.

PC M. D. Traynor investigated.

Rescue 6 People As Car Burns; One In Hospital

SUTTON, Aug. 17 — (CP). — Three men Monday rescued six occupants of a blazing automobile which went out of control and rolled over twice after leaving the road near this Lake Simcoe town, 50 miles north of Toronto. The spot is about two miles east of and between the town of Sutton and Pefferlaw.

Rescued were: Driver of the car, Sheldon S. Richardson, his mother, Mrs. Stanley Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jones, all of Peterborough, and Mrs. and Mrs. John McCaskill, Niagara street, Hamilton. Three were taken to Sutton hospital for first aid, Mrs. Stanley Richardson, who had a cut on the head and on the arm, Sheldon Richardson who complained of an injured back, and Mrs. McCaskill who was brought to Peterborough hospital. She has a fractured shoulder and rib, and spent a good night.

The three rescuers, W. C. Troyer, 40, Overly Matt, 55, and his son, Frank Matt, 27, were building a house about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the accident.

Troyer said he glanced towards the highway and saw the car up in the air. It landed on its front end, bounced again and then crashed upside down into a fence. It immediately burst into flames.

Smash Open Door

It was reported here that the rescuing workmen grabbed a fence post that had been knocked over by the car, and used it to smash open one of the rear doors and release the occupants.

The driver told police the automobile hit a series of bumps in a rough stretch of the road and went out of control. It was thought possible that a rear tire had blown out, but the car was so badly burned it was impossible to determine exactly whether that had happened.

The Peterborough party was on the way to the Salvation Army's fresh air camp at Jackson Point. This week's program is devoted almost entirely to the teaching of junior classes in music. Mrs. Richardson, who has the degree of Associate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music has been a member of the camp staff for some years as a teacher of the theory of music. Mr. Reg. Jones, cornet soloist of the Peterborough Temple Band, was going to the camp for a week as a cornet teacher. At the close of the week, according to the established custom, the junior students receive a rating for A, B and C bans.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaskill are the parents of Mrs. Jones.

York county constable W. R. Hill, who investigated the accident, said the driver was not to blame and no charges will be laid. The car, worth about $900, was sold at Sutton to wreckers for $35.

First Aid Men Available If Asked

On Saturday, the Examiner said in a Main Street Topic that a number of baseball fans commented on the fact that no St. John Ambulance men were available to render first aid to a ballplayer who fractured his leg.

Division Superintendent P. O'Toole said in a letter to the Examiner today that it is customary for the various clubs to request the services of the brigade, as some organizations have their own first aid men.

'We are a voluntary organization depending on the donations received from the various clubs and organizations to keep our first aid equipment up to date," Mr. O'Toole said, 'and we are anxious to give service at all times."

THEY'RE AFTER ME

Last night, several people who live on or near Aylmer St., were aroused by a well-dressed woman knocking on their doors, asking for shelter for the night. She claimed that "they" were chasing her and that she had to stay somewhere. Before the mystery could be solved, police came and chased the woman away. Sounds like the Russian school teacher all over again.

Buses Revert To Old System In Making Stops At Downtown Intersections

Bus stops revert to the near side of intersections after more than a year's trial of crossing the streets. This switch back to previous practice and traffic habits of the community was authorized by the council Monday night in the adoption of the legal committee's report presented by Ald. Adam Sands, chairman.

The recommendation of the committee was as follows:

"That the traffic by-law be amended to provide that the buses of the Border Transit Company revert to the former practice of stopping to load and unload passengers before crossing intersections where there are stop-and-go lights and also that at the transfer point the buses resume the former positions they were accustomed to take previous to the change introduced a year or so ago, and that to facilitate arrangements at the transfer point increased space be reserved for the buses on the north side of Simcoe Street between George Street and Water Street."

Permission was given to place signs at street corners indicating bus stops. This contemplates a prospective change in service by skipping some streets, especially where several are comparatively close. Two that are close together, for example, are Bolivar and Sherbrooke. It may possibly be the intention of the management to eliminate the Bolivar stop for the advantage of saving time and quickening the service.

Ald. Sands reported to the council the substance of his committee's recent conversations with Frank Mitchell, bus president. Another meeting is slated for Wednesday. The company is asking for an extension of their street franchise for five years, beginning Jan. 1, 1954.

Wants Concessions

Audit of the company's books to the end of July, this year, showed an operating loss of more than $3,000 for seven months, according to the Mitchell information to the committee. Cost of operations would be further increased by the company's intended wage increase to all its employees.

"Mr Mitchell proposes that the city agree to decrease by $4,000 the amount received by the city from the company each year under the present operating agreement, in order that the company might be enabled to grant the wage adjustment without increasing its financial loss on operations.

"Mr. Mitchell informed your committee that six new buses which have been on order will be delivered here in September. Two will be replacements and the four others will be additions to the existing fleet."

Mr. Mitchell has also suggested that the company receive the council's approval of a change in the drop fare from the present eight cents to ten cents; and fare for children of 53 in. and under in height to be five cents.

One of the suggestions around the City Hall is that the company be allowed to sell seven tickets for 50 cents instead of eight as at present, and at the same time charge 10c drop fare. It is contended that ten cent fares have been applied in some cities and various other increases have been applied to meet increasing cost of doing business.

These suggestions have not yet come to the council itself, but it is altogether likely that the increase in the drop fare will be an early recommendation.

LIGHT FIRE LOSS

July fire loss was $417 on buildings and $83 contents, reported to the council by Fire Chief Smith.

Two Employees Awarded $100 For Suggestions

Two CGE employees won $100 extra holiday pay for ideas submitted to the suggestion committee. They are V. F. Wall of the Refrigerator Cabinet and S. White of the Machine Repair Department. Mr. Wall won his award for a suggestion regarding changes in a method of operation in the refrigeration assembly line, and Mr. White had an idea regarding the installation of a 4-way valve on a coil winder.

Lions Suggest Inland Swimming Pool

Riverside Park Project Presented To City Council By Members Of Lions Club

Neither the council nor Lions Club are unanimously in favor of the club proposal to make an inland swimming pool at Riverside Park, between the softball diamond and the road that extends northerly under the bridge to the ramp on the north side of it.

Simpson Gledhill, George Hildenbrand and R. L. MacGee of the Lions Club supported the latter explaining the project. They wish to obtain information as to the costs and general feasibility of the idea before considering any action, but as a preliminary they raised the questi asto the attitude toward the plan of setting a 385 ft. by 300 ft. pool south of the bridge and up from the river where they have already established a wading place for smaller children that has been in use for some years.

Ald. H. Dodds, a member of the Lions Club and one of the most active promoters of the fine job the club has done for children at Riverside said he did not fel in favor of the inland pool to occupy a large central section of the park. The club has an alternative plan of paving the bed of the river at the wading beach. The water is shallow and the idea is said to be quite practical.

Doubts Change

Ald. Herbert Young, chairman of the parks committee, was inclined to doubt the advisablity of the change, and Ald. Dick Raine said the council should not be asked for a snap verdict on a major change in the city's main park.

Ald. Doug Miller said he questioned the location in its nearness to the softball bowl. "We might have to build a fence to keep balls from going into the pool."

General appreciation of the community interest of the Lions Club was expressed by Mayor Ovens and members of the council but this new plan was plainly "giving them pause."

"I agree with Ald. Doug Miller," said Ald. Young. "I like the idea of an inland pool, but I'm not in favor of the location."

Ald. Anglesey suggested that the pool idea would be desirable at Inverlea if the beach was to be closed.

Joint Meeting

Ald. Hugh Waddell said the parks committee and club might jointly consider the question and site and report to the council.

Ald. Raine asked whether there was any hurry for a decision.

"The work should be done this fall if it is going to be started at all," 'Ald. Dodds said.

A Waddell-Young motion expressed willingness of the council to co-operate with the Lions, and advised that the location should be "settled between the club and parks committee."

"It is not settled now, by any means," said Ald. Young.

Alberta Names Government 3 Parties Bid For Power

EDMONTON, Aug. 17—(CP)—Alberta's 11th general election taking place today, holds the answer to its Social Credit government's bid for a fourth term in office.

More than 450,000 voters are eligible to vote in balloting which will yield the answer. For the legislature's 57 seats 173 candidates are in the field—a Social Credit nominee in every constituency, 51 CCF, 49 Liberals and nine Independents. A sprinkling of Independent Social Crediters, Labor-Progressives and others complete the list.

The Social Credit party has been in office three terms since its initial election a landslide into power, in 1935. Today's voting determines whether it will get a fourth. If it does, it will be the first to serve more than three terms.

The voting, scheduled to start at 12 Noon EDT has been preceded by the "tamest" campaign in memory. Rural polls close at 6 p.m. but voters in Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge have until 7 p.m. to ballot.

Weather predictions were good, with showers indicated in late evening, after polls close, in Calgary and Lethbridge areas. Harvesting in general throughout the province, but opinion is that it will not affect the turn-out.

Fought On Record

Numerous issues, none major, have been raised in the campaign, which also has seen a little name-calling, but it has been fought principally on the basis of the Social Credit government's record.

Rural electrification became an issue when the government announced a plebiscite in conjunction with today's balloting. The plebiscite asks whether taxpayers want continued development and distribution of electricity by private enterprise, or whether they want the Alberta government power commission to assume responsibility.

Alberta uses a single transferrable ballot. Second counts are held where candidates do not receive a majority on the first count. In the five-seat constituencies of Edmonton and Calgary the proportional representation system is used.

In the 1944 election Social Credit won 51 seats. At dissolution, the Social Crediters held 49 seats, Independents three, CCF two, Veterans MLA one, and there was one Independent Social Crediter. One seat was vacant. There were also three representatives of the armed services but their membership ended as dissolution.

Says Hydro Situation Been 'Touch-and-Go'

TORONTO, Aug. 17 —(CP) — The situation in respect to Hydro power has been "touch and go" this summer, Chairman Robert Saunders of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario said Monday night in a broadcast address. He appealed for the use of co-operation of all consumers to eliminate waste in the use of electricity.

"We have been forced on almost every day to reduce power being supplied to five or six large industries," he said. "For example, last Wednesday the cut amounted to 132,600 kilowatts."

He repeated his warning that restrictions would have to be imposed this fall and winter because of lessened water flow in Ontario and Quebec power sources.

Newest Aircraft Carrier To Take Northern Cruise

OTTAWA, Aug. 17—(Special)—Preparatory to her cruise to northern waters with the destroyers "Nootka" and "Haida" next months, HMCS "Magnificent", Canada's new 18,000-ton aircraft carrier sailed recently from Halifax for 10 days of deck landing training and flying exercises. Following her return on August 6 from a shakedown cruise in Nova Scotian water, she embarked ground personnel and equipment of the 19th Carrier Air Group, and when she put to sea again last week had the complement with which she will sail for Hudson's Strait on September 1. The 19th CAG consists of No. 803 squadron of fast Sea Fury fighters and No. 825, equipped with Firefly IV general purpose two-seaters.

On her return to Halifax on August 20 the carrier will put the finishing touches to her preparations for the first RCN penetration of Hudson's Bay waters. This will include off-shore flying when the opportunity presents.

Farthest north for "Magnificent" on the cruise itself will be Wakeham Bay, near the upper end of Hudson's Strait. From here she will return to Halifax on September 11 while the destroyers continue to Churchill and later to Coral Harbor at Southampton Island — the most northern point of the trip.

Routine Voyage

It will be a routine voyage aimed at acquiring practical experience and local knowledge. A number of observers will be carried. These will include a magnetic observer from the Dominion Observatory, a representative of the Defence Research Board, and several officers from Army and Air Force.

The naval tanker "Dundalk" will act a refuelling ship. Their total mileage will be 4,600 miles. "Magnificent" will steam just over 3,000 miles.

This will be a "combined operation" as the RCAF will participate in the exercises of the RCN group, using one or two aircraft and crews from 103 Search and Rescue Flight, Greenwood to carry out interceptions of the warships on the outward and inward journey. In addition ice reconnaissance flights will be flown in the Hudson Strait area preceding the passage of the naval force. The aircraft used will be based at Greenwood, NS, although alternate bases may be used as required. The RCAF operation will be under the command of the Air Officer Commanding, Central Air Command, who will delegate control to the Group Commander, 10 Group, Halifax.

Atom Smasher Built For Queen's

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Aug. 17.— (CP). — A 70,000,000-volt synchrotron, a type of atom smasher, is being built here for Queen's University, Kingston, it was announced today.

The machine will be used by Prof. J. A. Gray and his collaborators, Dr. H. M. Cave and Dr. D. T. Roberts. With other Canadian scientists, they will employ the machine in nuclear research with high-energ X-rays.

The X-rays produced by the machine will be many times more pentrating than those produced by conventional X-ray machines or by radio-active substances. Consequently the synchrotron will be installed in a specia underground chamber to protect personnel from harmful radiations. It will be operated from a remote-control station in a near-by building.

Newets and largest among atom smashers, the synchotron accelerates electrons, W. P. Simpson (of General Electric Co.), directing engineering work on the enw equipment, said today. Ha said there are significant advantages in this new type, partticularly for the development of higher voltage machines.

7 Provinces Study Freight Rate Appeal

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17.—(CP).— Representatives of Canada's four Western and three Maritime Provinces today are studying plans for continuation of their joint opposition to the granting of railway freight rate increases.

Their meeting, which opened Monday, is in full swing today with Ontario and Quebec the only provinces not represented.

Their program calls for a three-point fight against the increases: the course to be followed in continuing the appeal against the 21-per-cent. increase allowed last March; the procedure to follow if the Dominion Goyernment appoints a Royal Commission to inquire into the freight rate structure; and opposition to the 20-per-cent. increase now being asked by the Railway Association of Canada.

Seamen Charge Police Saw Them

HAMILTON, Aug. 17—(CP)— A complaint by two of four crew members of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel Westmount that a city police car passed them while they were being forcibly herded along a highway was investigated today.

The probe parallelled a hunt for 20 to 30 men who boarded the ore freighter early Sunday, removed the four men and crowded them along a highway in front of a jeep for a mile, two of them with their shoes off.

The captured seamen identified themselves as members of the Independent Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, headed by J. A. (Pat) Sullivan. The CSLU has been manning ships of four lake shipping companies despite a claim by the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) that the CSU is the official bargaining agent.

H. M. Corbier and Russell Hawley of Honey Harbor, Ont., and Ingonish, N.S., respectively, claimed a police cruiser passed them as they were being marched along a street.

Joseph Chamberlain, deputy chief constable, thought it possible that the cruiser, called out for an alarm at the Steel Company of Canada, failed to notice the men.

Britain Worst Fed Of Allies Canon Paterson Tells Rotary

It is an open question as to whether the Labor Government will be re-elected at the next general election in Britain or the Tory Party will return to power in the opinion of Canon J. Douglas Paterson. Canon Paterson, former rector of All Saints' Church, was guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Monday at the Empress Hotel. He returned last June from a two months' visit to England.

"The first thing you will learn," he said, "when you visit England is that you will have come to a tired, old country. It is a good thing to remind ourselves that Britain absolutely took it on the chin during the war. You don't realise that living over here."

He said that Britain was the worst fed today of the Allies, but that in spite of the extremely difficult food situation, the country has never been so well fed as today. This is due to the strict rationing and enormous government food subsidies which keep prices very low. "At the same time, they are sending food to Germany. We in this country are giving and selling our plenty, but Britain is matching with her meagre supplies."

Canon Paterson said that not only was Britain overcoming a "physical wallop" and a grim food situation, but that the young people have had a terrible physical experience. He mentioned the conscription and sending overseas of both young men and women.

Talking of the political situation, he said, "be perfectly certain of this: the Labor Government is a class government." He then went on to give some details of the land tax and income tax on unearned income. The latter this year is equivalent to a capital levy, being 50% more than the taxable income. "It is definitely stated," he said, "that the intention of the government is to make the people who have disgorge."

He had five points to make regarding the results of the next general election. The Tory Party has been reborn and has many brilliant young men. The middle class abhor the name calling of the Minister of Health, Aneurin Bevan. The women's vote will greatly affect the election and the women are tired of queues. "At long last the Government is beginning to realize that it cannot operate without brains" and that it is facing defeat because of the disloyalty of its supporters.

Canon Paterson was introduced by P. J. LaBrance and thanked by Les Mountney. W. J. Hamilton presided at the meeting.

Abandon Car Search

WINDSOR, Aug. 17.—(CP). — Wabash railway offices in Detroit announced Monday that attempts to raise a sunken boxcar of malt from the bed of the Detroit river were being abandoned. The car was bumped off a railway ferry last Monday in a collision between the ferry and an ore-carrying freighter.

Allies To Ask For New Meeting

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(Reuters). —Diplomtaic quarters sad today they believed the western envoys in Moscow will defintely ask for a further talk with Prime Minister Stalin.

These sources said Monday night's sixth meting ni Moscow between Foreign Minister Molotov and the envoys had again failed to produce any basis for four-power negotiations on the German problems.

If no successful interview with Stalin proves possible, it was believed that Frauk Roberts, Foreign Secretary Bevin's personal envoy, would be recalled to London and the attempt to secure a further four-power conference on Germany would have to be abandoned.

Press reports that the western powers at the Kremlin Monday night formally offered to postpone creation of a west German government, if the Soviet Union would raaise the Berlin blockade, were denied by a foreign office spokesman.

He said the intention of the western governments to go ahead with creation of a German parliamentary assembly for the west was unchanged.

Arrest One Of Men In Havana Robbery

HAVANA, Aug. 17—(AP)— Police Monday night announced the arrest of "one of the men who robbed a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada last Wednesday." They did not disclose his name.

They also announced that $20,700 of the stolen money had been recovered. The robbery, staged by eight or 10 bandits, resulted in the theft of more than $500,000.

A FORMER U.S. state department employee, Donald Hiss (above), appears at his own request before the House un-American Activities committee in Washington. Hiss emphatically denied the accusation by Whittaker Chambers magazine editor and former Red spy courier, that he had engaged in Communist espionage. Hiss told the committee that he never had known Mr Chambers.

Two Ring Wedding Unites Zetta Wilson, Hugh Logan

KEENE, Aug. 17. — A lovely summer wedding took place Saturday afternoon in Knox Presbyterian Church at Keene when vows were pledged and rings exchanged by Zetta Wilson and James Hugh Logan of Toronto. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Keene, and groom the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Logan, Toronto. The Rev. R. Williams of Alvinston officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Large baskets of pink and white gladioli were banked with fern for a background setting and wedding music was played by Miss Florence Walton. Before the service Miss MaBry Robson sang "O Perfect Love" and afterward "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing white slipper satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, trimmed with lace. Tiny covered buttons fastened the bodice at the back and the skirt extended in a short rain. Her circular veil of embroidered net fell in a train from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of sweetheart roses.

Miss Viola Wilon was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a frock of aqua taffeta with lace mittens and matching halo headdress. She carried a cascade of pink roses. Ten Enter St. Joseph Order Three Take First Holy Vows

On Sunday morning the usual ceremony of reception and profession took place in St. Joseph's Chapel at Mount St. Joseph. Relatives and friends of those taking part fill large chapel. Candidates for reception of holy habit, dressed as brides of the world with their flower girls and attendants, amidst the strains of the organ processional, filed up the centre aisle and knelt at the altar railing, during the holy sacrifice of the mass.

His Excellency Most Rev. Gerold Berry, DD, Bishop of ePterborough, was the celebrant of the mass, assisted by the Rev. V. Corkery and Rev. J. F. Coughlan.

The sisters' choir sang during the mass the Kyrie, Sanctus and Benedictus of Rossini's Salve Regina Mass, and psalms and hymns suitable to the solemnity of the occasion.

At the conclusion of the mass ten young ladies whose previous six months' novitiate had decided for them that their choice of life work was to be in the vineyard of the Master, sought for permission to exchange for their costly robes the poor habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph. This granted, while the trditional "Go ye forth, O Sion's daughter" was being sung, these young aspirants retired from the chapel to return as novices. Their names are:: Miss Pauline Derouin, Massena, NY, to be known in religion as Sister Francis Marie; Miss Hilda Maloney, Harrison's Corners ,as Sister M. Moiro; Miss Theresa Zilliney, Barry's Bay, as Sister Teresa Marie; Miss Gabriel Kelly, Estevan, Sask., as Sister St. Dominic; Miss Eunice Summers, Ottawa, as Sister Mary Laura; Miss Margaret Amyotte, Peterborough, as Sister Aloysius; Miss June Bergin, Ottawa, as Sister Francis Clare; Miss Mary Martin, Clandonald, Alberta, as Sister Anna Teresa; Miss Lucille Garvey, Peterborough, as Sister St. Michael; Miss Stella Zilliney, Barry's Bay, as Sister Mary Ruth.

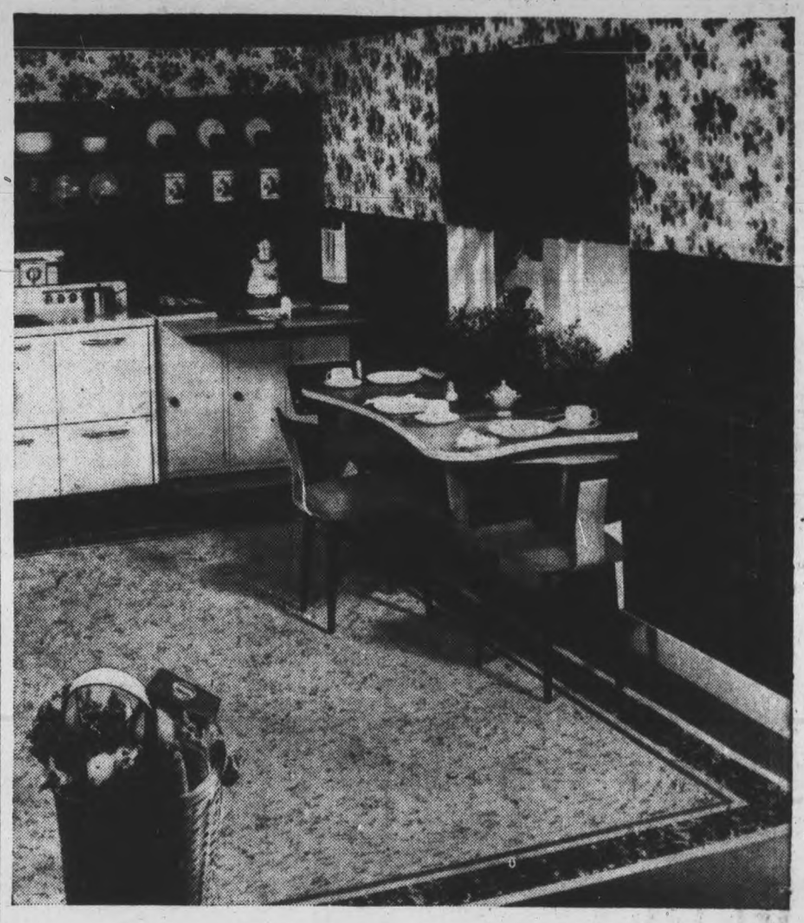
The ceremony of first vows followed immediately afterwards in which three Sisters who had completed two years of novitiate pronounced their first holy vows. These were: Sister M. Florence Bennett, Yorkton, Sask, Sister Rosalea Sheehan, Douro, Sister Anna Grace McGrath, Eganville. Five Sisters then pronounced the final vows after five years of novitiate. These were: Sister Mary Denis Towns, Douro, Sister Mary Grace Ruzicga, Viking, Alta., Sis-DeSales Boyle, Edmonton, Sister Monica Lonergan, Warkworth, Sister Anna McPhail, St. Andrew's West. At an early mass six novices renewed vows for one year.

An eloquent sermon was preached for this occasion by Rev. Connell McKeon, CP, of Toronto, who for eight days preceding the ceremony, preached a retreat to the sisters asembled at Mount St. Joseph.

In the sanctuary were present Rt. Rev. F. O'Sullivan, DP, VG, PP of Immaculate Conception Parish, Very Rev. J. V. McAuley, VF, PP or Lindsay, Rev. J. Corkery CSSR, Rev. F. Gaughan of Peterborough, and Rev. F. M. Derouin, OP, of Lewiston, Maine.

Anderson-Searles Nuptials Held In Knox Church

A quiet pretty wedding was solemnized at Knox United Church on Monday afternoon uniting Eleanor Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Searles and Kenneth James Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Anderson, all of Peterborough. The Rev. H. G. Douglas performed the ceremony.



Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a charming gown of pale pink taffeta fashioned with off-the-shoulder neckline and bustle back. Her fingertip veil of pale pink net was caught to a crown of blue flowers and she carried a cascade of red roses. As matron of honor,

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Dictator Will Reveal Domestic Tyrant Complex

Dorothy Dix

Inasmuch as men do the picking in marriage, it would seem that any lad with even a smidgin of perspicacity would try to find out, on the safe side of the altar, which one would wear the trousers in their house in case they got married. Unfortunately, many men fail to take this precaution, or else some smart girl out-generals them, and when they wake up from their romantic trance they find themselves sold into the most gruelling and humiliating slavery in the world.

For they never draw another breath of freedom. Personal liberty becomes a mockery and a by-word. Never again will they be able to eat what they like, pick out their own clothes, read the books they enjoy, have any association with their old friends, or worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

She-who-must-be-obeyed runs the whole show and husband has nothing to do with it except to pay the bills.

This gives us one of the most pathetic figures in modern civilization. He is the hen-pecked husband and is far more numerous than is generally known, for no man flaunts his humiliation in public, or admits that he is nothing but a stooge who does his wife's bidding. He never confesses that the reason he doesn't go on the hunting and fishing trips with the boys any more is because his wife won't let him. He attributes being tied to her apron string to some ailment that he hasn't got.

Hopeless Case

Of course, after a wife has done a thorough job of henpecking her husband, and has gotten him to the place where he says "yes ma'am" and eats what is set before him without any comments, the case is hopeless. All that is left of the poor victim is resignation. His salvation consists in looking before he leaps and trying to find out whether the girl he is in love with is a bosser or a yes-yesser. In proof whereof consider the following letter from a college student which I have just received. He says:

"For a long time I have been keeping steady company with the girl of my dreams. Wherever one of us goes the other always goes, too. But what worries me is that my fellow students keep kidding me, saying that I am henpecked and that if she rules me this way now, what will she do when we are married? My girl does not allow me to go out with my classmates to stag parties, or to any other all-made affairs. What shall I do?"

Well, I'd say forwarned is forearmed and that unless this lad feels that he can eat humble pie the balance of his life, and relish it, he had better flee for his life while the fleeing is good. For a woman with the tryanny complex never changes. Bossing everybody about her is an obsession with her that she never controls.

Domestic tryants are born that way. They never reform. So be on the alert before you marry so you will be certain that you are not getting a wife who will be a henpecker, or a husband who will be a brute, for either one will turn your love dream into a nightmare.

QUESTION: You say that you will answer questions on infant feeding and invalid cookery. Well I have a little of both to do. My child has a slight digestive trouble and my doctor says to make gruel for her and put an egg yolk in it every other day. He expects me to know how to do it, and I suppose I should but I do not. If you would tell me how to make oatmeal gruel with milk it would help me and I could change the cereal sometimes. I will appreciate this very much. Worried Mother.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Oatmeal Gruel

Two or there tablespoons rolled oats or oatmeal, 1 quart milk, 1 teaspoon salt, and possiby 1 teaspoon to 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 egg yolk. Mix the cereal to a smooth paste with a little cold milk. Meanwhile heat the remainder of the quart of milk in top of double boiler to scalding point with the salt and sugar, if to be used. Stir the cereal into it, and cover and stir frequently for 2 hours. Pour this while hot over 1 or 2 beaten eggs yolks, stirring. As needed reheat a serving in top of double boiler.

This gruel may be varied, to keep the child's interest in it, by adding a few raisins or dates chopped, or a few drops of lemon juice, if the doctor permits it. Write again if I can be of help.

QUESTION: Would you have room sometime to give us recipes for a Sally Lunn and a Nut Bread made with baking powder? My sister and I like to bake but do not have many recipes. Olive and Wilma.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Sally Lunn (Baking Powder)

One cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted shortening or butter, 3 eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, 1 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Add milk and melted shortening to beaten yolks. Sift in dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in shallow loaf pan, in an oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for about 30 to 40 minutes. Should be served warm. If desired add up to 2 tablespoons sugar.

Nut Bread (Baking Powder)

One beaten egg, 1 cup milk, 2½ cups flour, ½ cup coarsely cut nuts (preferably walnuts), ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar. Mix flour, baking powder and salt, then mix nuts with them. Combine mixtures, stir well, and bake in buttered and paper-lined loaf pan at 375 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes.

QUESTION: I have intended to ask you to be sure to print a recipe for Corn Relish, because you often suggest serving it with lamb. Please print this before the corn season is over. Before October I will also want a recipe for Green Tomato Pickle for we always have so many left over from our own garden. Thank you. Betty.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Corn Relish

Cut and scape the kernels from 1 dozen ears of fresh corn, add to it 3 pounds ground cabbage, 1 cup minced hot red peppers, 3 cups spirit vinegar, 1 to 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, ¼ tablespoon each mustard seeds and dry mustard. If the 3 cups vinegar does not cover the vegetables when they are in the preserving kettle add a little more, bring to boil, and boil stirring, for 15 minutes. Seal in sterile jars immediately.

Green Tomato Pickle

One peck of green tomatoes sliced or chopped, 1 small limes (these are optional but I recommend you use them for it makes the pickle different and delicious), 6 medium onions, 9 small green peppers, 1 cup salt, about 1 quart spirit vinegar, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons each mustard seeds and celery seeds, 1 teaspoon each alspice, cinnamon, cloves and grated horseradish. Clean vegetables and slice or chop them as you wish, mix with salt and let stand 24 hours. Drain off liquid and discard it. Add one pint vinegar and bring to boiling point and cook 30 minutes, stirring very frequently. Add remaining vinegar and the seasonings, bring ot boiling point, boil 5 minutes stirirng constantly, and seal in sterile jars. This is a delicious all-purpose pickle.

One-Burner Dinner

Beef Stew with Prepared Biscuit-Mix Dumplings Tossed Green Salad with Mayonnaise Chilled Canteloupes Coffee

Directions

It is hard to make poor devilled eggs, it is also equally true that it is easy to make them super-good: Remove yolks from 6 chilled hard-cooked eggs, by cutting the eggs in halves lengthwise after they are peeled. Mash with silver fork. Add 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire, ¼ to 1 teaspoon d mustard, and ½ teaspoon g. ed onion, pepper, paprika. Mix well and replace in egg-white halves. Make potato salad with generous moistening of mayonnaise, plenty of salt and chives and if possible chopped celery, stuffed olives and capers. Place in centre of salad platter or bowl, and surround with border of devilled eggs. Garnish with wedges of very red tomatoes.

With the biscuit-mix in the one-burner dinner, and my suggestion here to use it for the peach shortcake, you will see I am on a cook's holiday. If an asbestos mat is used, individual shortcake may be made in a buttered and floured frying pan, using the biscuit-mix with heat turned as low as possible. Pile sliced, sweetened peaches between and on top. Serve with whipped cream secured from the farmer down the road.

Dollar Shortage Cuts Britons' Cigarette Stock

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Aug. 17 — (CP). — Britain's dollar shortage has taken a painful turn for the man in the street—it is cutting down his cigarette supply.

The United States this year will supply 140,000,000 pounds of the flue-cured tobacco Britons like so well. This means about 60,000,000 pounds will have to be found elsewhere, over and above what Britain already is receiving from other sources, if present consumption is to be maintained.

Some of the deficit will be made up from these other suppliers, including Canada, but the outlook is not promising.

A mere report that a cut was impending was enough to make cigarettes vanish from the shops.

Less scrupulous merchants raised the prices sometimes as much as double. The regular price is three shillings, six pence (70 cents).

Hint Rationing

There were rumors that the government might introduce some form of rationing, allowing each consumer a number of points as now is done for candies. London's Evening Standard snorted that this would be "most unwise."

Instead it suggested—whether seriously or sardonically, none could tell—that a far better plan would be to abolish rationing of candies "for the sweet ration includes chewing gum which would help millions cut down their smoking."

One reason for the shortage is the Englishman's inherent dislike of blended tobaccos. Turkish salesmen have been here for months trying to get rid of some of their country's huge surplus and there is also plenty available from Greece. Maybe if it gets desperate enough the English will accept these exotic brands but meanwhile they seem to prefer the painful search for Virginia tobaccos.

They don't know how much is coming from Canada. The general guess, though, is that enough dollars will be made available for 16,000,000 to 18,000,000 pounds from the Dominion.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequor, a heavy smoker himself, has always put tobacco high on the list of non-essentials which could be cut to save Britain's dollar expenditures.

Nine Chinese Escape Flaming Building

HAMILTON, Aug. 17—(CP)—Eight Chinese adults and a three-year-old child escaped early today when an old three-storey frame building, in which they were sleeping was partially gutted by fire. Damage was estimated at between $8,000 and $10,000.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hoo, their three-year-old daughter and an employee, Don Wong, were awakende next door and reached safety.

The fire is believed to have started in the boiler-room.

See No Foul Play

FORT COULONGE, Que., Aug. 17.—(CP).— Leo Godin, a fire ranger, said Monday night there were no visible signs of foul play on the body of 35-year-old Arthur Asselin, found Sunday in a shack 60 miles north of here. CANADA'S GREATEST TIRE VALUES

NOT JUST MORE MILEAGE ...BUT 34% MORE MILEAGE

THE NEW IMPROVED GOODYEAR DeLuxe

Let your Goodyear dealer check your tires before you start your vacation. If they're O.K., he'll tell you so. If not, he'll show you the new Goodyear Deluxe tire. Actual road tests prove that it gives 34% more non-skid mileage than the famous Goodyear tire it replaces!

Its deep tread is wider and flatter to grip the road, resist skids in all directions. Stronger Supertwist cord gives more body strength. Huskier shoulders are reinforced for greater stamina.

NOT JUST A NEW TIRE... BUT A NEW KIND OF TIRE!

THE NEW GOODYEAR Super-Cushion

Today, auto makers acclaim Goodyear Super-Cushion as the first new kind of tire in 15 years, and have made it standard equipment on a large proportion of their new cars.

Now Super-Cushions are interchangeable with your present tires.

They ride on only 24 pounds of air—give you an unbelievably smoother, softer, safer "almost like floating" ride. See your Goodyear dealer about a Super-Cushion "change-over" for your car.

NOT JUST BETTER BLOWOUT PROTECTION ...BUT ABSOLUTE BLOWOUT PROTECTION

GOODYEAR LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBES

Only LifeGuard actually and unfailingly makes a blowout harmless. That's because its inner safety chamber retains an ample reserve of air, enables you to bring your car to a safe smooth stop, even though tire casing may be completely shattered. LifeGuards fit any make of tire—new or now in service, and frequently outlast as many as three sets of tires. You can't get better protection to save your life!

Play Safe! See your Goodyear Dealer for a pre-vacation tire check!
REMEMBER—90% OF TIRE TROUBLES OCCUR IN THE LAST 10% OF TIRE LIFE.

GOODYEAR 'Factory-Fresh' BATTERIES

For power at its peak and top-efficiency performance, you can't beat a Goodyear "Factory-Fresh" Battery. Remember to have your battery checked periodically by your Goodyear Dealer.

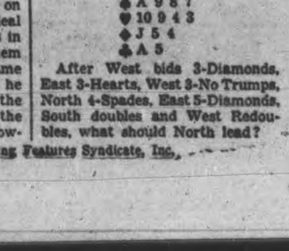
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

KEEP FROM WINNING IT

It takes a keen player to see that the declarer is about to put him into the lead on the next trick or so and make him pitch away from some tenace honor or honors, thereby presenting the enemy a trick he could not get otherwise. It takes still more alertness to perceive in time the action necessary to thwart such a plan—use of an exit play. That consists of throwing away the card with which the declarer hopes to make you win the crucial trick. Tossing it enables your partner, instead of you, to win the pivotal trick, after which he either cashes some winner or winners of his own or else leads through the holding which the declarer wished to play last on a trick.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable).

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3♥	Pass	3 NT



Some of the South players on this national championship deal managed to take eleven tricks in that contract. Another of them was well on his way to the same result, by skillful play, when he was circumvented through the artistry of the defender in the West, who was Morgan W. Howard, treasurer of the Hearst Corporation and as able in bridge tactics as he is in financial and publishing matters.

He led the club 8 to the A, and then had little to do but assess and think for a while, as South scored two top hearts, the club K, the heart K, then three more clubs, on the last of which the spade J was discarded after the diamond 2 had been put on the third heart. When the diamond K and A were scored, he saw what a clever South was trying—to throw him in on the next trick with the diamond 10 to the Q and make him lead from the spade A-Q to the guarded K.

He foresaw that in time, however, so on the second diamond top he played his Q instead of the 8. That made it possible for East to win the diamond 10 with the J, whereupon East cashed two more good cards, the diamond 7 and heart J. These developments held the declarer to ten tricks instead of eleven, giving Mr. Howard and his partner a fine score.

Tomorrow's Problem

After West bids 3-Diamonds, East 3-Hearts, West 3-No Trumps, North 4-Spades, East 5-Diamonds, South doubles and West Redoubles, what should North lead?

Deny Babe Ruth Treated With New Drug

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP).—Memorial Hospital said today physicians had established "a year or two ago" Babe Ruth had concer but denied reports that he had been treated with a new drug.

The hospital issued an official statement on Ruth's death. It said:

"Babe Ruth died of cancer. The tumor began in the naso-pharynx, a part of the air passages back of the nose in a locality near the under surface of the skull which is inaccessible to surgery when involved by cancer. From this point the tumor had first grown out to press upon certain nerves which emerge from the brain, one of which partly supplies the motor function of the throat and the larynx.

"Early in the course of his disease Babe Ruth suffered from paralysis of one of these nerves and as a result became hoarse and found it difficult to swallow. This symtom continued up to the time of his death.

Grown Spreads

"As in many cases of cancer, the growth spread from the point of origin and appeared in his neck. The diagnosis of cancer in this case was definitely established a year or two ago by the surgical removal of a lymph node from the neck from microscopic examination.

"While in hospital Babe Ruth received treatment by X-radiation and radium, and in addition such supportive treatment as was required from time to time for his general condition. He received no special drugs or chemicals in the attempt to control his tumor—no terpoterin, a chemical which had been previously investigtaed at Memorial Hospital and found to be of no value in the treatment of cancer.

Death was due to complications arising from a spread of his tumor not locally but also to the lungs and liver."

Norwood Youth Gets Sentence Suspended

Bernard Reynolds, 17, of Norwood, was placed on two years' suspended sentence by Magistrate Gee in court today. He had pleaded guilty to three charges of theft and was remanded for sentence until today.

The accused youth had admitted at the trial having broken and entered the Beaver Meadow Golf Course clubhouse and stealing $5 from it and theft of a truck radiator from a parked truck and theft of $12 cash from the homes of James Gratton.

Restitution had been made for all the objects stolen, the court was told.

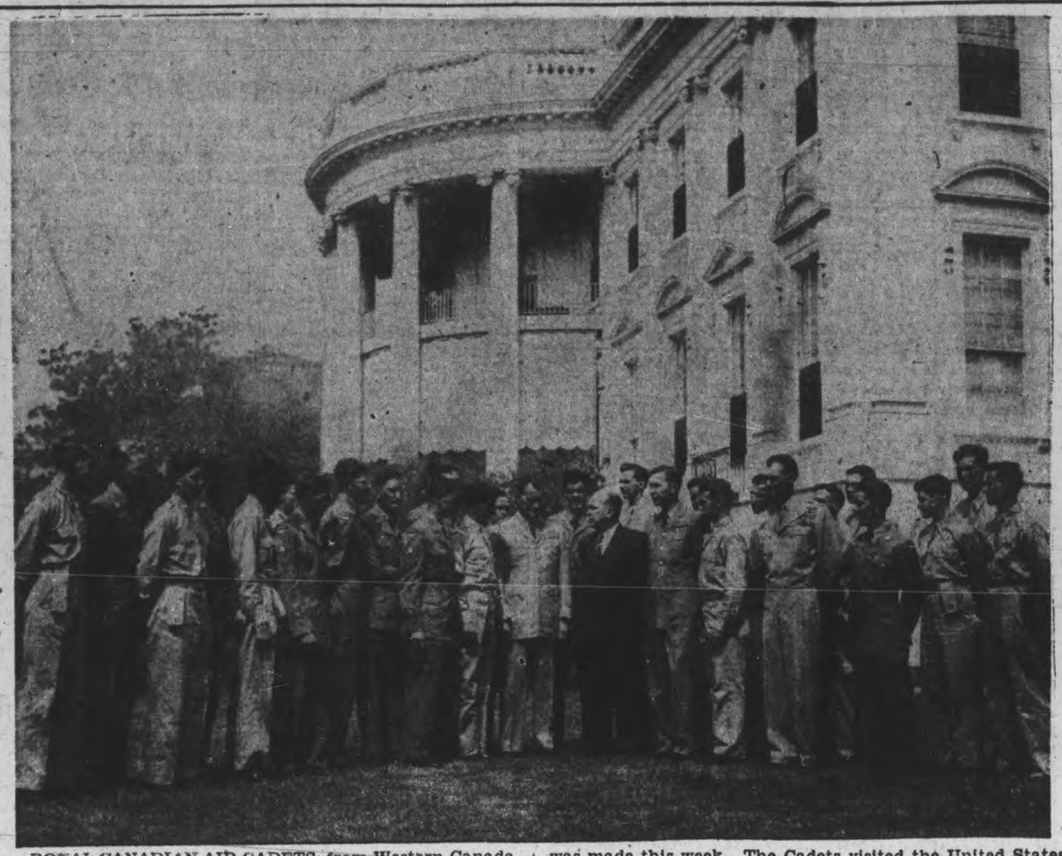
Abductors Had An Easy Job

HAMILTON, Aug. 17—(CP)—Interviewed in the General Hospital today, George O'Brien, injured when a group of men raided the freighter Westmount here Sunday morning, expressed considerable surprise that it was apparently such an easy thing for the abductors not only to board the ship but to cut a hole through a fence and reach the dock.



"The Westmount was attacked once before," he said, 'and there certainly should have been a closer watch kept around the dock. They will never pull a stunt like that on me again, I have a Luger at home and I am going to send for it to protect myself if there is any more of this piracy."

He claimed there were lots of clubs and other weapons aboard the ship but that most of the crew were below deck when the boarders appeared. His back was injured, he said, when he was thrown against a ladder and he was also struck across the back by a club.

"I will never forget the treatment I got at the hands of those fellows and they will never get a chance to do it again. They not only knocked me around but they stole my money except two dollars that I was lucky enough to have in a hip pocket."

Jackson Denies Men Involved

TORONTO, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), said today "none of our personnel was anywhere near the area" where four seamen, crew members of the freighter Westmount, were captured Sunday and forced at a dog-trot through Hamilton streets.

Mr. Jackson said today all CSU members in lake ports have been advised there is to be no violence in connection with the 11-week-old strike against four lake shipping companies. He suggested the incident may have been an attempted to 'discredit" the CSU.

The union called the strike against CSL, Colonial Steamships, Sarnia Steamships and Northwest Steamships, last June 5 to force the companies to sign a working agreement.

Two of Eire's TB Specialists Studying Canadian Methods

By MICHAEL ROONEY

DUBLIN, Aug. 17 (CP).—Two of Eire's leading tuberculosis specialists, now studying Canadian methods of controlling the disease, are the forerunners of several such doctors who will visit the Dominion within the next four years.

They are Dr. C. O'Leary at Mountain Sanatorium, Hamilton, and Dr. F. McCann, attached to the Provincial Health Department at Toronto.

The man behind the scheme — working in conjunction with Canada's Department of National Health and Welfare—is Dr. Noel Browne, 32-year-old Minister of Health in the Costello Cabinet.

Browne, himself a tuberculosis expert and Assistant Medical Superintendent at Newcastle Sanatorium, County Wicklow, until he entered the Dail early this year, was instrumental in ousting the De Valera Government through His trenchant criticism of Fianna Fail health policy.

Since taking office, his main concern has been in extending facilities for the early diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis — a disease that has for centuries taken a heavy toll of Irish youth.

High Death Rate

Eire's death rate from all forms of tuberculosis for each 1,000 of population was 1.14 in 1946 and 1.22 last year. Denmark's 1946 figure was .44, Norway's .55, Sweden .56, that of England and Wales .65 and in neighboring Northern Ireland the rate was .94. Eire had more than 20,000 sufferers receiving treatment in 1945 and the figure now was about the same.

Present hospital space was inadequate. Government hospitals provided 1,600 beds and voluntary hospitals 650. Another 980 beds from general-purpose hospitals brought the total to 3,250 beds—1.28 beds for each death from the disease.

Announcing a new £15,000,000 ($60,000,000) hospital scheme, Browne said £3,800,000 would go to tuberculosis hospitals to provide 1,650 more beds, half of them before the end of 1948.

Browne believes that if Irishmen were quicker to admit they were suffering from the disease they could be sooner cured.

He said:

"We must get the public to adopt a rational attitude so that no longer will the infected person be ashamed of his ailment or the person who has been lucky enough to avoid the ailment feel superior. If only people would regard tuberculosis as they regard cancer or rheumatism we would have advanced considerably towards its eradication."

Greek Defence Line Crumbles

ATHENS, Aug. 17 — (AP). — Government spokesmen said today there is little doubt the Grammos campaign against Communist rebels will end soon, and successfully for the Greek army.

A general staff spokesman said the defence line along the whole southwestern sector of the front had crumbled and war minister George Stratos told the cabinet Monday night the guerrillas were abandoning war material and wounded in unorganized flight.

Spokesmen said the rebel perimeter in the north had been whittled down to 22 miles and Stratos said the army had captured the highest peak in the Grammos mountains, once a major stronghold of the rebel chieftain, Markos Vafiades.

Despite this optimistic picture, non-Greek military sources emphasized that victory in the Grammos area will not end the Greek civil war. There are thousands of rebels still scattered over Greece and they are busily engaged in sabotage and other forms of harassing activity.

MIKHAIL SAMARINE, Russian school-teacher, dramatically declared in Washington that he and his wife had renounced their Soviet citizenship after the house committee on Un-American Activities had heard the Russian's testimony in secret session. Samarine had been in protective custody for the past week while Soviet authorities insisted at highest diplomatic levels that he had been abducted and was being held prisoner against his will.

Three Youths Given Suspended Sentence

Three city youths were placed on a year's suspended sentence by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, when they pleaded guilty to charges of theft of 36 pints of beer. They were: Raymond Hotts, 19, of Donegal St.; Raymond Lester, 18, of 427 Parkhill Rd.; and William Maudsley, 17, of 489 Park St.

The beer was stolen from the back room of the home of Nelson D. King on Gordon Ave. The three told the court that they had been on their way to a corn roast and had just stepped into the house where they saw the case of beer.

The theft charges had been substituted for the more serious charges of breaking, entering and theft which had been dismissed at the request of the crown.

Stole $400 Watches Given Two Years

STRATFORD, Aug. 17—(CP)—Reginald H. Parkin of St. Marys today was sentenced to two and one-half years in Kingston Penitentiary when he appeared before Magistrate A. F. Cook, charged with breaking the window of a local jewellery store and stealing watches valued at almost $400.

Today, in court Parkin also pleaded guilty to a charge of having two liquor permits and was fined $10 and costs or 20 days in jail, the sentence to precede the prison term.

Nine watches were recovered by police after Parkin attempted to escape following the robbery. Two were found on the floor of the taxi-cab he used and seven were hidden in Parkin's clothing. Two watches are still missing.

$150,000 FIRE SWEEPS KRESGE STORE

FIRE DAMAGE ESTIMATED at $150,000 was done to the S. S. Kresge Building at the southwest corner of Simcoe and George St. during the night. At Right, smoke and flame is shown pouring from the ground floor windows, while firemen of two shifts battle the stubborn blaze, which was confined to the basement for the most part and difficult to reach. At Left, a city fireman collapses from inhaling smoke, and crumples on the ladder. Volunteers and police officer Vern O'Donoghue reach to catch him, and lift him to a stretcher and a waiting ambulance. There were at least 19 casualties among the firemen and volunteers.

10 Firemen and 9 Volunteers Sent To Hospital From Smoke and Exhaustion

Flames Roar Through Cellar and Storage Rooms Firefighters Badly Hampered, Only One Outside Entrance Leading To Basement

By BOB BUCHANAN

Raging out of control for more than three hours, fire gutted the S. S. Kresge Building at the corner of George and Simcoe Streets Tuesday night and this morning, causing an estimated $150,000 damage and sending 19 firemen and volunteers to hospital for treatment. In the heart of Peterborough, the big brick store shot forth overpowering billows of smoke for more than six hours while more than 100 firemen and hard-working volunteer citizens fought a pitched battle. It was doused only about five o'clock this morning.

Most of the casualties among the 10 firemen and nine volunteers received attention because of exposure to smoke and gas, combined with the long, weary hours of fighting.

The fire for a time threatened nearby stores and buildings in one of the main business sections of the city.

The fire broke out in the basement of the Kresge Building about 9.30 p.m. Cause of the blaze has not been determined. Jack Lewis, manager of Kresge's, said that the caretaker of the building, Harvey Silvester, had left the store about 8.45 p.m., an hour before the fire. Everything had been in order at that time he said.

Evidently the place in the basement where the fire started was directly below the store's first-floor cafeteria. Licking through the wide variety of goods in the basement, the flames spread rapidly through it. Fifty cases of paint, which had been received Monday, and other inflammables —including two barrels of lard— fed the flames.

Difficult Fire

Main damage was to the cellar and the first floor of the building. One of the most difficult fires ever fought here, according to firemen, the main obstruction was that the blaze was in the below-ground floor, which has only one outside entrance — an iron sidewalk loading door on Simcoe St. It was almost impossible, during the first hours, to break through the dense clouds of smoke to get at the heart of the blaze. When it finally broke

One Dies In Apartment Blast As Boiler Explodes, Second Man Badly Injured

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(CP).—Fred Hawkes, 64, of Montreal, was killed today when a boiler exploded at Ernscliffe apartments at Wellesley and Sherbourne Streets in east-central Toronto. Sydney Gibbs, 60, of Toronto, was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries. Firemen said he was in "pretty bad condition."

Three other persons were reported to be less seriously injured.

All manhole covers at the intersection were blown off and windows in the building's basement were shattered.

"It felt like an earthquake," said one resident. "The whole building shook."

Critical Condition

Hospital officials described Gibbs' condition as 'very critical.'

First floor tenants said furniture was knocked over by the blast and plaster fell from the walls. When smoke belched from the basement, scores of residents were evacuated as a precautionary measure.

There are 55 suites in the building.

Ernest Thomas, building employee, described himself as "the luckiest man in Toronto." He left the boiler room, where he had been assisting Hawkes and Gibbs, 10 minutes before the blast.

Couldn't Get In

Mrs. Gibbs, wife of the injured engineer, said she tried to get to the basement when she heard the blast but was unable to reach her husband for smoke and steam.

Firemen reached the basement through the steam to pick up the injured man who was trying to reach the door. Hawkes lay dead near a wall.

Mrs. Gibbs said the men were changing the boiler system when the explosion occurred. The 500-pound tank apparently fell on both men. Tenants said the hot water system went out of order last night and the men had gone to the basement today to repair it.

Esther Thomas, a cleaning woman, was working on the stairs when the explosion rocked the building. She said she was hurled to the basement floor but was uninjured.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner, who arrived at the scene shortly after the explosion, said an inquest will be held.

Police Bullets Drop Thug; 1 Man Escapes

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP).—Peter Lonsdale, 22, was felled by police bullets early to-day as he ran from a Toronto envelope firm's premises.

In the confusion surrounding his capture, another man escaped and police and helpful citizens fought with one another in a case of mistaken identity.

Lonsdale is in hospital under police guard suffering wounds in both legs. In the same hospital is Mrs. Rose Mokriy, who was cut about the wrist by a police handcuff and suffered severe shock in a tussle when three plainclothesmen mistook her son Russell, 22, for one of the shop-breakers.

Police say Constable Edward Williams spotted a lookout near the window of the envelope firm and captured him. He turned the suspect over to Mokriy and asked him to hold him.

As Williams began his check, another man leaped out a window and began running. Williams pursued, fired warning shots and then brought down the suspect with a bullet through each leg.

Meanwhile, the man held by Mokriy struggled with him and made his escape. Mokriy was walking towards his home when three detectives in plain clothes ran toward him.

Mokriy thought they were thugs, and began to run. The detectives pursued, caught him as he tried to leap a fence.

To his rescue came his mother, a brother Bob 13; his father Pete 49, and Mrs. Mokriy's brother John.

Union Cooperates To Reopen Plant

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP). — Russell Harvey, A. F. of L. union organizer said Tuesday that H. J. Craddock, owner of the Benedict-Proctor Silverplating Company of Trenton, is willing to explore the possibilities of keeping the firm open.

Last week Mr. Craddock announced the plant would be closed down because of "high taxes and low productivity of labor."

Mr. Harvey said he had conferred with the plant owner and found him "reluctant to close the company." He said the union would co-operate by giving up the prevailing piece-rate system to keep the company operating.

U.S. Concerned Over Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP).—State Secretary Marshall said today the United States views with serious concern the Russian charges against the United States Government and some of its officials in connection with refugee school teacher cases in New York. Marshall said Russian protests about American handling of the cases probably will be answered formally within the next 24 hours. He said a note is in process of preparation, based on reports from authorities in New York City.

The note will be made public after it is delivered to the Russians, Marshall said. Presumably it will be given to Russian Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin, in Washington.

Marshall gave a "no comment" reply when asked whether the American reply to the Russians might include a request to Moscow to recall the Russian Consul-General in New York, Jacob M. Lomkin.

In discussing the New York cases, Marshall referred particularly to the affair of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina. She escaped from the Russian Consulate in New York last Thursday by jumping out of a third-floor window.

Closing Schools

Meanwhile, diplomatic authorities are puzzling over indications that the Soviet Union is closing all the schools it had operated in many countries for the children of its diplomats and other employees abroad.

It was in connection with the closing of such a school in New York that Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and her colleagues, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Samarine, decided they would prefer to stay in the United States rather than go back to Russia.

But on July 31 more than 300 Soviet citizens, mostly school age children and their mothers, did sail from New York.

Most speculation centres on the possibility that the Soviets want to prevent the "contamination" of their school-age children by any contact with western democratic ideas.

Social Credit Government Re-Elected In Alberta

EDMONTON, Aug. 18—(CP).—The Social Credit Party, not the aggressive, young organization of unorthodox monetary theories a stout high school principal and part-time preacher led to victory in 1935 but still a potent force in Canadian politics, was returned to power in Alberta again Tuesday. The victory, the party's fourth at the polls in 13 years, was as sweeping as the ones scored in 1935, 1940 and 1944. It was engineered by slight Ernest C. Manning, at 39 youngest leader of a government in the British Commonwealth and successor to the late William Aberhart, founder of the Provincial party.

As vote-counting halted late on Tuesday, the party had returned 46 candidates to the 57-seat Legislature. Opposing parties had elected two.

This was the standing, with the legislative line-up at dissolution in brackets:

Red Bloc Takes Danube Control

BELGRADE, Aug. 18 (AP). — Eastern Europe's Communist bloc voted itself exclusive control over the Danube River to-day and the Western Powers officially recorded their refusal to heed the decision.

The vote on the conference was 7 to 1 to accept the Russian-drafted pact posting a "Danube for the Danubians" sign over the Continent's most important waterway. The United States voted against it. Neither Britain nor France voted.

The United States accused Russia of "deception." The head of the American delegation charged that the Communist bloc of states had been used with "cynical" solidarity to achieve the Russian aim.

Pt. Hope Man Burned

PORT HOPE, Aug. 18 (CP) —A high tension wire carrying 44,000 volts of electricity ignited the hair and clothing of Harry Glober, 52, when he climbed to his roof with an iron rod in his hand to repair a chimney. Hospital officials described his condition today as critical.

75 Refugees At Newfoun'land

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 17 — (CP). — Seventy-five Russian-shy Estonians and Poles stretched their legs along the quays of this port today after a 12-day voyage from Scotland in a 63-ton vessel.

The Swedish craft Ostervag—numbering 15 children among her passengers — sailed triumphantly into harbor late Tuesday night, having navigated from Stornoway by means of a watch, a compass and an old-fashioned sextant.

It is understood she will follow the course of the Astrid, a 30-foot Estonian fishing boat which arrived in Quebec last week-end with 29 fugitives from Communism. The Astrid also touched here first on the voyage from Europe.

The Ostervag immigrants were warned by mariners at the Hebridean port, where they arrived from Sweden, not to attempt the Atlantic voyage with their frail craft and scanty equipment.

Customs officials cleared them only for Sweden, but when the Ostervag got outside the harbor she sailed for Newfoundland.

It is believed the Ostervag will wait to learn the fate of the Astrid immigrants, now in the hands of Canadian immigration authorities, before sailing.

Demand Malaya Decide War Or Revolt

SINGAPORE, Aug. 18 (CP) — The Malayan government today faced a demand from powerful commercial interests to declar whether the current Communist uprising is insurrection, rebellion or war. Press and public, meanwhile, welcomed news of the posting of the British second Guards Brigade to the troubled Peninsula.

Observers pointed out that the reinforcements, bringing British forces to their highest level since shortly before the liberation, greatly strengthens Britain's position in Southeast Asia at a time when Communist violence is in full swing in Malaya and Burma, and threatens in Siam.

Apart from its general strategic implications, the extra strength will be a major morale booster to planters and miners in lonely parts of Malaya, who feel that troops on the spot are already fully committed against the guerrillas and cannot give them adequate protection.

A Federal government legal spokesman confirmed that commercial interests have asked for a definition of the situation for insurance purposes.

Some insurance companies, facing heavy claims, think the uprising has become more than a state of riot or civil commotion.

The spokesman said the Malayan high court or even the privy council might have to decide.

British forces killed at least 10 Communist insurgents in Malaya today, reports reaching here said.

Thousands File Past Bier Of Ruth At NY Stadium

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—(AP)—Babe Ruth's body lay in state to-day at Yankee Stadium, where 50,000 persons Tuesday filed past his candle-lighted bier.

Countless more thousands were expected to visit the "house that Ruth built" to pay final tribute to baseball's idol.

Gates of the stadium will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. EDT today for the public to view the Babe, whose coffin lies in the flower-banked rotunda.

It was a setting reminiscent of March, 1937, when Howie Morenz, one of Canada's hockey greats, lay in state in the Forum at Montreal, scene of many of his game triumphs.

A police guard of honor stood through the night after the gates closed behind the last of the estimated through of 50,000—many of them in tears—who came for a last look at the Babe who died Monday night of cancer.

Brings Flashback

Except for the solemnity of the crowd, the scene could have been a flashback to the days when the Babe was packing them in. The youngsters and oldsters that came to see him in death were the same kind of people who jammed the bleachers to see him swat a homer into the rightfield stands —"Ruthville."

Last in the line Tuesday was Bill Robinson, 70-year-old Negro dancer and long-time friend of Ruth. Robinson gazed silently at the former Yankee star for a moment, then took off his glasses and wiped them as he walked away. It was the second time Robinson had passed the casket during the night.

As police were preparing to close the doors to the stadium lobby, 200 more men and women arrived. They explained they were unable to reach the stadium earlier because of night jobs.

On instructions from Ruth's widow, Claire, the casket was reopened and they filed past.

Ruth's body was taken to the stadium late in the afternoon in a hearse, escorted by two motor cycle patrolmen. A small crowd already had gathered.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 — (CP). — Progressive Conservative officials, preparing for a national convention of the party, disclosed today how many delegates each province will be entitled to send to the three-day meeting Sept. 30, Oct. 1-2.

A total of 1,313 official delegates will be allowed to vote for a successor to John Bracken, who is retiring because of ill-health, and to discuss resolutions which will form a restatement of party policy.

Ontario, with 465 delegates, will have the largest number of representatives and Quebec will follow with 322. Prince Edward Island will have 31, Nova Scotia 63, New Brunswick 59, Manitoba 94, Saskatchewan 94, Alberta 76, British Columbia 103 and Yukon 6.

7 CSU Members Begin Serving Jail Sentences

SARNIA, Aug. 18 — (CP). — Seven members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) to-day started serving prison sentences for illegally boarding two freighters during the current Great Lakes shipping dispute.

The seamen were sentenced on Tuesday in two separate cases heard here and at Port Colborne. Terms range from six months to two years.

They were accused of taking part in raids on the lake freighter Royalton on June 8 and the Lethbridge on July 14. Both ships are owned by companies against which the CSU called a strike on June 5 in an effort to force them to sign new bargaining agreements.

The heaviest sentence of two years each were given at Port Colborne, where 2 seamen were also accused of carrying offensive weapons when they boarded the Colonial Steamships Royalton. They are Patrick C. Rogers 35, of Montreal, and Fred Nilson 18, of Toronto.

Magistrate T. George Street, who dismissed similar charges against a third seaman, Patrick W. McManus, 18, of Elora, said the sentences were the minimum allowed on the charges under the Canada Shipping Act.

Bitter Rivalry

W. S. Martin of Niagara Falls, Ont., defence counsel, said that bitter rivalry between the two unions may have led to false identification by members of the rival union aboard ship.

Magistrate Street said he was satisfied with the identification given in testimony and that the unions' dispute "has nothing to do with the case."

In Sarnia, Mike Hornak, 22, a CSU organizer of Welland, Ont., was sentenced to 12 months for leading a party of six men who boarded the Canada Steamships Lines Lethbridge at nearby Point Edward. The ship's first mate said Hornak told him: "We have come to take the crew off the ship."

Four others were sentenced to six months each—Albert Jackson, 19, of Montreal; Robert Schumacher, 26, of Midland, Eddie Rogozinski, 19, of Saskatoon, and Alex Black, 19, of Winnipeg. Also convicted was George McDonald, 16, of Blythe, Ont., but he was remanded to Aug. 30 for sentence.

At Port Colborne, six other CSU members and the union's business agent, Aage Antonsen, were committed for trial for possessing offensive weapons. They are Lucien Labbe, 35, of St. Georges, Que.; Gillis Hamil, 21, of Levis, Que.; Ivan Morton, 20, of Owen Sound; Donald Williams, 22, of Vancouver; William Laing, 17, of Toronto, and George LaPlante, 25, of St. Romonauld.

through, spectators who had watched for three hours got their first actual glimpse of fire. The smoke, which was the chief hamper to the work, and the greatest cause of the knocked-out men, gave ample evidence that a terrific blaze was going on "down under."

5,000 Watch

Police had to rope off George and Simcoe streets for half a block, although there were still several hundred people until nearly three, and a sizeable handful of faithful watchers even at 4.30, about the end of the fight.

Dozens of volunteer firemen did yeoman service at the hoses, every one being used in the fight. Many times, spectators saw firemen and their unpaid helpers stagger from a door or window, be sick on the sidewalk, wave off the waiting stretcher bearers and plunge back into position. A number were outstanding for prodigious feats of endurance, sticking to the job for numbing hours.

The Salvation Army, sparked by Major Charles Watt, and several restaurants of the city aided the firefighters with hot, steaming cups of coffee and baskets of sandwiches, which were carried right to the men on the hoses.

It was after midnight before the firemen felt that the blaze was sufficiently "under control" to confine it to the Kresge Building and prevent its spread. Officials of the Richard Hall Department Store, south of the building on George St., opened their premises and stood by in readiness if it became necessary to attempt to remove stock. Although smoke did some damage on the top floors, it was not necessary to move anything.

Firemen Hampered

However, it was not until after one o'clock in the morning that the fighters were able to knock a hole through the floor near the front of the store and actually play the hoses on the fire in the basement. The attack on the cellar was also followed up through sidewalk openings and windows. About an hour later, two holes were chopped through the brickwork at the rear of the building and hoses played through at that end.

At four o'clock, smoke was still pouring heavily through the store. It was possible to walk into the store and basement about 4.30 to begin clearing space and making certain that individual islands of fire were extinguished.

Hospital cots were set up in the corridors of St. Joseph's Hospital to handle the collapsed men as they were brought by ambulance, which kept up a night-long "shuttle" service between the fire, the two hospitals and homes of men. Most were cases of sheer exhaustion from the tiring fight with the stubborn, hard-to-get-at-blaze, combined with exposure to smoke, gases, water-soaked clothing and trembling from cold in the night air.

Dr. Herb Young and Intern Warren Gamble were a tower of strength, staying on the job continuously to aid the men as they were brought out. Harry Ferguson, 471 Albert St., Philip Doherty, 256 Aylmer St., North, members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, were also on duty to assist.

Those Injured:

Those receiving attention for injuries were: William Sorrie, 494 Aylmer St., fireman, smoke, exhaustion. Victor Barry, 493 Aylmer St., North, fireman, smoke, exhaustion; Joseph F. Astles, 96 Douro St., fireman, smoke, exhaustion; Thomas G. Nice, 581 Douglas Ave., fireman, smoke, exhaustion; William J. Bloom, 875 Water St., fireman, leg injury, exhaustion, smoke; John Luther, Keene, fireman, smoke, exhaustion; J. Fred Murphy, 53 Park Hill Rd., fireman, smoke, exhaustion; John Loucks, 457 Murray St., volunteer, smoke, exhaustion; Pte. Donald Wedlock, 93 Rubidge St., volunteer, smoke, exhaustion; William Trick, 346 Aylmer St., fireman, smoke; James Leffler, 267 Bethune St., volunteer, smoke; W. James MacFarlane, 292 Park St., North, fireman, smoke; Joseph Byrnes, 145 London St., volunteer, smoke; Robert Robinson, 309 Louis St., volunteer, smoke, exhaustion; Joseph Nolan, 380 Holloway Drive, fireman, smoke, exhaustion; Murray Nice, 581 Douglas Ave., volunteer, smoke, exhaustion; Daniel Lloyd, Belleville, volunteer, smoke; D. Roy Davidson, 650½ Bethune St., volunteer, smoke; Clifford Ainsley, Bobcaygeon, volunteer, smoke.

By noon today, both St. Joseph's and the Civic Hospital had discharged all the emergency patients brought to them from the fire.

Released shortly after thier admittance to St. Joseph's were: Sorrie, Bloom, Davidson and Ainsley.

Staying over night for release from St. Joseph's this morning were: Astles, Barry, Luther, Murphy, Loucks, Tuck, Leffler, MacFarlane and Byrnes.

Civic Hospital patients released before morning to their homes were Thomas Nice, Wedlock, Robinson, Murray Nice, and Lloyd.

Joseph Nolan was released from the Civic this morning.

Businesses on the second floor which were affected are: Dr. E. C. McKee, dental office; Dr. H J. Long, dental office; Elliott and Chandler, law office; Emmett Sheehy, law office; Underwood-Elliott Typewriter Limited, office; C. M. Lawrence, chiropractice office; A. E. Thompson, real estate and insurance office; Continental Life Insurance office; Mutual Benefit Insurance office.

Stock of $80,000

Kresge's Peterborough manager, Jack Lewis, said that the stock, which is probably "a total loss," was valued at about $80,000. No definite estimate on the loss to the building itself—which is owned by Kresge's—has yet been obtained.

The building, which was built in 1929, is one of the largest in Peterborough. It replaced the building formerly occupied by the Kingan Hardware and Ed. Riley's Men's Wear Store. There is a staff of 80 employees and upwards of 40 people were employed in the offices on the second floor.

Ray Pammett, manager of the Underwood-Elliott-Fisher office in the Kresge buiding, said today that hundreds of dollars of damage was done to equipment in his office by heat and smoke. "Everything was coated with a dirty, oily film when I came in this morning. The heat and smoke were still pretty bad, but no damage had been done by water or fire as far as I could see."

Taxes Will Cut Atkinson Gift

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP) — The will of the late Joseph E. Atkinson, made public Tuesday, shows that the Atkinson Charitable Foundation is to function only if free from succession duties.

Mr. Atkinson, newspaper publisher who died May 8, left his shares in the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly in trust for the foundation, with proceeds to go to charitable, religious and educational work in Ontario.

The will provides that if gifts to the foundation are taxable, money that would have been paid to the foundation will go to charitable organizations in Ontario. The charities would be selected by the trustees.

A period of five years is provided in the will to determine the foundation's status with regard to succession duties imposed by either the Federal or Ontario Governments.

Executors have evaluated the estate at $8,767,854, including $6,656,822 in publishing and real estate holdings. They estmiated that $7,688,496 is bequeathed to charity and of the amount left to individual beneficiaries $500,000 will be consumed in succession duties.

US Soldiers Out All Night On Manoeuvres In Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 18—(AP).—American foot troops wound up all-night defensive manoeuvres early today in the Grunewald Forest of Soviet-blockaded Berlin. Reports from Hamburg said the Russians are winding up summer manoeuvres of their own near the zonal frontiers. Troops with rifles, mortars and machine-guns simulated delaying action against an "enemy" that had captured Gatow airport, the British supply field for the sealed-off western sectors.

Officers in charge of the operation said British troops theoretically took part in the manoeuvre, although none were "fighting."

Earlier Tuesday other American troops joined French units in manoeuvres along the Rhine River near Heidelberg. It was the first time since the war's end the two allies had engaged in joint war games. United States and French officers said the show was successful and predicted other such efforts in the future. Only 1,500 troops took part in the operation.

Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, today offered western Berliners 60,000 tons of coal as their "first winter instalment."

The Official Soviet News Agency said the coal would be available in a few days for those western residents who had registered for food in the Russian sector.

The Allied air lift over the Soviet blockade continued to click at a record rate. In a 24-hour stretch Tuesday 619 British and American planes brought in more than 4,100 tons of supplies.

Industrials Continue To Show Strength

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—(CP). — Industrials continued to strengthen as trading picked up slightly here today. Base metals and western oils improved and golds were steady.

Papers led the upward trend in industrials as gains ranged up to more than a point. Utilities were better on some strong fractional advances and Canadian Breweries, Seagram's, and Walker's were ahead in the liquor group. Brown Pfd. gained 1¼, Massey-Harris ¼ and International Paper ¾.

The base metals list started slowly but moved ahead in midsession on some active trading in selected socks. Base metals rose 3½ on turnover of more than 66,400 shares in the first three hours. Callinan Flin Flon was up ½ and Consolidated Smelters 1½. Normetal, Sherrit, Steep Rock, Uew Calumet and Gulf Lead ganied from 1 to 11 cents.

Golds were quiet with losses edging gains. Cariboo, Donalda, Kirkland Lake, Negus and San Antonio dipped from 1 to 5 cents inn juniors. Dome Mines rose ⅛ in seniors. Elder, Macassa, Malartic, Teck-Hughes and Pen-Rey also strengthened.

Anglo-Canadian, Calmont and East Leduc were ahead in western oils while Okalta and Roxanna weakened.

Social Credit Government Increases Vote Percentage

EDMONTON, Aug. 18—(CP)—Returned to power in sweeping fashion, Alberta's Social Credit Government yesterday increased its popular-vote percentage by five per cent over the 51.9 it marked up in 1944.

With 251,499 votes counted from 2,344 or 2,672 polls, the indications were that after a comparatively unexciting campaign, more Albertans turned out to vote than in 1944, when the total was 282,106. But the count was not expected to pass the 1940 figure of 308,864.

With 1948 figures incomplete, the party vote percentage for the last three elections follow:

	1948	1944	1940
Social Credit	56.9	51.9	43.0
CCF	19.5	24.9	11.1

Liberal	17.4		1.3
Others	2.3	6.5	2.3
Totals	100	100	100

With nine seats doubtful, here is The Canadian Press compilation (members elected in brackets):

Pumping Water Out Of Cellar

Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water were being pumped out of the basement of the Kresge building today, while dozens of people inspected the fire damage from behind a police-erected rope barrier.

J. G. Lewis, manager, said that the company offices on the second floor were practically undamaged and thus he did not need to accept the kind offers of office accommodation from Zeller's and the Chamber of Commerce. Other offices in the building did not fare so well. Paint and varnish melted and papers were scorched.

The adjoining store of Richard Hall Ltd. was damaged by smoke and water and will be closed for the next two days. A hose was played on a hot wall on the third floor and water ran down into the lower floors. A large sump in the basement prevented extensive damage, but several bales of blankets were damaged. Smoke damage was also extensive. Charles Saunders, manager, said that he could not estmate the damage until the insurance adjusters had completed their work.

No damage was suffered by the Kingan Hardware warehouse at the rear of the Richard Hall building. Charles Kingan and Gordon Dobbin both offered storage facilites to several of the tenants in the Kresge building and gave valuable assistance to the firemen.

Tenants in the Grand Cental Apartments passed an unpleasant night, but were in no danger from the fire. Smoke seeped into the apartments but did no cause any serious damage.

leading in three of the nine doubtful seats: Beaver River, Pincher-Creek Crowsnest, and one Calgary seat. Independent candidates were ahead in two seats, in Calgary and Edmonton, both multiple-seat constituencies; a Liberal was leading in Edmonton, a CCF candidate in Calgary and a Labor candidate in another Calgary seat.

Only One Elected

Throughout his campaign for the election, the fifth provincial vote in Canada in 1948, more in one year than in any since 1912, Premier Manning had attacked the Socialistic platform of the CCF whose leader, Elmer R. Roper, was the only candidate the party had eletced Tuesday. Mr. Roper gained one of the five Edmonton seats.

J. Harper Prowse, Liberal leader elected in Edmonton, was quick to acknowledge Mr. Manning's victory. In a statement he congratulated the premier "on his ability to keep the confidence of the voters" but promised a better showing by his party in future elections.

In leading his party back into power, Premier Manning won the largest vote ever accorded a candidate in an Alberta election, more than 20,000. The party shot into the lead early in the evening—The Canadian Press trend analysis indicated the result 38 minutes after urban polls closed at 7 p.m. MST—and never was headed. It was a clean sweep.

For this fifth provincial election of 1948—others were in Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick — the Social Credit party entered candidates in all 57 constituencies. The CCF nominated 51 and the Liberals, without a seat in the last legislature, 49. Nine Independents, a Labor-Progressive and an assortment of Independent Social Crediters and Labor candidates completed the 173-man field.

Canada's '48 Wheat Crop 372,000,000 Bus. Increase Over '47 Totals 31,000,000 Bus.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—Canada can look forward to a wheat crop this year of 372,000,000 bushels, the Bureau of Statistics estimated Tuesday.

But while production is above last year's output, the 1948 figure is 35,000,000 bushels below the 10-year 1938-47 average output, the Bureau reported.

However, farmers will not lose appreciably by the below-average production. The greater part of the 1948 crop, about 140,000,000 bushels, already is promised to the United Kingdom at $2 a bushel. This compares with the $1.55-a-bushel price farmers received for 160,000,000 bushels sold to the U.K. last year.

The 1948 crop was 31,000,000 bushels greater than a year ago, said the Bureau of Statistics. The estimate of the Prairie Provinces' spring-wheat crop is 340,000,000 bushels, compared with 319,000,000 in 1947.

Bernadotte Asks U.S. To Feed Refugee Horde

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — (AP). — Count Folke Bernadotte appealed to the United States Tuesday to rush emergency food for an estimated 330,000 Arabs and 7,000 Jews, disease-ridden and driven from their homes by the fighting in Palestine.

The United Nations mediator said the refugees face a great "sudden, human disaster, comparable to an earthquake or tidal wave."

He told State Secretary Marshall that hopes of peace in the Holy Land hinge on quick dealing with the problem.

The State department made public the appeal and said it is being given "urgent consideration."

The refugees are scattered over Arab-held parts of Palestine and in four neighboring countries. The Swedish Count said they are being swept by epidemic diseases and that with winter approaching "many must die."

Bernadotte advised the United Nations Monday was appealing to United Nations member countries for help. Britain announced last week it has donated about $400,000 worth of tents and medical supplies for Arab refugees. American and other private agencies have sent some shipments.

From the United States, Bernadotte asked 2,500 tons of wheat along with 220,000 tons of other supplies.

Asbestos Board Builds Friends

From asbestos, Johns-Manville has developed many building materials. One of the most useful, is a modern building board called "Asbestos Flexboard."

Recently, several carpenters were asked about J-M Asbestos Flexboard. One said, "It's become absolutely essential to my business." Another told us that Flexboard, which is made of asbestos and cement, is so strong and durable that he's used it for hundreds of different jobs — indoors and out — any place he needed a building board that can't burn, rot or wear out. He added that J-M Flexboard saves time and labour because it comes in big sheets four feet by eight, and can be worked with ordinary tools.

Daughter Describes Scene When Father Shot In Malvern Store Holdup

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP)—In a low voice almost drowned out by street noise, Eleanor Cowan, 17, told County Magistrate S. Atkinson Tuesday, how she stood in her father's store in the early morning of Aug. 1, and saw her father, William D. Cowan, 57, of nearby Malvern, shot to death.

Miss Cowan was the first witness called in the preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Frederick J. Aldred, 21, of Claremont, a village 20 miles northeast of Toronto.

May Alberta Hill, 17, who allegedly eloped with Aldred the day before the slaying and is charged with shopbreaking, sat in the courtroom throughout the hearing.

Miss Cowan told Crown Attorney George Gardhouse of following her father down the stairs of the Cowan residence after they had heard noises in the store below.

Sees Struggle

Her father held a revolver in his hand and struggled with a man behind the counter.

"They tussled for a moment and then Dad lost the gun. It fell to the floor and both of them tried to grab it. Then I heard two shots. I was about a yard from them."

Miss Cowan could not say who had fired the gun.

"After a minute I saw a girl at the window of the door trying to break the glass with a suitcase," she said.

She described how her father, who weighed 230 pounds to Aldred's 135, got the accused backed up against a pipe, holding him by the throat with his left hand and pointing the gun at him with his right.

"When dad had the man at gunpoint, he said: 'I'll stand, I'll stand'," she said. "He stood for just a second, then jumped at dad and dad lost the gun."

Trying To Grab Gun

"I saw it on the floor and both of them were trying to grab for it. I heard two shots fired while they were scuffling, but I didn't see the gun then. I was standing about a yard from them. I tried to pull the man away from dad, but I only pulled his shirt off."

The man then broke away from her father and ran into the storeroom, she said. Her father ran into the hall and got a shotgun. The man ran to the door of the store and unlocked a bolt, a chain and two locks despite efforts of herself and a sister to stop him.

After the man ran out of the store, she walked back behind the counter and found her father lying on the floor groaning, she said. She told of identifying Aldred and the girl with him at the police station the next morning.

Under cross-examination she emphasized that her father and the accused were grappling for the gun when the shots were fired, but that she did not see who had the gun and could not tell how it was fired.

"At no time did you see the gun in the hands of the accused man?" defense counsel suggested. "No, I didn't," she said.

Sufficient Evidence

"The law is that this man (Cowan) had a perfect right to arrest Aldred with a warrant under these circumstances," Magistrate Atkinson commented after hearing the girl's evidence. "After he offered to surrender he proceeded to try to arm himself with the other man's gun. There is sufficient evidence to commit him."

Defense Counsel Rose then insisted other Crown witnesses be called, and the widow, Mrs. May Cowan, took the stand.

She was awakened by a noise in the store, and nudged her husband. She listened for a minute and then jumped out of bed, pulled on his trousers, got his gun and went downstairs, she testified.

He told her to watch the front door, she said, but after he entered the store, she heard him call for her "in a most awful voice."

When she entered the store, her daughter was phoning and her husband had Aldred at gunpoint against the wall by the door, she said. She took the phone from her daughter, and while she talked to police she heard the accused say, "I'll stand, I'll stand."

"Then he made one terrible lurch, and my husband fell against a case of boots. A terrible struggle went on."

Hears One Shot

She only heard one shot, she testified, and she did not realize her husband had been hurt.

"The last time I saw my husband alive he had the accused by the foot with both hands. He had no gun in his hands then," she said.

Aldred broke from her husband and ran into the storeroom, and she ran after him, she told the court. When she tried to block him in the room, he said: "Look out sister, I'll shoot you," and hit her on the head with "some hard object."

She followed Aldred when he ran out the door and saw him and a woman disappear before she turned back to the store.

"I came back expecting to find an upset spouse," she said, with tears in her eyes. "When I came through the two counters, there was my husband on the floor. I heard him give one groan. Then I knelt beside him and spoke to him, but he didn't answer."

She had not seen her husband with the shotgun, she testified, and she had not seen the accused with any gun at all. Both she and her daughter said that Cowan shouted: "What are you doing with that gun?" when he entered the store, but neither offered any explanation.

Canadians Pay Visit To Dieppe Cemetery

DIEPPE, Aug. 18 (CP)—In a neat, well-kept cemetery on the outskirts of this French sea coast town, a group of Canadians are gathering today and Thursday to pay tribute to their fellow countrymen who lost their lives in a 1942 raid on the German-held coastline.

About 100 members of the Canadian Ex-servicemen's Association of Great Britain will make their second annual pilgrimage to the cemetery where close to 1,000 Canadians are buried.

It was on Aug. 19, 1942, that a force of about 5,000 men, mostly Canadians, made a raid to test the strength of German defences and to gain knowledge that was later used to advantage in the full-scale invasion of France.

Snake Takes Plug Angler Cuts Line

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18 — (ENS)—While local fishing has turned up no record breakers in the past few days, there have been a couple of reports of wriggling catches in nearby waters.

One man reported a three foot eel caught at Bradley Bay on Monday, while a Grand Road resident stated that he had hooked a black snake more than two feet in length last week.

The snake swallowed the plug and leader, and the angler felt that the safest thing to do would be to cut the line and forget about it.

He is now bemoaning the loss of his plug, which was his best one, and trying to find out what should be done when a snake is hooked.

Carnival Spirit

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18 — (ENS)—The fall fair and carnival season seems to be having its effect on the local youngsters, for passersby on Bridge street on Tuesday were enabled to see a junior version of the carnival idea in operation.

Several of the town youngsters, in the 4 and 5 year old class, utilized a vacant lot for the purpose and exhibited a few dogs and cats, at the same time doing a lively business in soft drinks, manufactured from a powder concentrate.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman told the court that other charges were pending.

Farmers Fear Tomato Blight

COBOURG, Aug. 18.—(ENS).—Taking a lesson from last year when tomato blight reached disastrous proportions, much attention has been given to the situation this year in Northumberland county. Many fields were dusted at the desirable time befores the plants spread out. In some cases this service was arranged by the canning factory fieldmen. Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, professor of botany at the O.A.C., has been in charge of a warning service and has notfied the Northumberland Agricultural office that the condition has been found in Prince Edwar and is now general in most of central Ontario.

As most of the spores blow easily with the wind, there is every possibility that with wet weather the disease may cause trouble before tomatoes are canned. Consequently growers, it is advised by Ralph Banbury, county agricultural representative, should get either bordeaux of 4-2-40 or a fixed copper spray at once. In order to get this on without injuring the plants, hand spraying may be necessary, but protection will be a good insurance, Mr. Banbury states.

May Shatter Crop Records

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Several Ontario farm crop records may be shattered this year.

This was indicated Tuesday night by the Provincial Department of Agriculture which reported the first of the year's record - smashing crops — fall wheat. Production is placed at 27,472,000 bushels, based on an average yield of 32 bushels to the acre. The yield compares with 1947's 24.9 bushels and a 10-year average of 28.3. Acreage of 858,000 was highest since 1930.

The 123,000 acres sown to fall rye are expected to yield 2,750,400 bushel, most since 1915. Acreage is highest since 1924.

Over average yields in spring grains is expected to swell the province's grain crop to 175,000,000 or more bushels. This compares with 1947's disappointing 106,288,000 and the 1937-46 average of 154,018,000. Oat yield is estimated at 41.4 bushels to the acre, compared with 32.2 last year and mixed grain is running 42.1 against 33.7.

WOMEN vs. MEN: "Can you tell me how many Toronto firms give equal pay for equal work? Personally I am sick to death hearing about the responsibilities of men and the easy time women earners have. Most women who earn support someone."

The Toronto Board of Education has equal pay for equal work. So too, does the Hamilton school board. But generally in Canada men receive higher rate of pay than women for the same work. It's tough—but true.

CANNED BEANS: "We have tons of green beans. Can I put them down for winter?"

Make them into pickle, do them in brine or process them and you'll cut your winter cost of living. To can them, wash, snip and cut in one inch lengths; cover with boiling water; cook 5 minutes. Pack in pint or quart jars; almost fill with boiling water; add salt. Loosely adjust the lids; place in a boiler of hot water with the water 3 inches over the tops of the jars. Cook for 3 hours. Tighten the tops. It's easy and the results are good.

SHIRT IRONER: "I have been told there is a shirt ironing competition at the Ex. this year with a $25 prize. Is this true? How do I enter? Are men eligible?"

There is a shirt ironing competition at the C.N.E. this year on Tuesday, September 7. Call ADelaide 6817; ask for an entry form and try your luck. Prizes are $50, $40, $30, and $20. Bring your own shirt. Irons and boards are provided. Men are urged to compete since they wear the shirts.

A New Sewage Plant Could Make Money For Peterborough

Every citizen knows that Peterborough needs a new sewage plant. Many Peterborough people may not be aware, however, that it is possible to install a sewage plant in such a city as this which will not only deal with our sewage, but pay for itself and make money for the municipality as well. There are several such plants on this continent, but we will call attention only to the one at Milwaukee, which manufactures a fertilizer called "Milorganite"; this fertilizer is familiar to gardeners and is imported into Canada in considerable quantity; quite a lot of it is sold here in Peterborough. It is an organic manure, made by drying the sewage of the city of Milwaukee, composting it and reducing it to a dry, odourless powder. It is made from human excrement, the value of which is preserved in this way and put back into the soil from which it came. Milwaukee does it, and many smaller places in the U.S. and in England do it; they not only pay for the upkeep of their sewage system, but they make a profit; why should not Peterborough do the same?

* * *

There is a prejudice against the use of human excrement for manure, though there seems to be no prejudice against "Milorganite". But we beg those among our readers who are repelled by our suggestion to consider the following facts. It has been shown by repeated experiment that vegetables and plants manured with organic manures (that is, those of animals, human beings, or made from bones) are larger, heavier and more nutritious than those nourished on chemical manures. It is believed that organic manures contain elements called auximones, which have remarkable properties of maintaining life and stimulating growth in plants, and in nourishing mankind. By washing our city sewage down the river we are wasting auximones which we have taken from the soil, and which we must either return to the soil, or deplete our soil seriously.

* * *

Consider this fact, also: the people of the United States and Europe are pouring into the sea or into rivers from 5,794,300 to 12,000,000 pounds of nitrogen, 1,881,900 to 4,151,000 pounds of potassium, and 777,200 to 3,057,600 pounds of phosphorous per million of adult population every year. (These figures are those of Sir John Orr and the late Professor King). We are doing nothing to replace these essenitial elements in the earth, and we throw them away for no reason except that they are contained in human dung, which we consider too filthy to be used. But if we are wise we shall get rid of that silly idea, process our sewage properly, and see that some of what we take out of the earth is returned to the earth.

* * *

Not merely sewage alone can be saved in this manner. Progressive cities elsewhere compost their sewage and their organic garbage, and turn the whole into municipal profit. Since 1912, for instance, the city of Bradford in England has not thrown away any of its organic refuse, either sewage or garbage; the sewage plant maintains itself and makes an average annual profit of £4,000. Another English city, Kingston-on-Thames, has been processing and selling its sewage for fifty years, and exports a good deal of its product to the Continent of Europe.

* * *

If any of our readers are interested in following this subject further—and we earnestly hope that many will be—we recommend that they get hold of Volume X of the American Sewage Works Journal and look in the Index under "Fertilizer"; they will find plenty of information there. And in Volume IX of the same Journal there is a Report of the Committee on Sewage Disposal of the American Public Health Association which will dispose of the objection of those who see sewage as nothing but filth, and cannot realize that it is rich in minerals which have been taken from the soil and which should go back to the soil. We talk much of conservation in Canada, but so long as we wash our rich sewage into our waterways, we are not conservationists but wastrels.

* * *

We have presented this brief summary of a scheme of sewage-reclamation which we think would be practical and profitable for Peterborough, in the hope that some members of our Council may be interested in it, and may carry investigation of it further. For years it has been a cause of complaint among our rural neighbours to the south that our city sewage fouls the river and causes rank growth in the lakes. Have we enough foresight to turn our city nuisance into a scheme which will make our soil rich, rather than making our waterway dirty?

Some Reflections On The Nature Of Marriage

During this warm weather, as we read the news and try to draw some conclusions from it, we occasionally meet with information which baffles us utterly. Such a staggerer (if we may be permitted the term) is the news that an Oshawa man has made a proposal of marriage, by mail, to Eleanor Fraser, the girl who has just been sentenced to a year in Mercer Reformatory for having abducted a small boy. This man had read in the paper that Miss Fraser had cared well for the child she stole, and he thought that she would make a good mother for his own little girl.

Miss Fraser appears to be a young lady of volatile nature, to put it mildly. Having recently been released from a reformatory, she answered an advertisement for a housekeeper, took the job, and that very night became the mistress of her new employer; when she quarreled with him she stole his young son, to teach him him a lesson, and entered into a series of temporary arrangements with other men whom she picked up in her travels. When the child became a nuisance, she abandoned him in a hospital—the first stroke of common sense she appears to have shown. If this sort of conduct is the mark of a good mother, we are amazed.

We do not doubt that Miss Fraser is, in her own way, kind to children; many women of unstable character and fleeting attachments are so. But the kindness of a woman whose whole life is a doubtful example is not the highest qualification for motherhood that we can think of.

Nor, may we say, does Miss Fraser's conduct mark her as a very good risk in marriage. Yet a man who has been married once, and badly wants a mother for his child, has offered to marry her. His trust commands respect, though we cannot say so much for his prudence.

When we read articles by clergymen, moralists and social workers in which they bewail the apparent breakdown of marriage in our society we often wonder if common prudence is not in decline. The strangest people marry one another for the strangest reasons, and matches are settled in a few days in which no common interest, no harmony of disposition, and no mutual readiness to compromise can be discerned. We even find a man eager to marry a girl who is an abductress and ready to form a sexual alliance at a moment's notice, for temporary gain. Is it any wonder that the divorce courts are full, and that social workers and clergymen are getting enlarged ears from the stories they hear?

Open Window To A Woman's Heart

Jumping through windows, especially third-storey ones, is not a pastime to be indulged in by unafraid democratic citizens. The leap of the Soviet Russian school teacher last Thursday in Washington was not for fun; her mission was serious. A few days before her jump for freedom, a young man in Montreal was seized with the impulse to leap from a window—of a moving tram. He leapt for love. It was his reaction to a 'teenage quarrel which had developed between the lad and his lass on the back of the tram. With a "you'll see", the boy jumped. His foot caught in the trolley rope, which shut off the power which stopped the car. The lass rushed to his aid (by this time he was sitting on the kerb catching his breath) and as her handkerchief tenderly daubed his scratched face, love blossomed anew.

That sort of thing is frightfully silly. A man in love is often a madman, of course. That is no reason for a girl to pamper his madness. When a man says to a woman, "If you do not marry me, I shall shoot myself", the proper and civilized response is "Indeed? How silly". Had we been the girl in the tram we should have waved cheerfully to the boy on the kerb and said: "Well, I saw. So what? Ya-hoo". That would have brought the boy running. If it didn't, he would certainly not be worth running after.

Concerning Spies

(THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

FOR all its cheap theatricals and transparent party politics, the present espionage investigation in Washington raises profound questions of principle. Those questions concern Canada as much as the United States.

Both nations have lately faced the same problem of Communist spying. In Canada a well-organized and far-reaching espionage net was broken by the inquiries of a Royal Commission and subsequent court trials. In the United States three separate inquiries are now being made into the activities of alleged Communist spies. It is important, if the larger principles involved are to be understood, to note the difference in the procedures of the two countries.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN Canada suspects were seized and kept in secret, contrary to the principles of justice which most Canadians had considered safe and invariable. In secret also the suspects were examined by a Royal Commission which then pronounced them guilty or innocent. Subsequently the accused persons were tried in the courts, their cases prejudiced by the findings of the Royal Commission. Some of them were convicted and others, found guilty by the commission, were acquitted. This procedure was possible in Canada where we have no Bill of Rights guaranteeing the citizen certain basic liberties and immunities.

In the United States the present proceedings are much more complicated.

They began with the indictment of twelve men by the grand jury of New York, on the ground that they were members of an organization which advocates "overthrowing and destroying the government of the United States by force and violence." The organization is the Communist party.

The cases pending against the indicted men thus raise a significant question—is the Communist party actually legal or does it advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence, which is a crime? Where the Congress has hesitated, properly, to outlaw the Communist party, where Mr. Dewey, the potential president, has strongly opposed such a course, the courts in the New York case can settle the question if they finally support the indictments. A positive verdict, it appears, would make the Communist party illegal.

IT is to be observed that this case differs radically in its procedure from the spy inquiry in Canada. The accused in the United States are indicted by a jury of their peers and not by a secret Royal Commission. They will be tried publicly with all the safeguards of the Bill of Rights and without any pretrial by a commission. But in the meantime the inquiries of the Congress, with their strong smell of autumn elections, have gone forward on a very different footing.

A Senate committee heard the evidence of certain persons who said they were former Communists. The committee did not consider the evidence sufficiently important or credible to make it public. A committee of the House of Representatives, however, called the same witnesses and allowed them to spread upon the record the most damaging statements about respected officials of the government, two of them eminent men whose character had never been questioned.

THE men thus accused have not yet been permitted to confront their accusers. Even if they are given the right to appear before the Congressional committee and disprove all the allegations against them, these men's reputations have been greatly damaged. They re accused so far only by persons who admit that they were formerly agents of a Russian spy ring, who say they have recanted their old views but who, on this record, are highly questionable witnesses.

Moreover, these witnesses were heard by the New York grand jury and presumably gave there the same testimony which they gave to the Congressional committees. The grant jury was not sufficiently impressed to indict the government officials for any dereliction of duty. They have not been charged by the authorities with any offense. They have been smeared, with headline and flash light pictures, by a group of politicians who are interested in damaging the Truman administration.

INSOFAR as their public reputations are concerned, the officials thus treated appear to have lost the protection of the Bill of Rights. But they have not lost the protection of their freedom and person. They have not been seized in the night, locked up in secret, denied counsel, subjected to secret inquisition and pronounced guilty by a Royal Commission before being tried in the courts —the experience of the accused in the Canadian spy case. That can happen to Canadians who have no Bill of Rights. So long as the constitution is enforced, it cannot happen to a citizen of the United States.

In both countries, then, great abuses have occurred—in Canada by physical arrest and inquisition, conducted with misguided sinverity and without political motive; in the United States without arrest but with a smear campaign obviously polical in intention.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM all these repulsive but illuminating proceedings Canadians may draw some lessons.

The first is the need of a Bill of Rights in this country—a need demonstrated not only in the matter of our espionage trials but in other cases familiar to the reader.
the whole problem of Communist penetration

The second is the necessity of approaching by way of the law and not by way of political propaganda. The laws against traitors, spies and advocates of violent revolution are not yet as clear as they should be in the United States, but presumably will be clarified by the present New York prosecutions and by the Congress. In Canada the law, recently printed fully on this page, is clear beyond question and arms the public authorities with all necessary weapons of prosecution against offenders. That law, and not their own technique, should be used against the Communists where they are suspected of a crime.

THIRD, everything that has happened in the United States confirms the folly of attempting to suppress Communism (as distinct from any crime under the law) by mere prohibition, which will work no better than the prohibition of liquor. Communism in Canada, as in the United States will perish in the sunlight of publicity, where the Communists are destroying themselves by their public absurdities. It will grow like a mushroom if it is driven into the darkness.

In the end our only reliable weapon against it is the understanding, in the mind of the people at large, of its meaning and purpose. Throughout the world, from the Great Lakes ships of Canada to the blockade in Berlin, the Communists are daily making that meaning and purpose clear. The people of America are intelligent enough to grasp their dangers and to meet them by due process of law, by rejecting Communism in politics and in trade unions, without endangering all public liberties.

ALAS! MY POOR BROTHER!

Rule By Regulation

(LORD SALISBURY IN THE LISTENER)

UNDER that theory, the state is perfect, and all power ought therefore to be vested in the state. And so we have seen, during the last two years, the Government getting more and more power, and Parliament and the people less and less.

In old days if the Government wanted to do anything, it had each time to pass a bill through Parliament, where every detail had to go through the fire of criticism. Now the Government demands a free hand, and the country is ruled more and more by regulations introduced by ministers, over which Parliament has little control, and the people none at all. And what is the result? We know it all too well, don't we? More rules, more regulations, more officials, more forms, which are almost unintelligible and which no one wants to fill up, more interferences with our private lives.

Some of these regulations are, of course, necessary; but many are quite idiotic. It is true that these tend to be ignored by the British people. But that merely produces contempt for the law, and that is not a very healthy thing either....They have taken on, in addition, responsibility for many of the main industries of the country. For ultimately, you know, all these new boards, the Coal Board, the Electricity Board and so on, are responsible to ministers, who have, most of them, no business training or background. And what is the result? Inefficiency. The machine of trade and industry is clogged. It no longer works smoothly. And so we see one nationalized industry after another declaring a loss. Nationalized Civil Aviation has already lost £8,000,000 ($32 millions) in one year. The National Coal Board, in spite of the high price we all have to pay for coal, is likely to lose £20,000,000 ($80 millions) more. And, you wait and see, it will be the same with the rest.

If one says this to a convinced socialist, his usual answer is that the state will bear the loss. But here we come to the second false assumption on which socialism is based, that the state has a vast fund of money on which it can call. In fact, the state has no money of its own, not one brass farthing. It only has what it can raise by taxation or loans from the people of this country—that is, from all of you.

And so the result of inefficient administration is that our taxes go up and up, and there is less and less encouragement for us to earn more. That is just what is happening now. The Government may try and camouflage it by talking about a free health service and free education and so on. But in fact nothing is free—nothing. You have to pay for everything in one way or another. Some people pay for it by direct taxation, some pay for it by indirect: most of us by both. But we all pay.

New Use Of Saw Dust

A new product "Sagolit" made on the basis of saw dust and other sawmill waste materials, was recently introduced on the Norwegian market, protected by a patent. The waste materials are submitted to chemical and mechanical treatment, pressed by high pressure and hardened at a high temperature.

The water absorption of Sagolit is low, the risk of "movement" small and the specific weight is the same as that of oak. It permits the use of screws and nails, and is particularly suitable for moulding W. C. seats, chair seats etc., retaining their sanitary appearance even after very long use, furthermore Sagolit floor covering will be strong as ask and impervious to moisture.

Negotiations have been entered into regarding the sale of patent rights to interested parties abroad, but it is the intention of the Norwegian patent holders to reserve the export markets for the Norwegian plants.—Norway Digest.

Political Ovation

The audience roundly cheered and cheered
At whatever it was he said.

A Bible Message

Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite. (Ps. 147: 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all. Bless the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word. (Ps. 103: 19, 20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God. Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have I not told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witnesses. Is there a God beside me? yea, there is no God; I know not any. (Isa. 44: 6, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment....For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. (I Cor. 1: 10, 19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect:: yet not the wisdom of this world, that come to nought: but we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory....For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ. (I Cor. 2: 6, 7, 16.)

A BRITISH OPINION

3 Ambulances Kept Busy At Kresge Fire

By RALPH GREENHILL

Minutes after smoke began pouring from the S.S. Kresge store on Tuesday night, hundreds of spectators jammed the George and Simcoe streets intersection to watch Peterborough's worst fire this year. Before midnight, the crowd had swelled to several thousand, and it was not until the early hours of this morning that it began to disperse.

The entire force of the Fire Department using 11 pumps and every possible hose battled for more than four hours before the fire was regarded as being under control at 2.30 a.m. Dozens of volunteers helped man the hoses. "They're doing all right, they are a big help," was the terse comment of Assistant Fire Chief Stewart at the height of the blaze.

Billowing, dense smoke hampered the firefighters' work. At about 11 o'clock, a fireman collapsed and was rushed to hospital by Provincial Police. Ambulances from Kaye's, Comstock's and the Belleghem funeral homes soon arrived on the scene and were kept busy all night long as firemen and volunteers were overcome by the fumes and had to be taken to the two city hospitals. The majority of the 18 casualties were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where all spare beds were eventually filled and temporary ones hurriedly set up in the corridor to deal with the emergency.

For many veterans, the downtown scene was reminiscent in some ways of the London "blitz" with yards of hose trailed across the streets and the once familiar sound of the pumping engines. Traffic had to be diverted off George St. between Charlotte and Hunter along Water St. Half way between Hunter and Simcoe streets, an impromptu fountain played all night on George St. as the result of a hydrant leak.

Shortly after midnight, during the worst of the heavy smoke, several firemen, including ex-Fire Chief George Gimblett, made their way down the sidewalk loading entrance on Simcoe St. into the already half flooded cellar. Their efforts moved a heavy packing case, which was barring any effective play of hoses. The men came out of the dense smoke with eyes smarting and coughing and retching as they were practically overcome by the fumes.

Firemen Weary

By four o'clock, the worst of the fire was over and weary firefighters lay sprawled in the road. Several men suffering from exhaustion had to be taken to hospital. A half an hour later, it was possible to enter the still smouldering building. In the smoke-laden atmosphere it was possible to see the wreckage and indescribable confusion of the remains of the store. Two small mud turtles could be seen swimming happily in a large pool where the floor had collapsed. Scorched and sodden goods littered the smashed counters.

Recovered $5,000

Emmett Sheehy, city barrister, is believed to be the only person to make his way into the second floor of offices at the start of the fire. Mr. Sheehy entered the smoking building and ran to his office and unlocked it, while holding his breath to fight back the fumes. Collecting more than $5,000 in currency, Mr. Sheehy was able to reach the street unassisted.

A general alarm was given to all members of the Fire Department, and Virgil Carr, of 583 Gilchrist St., who has been ill for the last 10 days, was among the others to answer the call and fight the blaze. Some firemen had to turn out of bed, and among others who dressed hurriedly to render any possible assistance was Mayor W. G. Ovens. Under his sports coat, Mayor Ovens was wearing his pyjama jacket.

Staff of the United Cigar Store were the first to supply coffee to the sweating firemen and volunteers. Major Watt, of the Salvation Army, with six helpers, soon joined in handing coffee and sandwiches to the fire-fighters at their posts. He and his helpers stayed at the scene throughout the whole night, with a hot drink always ready for an exhausted man.

An amusing incident happened when only a few hoses were still being played on the smouldering building. One hose slipped from a fireman's grip and twisted and kicked, sending a stream of water in all directions. Men who had fought smoke and fumes all night turned tail and ran for shelter from the powerful jet.

FIREMAN H. CAIN stands in water to his armpits at the cellar service entrance playing a hose on the blazing basement ceiling. At Bottom, a husky volunteer wields a crowbar smashing a hole through the rear wall of the Kresge Building to get at the fire.

Orillia Beats Petes, 10-8 In Lively Lacrosse Tussle

Orillia took a 10-8 senior "B" lacrosse victory at home over the league-leading Petes last night to take a firmer grip on third place behind Oshawa. It was the third straight reverse for the Creighton crew, who meet Orillia again here this Friday. Play was fast and fairly ruged, quite close throughout with J. J. Hill's last goal clinching matters with but a few seconds remaining. He turned in a fine effort with a broken bone in his hand. Bob Breakspear suffered a bad gash in the mouth, and Foote and Hammond mixed it up late in a fist fight.

Orillia had a 2-1 lead the first quarter and made it 5-2 at the half. The third saw the Petes with a 5-3 edge and they were outscored 2-1 in the fourth of a close-checking contest. Horton and Gordon starred all the way for the visitors, while Street, Massey and J. J. Hill shone for the homesiers. Both goalies looked good and the issue was in doubt till the last bell.

The teams:

Thousands Remember Babe For Little Things He Did

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP).—The Babe was a big man with a big wallop but there are thousands who will remember him more for the little things he did along the way. A fine gesture here and there. A lift for the little guy.

Such as the time he held up an exhibition game 15 minutes while he accommodated a fledgling reporter on his first major assignment.

The date was April 4, 1933. The world champion Yankees were swinging north after breaking spring camp. Marse Joe McCarthy brought them into Nashville, Tenn., with a flourish.

The youngster was told to get an interview with the Bambino —a personality piece, find out what the Babe eats, thinks, likes.

The hotel said, no, sir, Mr. Ruth isn't in. At another hotel, they hadn't seen him.

Not around, said Lefty Gomez, through a half opened door. Keep looking—you'll find him, encouragingly said McCarthy.

A Few Questions

But after four hours, no Ruth. The youngster, exhausted, set up vigil at the ball park.

Shortly before game time, a taxi screeched up. The big man lumbered out. He was in uniform, stocking-footed, carrying his spiked shoes in his hand.

"Mr. Ruth,' the boy said hesitatingly, "I'd like to ask you a few questions."

"Shoot, kid," the Babe said pleasantly. He took a comfortable leaning position on the rail.

The Babe said he didn't think the three-per-cent beer, just legalized, would affect the game any. In fact, he liked a bit of the foam himself occasionally.

Understanding and Patience

The questions seem sophomoric almost 16 years later. But they only went to magnify the tremendous patience and understanding of the Yankee hero.

The biggest thrill? The home run hit into the centre field bleachers at Wrigley Field in the world series the year before.

"Hey, Babe, come on, it's time to start," his motes yelled from the field.

The Bambino gave a "g'wan" gesture and said: "Okay, kid, anything else?"

There were more questions. The Babe, under heavy pressure from the fend and from the fans, appeared in no rush.

"Hurry, Babe," they barked from below.

After several more questions it was over.

"Thanks Mr. Ruth," the young man said.

"Any time, kid,' the Babe answered.

It was a little thing, but it made a lasting impression on the boy who got the interview. And it happened just like that. I still have the clipping. You see, it was my first by-line.

Oshawa Clubs Capture COF Trophies

Oshawa Tigers, managed by Fred McMillan and Bernard Kinlin, won the H. B. McCabe Trophy, formerly held by Peterborough Maids; and the Axtell Trophy, held by Peterborough Dodgers was taken by Gord Hurst's Oshawa COF club in a COF tourney held in Orono. Mayor Frank McCallum of Oshawa welcomed the visiting teams. Art Reynolds of Peterborough responded.

Tigers defeated Quakeretties 8-5 in the first game, a keen one all the way. Salem took a one-sided 37-6 win over Peterborough Beavers with Joan Craig pitching good ball. The boys took over in the third game with Oshawa COF aces taking a 29-13 victory from Peterborough Dodgers. In semi-finals, Tigers edged out a 5-3 verdict over Peterborough Maids in the best game of the tourney. Rosie Kehoe and Eva Naylor both pitched swell ball. Tigers coasted to a 17-6 win in the final over Selam. The teams were entertained afterward.

Workman Sparks Newark 5-3 Win

It looks as if New York Yankees have discovered another Charlie Keller in the person of youthful Hank Workman, rookie outfielder of the Newark Bears.

Workman is the former all-round athlete at the University of Southern California whom the Yankees acquired after his graduation last June for a neat bonus.

Just as they did with Keller 11 years ago when they plucked him out of the University of Maryland the Yankees asigned Workman to their Newark farm. Like Keller, Workman has been setting the International League afire with his long-distance clouting.

Workman has played only 45 games, but already has hit 13 home runs. He cracked his 13th Tuesday night to help the Bears defeat Jersey City Little Giants 5-3.

Octavio Rubert, 22-year-old right-hander purchased from Tampa of the Florida International League, triumphed in his league debut, pitching Rochester Red Wings to a 5-4 victory over Buffalo Bisons. He fanned four, walked five, and gave up 11 hits.

Bill Barnacle's two successive home runs enabled Baltimore Orioles to defeat Syracuse Chiefs 6-3.

Montreal and Toronto were not scheduled.

Peewee Lacrosse

In peewee lacrosse last night, Petes beat Lions 14-6 and Tigers walloped Buffalos 16-0. For Petes, Keans and McDougall were main scorers and Anthony went well. Leach, Hunt and Morgan were best for Lions. Cournyea, Burns and Hickey led the Tiger attack, as Lagana, Clarke and Keeting stood out for Buffalos. The teams:

Petes: Heffernan, Kearns, McDougall, Pearl, Anthony, Boyce.

Lions: McIvor, Leach, J. Sutherland, Kane, Hunt, Morgan and Hickson.

Tigers: Cournyea, Burns, Phillips, W. Whitton, Hickey, Kearns, O'Loughlin, Barclay and Roberts.

Buffalos: Haig, Lagana, Keeting, Flynn, Macklin, Clark, Blodgett, Heffernan and Martin.

Ottawa Triumphs

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—(CP). — Paced by Len Lalonde's three-goal effort, Ottawa St. Anne's Tuesday night defeated Alexander Maroons 9-7 in the final scheduled game of the Interprovincial Lacrosse League. The two teams will meet in the semi-finals, with the first game of their best-of-five series to open here Aug. 24. The winner will meet the league-leading Cornwall Flyers.

C. H. GOSLIN OF NEW ZEALAND seems to be bowing to E. R. Johnson of the United States at Goslin ducks a blow during their recent Olympic bout at Wembley, England. Johnson won.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

George Herman (Babe) Ruth died the other day but his memory will last as long as the baseball he loved. He came from a school for delinquent boys in Baltimore and rose to become an international figure in big league baseball. A great pitcher and later the home run king, we've often seen him shuffle out pigeon-toed from the dugout, swinging his big bat, with roars of approval beating down from the crowded stands. His barrel-body supported on spindly legs, he would take a terrific cut at the ball, frequently lofting it lazily right out of the park. A most colorful character, yet a star player, he loved kids and but recently put up a trophy for the outstanding sandlot player in Canada. A great figure in the sports world.

Only local minor winners in baseball not declared yet are the peewees and the juniors, Kinsmen and Kiwanis, who have their second tilt tonight at 5.45 in Riverside. Kiwanis won the first of the three-game series, and winner will meet Oshawa in finals. Also a meeting of the executive and minor managers in the "Y" tonight, right after the junior joust, to arrange playdowns. Some of these playdowns, if not all of them, will commence this week-end. By the way, we couldn't get a box score out of Kingston on the Petes' game in time for yesterday's paper. Petes have a couple of exhibitions coming up now.

New Border League, Eh?

Word comes out of Ottawa that a new eight-team Border Pro League setup is rumored for next season. To consist of clubs from Ottawa, Ogdensburg, Kingston, Quebec City, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, Granby and Plattsburg. The report also says: "Some consideration also had been given to formation of clubs in two other Ontario cities, Belleville and Peterborough." A further checkup will be made later this week. Peterborough nearly got into this Class "C" circuit last spring but the Belleville plans fell through. We'd have to have lights in Riverside to be accepted, and some backing by Toronto Leafs or another pro club.

Outboard Marines and Westclox mix it up tonight, weather permitting, in the Bowl over east, commencing at seven bells, in a twin bill. Second and third games of their Girls' Softball League playoffs which, we understand now, are three out of five. The Clockers took the first one, but Marines may come back strongly in this double-header. Anyway, some swell ball should be served up by these classy colleens before a big crowd. This is for local intermediate "A" honors, while the intermediate "B" victors hit into PWSU playdowns tonight. Lindsay goes to Cobourg for a seven p.m. fixture, second game at the Bowl here at three Saturday aft. And third, if necessary, there at seven that evening.

So, Legion Meets B-A

It'll be Legionnaires and B-A in the men's softball finals for the city championship. They start it off with a double-header tomorrow night, starting at seven. On account of the Kiwanis game betwixt the Petes and NHL All-Stars has been cancelled that night, owing to Inter-County Loop playoffs. Couldn't get enough of the "name" players here, so they wisely postponed it. The finals are four-in-seven and should pack 'em in, as the semi-final series did. Legion beat Knights last eve 9-6 in a good game before more than 2,000 fans. Legion earned the win but Knights went down battling, threatening hard in the eighth and ninth innings. A swell series between two classy and well-matched clubs.

* * * * * *

Bob Greenlaw pitched fine ball for the victory, though he was weakening toward the end. A hard decision for a manager to make —whether to leave a hurler in maybe too long or bank on him coming through. Terry Woods pitched good ball, too, most of the way, but they hit him hard for five runs in the fifth. That pair of Dalton and Harrison coming up in a row is a tough problem for any twirler in the loop. They got seven hits between them, as many as all the K. of C.-ers did. Scriver, Withers and Sullivan were other good hitters last night, and Tompkins and Dalton hit homers. Withers and Wade made neat catches. Yeah, a nifty number to wind up a most interesting series. And the finals may be equally hot.

Third Straight Reverse

Local senior "B" lacrossers absorbed their third straight loss last night in Orillia, coming out on the short end of a 10-8 count. A hot go all the way with the Petes fighting hard to sew it up until J. J. Hill's counter in the closing seconds put it on ice. Gordon and Horton starred, Bob Breakspear got another nasty cut on the mouth, and Jack Foote and Hammond drew majors for fighting. A tough one to lose, and the Petes will be seeking revenge when the same squads clash here Friday night. Owen Sound "A" aces play the Petes an exhibition here on Monday e'en. Locals still lead the "B" loop, with Oshawa next, then Orillia, followed by Huntsville and Scarboro.

Fans At Regina Have Hopes For Roughriders

By ARCHIE MacKENZIE

REGINA, Aug. 18 (CP). — Homebrews and imports blended Southern style is what Regina fans hope will carry their Saskatchewan Roughriders this year back to the championship trail they last travelled in 1936.

It's been a long wait for Roughriders' supporters — notoriously victory-hungry types who took the Rider defeat from the league playoffs last year much to heart.

Led by Coach Fred (the General) Grant, Ruffies haven't departed greatly from the wide-open style that paid off surprisingly well last year. A pint-sized former University of Georgia gridder, Johnny Cook, will be quarterbacking a T-formation hinged on deception, scat-backs and good ends.

Cook, Rose Bowl veteran and cohort of All-Americans Charlie Trippi and Frankie Sinkwich, was delivered by Grant along with imports Butch Lee and Mike Cassidy. The latter is a tackle from the University of Alabama where Lee, a husky endman, and Grant also played.

Back This year

Back this year as a centre is Doug Drew of North Dakota State Teachers. Gabe Patterson, last year's leading scorer and a member of the Western Conference All-Star team, has returned to his half back spot. A sixth American, Darell Wardein is trying for a possible backfield berth. Wardien last year starred with Calgary Stampeders.

Added to the backfield are several native sons, including Kenny Charlton, who played the last three years with Ottawa Rough Riders; Sully Glasser, a speed merchant known well in the Western Conference; Bob Early of Saskatoon, starry junior and University of Saskatchew player; Nick Bloom and Ken Preston.

Petes Win Game Against Kingston

Behind Bill Edger's fine flinging, the Petes won their COBL contest in Kingston on Monday night. Bob Crowe led the hitters with two for four, as Mulholland topped Locos at bat with three in five tries. The box score could not be obtained until this morning.

East City Midgets Get Championship

Gandy's run in the ninth gave Bill Murphy's East City midget baseball squad City League title 8-7 over the South-enders in a neat tussle at Riverside Park last night. They had counted two each in the second, fifth and eight frames with one in the sixth for seven markers. But their opponents, scoring one each in the second, fourth and sixth heats, broke through for four in a big fifth inning on walks and miscues mostly. Bachelor fanned a dozen for the winners. He had two hits, as did Ferguson, McGrath and Driscoll. The losers got but four hits. The teams:

East City — Ferguson, McGrath, Driscoll, Sullivan, Mongraw, Gandy, Foley, J. Ferguson, Bachelor.

South-end — Anderson, Evans, Jensen, Jones, Grant, Bigford, Walling, Douglas, Murphy.

Legion Defeats Knights To Meet B-A In Finals

Legionnaires eliminated Knights of Columbus 9-6 at the Bowl last night in the seventh game of their City Softball League semi-final series to advance into finals against B-A. The biggest crowd of the season, well over 2,000 fans, saw a good game to wind up a fine playoff series. The best-of-seven finals opens with a double-header at the Bowl tomorrow night.

Five runs on solid hitting in the fourth pretty well clinched matters for Howie Dalton's gang last night. But the Garvey crew fought right to the finish and were threatening seriously in both the eighth and ninth heats. Four walks in the eighth and two hits in the ninth kept the issue in doubt till the last out. Bob Greenlaw threw seven-hit ball and fanned seven, but was weakening toward the end. Terry Woods fanned four and walked none, but was touched for 15 hits, several of them scratchy.

Bud Harrison led the Legion attack with two doubles and two singles in five, while Howie Dalton hit a homer, triple and double in five. Withers got two two-baggers and Scriver a double and single in four each. Red Sullivan led Knights at bat with a double and single in five, while Tompkins banged out a homer. Neat catches were pulled off by Withers and Wade. A sprinkle of rain in the fifth sent a few hundred home, but the big crowd as a whole stayed to the finish. The box score:

Yankees' Henrich 6th to Hit Four Grand Slam Homers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Henrich, "Mr. Old Reliable" of the New York Yankees, has earned a space in the little red book of baseball by smashing his fourth grand-slam homer of the season.

Only five other player have hit four bases-loaded wallops during one campaign. They were Frank Scuite, Chicago Cubs, 1911; the one and only Babe Ruth, Boston Red Sox, 1919; Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 1934; Rudy York, Detroit Tigers, 1938; and Vince DiMaggio, Philadelphia Phils, 1945. Nobody has hit five in one season.

Henrich's fourth came Tuesday night in the Yankees' 108th game and helped the New Yorkers defeat Washington Senators 8-1 at Griffith Stadium. The blow came in the third inning off lanky Sid Hudson and paved the way for young Bob Porterfield's first major-league victory.

The recruit from Newark, making his third big-league start, spaced six hits and would have had a shutout but for Sherry Robertson's first home run of the season in the eighth inning.

Dent In Ceremonies

The Yankee victory put a dent in the ceremonies honoring Washington owner Clark Griffith. Among the dignitaries was President Truman, who sat through the entire game.

Despite the triumph, the Yankees remained in fourth place in the American League, still five full games back of the league-leading Cleveland Indians. Cleveland defeated the Browns 8-0 in St. Louis. However, the Yankees gained a half game on the idle Boston Red Sox and now are only two games behind third place.

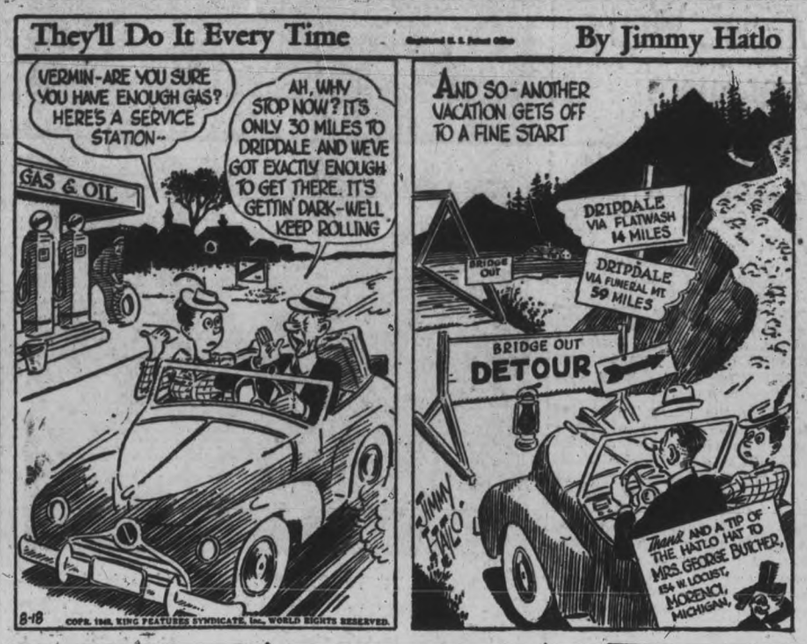
Lefty Gene Bearden pitched the Indians to their sixth straight triumph, racking up his 12th victory against three losses. He held the Browns hitless until the fifth inning and allowed only four hits the rest of the way.

The triumph put the Indians two full games ahead of the second-place Philadelphia Athletics and three above Boston. The last two teams were rained out after the A's had taken a 2-0 lead in only an inning and a half of play.

Rookie Ted Gray won his third straight game in as many starts as Detroit Tigers staved off a late Chicago rally to turn back the White Sox 6-4.

Hold Edge

Boston Braves held their two-game edge on Brooklyn Dodgers in the tight National League race, scalping New York Giants 10-2 at the Polo Grounds. Big Bill Voiselle tamed his former teammates with six hits for his 13th triumph of the season.



Johnny Mize hit his 28th homer for one of the Giants' runs.

Rookie Carl Erskine registered his fifth straight pitching triumph, holding Philadelphia Phils to eight hits as his Brooklyn mates backed him with 14 for an easy 10-1 victory. The Dodgers also took advantage of seven Philly errors and ran wild on the bases, swiping four sacks. Jackie Robinson stole two and Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese one each.

In the only afternoon contest of the day, Johnny Schmitz pitchd Chicago Cubs to a 4-2 victory over the third-place St. Louis Cardinals. The lanky southpaw issued only five hits, but home runs by Stan Musial and Don Lang accounted for the Redbirds' runs. It was Musial's No. 30.

Ralph Kiner unloaded his 31st home run against the left-field bleachers with two out in the last half of the ninth to give Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

Fans in three parks — Briggs Stadium, Detroit; Fenway Park, Boston; and Shibe Park, Philadelphia—paid tribute to Babe Ruth, standing in silence with bowed heads for a full minute in memory to baseball's greatest figure, who died Monday night.

No Action Yet On New Circuit

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—(CP)—Buzz Bavasi, Montreal Royals' general manager, said Tuesday that proposals to amalgamate teams to the Border and Canadian Baseball Leagues into one professional circuit are unlikely to bear fruit unttil the end of the season.

The International League club head said he expected to confer with George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Leagues about the proposal.

'This meeting with George Trautman," he said, 'is merely to discuss what proposition we can give to club owners. Before anything really definite can be established, we must meet with club owners and tell them our hopes. Then it's up to them to decide."

Officials Worry Over Space For Statues

LONDON, Aug. 18 (CP). — Space for London's statues, each with its crown of indolent pigeons, has been added to the worries of officials trying to find homes for living people.

In squares, circuses and gardens, massive stone and metal figures raise swords, torches and shields, ride cavorting horses or sit erect on hard seats, stare gloomily, nobly or smugly over the passing scene.

There's the present case of Gen. Charles Gordon of Khartoum, described by Winston Churchill as a model of a Christian hero, long commemorated by a statue in the shadow of Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square. Recently Gordon was moved to make room for fountains in memory of naval commanders of the First World War and even Parliament now is involved in the search for a new home for him.

Clamor Rising

Churchill said Gordon should stay in the Square even if admirals' memorials were put elsewhere, but Works Minister Key thought Gordon would be at home at the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst.

Richard the Lion Heart stands for eternity beside the Parliament Buildings, but Commons members have been irked that his sword has been taken away for repairs after being bent by a German bomb. How much better, they said, to leave the sword bent as a symbol of Britain's wartime spirit—bent but not broken.

Eros Back

Among Key's — and London's boasts — that Eros is back in Piccadilly; King Charles I again looks down Whitehall where they cut off his head, and the sour face of Queen Elizabeth, first carved in the 16th Century, has been cleared of the bricks that protected it in the war, and looks bravely out on Fleet Street.

Many were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Cobourg, Oshawa, Port Perry, Blackstock and Peterborough, as well as a large attendance from the surrounding community, bearing floral tributes of remembrance to those who rest in the little cemetery.

Bert Richardson, chairman of the Remembranie committee, gave a brief report of the cemetery funds and what work had been done during the year. A special collection was received during the day to help keep up the cemetery.

Border Patrol Nabs Prisoner

HUGDON, Me., Aug. 18—(AP) —A five-day international hunt for a prisoner who escaped Woodstock, N.B. jail, ended today when United States border patrol officers captured Mike Stefanyk, alias Michael Stevens, 34, of Toronto.

The patrol detachment took Stefanyk without a struggle. They surprised him as he was about to shave at Brookside.

Stefanyk, held in jail in connection with alleged automobile thefts, escaped last Thursday with another prisoner, who was captured within 24 hours.

RCMP, Maine State police and American border officers joined in the hunt during which shots were fired at the elusive Stefanyk.

Hodgson is five miles from the border.

The capture came on a tip from a farmer from whom Stefanyk had asked directions to Boston, Mass.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

The next to disappear?

The Big-horn has been hunted out of much of its former range in the United States. In Canada too, the Rocky Mountain Sheep is decreasing because of over-hunting and outright poaching; a set of its magnificent horns is a prized trophy. If we in Canada are to preserve this stately "sentinel of the rimrock" we must do all we can to see that conservation measures are strictly observed.

The Carolina Paroquet was slaughtered just for its brightly coloured feathers. It is now extinct, a bitter lesson to us to preserve what we can of our vanishing wildlife.

Fire Burns Christmas Stock 5,000 Jam Intersection Store Cat Is a Casualty

(The following eye-witness account of the Kresge fire was written for the Examiner by P. W. S., former newspaperman, now resident in Peterborough.)

It was merely a continuing puff of smoke coming lazily from the left hand entrance of the Kresge Building, shortly before ten o'clock Tuesday night that heralded one of Peterborough's most dangerous and yet most unspectacular fires which today was smoldering after doing more than $150,000 damage to one of the city's outstanding business buildings.

As the writer left a local theatre after a restful evening's entertainment, a siren's wail brought the reportorial eye glancing up and down the street and it was this lazy column of smoke which caught the eye. A moment's investigation showed at once that this blaze was not going to be one of those quick affairs, since another glance showed smoke pouring from the side coal chute as well. As the fire engines arrived, not more than 20 people knew there was a fire within yards, while others walked calmly away from the scene of the blaze, which by that time was well on its way to gutting some $80,000 worth of stock in the cellar of the doomed building.

In less time than it takes to tell—and brought about by that human instinct that seems to inform the citizenry that here is the real thing—a crowd of more than 5,000 had jammed the intersection, broke police rope barriers, and for a time greatly impeded the fighting force, until police took the matter in hand.

From there on the fire took over. Unseen, hidden by palls of smoke, it defied the best efforts of the fire-fighters and at the late hour of 3 o'clock, it was still puffing up in spurts.

There are many things that go to make up an interesting display for the "customers."

Perhaps the most dangerous feature of the blaze, which however worried none too many, was the ominous procession of ambulances whisking away the smoke-ridden firemen and volunteers to local hospitals. Your reporter lost count at 2.30 o'clock, by which time some 16 firemen, including 5 volunteers, had been overcome.

Jack Lewis, manager of the stricken store, somewhat sadly told us of the only fatal casualty of the blaze, that of "Tom," his pet cat, whose loyalty to the store was such that he never left it at any time. "He was the only cat I knew who would shake hands," said the manager, "and the whole staff will miss him."

Veterans Assist

Hardly had the crowd gathered when they streamed on to the main fighting section and it was not untitl a sharp word of command from a former sergeant-major of the S.D. & G. Highlanders that the crowd obeyed and rope barriers could be put up. Indeed, it was pretty much on an army fight for a while in the crowd, since many of the volunteers were recognized as "army types," ready for anything. Indeed, in many cases, their enthusiasm had to be cooled off somewhat by the fire department.

One of the outstanding features of the evening's work was that of the medical department under Dr. Herb Young and no time was lost in rushing any of the casualties to hospital.

Perhaps the epitome of the spirit of the fighting firemen was given about 2.30 o'clock, when Fred Murphy, one of the local smoke-eaters, gave way only after direct orders from a superior and took a trip to hospital. Murphy was so dazed by smoke that he could barely see, could not stand, and had to be held upright.

Everybody co-operated to make this blaze an outstanding one. As late as 2.30 o'clock, citizens were brewing tea and rushing it out to various groups of fire fighters, while guests of one of the local hotels moved out garden chairs to the front and had a comfortable "ringside" view of the blaze.

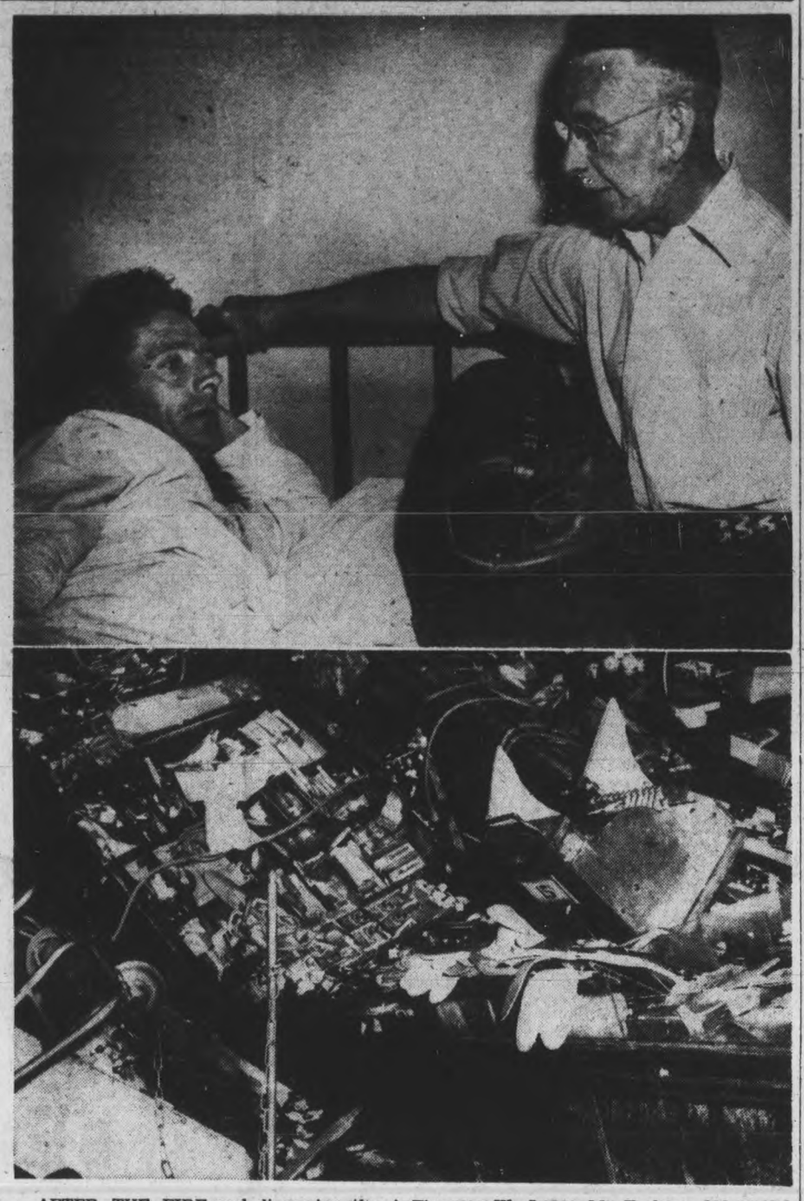
One of the most exacting casualties of the blaze, according to the store manager who has been in charge of the establishment for the past 16 years, was the loss of a large supply of Christmas gifts, which had already come in to the store in advance of the season. Included also was a shipment of paint newly-arrived and this was added to the casualty list.

Real Smoke-Easters

When the fire started, a first glance showed that a terrific pressure was being built up inside the store and it was only the quick action of the fire department that stopped an explosion which might have cost many lives. Speculation as to what would have happened had this happened were rife throughout the crowd, and flashing photographers' light bulbs made everyone in the crowd recoil in apprehension.

One of the main comments of the evening was that of amazement that the firemen could sit and pour the water in through the gaping windows while clouds of smoke encircled their heads. That more did not collapse can be credited, the writer is informed, to the strict method of training these lads get—P.T. every morning, drills, lectures, and other training. It was doubtless this training which enabled the firemen to service their hose, quickly in several breaks that occurred, when to the onlooker the water streams were most hopelessly tangled.

To show how stubborn the blaze was—and it defied the efforts of the firemen, for some hours, either to locate or confine—at 2 o'clock the cellar way on Simcoe street showed the level of the water in the cellar to be at least five feet, but the blaze still merrily roared on in the rafters, minutes later.



Army authorities in Peterborough from the 50th HAA (PWR) Regiment arrived on the scene early and proferred gas masks to assist the firemen in their smoke ordeal, but these could not be used because of their type. CGE masks especially made for the job, however, were soon forthcoming, and made a great difference at a most opportune time.

Every trick of the trade was used in fighting this stubborn blaze, including tearing a hole through the west side of the main wall, while across the street a potato chip car surrendered to the inevitable "Sold Out" sign rather early in the battle.

Fate seemed to be taking a whack at not only the store but at the manager as well. He had just completed a brand new set of offices in the west side of the building, the writer was informed by a close friend, but fortunately damage was light in the new suite.

It was rough on the workers today in Peterborough's industries, since many did not have more than three or four hours sleep before that alarm bell went off.

And it will be rough on quite a few hundreds of shoppers and downtown clerical staffs when, at noontime, they look for the store's lunch counter and find it closed.

AFTER THE FIRE and discussing the "smoke and muck of battle" which laid them and 17 others out in hospital, are these two casualties of Tuesday night's blaze. PUNCHED CLOCK AT 8.47

Harvey Silvester, caretaker at Kresge's store punched his time card at 8.47 last night according to the card which was shown a reporter this morning. Less than three quarters of an hour after he left the building was a furnace. Today the aisles of the store look like a roller-coaster, and in several places have caved in.

STORM CATCHES BOATS

A sudden electrical storm, accompanied by hail and rain, trapped many boats on Pigeon Lake Tuesday afternoon. The storm came up with almost no warning, giving the anglers little chance to head for shelter.

STILL ON DUTY

Red-eyed firemen, tired after last night's blaze, remained on duty this morning despite hours of fire-fighting. Only those overcome by smoke or exhaustion were able to stay away. In other words the day staff, who worked all day yesterday were called in when the fire started, then had to stay right on this morning.

PICTURES STOP CROWD

Pictures of the fire in the S.S. Kresge building posted in The Examiner window gathered a crowd from workers rushing home at noon today. The pictures will remain in the window until tomorrow.

FLOWER ENTRIES

For the flower show at the Exhibition, the time for receiving entries has been extended to Tuesday at 6 p.m. Wm. C. Wilks of that committee pointed out that this is a change from the former practice, and should be noted by flower growers who intend to exhibit here. Their exhibits must be in the hands of the committee between 6 and 10 p.m. Wednesday, August 25.

EXPENSE MONEY

With light expenditure from its 1948 appropriations which were intended for the quest of new industries, the council could afford to dip into the industrial committee funds for $300 to send Mrs. Pansy Forbes' swimming girls to Des Moines, Iowa. The members of the Ornamental Swimming Club collected $700, raised $400 themselves, and asked the council to help them make up the rest. The $300 came from Ald. P. J. Anglesey's committee with the council's sanction Monday and on the chairman's motion, seconded by Ald. Herbert Young.

SELL TWO HOUSES

Council has directed City Clerk Outram to advertise for sale the houses at 997 and 1001 Water St., to be moved by the purchasers to another site.

ON HAND

City council was represented at the Kresge fire last night. Mayor W. G. Ovens in bedroom slippers and pyjama coat, was present with Aldermen Herb Young and P. J. Anglesey to give whatever help was needed.

QUIET, PLEASE

Some city people wonder why ambulances have to blow their sirens in the early morning, when there are only a few cars on the streets. One irate resident complained this morning, saying he needed his sleep, and that he didn't like to be aroused by a siren.

DIES IN SCOTLAND

Marjory Mowry, 18-month-old daughter of R. B. (Babe) Mowry, 678 Park St., died in Edinburgh, Scotland on Tuesday. She had been in Scotland with her mother on an extended vacation since May of this year. She is survived by her parents, and one sister, four-year-old Helen.

Youth Sentenced To Year In Reformatory

William Holland, 22, of 85 Hunter St. West, was sentenced to one year in reformatory by Magistrate A. E. Gee Tuesday when he was found guilty of breaking, entering and theft from the grocery store of Peter Goselin. The offence for which the youth was sentenced was on Aug. 5. Holland was arrested by Constable Donald MacKay, on the city force after a cat-and-mouse type vigil which lasted most of the night.

PC MacKay told the story of the capture in his evidence during the trial, which carried over into afternoon court. He had first seen the accused shortly after midnight, at which times answers as to his destination and other details aroused the policeman's suspicions.

He saw the accused several times after that, said MacKay, in the general vicinity of the Goselin grocery store—at the corner of Hunter and Queen streets. Holland had been sitting on the lawn of St. John's Church, across the road from the store. With Constable Vern O'Donaghue, MacKay had watched for nearly an hour until Holland again went away.

MacKay continued to watch the area. Then Holand re-appeared, he said.

Lifted Grating

"He walked to the sidewalk grating at the side of the store, lifted the grating and slid down into the hole, which leads to the basemnt of the store," the police story continued.

Signalling Constable Allan Edmison, who was standing at the corner of Hunter and Water streets, MacKay and Edmison approached the store. MacKay said he could hear the accused walking over the piles of coal in the basement.

Edmison went to the back of the store building to cover the rear entrance, and MacKay kept his eye on the front door and the sidewalk grating, which he said Holland had replaced after getting into the cellar.

"I could hear him moving around inside the store and I heard a sound I later found out was the cash register opening."

MacKay arrested Holland as the accused opened the front door and started to leave, he said. This was about five o'clock in the morning.

Denies Evidence

The accused, in his own defence, denied having been in the store that night. He said that his work—with a city restaurant—required him to be at work by five o'clock in the morning and that he passed the Goselin store on his way to work. As he was passing there, the said, he saw that the door was open and [illegible] the screen door to [illegible] up when the policeman stuck the gun in my back and arrested me", he told the court.

Police evidence was given that a search of Holland after the arrest showed he was carrying $25.87 in cash, 177 one-cent stamps and an apparently new jack-knife. Peter Goselin, owner of the store, testified that the amounts of cash and stamps were about what was missing from his store and that a knife had been recently taken from a card there.

Defence evidence mentioned that the accused, who had been paid two days before the alleged offence, had about that amount of cash with him. He said that he had the large amount of stamps because his father asked him to buy them to replace some the son had used. However, the father's evidence did not mention this agreement.

Magistrate Gee found the accused guilty on the evidence. W. B. Gordon acted for the defence.

Salmon Supply Burned

SEATTLE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fire destroyed main buildings and 14,000 cases of salmon at the Kodiak Fisheries Cannery, 40 miles northwest of Kodiak, Alaska, Monday night, with loss estimated at $500,000. No one was injured.

Rambling Reporter

NOT TOO GOOD

Fire causes a lot of trouble that generally doesn't show up in the newspapers. Take for example the two men who watched the Kresge fire last night, one with all the zeal of an amateur firewatcher and the other with a glum look. The zealous one turned to the glum one and said:

"Good fire, eh?"

"I don't see anything good about it, my wife's teeth are in a dentist's office up there," answered the glum one.

Another onlooker moaned that his teeth were in there, too.

Authority Given Council To Expropriate

Authority to expropriate a road width through Morrow Park was provided in a bylaw passed by the council Monday. It was introduced by Ald. Adam Sands and seconded by Ald. Grant Miller. This action is for the extension of George St. through the exhibition park as requested by petitioners from south of Lansdowne St.

South end residents have told the council that they have the moral support of people throughout the city who hold that with the new development of the entire area south of Lansdowne St. the termination of George St. at that old boundary between the city and township should be no longer accepted. Their contention is that Peterborough is entering upon a distinctly new phase of expansion, that it should be generally recognized, and that the relation of the old exhibition grounds to the city has radically changed. Appreciation of the Morrow Park gift has been expressed with sympathy for the aims and plans of the exhibition directors, but community and realty developments during and since the war demand constructive attention now for adjustment of future public facilities.

Exhibition directors have intimated that if the street goes through the park, they would not be able to operate any longer. A faintly articulate sentiment in the city is that some activity akin to the agricultural society's show should be an annual feature, but, looking on their part to the future, the farmers and citizens who carry on the enterprise should enquire into the possibilities of moving to a larger area that could be bought at a reasonable figure.

Experienced directors simply answer that Morrow Park is big enough for our requirements and that its location is an advantage for many of the citizens.

Owners Return To Find House Ramsacked

A break-in discovered Tuesday morning when the vacationing householders returned from holidays resulted in the loss of jewellry, cothing and cash estimated at about $200. The thieves made their entry into the home of R. W. Turner at 362 Monaghan Rd. sometime during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Turner since Aug. 9.

Missing were: a man's shirt, a sliver bracelet, a gold broach, an engagement ring, overnight bag and $5 cash, and a fur hat.

Entry was made through the kitchen window by prying off the screen window, jimmying the window itself and breaking the lock.

The house had been well ransacked, the owners found.

July Figures Show Big Gain In Water Used

Waterworks department reported July pumpage of 141,224,000 gallons as compared with 121,050,000 gals. in July last year, an increase of 20 million gals. or 650,000 gals. a day on the average.

"A large part of this increase was due to the growth in population, but in addition, the much smaller rainfall induced the use of lawn watering service. Rainfall for the month was 1.68 inches as compared with 4.41 in July, 1947.

Maximum rate of pumpage was 8.6 million gallons a day for two hours in the evening of July 21. The pumpage was increasing at such a rate that it was thought wise to institute restrictions on lawn watering. They were imposed July 12. Half the consumers were allowed to use the hose one night, and the rest on the next night.

A new automatic chlorinator of large capacity was installed during the month, and a chlorine residual recorder. The latter machine will provide a record of the chlorine used and thus draw attention to over-dosing.

In order to provide sufficient water, the rate of filtration was increased by 50% during the month.

During the month 838 feet of 6-inch main were laid on Morrow, Morphet and Montgomery Streets to supply service to a housing development in that neighborhood. There is still a quantity of 6-inch main to do in this locality as well as all the house services.

We laid 755 feet of 6-inch main on Sherbourne Street from Lansdowne to Montgomery, and 195 feet of 6-inch on Curtis and Swanston Avenues. Thirty-four new water services were installed, mostly on the above mains.

Electric Department

We started the use of propane-air gas on July 1, 1948, and we have given some details in a special report, so that these need not be repeated here.

Electric Department .....

The peak for July was 22,700 h.p. as compared with 21,700 last July, an increase of 1,000 horsepower. June of this year was 2,000 h.p. over last year.

The work of rebuilding the electric circuits in the Exhibition Grounds and the lighting of the race track was started during the month, and will be completed about the middle of August. This work is being done at the expense of the Exhibition Board.

Ten new street lights were added in the south and west ends, and some other re-built.

The foundation for the new East City substation was poured and we are now ready for the installation of the apparatus. Seventy-six 3-wire services were installed and eighteen 2-wire.

In the Peterborough Rural Operating Area we built three-tenths of a mile of line in Harvey Township and a short stretch in Otonabee. The Provincial Police radio station was made alive, as well as the Drive-In Theatre.

The cable crossing Chemong Lake was moved to clear the new fill at the west end of the bridge. Forty-seven additional flat rate water hearters were connected. The total in the city is now 3,884.

British Company Opens Plant In Hamilton

TORONTO, Aug. 18.— (CP).—Premier Drew announced Tuesday night the Austin Motor Company, Lt., British automobile manufacturer, has completed arrangements to purchase a plant in Hamilton, where cars will be produced for the Canadian market.

The Ontario premier said in a statement that the Ontario Planning Department assisted in the negotiations.

"This is one of the companies with which I had discussions while I was in London this summer," the statement said. "The decision to start with production in Canada not only means the beginning of a new and important industry but also offers convincing evidence of confidence in the future expansion of business in this country."

The premier noted that Austin is the first British auto company to decide to make cars here.

A Toronto paper said in a newspage story that production of trucks and cars for the western hemisphere and the Orient, as well as for Canada, will be undertaken immediately.

The story said the company has purchased McNaughton Hall, a wartime plant named after Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, from War Assets Corporation. tl says company plans call for the plant to be assembling cars within three months.

It is estimated the plant will employ between 800 and 1,000 workers, with the initial schedule calling for 200 to 500 cars a week.

Both Canadian and American officials insist Mr. Forrestal's visit is purely a friendly one, despite the fact he wields a mean club.

Lambeth Conference Approves Merging Of Protestant Churches

LONDON, Aug. 18 — (AP). — The Lambeth Conference of Anglican churchmen gave its blessing Tuesday night to efforts to merge the non-Roman churches of Christendom for a United struggle against Communism and immorality.

But it warned of "the seriousness of the theological issues involved" and declared:

"No scheme of union can come to a successful issue which does not take account of and preserve the comprehensiveness of the Anglican tradition."

Its views are set forth in an encyclical letter and resolutions made public after the Conference of Prelates — including Canadians — of the Church of England, the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and other churches which, although autonomous, follow a common liturgy and are loosely bound by tradition.

Resolutions said "theological issues....should be faced at the outset" of merger negotiations: "Unification of the ministry.... is likely to be a prerequisite to success"; and "the goal in any steps toward a united church within a given area should always be a church with which the Anglican churches could eventually be in full communion."

No Reference

Neither the encyclical letter nor the resolutions made any mention of Anglican relations with the Roman Catholic Church.

The report of the Conference's Committee on Church Unity, however, said a 1928 encyclical letter by Pope Pius XI made it "abundantly plain that the only method of re-union which Rome will accept is that of submission to the papacy."

"There are no signs whatever of any abatement of this demand in the last 20 years," the report added, "nor is there any possibility of its acceptance by the churches of the Anglican communion...."

"In spite, however, of the unyielding attitude of the Roman Catholic church with ragerd to re-union and matters of faith, there have been signs in recent years of a greater willingness to take common action with other Christians in the international and social field....

"We believe there is a considerable willingness on the part of members of the Anglican communion to enter into a fruitful co-operation with Roman Catholic on a common ground.

Puzzled

"But we are frankly puzzled by the apparent contradiction between these repeated general invitations to co-operation which the Pope himself has issued and the attitude of many Roman Catholics in particular countries when it comes to definite programs."

The report said there have been some "striking exceptions to this unwillingness to co-operate in definite schemes on equal terms."

The encyclical letter said the formation of the church of South India — organized in a historically significant merger—had given rise to "uncertainty or grave misgivings in the minds of many."

This church was formed of Anglican, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Congregational churches. Of this merger the letter said::

"For the first time since the great division of Christendom at the Reformation, an Act of Union has taken place in which Episcopal and non-Episcopal traditions have been united."

Game of Contract Bridge Going To Change October 1

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP). — The game of contract bridge is going to change Oct. 1, but many bridge players will never know it.

A committee of British and American bridge experts has been studying the rules of the game for a year and a half, and has come up with a new international bridge code which was tested recently at the semi-annual National World Bridge Tournament here.

The new code will be officially adopted Oct. 1.

The new laws, according to one of their formulators, will do little to change the game, except:

"The code was prepared to present the old laws more clearly and in a more logical sequence than had previously been the case, and to mitigate certain penalties which tended to impose certain hardships on players based largely on technicalities."

Suppose you are a housewife who meets once a month with the girls to play a little bridge.

In the midst of a heated discussion on the high cost of just about everything, say that you lead a card out of turn. What happens?

In all probability, one of the girls will remark, "It's not your turn, dear," and, thus corrected, the play lurches on.

The new rules won't affect this type of bridge game, chiefly because the old rules didn't affect it much either.

Here It Counts

But if you're a dyed-in-the-wool bridge shark, playing with three others of your species, and you lead out of turn —

Well, under the old rules the declarer — that's the man who got the bid on the hand — could then tell you which suit to lead or, if he chose, prohibit the lead of any one suit.

Under the new code the card led out of turn merely becomes an exposed card. You leave it lying face upward on the table and must play it at the first opportunity. The declared may, if he wishes, forbid the lead of that particular suit, but that suit only.

The bid-out-of-turn laws have been simplified. Under the previous code, when there was a bid out of turn the severity of the penalty depended upon where the errant bidder sat. Under the new laws, if you bid out of turn your partner is simply barred from bidding for the rest of that hand.

Bodyguard's Wife Seeking Separation

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 18—(AP)—The wife of a former bodyguard of President Roosevelt is seeking legal separation from her husband because, she alleges, he "consorted with a woman" not named in papers filed Monday by Belgian-born Mrs. Simone Miller.

The action is directed against Earl R. Miller, 51, personal bodyguard for Roosevelt when Roosevelt was governor of New York state.

Miler denied the allegations in an affidavit.

Thyssen Tried By German Court

KOENIGSTEIN, Germany, Aug. 18—(AP)—Fritz Thyssen, 74, former Ruhr steel king who broke with Adolf Hitler at the outbreak of war, went on trial today before a German denazification court.

The aged industrialist said he was without personal property and hoped to go to Argentina where his daughter resides.

He described himself as "stateless," his citizenship having been revoked by Hitler, and announced he has no intention of seeking German citizenship again.

Thyssen fled to Switzerland the day before the outbreak of war in 1939. He telegraphed Hitler that he opposed Nazi war policy.

Human Touch • Success Secret Claxton Says

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Aug. 18 — (CP). — It's the human touch that is the secret behind the success of North American Co-operation, Defence Minister Claxton said Tuesday night.

Mr. Claxton, one of a number of speakers at a dinner here to commemorate the 1940 Roosevelt-King agreement on joint defence, spoke of his meeting with Defence Minister Secretary Forrestal of the United States as an example of that success.

Mr. Forrestal had completed a two-day meeting in Ottawa with Mr. Claxton and the defence committee of the cabinet, details of discussions were not made public.

"We are on a first-name basis," said Mr. Claxton. "We know one another and that is the secret of our success."

Called Home

Mr. Forrestal, scheduled to share in the formalities at Ogdensburg with Mr. Claxton, was called back to Washington and was unable to participate. He motored from here to Massena, N.Y., and flew to Washington in his private plane.

Tribute at the dinner, crowded with Commonwealth and American representatives, was paid the American troops by Hon. Francis Forde, Australian High Commissioner at Ottawa and defence minister of his country during the war. He recalled that 600,000 troops were based in his country during hostilities.

Admiral Walter Delaney, commander of the third U.S. Naval District, recalled that he had had the Canadian Cruiser Ontario under his command in the Pacific during the war. Such co-operation was essential, he said, if Canada and the United States are to work together and fight together to put down any potential trouble.

Dr. G. M. Geldert, acting Mayor of Ottawa, whose entire city council was present, urged Americans to come to Canada as much as possible. Their dollars would help the Dominion get rid of restrictions on travel which "we abhor."

Police Find Body Believed Lost Hunter

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug. 18 (CP).—A badly decomposed body, believed to be that of 40-year-old Rod Masson, has been found in the Syrette Lake area, a few miles east of here.

Masson disappeared in that area Nov. 7, 1947. Search parties combed the area for several weeks before abandoning the search.

Dr. J. E. Gimby, coroner, has asked for the assistance of an identification expert from the Provincial Police office at Sudbury. Masson was on a deer-hunting expedition when his disappeared. A rifle was found near the body.

Remand Edward Hill Until August 30th

BRANTFORD, Aug. 18—(CP) —Edward T. Hill, 50-year-old Six Nations Indian, was remanded today until Aug. 30 on a charge of murdering 43-year-old May Maracle with whom he lived in a two-room farm house at the nearby reservation.

The woman's body was found Aug. 6 huddled beneath bedclothes in the farm house bedroom. She had been beaten to death. Police said Hill reported to the RCMP shortly after the body has found and said he had killed her.

It is expected a pathologist's report will be complete before Hill appears for preliminary hearing.

Believe Younger Generation Revolts Against Divorce

LONDON, Aug. 18 — (AP). — The younger generation, anxious for homes, is beginning to revolt against easy divorce, the Lambeth Conference of the Anglican Church declared Tuesday night.

Reaffirming its own strong stand for marriage discipline, including a ban on the church marriage of a divorced person, the Conference by resolution declared:

"Inasmuch as easy divorce in Great Britain, the United States, and elsewhere, has gravely weakened the idea of a lifelong nature of marriage and has also brought untold suffering to children, this Conference urges that there is a strong case for the reconsideration by certain states of their divorce laws."

The Lambeth encyclical, which will be read in all Anglican churches on October 10, said of divorce:

"While we should not forget that faithful and happy marriages still far outnumbered those that fail, yet the prevalence of divorce and the easy acceptance of it gravely threaten the stability of individual, home, and family life and cause great suffering to innocent children thus deprived of the security of home. We believe that there is, especially among younger people, the beginning of a revolt against the degrading of marriage and a desire for homes made stable by the vows of obligation and the bond of children."

Continue a Problem

Although the Conference affirmed that "the marriage of one whose former partner is still living may not be celebrated according to the rites of the church, unless it has been established that there exists no marriage bond recognized by the church," the encyclical recognized that such marriages will continue to present a problem.

"When there has been a divorce and remarriage," the declaration said, "the church must keep those concerned within its partoral care and love, recognizing with sympathy and understanding the suffering and distress which have been inflicted upon many of them and desiring for the sinful repentance."

The encyclical and resolutions did not mention a section of the Conference's committee report on proposals to revise the church canon law to provide for establishment of "nullity courts."

These would be provincial or diocesan courts within the church which would review cases in which a divorce has been granted but in which, it is contended, a decree of nullity might have been obtained.

Some Compromise

Under canon law, the church would not withhold remarriage or the sacrament from persons separated by some nullity decisions, although the committee warned "that some of the grounds on which the civil courts in some countries may now grant a declaration of nullity are not recognized by the church."

The question of withholding sacrament from divorced persons will be left to the decision of individual bishops.

The Conference reiterated previous church warnings to Anglican communicants "against contracting marriages with Roman Catholics under the conditions imposed by modern Roman canon law."

Average Earnings

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—(CP) — The average hourly earnings of recorded wage-earners hit a high of 90.6 cents at June 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday. The figure compared with 89.4 cents at May 1 and with 79.9 cents at June 1, 1947.

DOROTHY DIX

Ex-career Woman Yearns To Be Back At Work Again

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Before I married I was a successful business woman, earning a good salary. I was happy because I had something interesting to do and because I could help my family, who are very poor.

Three years ago I got married and my husband absolutely refuses to let me work outside of my home. I am well and strong and we have no children, and I would love to be able to go back to work in order to be able to help my family who are actually hungry. When I sit down to my table to eat, my food chokes me, because I know my relatives are starving.

Dorothy Dix

My husband makes a good living but he will not give me a dollar to help my people. Don't you think this is mean of him?

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is very mean and cruel of your husband not to give you the money to help your people who need it so badly, but if he will not do it he certainly should not object to your going to work and earning it yourself.

Inconsistent

Strange that a man should think that when a woman marries she severs all the ties of blood, and that she no longers aches with the sorrows of her own family! Strange that a man should think that a woman could be tender and loving and loyal to him and yet be hard and callus and disloyal to the mother who bore her, to the father who cherished her, to the brothers and sisters who grew up with her!

When a man marries a woman he monopolizes her time. He keeps her from earning money with which she can do as she pleases, and in common honesty he owes it to her to give her some money that she can spend as she chooses. Many men do not do this, however, and so they drive their wives to making padded accounts at the stores where they have charge accounts. That is why the woman whose husband forces her to deal with him dishonestly comes, in time, to hate him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been told that I lack tact and I would like to correct my fault if I can. Is it a gift, or can it be acquired?

A YOUNG GIRL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In its highest expression, tact is a gift of the gods. Some persons are born with it, but others have to acquire it, which can be done by simply putting the Golden Rule into execution. It is treating others as we would like to have them treat us, and saying to others what we would like them to say to us.

Lovely Countess Accompanying Lord Mountbatten

Countess Mountbatten, CI, DCVO, CBE, who with her husband the Rt. Hon. Earl Mountbatten arrive in Toronto, August 27 to open the CNE, will wear a Hartnell suit in plum wool. Her hat in matching color will be trimmed with plumes of osprey.

This attractive, gay and vital woman, now 47, was once headlined British wealthiest heiress, being the favorite granddaughter of Sir Ernest Cessel, fabulously rich British financier. Tall and blonde, she was born Edwina Ashley and was goddaughter of King Edward VII.

On her father's side Countess Mountbatten claims descent from the Indian princess, Pocahontas, and on her mother's side from a line of Jewish princes who ruled Israel in Biblical days. Her grandfather, among other spectacular ventures, reconstructed the finances of the Argentine government, also turned the Nile Valley into a land of fertility.

Edwina Ashley became engaged to Lord Louis Mountbatten in India where she was the guest of one of the Indian princes. Lord Louis was at the time aide-de-camp to his cousin the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, who was then making an extended Empire tour. Lord Louis was 22 and the Countess not quite 21 at the time of the engagement.

Their wedding was a brilliant affair, attended by royalty and the highest British society. Lord Louis had the Prince of Wales as his best man and the bride, who had seven attendants, wore a gown of soft silver tissue with a court train.

A healthy outdoor type, Countess Mountbatten is an excellent golfer and ardent traveller. Between the wars she travelled to all parts of the world as often aboard tramp steamers as on luxury liners. One of the family's favorite summer homes was Classiebawn Castle in County Sligo, Ireland.

During World War II, the Countess energetically espoused the Home Service cause. Their homes were twice bombed and their pre-war way of living completely abandoned. She became among other things Superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Nursing Brigade and in this capacity came to Canada in 1941. Then she visited Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg and Montreal.

In March of last year she and the Viscount left for India to complete the difficult task of transferring power into the hands of the Indian Government. Countess Mountbatten spent a great part of her time making visits up and down the country to hospitals and schools.

The Mountbattens have two daughters, both of whom have inherited their parents' exceptional good looks. They are Patricia, 22, now Lady Barbourne, mother of the first grandchild, and Pamela, 18, who was with them in India.

The Earl and Countess arrive in Canada by air August 25, and will be guests in Ottawa of Viscount Alexander, Governor General of Canada and Lady Alexander.

Manslaughter Charge

MONTREAL, Aug. 18 — (CP). — Georges Morin was charged with manslaughter Tuesday, less than two hours after a coroner's jury had found him criminally responsible for the death of taxi-driver Rene Collard. Collard was killed Aug. 10 when he was struck by an autobus driven by Morin.

Joe Louis skyrocketed back into the world's heavyweight challengers' circle 12 years ago today when he flattened Jack Sharkey, old Boston sailor, in three rounds at New York. The Brown Bomber reached the top June 22, 1937, with an eight-round decision over Champion Jimmy Braddock.

Aussies Drop England By An Innings

LONDON, Aug. 18 (Reuters).— Australia to-day defeated England by an innings and 149 runs in the fifth and last test match of the season. Australia took the series with four victories and one draw, thus retaining the mythical Ashes, emblem of victory in cricket contests between the two countries.

England's last three wickets in their second innings fell in 20 minutes this morning for the addition of 10 runs put England out in their second innings for 188. The game was played at the Kennington Oval, home of the Surrey County Cricket Club, south of the River Thames.

The English team wass kittled out in the first innings for only 52 runs, lowest total on record for a test in England. Australia replied with a first-innings score of 389.

Bill Johnston took all three remaining English wickets this morning in 14 balls off which three runs were scored.

With the score at 181, Alec Bedser, the Surrey and England bowler, was bowled without scoring. His fellow-bowler Young gat 3 before Norman Yardley was caught by Miller and Hollies hit a high ball to Morris who made the catch.

After the game Don Bradman, Australia's veteran captain, confirmed in a speech to the spectators that this was his last Test Match. He plans to retire from the game.

LAWN BOWLING

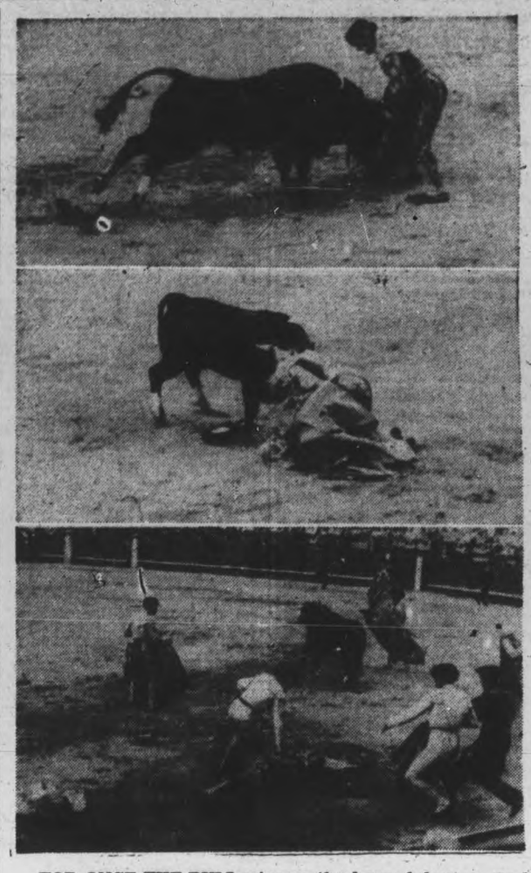
By HERB MARTIN

It is quite likely that within a day or so we may have a special announcement to make on the Selkirk trophy tournament.

Up to the present we have more entries for the Black memorial trophy tournament than we had last season. We can still take more. You local boys who intend to play, get busy.

We notice that the boys playing in Toronto won one game and lost two on Monday, and then lost their Tuesday morning game. But we imagine that it was a good outing and that they had a grand time.

Don't forget the mixed tonight at 7.30 o'clock.



Friday night men's doubles at 7.00 o'clock.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The death of Babe Ruth in New York got front page play in many a Canadian newspaper Tuesday but the man who was later to become a baseball great got scant attention in his first game in Canada 24 years ago.

The Montreal Star dug up the report of that game played in Montreal May 16, 1914. Ruth pitched for Baltimore Orioles, who lost to Montreal 5-2, and allowed six hits, struck a batter and gave up four bases on balls.

The unknown sports writer who penned the piece dwelt on Montreal's hurler Bob Couchman. He dispatched Ruth in one sentence: "On the other hand, Ruth, a pitcher Jack Dunn found on the lots and proved to be an early-season phenomenon, was hit in timely fashion."

Johnny Mariucci, 38-year-old defenceman with the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, Tuesday was released to the St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League. Mariucci will play and captain Flyers and also serve as a scout for Black Hawks.

At Brockville, burly Mike McMahon, defenceman with Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League the last two seasons, Tuesday announced his retirement as a hockey player. A native of Brockville, McMahon played with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League before going to Buffalo in 1946.

Plans for an east-west playoff for the Dominion Junior Football championship this season are practically complete, Myer Insky, president of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, said Tuesday night at Montreal. The Quebec junior winners will meet Ontario for the Eastern Canada title Nov. 6 with the winner meeting the western champions for the Dominion crown.

Robert H. Brennan, 25, Hamilton groom, was arraigned Tuesday at Los Angeles on four counts of administering narcotics to two winning race horses at Hollywood Park for $100. Bond was fixed at $25,000 and a preliminary hearing set for Aug. 23.

Par suffered Tuesday at the Calgary Golf and Country Club where South African Bobby Locke shot a four-under-par 66 in an exhibition test against two local golfers and professional Stan Leonard of Vancouver. Compared to Leonard's out performance of two-over-par 37, Locke shot 34 and took 32 on the nine to Leonard's 35.

More than 45 yachts with skippers from Canada, Bermuda and the United States were set Tuesday for the first International 14 Championship Dinghy Regatta on Lake Ontario at Rochester, N.Y. Sailors from the Royal Canadian Yacht Club in Toronto and the Royal St. Lawrence Club in Montreal are entered.

Castleton Farm's Indian Land, with Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., in the sulky, Tuesday beat Newport Farms' Forbes Chief to carry off the Directum I stake for aged pacers in Tuesday's Grand Circuit at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield, Ill. O'Brien drove Indian Land in 2.01 1-5 in the second heat.

OLD SUPERSTITION

For centuries in England, rings blessed by the sovereign — called cramp rings — were worn to ward off attacks of cramp, scrofula and epilepsy.

WOMEN AS WELL AS MEN are ardent tuna fishermen at Wedgeport, Nova Scotia. Mrs. Kip Farrington of New York, wife of the noted big game angler and writer, plays a big one that weighed well over 600 pounds when finally landed.

Waltz Becoming Favorite American Dance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLWOOD, Aug. 18 (AP).— The waltz is taking over as the No. 1 American dancing pastime, reports Hoofer Gene Kelly. The reason: Women's fashions.

"It seems the dance cycle is just about complete; everything in the way of dance steps has been done," Kelly said. "Women's fashions and dancing are pretty well allied. Girls can't jitterbug in New-Look gowns. So they have to slow down to a waltz."

Red Herrings

John Wayne is grousing about Montgomery Clift getting the spotlight in the "Red River" publicity. "I like the kid a lot," said John, who now is in "Wake of The Red Witch" (will he be investigated because of these titles?) "but I carry the picture on my back and give the best damned performance of my career."

Ginger Rogers is already being asked by fans if she and Fred Astaire will follow up "Barkleys" with more co-starrers. Her answer: "My next picture will be with Lew Ayres (her ex-hubby) and I will neither sing nor dance in it. After that, who knows? If Fred and I can find suitable stories, we'll do more. I'd like to alternate musicals with straight roles."

Orson's Error

Orson Welles made a tactical error (not his first) in not getting his "Macbeth" to the theatres before Sir Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet." His film, shot in 21 days, is bound to suffer in comparison with Olivier's, made in 100 days plus. The report is that "Macbeth" is a good picture, but it should have been out first, as it could have been if Orson hadn't tarried in Italy.

Capsule Review

"Rachael and The Stranger" (RKO) is the type of film that will bring folks back to the movie theatres. It's an intellignet, tasteful drama of an early American farmer (William Holden) who takes a bondswoman (Loretta Young) as his wife. His adjustment to her, aided by the interference of a woodsman (Robert Mitchum), makes a refreshingly different picture.

Welgress Chairman

GENEVA, Aug. 1 — (CP). — Signatories of the Geneva tariff agreement Tuesday elected L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian Ambassador to Switzerland, chairman of the 23-country group. The contracting countries participating in the pact unanimously agreed to open new bilateral tariff negotiations in the spring with six non-members — Denmark, Finland, Greece, Haiti, Sweden and Italy.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THE START DECIDES IT

Every thorough bridge book, on the general subject of how to win, devotes a great deal of space to the choice of the opening lead. This is as it should be, since a large share of all contracts of a close nature depends far more on the opening lead than on any other play to the thirteen tricks. As a matter of fact in many cases the most damaging opening lead will defeat the contract, whereas any other lead will enable the declarer to drive home with success.

	♠ Q J 10 6 4 2 ♥ J 8 6 2 ♦ None ♣ Q J 9
♠ 5 3 ♥ None ♦ A K 10 9 8 7 6 2 ♣ 10 6 3	N W E S	♠ K ♥ A K Q 7 5 ♦ Q 3 ♣ K 8 7 4 2
	♠ A 9 8 7 ♥ 10 9 4 3 ♦ J 5 4 ♣ A 5

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).

South	West	North	East
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	3 NT	4 ♠	5 ♦
Dbl.	Rdbl.

The opening lead chosen by North was his spade Q, the A of course winning the K. South saw at once that the hearts in the dummy would furnish to West just about all the discards he might require in clubs, so that no trick would be taken by the defense in that suit unless it be done right away. So he laid down the club A to hold the declarer to exactly his contract, since this was in a tournament duplicate game.

Now notice what would have happened if North had led his club Q. That would have produced two club tricks which, together with the spade A, would have beaten the contract.

North should have preferred the club lead, even though he did not have a three-card solid sequence, over the better spade combination. Why? Because North had so many spades that one defender or the other must be short in the suit. The lack of solidity in the club trebleton could hardly hurt unless West had one of the two tops and also the 10 in dummy—extremely unlikely on the bidding. Both West and East could easily hold enough cards in clubs for that lead to establish a trick in a normal way, and that suit accordingly should have been opened by North.

Why would 7-No Trumps be a somewhat safer contract on a deal like this than 7-Hearts?

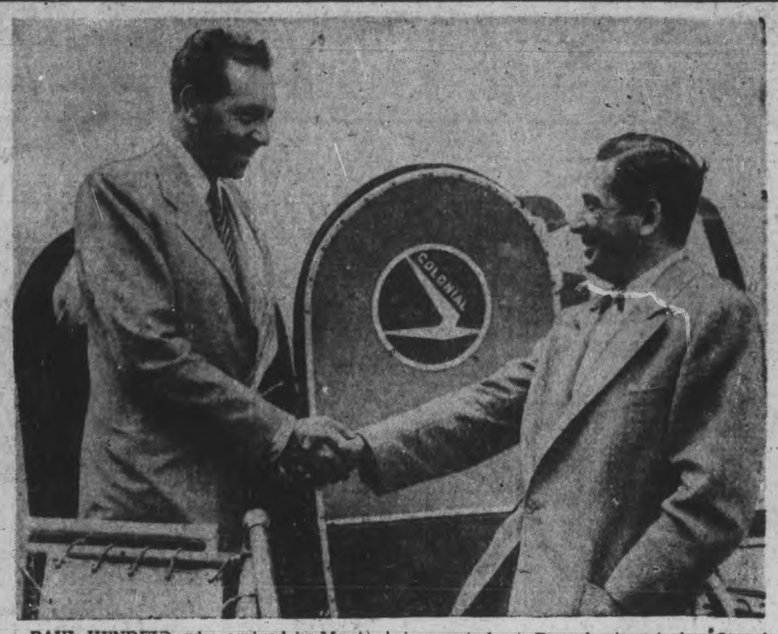
Find Livestock Markets Still Uncertain

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Livestock markets across Canada were still in a state of uncertainty today following the ending Monday of the embargo of beef shipments to the United States.

Price increases were shown across the country, but officials of various livestock markets said it would be some days before the situation was stabilized.

At Winipeg Monday top butcher steers increased by $6.50 to $30 per hundredweight, believed an all-time high on Canadian markets. At Toronto beef prices gained $5 to $6 a hundredweight, indicating increases in the retail market of between nine and 15 cents a pound.

But no stable levels had been established. Buyers and sellers were unable to agree on definite ranges. United States buyers on the Toronto market were said holding off.



Unsteady For Week

Livestock traders said it would be a week or two before the market was stabilized. The price of Canadian livestock will be influenced by what this beef will bring in the United States. Top price for steers at Toronto rose from about $23.50 to $27. Other beef rates rose accordingly.

Many butchers had laid in stocks in anticipation of the rise by producers. In some other places, the consumers were not so fortunate. At St. Thomas, the price soared as much as 12 cents a pound.

Butchers have expressed fear of buyer resistance.

Housewives choosing the cheaper cuts of meat have found that they too had advanced, in some cases 100 per cent. over the pre-war rate.

Magistrate Raps Hebrew Press

JERUSALEM, Aug. 18—(Reuters).— Magistrate Moshe Goldberg today hit out at "irresponsible and inaccurate" reporting in the Hebrew press of Monday's hearing of espionage charges against two Britons, Frederick Sylvester and William Hawkins.

When the trial was resumed today the magistrate specifically criticized one report which referred to the accused as "spies and traitors."

The press had a duty to bring an accurate version of the proceedings to the public, he said.

Sylvester, meanwhile, sat in the dock reading a report of the hearing in the English-language newspaper Palestine Post, while Hawkins kept his eyes on the ceiling.

As the first witness took the stand today a mortar shell exploded nearby and shook the court room.

Both men are officials of the Jerusalem Electric Corporation, and are two of five Britons originally aarrested by the terrorist Irgun Zvai Leumi. Their three colleagues were released.

John Waldon Hurt When Team Bolts

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 18—(ENS)—John Waldon of Gore's Landing was badly injured Monday afternoon when the team of horses with which he was drawing grain bolted, and he was forced to jump.

Waldon was taken to Cobourg General Hospital where doctors said he might have broken ribs, and possibly a broken ankle. He was also cut on the face.

After the team was backed up to the barn on the farm of William Harris where Waldon was working, the horses became frightened and ran down a steep hill near the barnyard, heading directly for a telephone pole.

Fearing they would hit the pole, Waldon jumped. The horses went on either side of the pole, tearing the harness off them. One was trapped when the load of grain toppled over onto it, but was rescued uninjured by men working on the threshing machine.

No US Troops Will Go To Palestine

Truman Gives Word GI's Only Sent As Part Of UN Force

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP) —President Truman said today the United States does not intend to send troops to Palestine or anywhere else except as a part of United Nations force under a U.N. decision.

There was his answer to a press conference question about the possible use of American troops in the strife-ridden Holy Land. Some United States military men are already in Palestine as U.N. truce observers and more are to be sent there.

The subject was brought up when a reporter wanted to know whether a $100,000,000 loan is being made to the new Jewish State of Israel.

Truman replied that such a loan is under consideration by the export-import bank, as previously reported. The Israeli government requested the loan to help pay for developmnt and reconstruction projects.

As for troops, Truman said none will be sent to Palestine or anywhere else except as a contribution to a U.N. force in line with U.N. decisions.

Russian Teacher Said Improving

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — Improvement was reported today in the condition of the Russian school teacher who a week ago leaped from the third floor of the Soviet Consulate.

During the night she had been reported sinking at Roosevelt hospital.

A bulletin issued at 11 a.m. EDT said:

"Mrs. (Oksana Stepanovna) Kosenkina's condition shows improvement this morning. Her temperature is 101. Pulse is 110, which is strong. Breathing more easily since being put under an oxygen tent. She ate a good breakfast."

The hospital said the patient had not been advised that the Soviet-Consul General had been invited to send a surgeon for consultation The invitation was issued yesterday by the hospital.

A spokesman for the hospital said today that it was similar to the invitation that would be extended to the private physician of any private patient, and was for consultation purposes only.

Lomakin received the suggestion courteously, Dr. Pennoyer said, declared he was anxious to confer personally with Dr. Pennoyer and agreed to a meeting today.

Dr. Pennoyer said he had not promised Lomakin the doctor he picked would be allowed to diagnose, prescribe or even examine Mrs. Kosenkina.

Walks 81 Miles On Rescue Trip

EDMONTON, Aug. 19. (CP)—A heroic 81-mile cross-country walk by a member of an equipment inspection party put him in hospital at Norman Wells, Northwest Territories, but resulted in the rescue of three other men and a woman in the party.

The five were stranded at the Twilya River after losing their jeep and all supplies when a raft, with which they were fording the river, capsized. The party was on a trip from White Horse, YT, to Norman Wells.

One man started the long cross-country walk and managed to get within nine miles of Norman Wells before collapsing. A truck from Norman Wells found him and took him to hospital.

Royal Canadian Air Force planes have dropped emergency supplies to the stranded quartet, of which two are believed sick, and a rescue party has set out from Norman Wells. Names of the persons in the party are not known.

Silent Thousands Watch Ruth Funeral Cortege

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — Funeral services for Babe Ruth in towering St. Patrick's Cathedral today climaxed mourning for the King of Baseball.

Silent thousands of persons, the famous who knew him in person and the obscure who admired him in spirit, thronged the Roman Catholic Cathedral and overflowed into Fifth Avenue.

Francis Cardinal Spellman presided at the Requiem High Mass. The great doors of the Cathedral were open to the public—symbolic said friends, of the Babe's open heart to the people in the bleachers and the kids in distant places to whom his name meant great sportsmanship.

About 6,000 persons crowded the Cathedral to the doors. Police estimated 50,000 others stood gravely outside under grey skies on hushed Fifth Avenue and surrounding area. A 250-man police detail was on duty for the largest funeral in New York in years.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York headed the list of honorary pallbearers who included prominent sportsmen and sports writers.

Among those present were Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York; Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, where the Babe began his big-league career with the Red Sox; and Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore, where Ruth got his first feel of a baseball mitt.

As great as the tribute of the famous was the grave silence of the thousands who waited mutely outside the Cathedral. The tangle of traffic grew still, thousands looked silently down from skyscraper windows and roofops as the measured clopping of the policemen's horses echoed in the streets.

Heavy Markups In Meats On Most Expensive Cuts

Despite the rising cost of beef and veal, the housewife can save money on meat. Heavy markups came only on the expensive cuts of beef, such as steak, and cuts from the hindquarters. The front-quarter cuts cost much less—good news for housewives weary of the rising cost of living.

Cliff Hartman, George St. butcher, said today that several cheaper cuts are available, such as the brisket, blade roast, short rib roast, chuck roast and plate rib roast.

These are all from the front-quarter, but require longer cooking than the expensive cuts. Mr. Hartman said: "There is no reason why these cuts can't be as tender as the others, provided the housewife puts a little thought into it."

Pointing to a portion of the front quarter, Mr. Hartman said it was a brisket roast, and made good eating, providing it was cooked for an hour longer than a similar rear-quarter cut.

Best Way to Cook

"About the best way to do the cheaper cuts, such as the brisket, is to braise them first, and then roast them. You should find then that they are as tasty as expensive portions," he added. For variety, sausages, chicken and other meats and fowls may be served.

Hamburg remains as one of the less expensive meats now. Generally it is made from trimmings, with a small amount of lean meat thrown in. If customers want a better grade of hamburg, said one butcher, they must pay more for it. At present, hamburg is selling for about 50 cents a pound for the cheapest grade, and up to 60 cents for minced lean beef.

Mr. Hartman warned that if widespread buying of the cheaper cuts began, prices on them would be raised and the cost of steaks and other higher-priced cuts lowered. "It's just the law of supply and demand operating. You see, there's a hind quarter for every front quarter," he said.

Rule Teacher Free Of Soviet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP).—The United States State Department ruled formally today that Mrs. Oksana S. Kosenkina, refugee Russian eacher, is beyond control of the Soviet government "so long as she remains in this country."

The ruling was given by Ernest A. Gross, State Secretary Marshall's legal advisor, in a letter to Justice Samuel Dickstein, of the New York State Supreme Court.

Dickstein told reporters the Department's attitude would govern his decision, probably next week, on whether a write of habeas corps he issued against Yakob M. Lomakin, Soviet consul general, remains valid.

The writ directed Lomakin to produce Mrs. Kosenkina for a habeas corpus hearing last Thursday. This was delayed, but Dickstein told reporters he "could" nevertheless hold Lomakin in contempt of court for failure to obey the order.

Michael McDermott, Department press officer, told reporters his "best estimate" is that the note "will probably be completed and delivered to the Soviet ambassador by this evening."

24-Year-Old Mother Quits World Flight

MARSEILLE, Aug. 19 — (Reuters).—Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait of Cambridge, England, 24-year-old flying mother, today abandoned her round-the-world flight attempt, after damaging her plane in landing.

Mrs. Morrow-Tait said she hit a small ditch Wednesday owing to bad visibility. The propeller was twisted, a wing damaged, and the undercarriage also suffered.

"It will be at least eight days before my plane is ready," she said. "Our plan for a round-the-world flight in 200 hours is no longer realizable. I think I will probably go back to London and start again."

Bullets Spray News Vendor In Row Over Corner Rights

MONTREAL, Aug. 19 (CP)—"Benny the Wop" sold his last papers on Montreal's downtown St. Catherine St. and then bullets cut him down in what appeared today to be a news-vendor feud.

"The Wop"—his name was Ben Gallasio — was very dead when police got to him.

He had been hit by three bullets and minutes later police arrested Antonio (Tony) Rennie, 35, another newspaper vendor.

Benny, a toughish, 40-year-old little guy who carried an ice-pick to enforce his claims to his sales territory, was standing in front of the Palace Theatre, when he died.

With him, witnesses said, was Tony. They clutched their papers as the crowds swarmed past and then, said Cabbie Frank Pellicciotti, came three shots and Benny the Wop slumped dead to the street. One shot struck Pellicciotti's taxi as the assailant raced along the street.

Policeman Ronald Salsberg, off duty and riding home on a street car, heard the shots, halted the tram and grabbed Rennie who surrendered without resistance.

He gave up a revolver as he was taken to police headquarters to be held as a material witness. But he told police Benny the Wop had threatened him with an ice pick and Benny's chums, on questioning, said they knew Benny carried such a weapon at times.

Motive for the slaying was not immediately clear. But it seemed a dispute over selling territory lay back of it. Summer holidays have made some changes in sales territory among the downtown newsboys. And there have been reports of "invaders" moving into preferred corners.

Price Frozen At Level Of July 31

Too Many Increases After Subsidy; Government Steps In

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 (CP)—The Prices Board announced today that price-ceiling control is being reimposed on all flour made wholly or partly from western Canada wheat and all bread made wholly or partly from such flour

The prices at which the products are frozen as of today at all trade levels are those in effect last July 31.

On that date, Trade Minister Howe announced a 45-cent increase in the domestic price for wheat but said that a subsidy would be paid to keep down the prices of flour and bread.

The board said that, in reimposing the ceilings, it was acting on instructions from the government.

A government spokesman pointed out that the 45-cents-a-bushel subsidy was being paid for the specific purpose of preventing price increases to the consumer. It now was felt that reimposition of controls is necessary to achieve the purpose intended by the payment of the subsidy.

The order which goes into effect today means that no person may sell flour or bread made wholly or partly from western Canada wheat to any other person at a price higher than he was charging the same class of buyer at July 31.

Too Many Increases

A Prices Board spokesman said reimposition of ceilings was decided uuon after reports of price ncreases following Mr. Howe's announcement.

These boosts applied to both flour and bread—in the latter case as much as one cent a loaf—and were not confined to any one part of the country.

The Board's investigators reported the increases were cropping up in all sections.

Nor were the inceases apparently traceable to any particular section of the industry: bakeries, millers or processors.

The new order applies to all flour and bread made wholly or partly from western Canada wheat. The spokesman said practically all flour used for bread-making in Canada comes from the prairies. Ontario wheat is used for pastry.

Pastry flour is not affected by the controls unless it is made partially from western wheat.

Mutiny Stalks Captain's Trail

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 19 (AP)—A tale of near-mutiny and the thrilling rescue of a 26-year-old ship's master from turbulent seas unfolded when the American tanker Halycon III reached this Atlantic port Wednesday.

The Halycon sailed from New York March 31 with nine replacements for 40 men who failed to return to the crew list. Fighting broke out among the crew when the ship berthed at Liverpool early in May. And at Port of Spain, Trinidad, an investigation showed, the disorders reached such a stage of unruliness that four men were discharged.

Mountainous seas swept the master overboard when the Halycon was off Rio de Janeiro in mid-July. A cry was raised, and the master's father, Charles E. Roll, Sr., serving as chief mate, began to bring the 4,390-ton vessel to a stop.

Meanwhile, Capt. Roll clung to a life-ring that had been flung over the side. As the ship neared, the young captain swam toward the bow, and finally was able to grasp a line thrown to him from the tossing ship. He was then hauled aboard.

Railway Freight Rates Raised By 15 Per Cent

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 (CP)—Industrial Canada, with highly-developed waterway and highway transportation, will be mainly affected by a new 15-per-cent freight-rate increase proposed by the railways.

The boost, effective Sept. 15, is provided in special tariff supplements issued by the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific railways and now in the hands of station agents of both lines.

It covers haulage of freight over areas where the rails meet transportation competition by ships and trucks.

A spokesman for the board of transport commissioners said Wednesday night these areas centred around "industrial Canada"—Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes and British Columbia.

At the same time J. O. Goodman, general manager of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, said Wednesday night truckers may boost freight rates following the 15-per-cent boost in competitive rates announced by railways.

The increase applies only to areas where railways compete with trucks or ships.

Mr. Goodman said he "wouldn't be at all surprised" if truckers raise their rates "anywhere up to 15 per cent." He said labor and equipment costs have mounted steadily.

Won't Suffer

Consumers would not suffer unduly from the new rates because "the cost of transportation is only a small part of the final cost of an item to the consumer," he contended.

The rail freight-rate increase, the Transport Board said, likely will be felt particularly in Ontario and Quebec, but added that the Maritimes and British Columbia, where both trucking and waterways transportation are involved, also will carry some of the load.

He emphasized that the 15-per-cent competitive increase proposed by the railways should not be confused with their application last month for an interim 15-per-cent general freight-rate increase and a permanent boost of 20 per cent. It is not known when the transport board will hear the application.

A general 21-per-cent boost granted last April applied to all three classes of freight-rate tariffs—standard, special and competive. The increase added about $70,000,000 a year revenue to Canadian railways.

Say Situation In Jerusalem Getting Out Of Hand Bernadotte Asks UN Act

Suggests Warnings Or Sanctions Be Invoked To Halt Truce Violations; Charge UN Authority Completely Ignored

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 19—(AP).—Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator, warned the Security Council today that the situation in Jerusalem is "gradually getting out of hand." He added that it is doubtful whether the Holy City can be demilitarized in the near future. The UN Security Council meets in special session today at 2.30 p.m.

Count Bernadotte, asking the Council for prompt action to halt the renewed Arab-Jewish strife, declared in an interim report that the Arabs have accepted in principle the plan to disarm regular and irregular troops in Jerusalem.

"But the Jews, who stated initially they did not exclude demilitarization, have shown no readiness to accept it up till now," he said.

Count Bernadotte's report expressed fear clashes might bring about new full-scale warfare.

The mediator had asked Arabs and Jews to accept a new cease-fire effective last Friday morning. But the bitterest fighting since the second Palestine truce began raged throughout last Friday night.

Suggest Sanctions

Count Bernadotte's aides said council action could take the form of warnings or sanctions against the side found to be violating the truce ordered in a July 15 council resolution.

"Under prevailing conditions it is difficult to assess responsibility and idle to try to ascertain which of the parties is more to blame," Count Bernadotte said, adding:

"They both have come deliberately to ignore the authority of the United Nations."

In Palestine, it was learned on Wednesday the chief of staff of the UN Truce Commission, Gen. A. Lundstroem, considers the recent shooting in the Holy City violations of the truce by both Jews and Arabs.

Trade With Japan Recovering Slowly

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(CP). — Canadian trade with Japan is recovering slowly from the disastrous effects of the Second World War.

Although still far below prewar levels, the improvement is steady, Bureau of Statistics figures show.

Canadian exports to Japan in the first six months of 1948 amounted to $2,279,000, copared wtih $415,000 in the same period last year and $28,200,000 for all of 1939.

Big items in exports to Japan last year included $350,000 worth of fertilizer and $80,000 worth of whiskey.

Farmer-Labor Cooperation Sought By CCF

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—(CP).—Farmer-Labor co-operation for getting the CCF into power was stressed as a necessity today before the party's annual convention.

The CCF National Council declared in its report to the opening session that the old-line parties had tried to alienate both labor and the farmers from the CCF. The aim of "monopoly capitalism" had been to "divide the people."

The report of the Council, from National Chairman Frank Scott an National Secretary David Lewis, re-affirmed the CCF's opposition to Communism in the light of the Red party's avowed support for the group in Canada.

The report added the party was waek in some areas — notably Quebec—and it also suggested the CCF should begin organization work in Newfoundland, expected to join Confederation as a province early next year.

Offers Contrast

Chairman Scott, in his opening address to the three-day gathering, said the fact of CCF biennial gatherings was in striking contrast with the situation in the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties.

The 10-point national program, to be considered apart from almost 150 other resolutions on the agenda—was drafted by the party's national executive and approved Wednesday by the national council at a pre-convention caucus.

Briefly it calls for socializing banks, railways and a wide range of primary industries, including several touching on agriculture.

Consideration of this program—which the C.C.F. hopes to put into action during its first term in control of parliament—will headline the three-day convention agenda.

Selection of a national leader for the next two years also will be considered, but with no candidates rumored to be opposing M. J. Coldwell, his re-election is considered a formality.

Wednesday, Mr. Coldwell, in an interview, suggested a fall session of parliament, with mid-November mentioned as best time for the opening.

He said External Affairs Mizister St. Laurent should have an early opportunity to meet parliament in his new capacity as Liberal leader.

GBS Thinks New Dictionary Will Scotch War Jitters

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP). — George Bernard Shaw came up today wtih a suggestion for scotching war jitters: Produce a brand new political dictionary of common, exact words "to clear our heads."

"The matter is extremely urgent,' the ancient bard asserted, "for the present confusion of tongues is heading straight for war, which none of the powers can afford and nobody desires."

The playwright's appeal—that's what he called it—was addressed specifically to the British government. It asked for the appointment of a parliamentary committee 'to settle our political nomenclature."

"Until we clear up our political nomenclature," Shaw wrote, "our political oratory and journalism can come to nothing but the pot calling the kettle black, without either of them knowing what they are talking about.

"We all lack a common and exact dictionary and are at dangerous cross purposes over imaginary differences and delusive agreements that are only verbal."

"I myself find it impossible to make myself understood, though when I describe myself by this or that adjective I know precisely whta I mean . . . I am basically a Marxist Communist, but I cannot say so without being set down as an infantily advocate of catasthropic insurrection. . . "

Referring to the present differences between Russia and the western powers, Shaw insisted that "negotiation is impossible unless the parties use the same words for the same things and understand what the word mean. The present babel threatens a war that nobody wants countered by a flood fo conscientious objection from those who think their rulers are backing the wrong horse. . . ."

Chas. W. Cragg Dies Parry Sound MPP

TORONTO, Aug. 19 —(CP)—Charles W. Cragg, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Parry Sound, died early today in hospital here.

Death of the Ingersoll-born lawyer brought the first vacancy in Ontario's 90-seat legislature since the provincial general election last June 7. It reduced Progressive Conservative representation in the new house to 52, with 21 C.C.F., 13 Liberals, two Labor-Progressives and one Liberal-Labor.

A loser by 124 votes to Liberal Milton T. Armstrong in the 1945 election, Mr. Cragg came back to win by 439 over Mr. Armstrong in the June vote.

He has been keenly interested in civic affairs at Parry Sound, serving as a member of the town council for three years and on the town's Board of Education for several more.

Civil Servants Seek Bonus Of $46,680,000

OTTAWA, Aug. 19. (CP) — Canada's 100,000 civil servants are seeking a cost-of-living bonus amounting to ..46,680,000 a year. A brief outlining their reasons for asking the bonus was approved last night by the national executive of the Civil Service Federation. It is scheduled to be presented to the government by the end of August.

This is what the federation wants — for every government employee from the bottom of the salary scale to the top:

1. A $31.50-a-month bonus to compensate for the 22.8-point rise in the official cost-of-living index between September, 1946, and January, 1948.

2. An additional bonus of $7.40 a month for each five-point rise in the index beyond the Jan. 2 figure of 148.3.

A bonus of $31.50 a month for all 100,000 civil servants would cost the country $37,800,000 a year. And, since the cost-of-living index now is 156.9—much more than five points beyond the Jan. 2 level — the federation is, in effect, asking another $8,880,000 a year.

So, if the requests were granted, it would mean an extra civil service salary expenditure of $46,680,000 a year.

And, if the cost-of-living index were to climb another 1.4 points to a full 10 points beyond the level of last Jan. 2, it would mean another $8,880,000 a year and a new over-all total of $55,560,000.

Just how the government will react to the requests remains to be seen; probably there will be no official comment until the brief formally is handed to the cabinet.

But belief here is that the civil servants have little chance of receiving the bonuses. In recent years, all adjustments to civil-service salaries have been in the form of straight increases for parently has taken a stand certain grades. The cabinet apagainst bonuses.

Decide To Revalue New Zealand Currency

WELLINGTON, Aug. 19 — (CP). — Finance Minister Walter Nash announced in parliament today the New Zealand government had decided to revalue New Zealand currency up to parity with British sterling.

Explaining the move, Nash said there was a disequilibrium between prices in New Zealand and those in other countries, particularly in the dollar area.

Unless corrective measure were taken immediately, this disparity would grow.

The House of Representatives was taken by surprise by Nash's announcement, which had been a carefully-guarded secret. It came at the end of his budget speech.

The present rate of New Zealand pound is 125 to 100 sterling.

Berlin City Government May Issue Own Currency

BERLIN, Aug. 19—(AP).—Berlin's city government may issue its own currency in an attempt to unravel the city's east-west monetary snarl.

The anti-Communist city administration announced Wednesday night it is debating two plans as a solution to the currency mixup resulting from circulation here of rival eastern and western marks.

1. To issue an emergency currency for the city.

2. To make the western mark exclusive currency in western Berlin in order to overcome the difficulties caused by the Soviet Union's blocking of eastern-mark accounts in the city's western sectors.

In western Berlin both the eastern and western German currencies now are legal. In the Soviet sector only the eastern mark is valid.

Russia's blocking of these eastmark accounts has made it virtually impossible for the city government and western sector firms to pay wages, because the west had directed that three-fourths of all salaries were to be paid in eastern marks.

Wednesday night the British military government condemned, in what an official spokesman described as "the strongest language yet used toward the Russians," a unilateral Soviet order dismissing the director of the Berlin central coal organization.

The British authorities denounced the move as "one of the long series of orders deliberately designed to undermine the authority of the city government for political motives."

The coal director, Herr Mueckenberger, was charged by the Russians with "inactivity and disorganization tactics" and ordered to turn his post over to Herr Neuberger within 24 hours.

Kinsmen Parade Has Record Entry

LINDSAY, Aug. 19 (ENS) — The biggest parade in the history of Lindsay featured the first annual Lindsay Kinsmen Carnival which was held in Victoria Park, Wednesday evening. Rain clouds over-head failed to delay the parade and thousands turned out to boost the event, funds of which will go towards a children's playground. Numerous fine decorated vehicles of original design featured the mile long parade. The 1949 car was awarded to a Toronto man, Bill White, a vacationer in the Kawarthas.

Several motorcycle owners from the Kawartha Motorcycle Club rode the 26 miles to Lindsay in the rain to take part in the parade. Bill Moody, Lindsay, won first prize for the best-decorated cycle and rider, and Mrs. Clare Heard, Peterborough, was awarded second prize.

Leading the Kinsmen parade was the Peterborough Citizens' Band and following up was the Peterborough Pipe Band. Placed at intervals between the front and rear of the parade were two bands, one from Cannington, and the other from Bobcaygeon.

Don't Discuss Revenue

Railway sources in Montreal, confirming the 15-per-cent increase in competitive freight rates, did not disclose the expected revenue from the new boost. However, in Ottawa, a transport board source, said that competitive rates would mean only a minor increase in the railways' operating revenue.

Copies of the new competitive tariffs were sent to legal counsel and technical advisors of seven provinces—not including Ontario and Quebec—which have opposed the original 21-per-cent freight-rate increase.

The advisors are meeting in Winnipeg to prepare material to oppose the application last month of the railways for the permanent 20-per-cent increase.

Tug Rescues Trio Missing 36 Hrs. On Lake

PORT DOVER, Aug. 19 — (CP). — Two men and a boy, missing 36 hours in a 16-foot motor launch on wind-swept Lake Erie, were rescued late Wednesday by a fishing tug after their motor went dead.

Don Ferris, pilot of the tug, found the trio 18 miles offshore, waving shirts and lifebelts in an attempt to attract attention of three aircraft and two dozen boats searching for them.

The three are Rev Gordon Crofoot, minister of First Baptist Church in Simcoe; Gordon Misner of Simcoe and his nine-year-old son, Joe. With them was Joe's brown Cocker spaniel, Rusty.

Mr. Misner said they were on a fishing trip off Turkey Point in Long Point Bay when the motor went dead, so they anchored in 30 feet of water. They spent Tuesday night and most of Wednesday huddled in the boat while the wind sent waves spilling over their craft.

"I didn't really know much about fishing when I preached a sermon on fishing a few weeks ago," said Mr. Crofoot. "But I know something about it now."

Cobourg Discovers Cost Of Sewage Plant $400,000

COBOURG, Aug. 19 (ENS).—The $225,000 sewage disposal plant which the town must install because of a mandatory order from the Provincial Board of Health, has reached the stage where tenders are to be issued. A pumping station, sewage extension, etc., will boost the price up and when the whole project is finished the entire costwill be in excess of $400,000. Just when the entire job will be undertaken is something not yet decided. Already financed is a $152,000 sewer.

If the entire cost were carried on the general rate basis, on an assessment of $3,140,000, the cost would be around 10 mills a year. Under the Municipal Act it is possible now to charge the users of the severage system an annual fee which is in the nature of a service charge. For the operation of a disposal plant, this service charge is generally based upon the water rate.

The income from the Waterworks Dapartment for 1946 was $35,717 for metered water and $1,080 for a flat rate, with $4,589 as hydrant rent. If a sewer service charge equal to the water rate were assessed against the users of the severage-system, the venue would be $36,800, omitting the hydrant rental and 83 per cent of the water bill would be enough to entirely carry the cost of the sewer improvements.

If 50 per cent of the water bill were assessed as a sewer rental, the revenue would be $18,400 — which would lave $12,000 to be raised on the general assessment and this would entail a rate of about 4 mills.

While the foregoing figures are only approximate, they serve to illustrate the principle that the financing need not entirely fall upon the taxpayer, already overburdened, but can be apportioned so that part of it is on real estate and part taken care of by the water consumer in a direct charge on the water bill.

Secret Meeting Held On Town Policing

PORT HOPE, Aug. 19 — (ENS). — It was revealed yesterday that the police department situation in this town had reached a stage where council and officials from the provincial police district headquarters at Peterborough discussed a proposal of the provincial police taking over the policing of the town. However, in view of the fact that the conference, which was held in camera, came after the council meeting in which it had been decided to advertise for a successor to Chief Ernest Purdy, who resigned Monday night, it was pointed out by the provincial police that it assumes the police administration of a town only when there is no chief of police or any intention on the part of the municipality to hire one.

The Church Of England On Communism

At the Lambeth Conference which closed on August 8 the Church of England put on record its thoughts on Communism, and these thoughts will shortly be available in the encyclical and resolutions of the Conference. In a discussion on "The Christian Doctrine of Man" it was stated that "The most highly organized, consistent, powerful and destructive form of secularism is beyond doubt dialetical materialism and the type of communism in which it is embodied". When we read this sort of prose we marvel that a group of Anglican bishops ever produced our great English translation of the Bible; the words above, in plain English, say that communism is a heresy. Secularism is the belief that morality should be based only on what seems practical and desirable in this life, without any thought for a life after death; communism is the most popular, well-organized, and attractive form of this belief in the world today. The Church of England goes farther than the Church of Rome in countenancing Communism, for it believes that a man may be both a Christian and a Communist at the same time, so long as he renounces the atheism which is part of Marxian Communism. The Church of Rome denies such a possibility.

• • •

The Lambeth Conference gave full recognition to one of the most extraordinary feats of Communism—namely, its ability to disguise itself as a form of Christian belief. "All for one and one for all" has quite a Christian ring when first we hear it; when we see it in action in Communist states it ceases to bear any resemblance to Christianity. For one of the essential facts about Christianity is its belief in the sacredness of the individual, and Communism has no place for such a belief. As Mr. Gladstone once pointed out, the teaching of Christianity is "All that I have is yours", whereas the teaching of socialism is "All that you have is mine". Let us not miss the point of this: the Christian gives of his own will and for his soul's good, whereas the socialist takes, perhaps for the good of the community, but without leaving any room for personal grace in the individual.

• • •

People who do not believe in God, or in any form of after-life, do not recognize any need for grace in the individual man. They believe in the power of the state to compel the individual man to do what the majority considers good. The state is, in effect, their god, for real atheists are very rare. But the Christian believes in a responsibility to God which is higher than his responsibility to state or to his fellow man, and he believes in an eventual justice which is above the judgement of the state or of his fellow man.

• • •

Of the two ideals there can be no doubt as to which is the higher and which of the two is likely to be productive of peace and civilization. But the plain fact also is that Communism is young and dynamic, whereas Christianity—whatever the truth about it may be—often gives the impression of being old and tired. Let us hope that the Lambeth declaration will prove to be something more than a form of words.

Farewell To The Babe

Floods of nonsense have been written about Babe Ruth. Now that he is dead only one question need concern us: was he a great man? In his essay on the Indian Jugglers a very able judge of athletes, William Hazlitt, has given us four tests of greatness; let us apply them to Babe Ruth. First, had he great power? Yes, he had exceptional power, both as a baseball player and as the hero of hundreds of thousands of boys who made him their ideal. Second, did his power produce great effects? Yes, Babe Ruth's power established new records in baseball, and left a mark for other players to aim at; whoever breaks those records, the name of Ruth will stand in the history of sport as the man who set them. Third, did he show his greatness in a way that cannot be hidden or gainsaid? Yes, unless you choose to dismiss all sport as trivial. Fourth, did he fill up a certain idea in the public mind? Yes, most decidedly he did; while he lived he was the greatest baseball player of his time, and his supremacy lasted from 1914 until his death. By all four tests, therefore, Babe Ruth was a great man.

We stress again that he was a great man. Countless sentimentalists have tried to pretend that he was a great boy, which is manifestly untrue. He loved the game at which he excelled, but he loved life more, and his temptations and his shortcomings were those of an adult, not a child. Like most men who excell in any pursuit, he did what he did easily; he loathed the training and discipline of an athlete's life. Even during his last years, when he was fat and lazy, he was a better hitter than the lithe, hard-muscled, razor-keen young men who played against him. His genius for baseball was comparable to Paganini's genius for playing the violin: it could not be explained in terms of tireless effort or worthy endeavour; it was a phenomenon and a gift from Heaven. And, like the great cricketer W. G. Grace, he kept his gift long after the age when ordinary athletes quit the field.

He is sincerely mourned, and will be long remembered.

Friendly Mr. Forrestal

Mr. James Forrestal visited Ottawa this week, returning a visit paid to Washington by the Hon. Brooke Claxton in January; as Mr. Forrestal is United States Secretary of Defence, and Mr. Claxton is our Minister of Defence it is safe to assume that they talked about the joint defence of this continent, strengthening the ties which have grown since 1938. It was in that year that the late President Roosevelt made his famous declaration that his country would not "stand idly by" if Canada were attacked; that was a loose declaration, but perfectly clear in essence; since 1938 joint defence plans have been worked out in considerable detail. Obviously Canada could not defend herself alone; obviously it would be intolerable to the U.S.A. if a foreign power seized control of this country. Continental defence is the only answer.

Who would attack Canada, and how? Russia could attack Canada by flying over the North Pole and descending upon us from the north, if Russia were foolish enough to try it, which we do not think is the case. Romantic and fearful as such a scheme sounds, it would be a gigantic undertaking, for such a flight takes four days at the least, and the last war showed that the carrying of material for a long campaign by plane was not practical. And although an enemy might occupy a great portion of our northland he would not command the country until he had captured some great centre of population and at least one trans-continental railway. The conquest of an immense, thinly-populated country presents problems quite different from those which meet the conqueror in crowded Europe.

Rumour has it that the role of Canada in the joint defence scheme is that of arsenal and source of supply. As we cannot raise a huge army, that is no doubt wise. But it would be comforting to learn that Mr. Forrestal's country would be speedy in taking up arms. In the two great world wars the U.S.A. was slow to move; in an invasion of this continent the U.S.A. would no doubt be much quicker. But have we any assurance that it would be really quick? We assume that in the talks between Mr. Claxton and Mr. Forrestal the promises were not all on one side.

Intimidation From The Bench

A news item from Moraviantown—a village near Chatham, Ont., and also near an Indian reservation—says that a magistrate gave three Indians 14 days in jail, in addition to a sentence for drunkenness, because they would not tell him where they got the liquor.

Our judicial system does not permit magistrates to threaten prisoners, nor does it empower magistrates to compel prisoners to become informers. A man who is on trial cannot be forced to implicate other people, unless he chooses to turn King's evidence, and does so in the hope of reducing his own sentence. But prisoners cannot be compelled to turn King's evidence. In this case it is the job of the police to find out who sold the liquor to the Indians—a very serious offence as the law now stands.

The Attorney-General of Ontario should interest himself in this case, and all citizens who are interested in the peculiar situation of our Indian population should ponder it.

Germany And Korea

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE various investigations of Communist activities in this country, coupled with the diplomatic exchanges over the dramatic escape of the three Russian teachers, rightly command the attention of the world because of the new light they throw on the nature of the Russian Government and its methods. They do this all the more forcefully because they demonstrate that, in contrast to some European governments, the United States is both willing and able to throw down a challenge to the Russian methods in the name of its own sovereignty and freedom. Whatever might be said about some of the tactics used, there can be no doubt that such a challenge is long overdue. It can be only hopéd that, in their own way, other countries will take courage from the American example to do likewise.

❖ ❖ ❖

BUT in the larger picture of world affairs, these events, like the trumped-up Russian counter-charge of American espionage, remain peripheral incidents which must not obscure the graver issues between Russia and the West now being discussed in Moscow. These discussions deal with the fate of Europe, and in the widest sense with the issues of war and peace. And though some of the European capitals see a ray of hope in the mere continuation of the Moscow conference, their final result is still very much in doubt.

❖ ❖ ❖

THESE conferences deal primarily with the Russian blockade of Berlin. It is quite possible, considering the Russian aims, that this blockade would have come in any case in order to drive the Western Powers out of Berlin and open up the road to further Russian penetration to the West. But the immediate pretext for it was the effort of the Western Powers to form what is generally referred to as a West-German state, with a West-German government under the more or less permanent control of the Western Powers. Such a government is held essential to speed the recovery of Western Germany, which in turn is the key to the success of the whole European Recovery Program. But there is no blinking the fact that, by accepting Russia's de facto partition of Germany as an accomplished fact, this project also tends to make such a partition more permanent. In doing this it not only arouses German opposition which is likely to hamper the aims it seeks, but also enables Russia to appeal to German nationalism for Soviet ends by posing as the champion of German unity.

❖ ❖ ❖

UNDER these circumstances voices are being raised advocating the abandonment of the West-German project as one means of appeasing Russia and ending the Berlin crisis. But even aside from the fact that appeasement has never appeased an aggressor, and that abandonment of West-German reorganization would imperil the recovery of Europe, there would seem to be a better way of solving the problem. That way is suggested by the developments in Korea. There, in a country likewise divided into a Russian sector and a "Western" sector occupied by the United States, a new government has taken its place among the governments of the world, and though barred from the Russian sector by force of Russian arms, it has nevertheless proclaimed itself to be not a South-Korean government, but a national and sovereign government of the whole Korean Republic. And General MacArthur, as supreme commander in the Far East, far from recognizing the de facto partition of the country, declared that this "artificial barrier must and will be torn down," and that nothing shall prevent the ultimate unity of the Korean people as free men of a free nation.

❖ ❖ ❖

IT is, of course, true that Germany is not Korea, and that special safeguards will have to be taken against a renewal of German aggression. But there is no reason why the Korean example of a national instead of a sectional state and government should not be followed in Germany, if necessary to the point of holding elections under the aegis of the United Nations. If Russia refuses to agree to them, as it did in Korea, there will at least be no further question as to who it is that is preventing German unity. The Western Powers have nothing to lose and everything to gain from such a procedure, which would be not only in their own best interests but also in keeping with the pledges they wrote on their banners during the war.

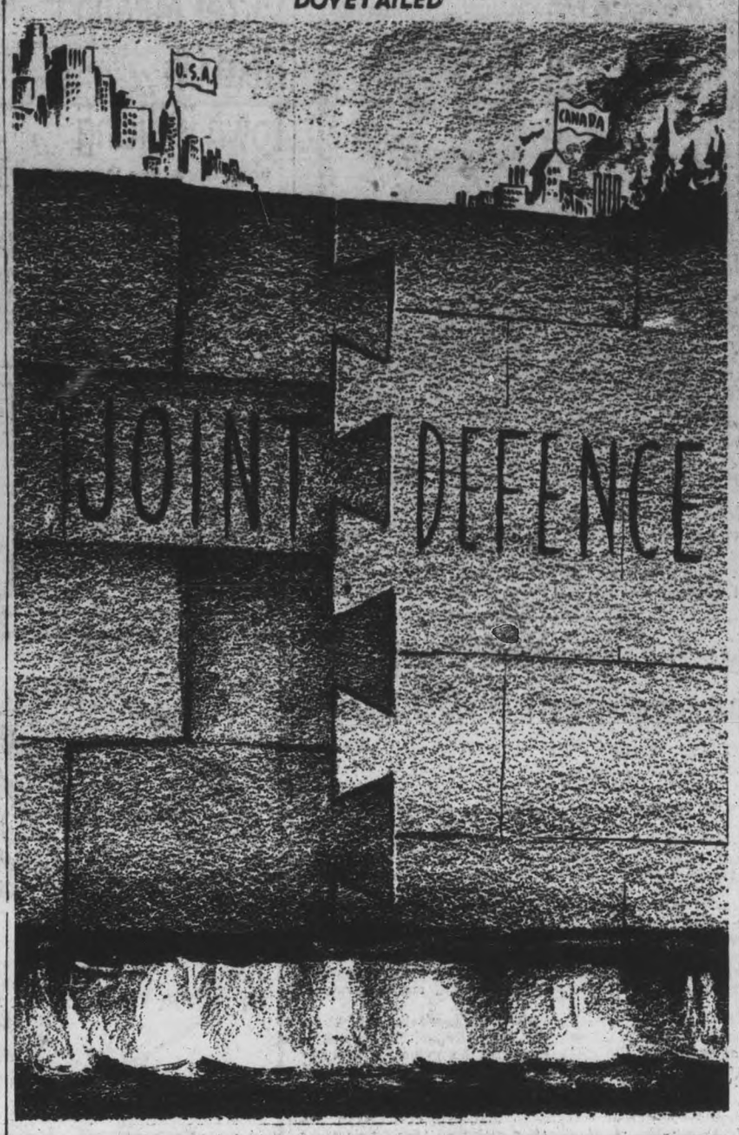
Arrow Pierces Armour

Australia has some first-rate archers amongst her subjects. These are back-country tribesmen in New Guinea who bend a six-foot bow and shoot arrows with shafts from four to five feet long.

None of them, however, will compete in the twelfth international archery tournament at Dulwich College, England, in August. Such jaunts are considered too unsettling for these simple souls. It is a pity, for they might have shown the Royal Toxophilite Society something.

It is hoped that the long-distance record for a flight shot will be beaten at Dulwich, even without the presence of the New Guinea experts. This record, made by an American, is 608 yards. Two marking posts at Constantinople purport to commemorate an ancient record of 907 yards, but this is not official.

American archers recently tested the question of arrows piercing armour. They borrowed a suit of French armour of the Agincourt period from a museum. The curator offered to get into the armour but was dissauded. It was filled with liver instead.



The arrow, fired at sixty yards, went through the armour and the liver and heavily dented the armour on the other side. The curator fainted.—Australian Bulletin.

THE BUS SCHEDULE

Sir: I have heard rumours that the fare for standing rights on the Peterborough buses is to be increased and soon those standing rights are going to be sold to we patient bus riders at four fares for thirty cents and a straight 10 cent drop fare.

Few of us who use the buses would object if we, the travelling public, were being given service, but being packed into buses, four times a day, far worse than livestock shippers are permitted under law to pack cattle or hogs in cars is carrying this thing entirely too far.

Of course you can depend that the City Council will give the bus company everything it asks. It has in the past, and then what do they care, they do not ride the buses.

We are not apt to forget how the buses were pulled off the streets during a storm last winter and we could walk to our homes. I believe it was a mistake to ever give the City Council the right to enter into an agreement and new contract without this first being presented to the people.

A BUS TRAVELLER.

BUT IS IT LOGICAL?

Sir: So we have had a $150,000 fire in Peterborough? And who will pay for the loss? You can bet it will be paid for by an insurance company out of the premiums which all of us pay who carry fire insurance.

But then look at what it costs us to keep up our fire department for a year. A good department, yes, but a big fire still costs $150,000.

It looks to me as though a wise man would either give up his fire insurance or a wise city would give up its fire department. It is pretty expensive to keep up both.

Yours sincerely,
LOGICAL.

INCONSIDERATE MOTORISTS

Sir: I want to congratulate and say three cheers for Maurice E. Ketcheson for his letter in a recent paper regard Cats Suicide Resentment. He is certainly a gentleman and a man with a good heart and is a human being. As children and adults alike are very fond of these pets and wouldn't want any harm to come to them I can assure you. As all dumb animals are created by God and put on this earth for a purpose and they have feelings the same as humans and should be treated with care and kindness always. And those three in said car who tried to kill a poor helpless cat on George St. should be punished. Why don't they try doing harm to someone who can fight back, not a poor dumb animal. In regards to driving up close to pedestrians and getting a thrill at seeing them jump. I've had the same thing done to me several times, by young lads who call themselves gentlemen, when they don't even know the meaning of the word.

LORNA M. MacDONALD.
Peterborough.

On Tipping

The European custom of asking for and getting 10 per cent. of the bill for services rendered will not work on the occasion when the customer buys a cup of coffee and one of the few 20-cent sandwiches now obtainable for a quarter. The waiter will look askance at a three-cent tip, he might not smile for a nickel, and his response for a dime is not always audible. Then there is the taxicab driver who tends to be without any change if about 30 cents is due the passenger and if he makes change, the driver finds a quarter and a nickel instead of three dimes.—New York Times.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures. (James 1: 17, 18.)

Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh. (James 3: 11, 12.)

❖ ❖ ❖

For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. For every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes. (Luke 6: 43, 44.)

"The Zeal Of Thy House"

Mme. Rosika Schwimmer who died last Wednesday in New York was in her lifetime a striking example of the dangers of extreme zeal, untempered and uncontrolled by practical considerations and even at times by common sense. A woman of ability (she served in the government of her native Hungary and was the world's first woman ambassador) her eccentric militancy in the cause of peace on one occasion made her a figure of fun and brought ridicule upon the cause for which she strove.

The extraordinary "Peace Ship" affair of 1915 was largely her doing and Henry Ford, who paid all expenses, her happy collaborator,—happy at least at first. Mr. Ford, like Mme. Schwimmer, would yield at times to sudden impulses, inspired always by what he believed to be the best of motives and directed toward what he equally believed to be the highest of objectives, but too seldom thought through and frequently—as in this instance—recoiling upon the head of the bewildered philanthropist.

The voyage of the Oscar II with its load of peace-seekers, who fought furiously among themselves on the way over, was a sort of modern Children's Crusade, seven centuries late. No more fantastic slogan was ever devised than the announced intention of "getting the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." How it was to be done by a series of talk-fests at various points abroad was never made clear. Mr. Ford got off the ship at earliest possible moment and hastened home. But the trip had been worth his while: it convinced him that "the bankers and munition-makers" were not to blame for the war, as he had firmly believed when he embarked. There was more to it than that.

The silly business of the "peace ship" did more harm than any good it could possibly have accomplished. But Mme. Schwimmer had had her day.—Montreal Star.

MAY BE TRUE

CLOSELY GUARDED in Hattori House, Tokyo, these translators and their assistants face a five-week task as they plow through the tons of evidence gathered in trials of Japanese war lords. Jews And Arabs Renew Pledge To Keep Truce

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 19 (CP)—Jews and Arabs Wednesday night gave the United Nations Security Council assurances they would continue to observe the Palestine Truce.

The new declarations came after Canada and the United States warned the council could not permit either party to terminate the truce without facing punitive action.

In reply to a statement by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada Aubrey S. Eban, Isdaeli representative, told the council the Israeli government had never said anything about unilateral action to end the truce.

Eban declared that so long as the truce is in force Israel will observe it.

The Arab position was set forth by Faris El Khoury of Syria who also declared the Arabs would observe the truce.

McNaughton earlier issued a strong warning that if either side broke the truce, the council would be forced to consider further action to obtain peace in the Holy Land.

The Canadian delegate said a recent Israeli statement "contains the suggestion that the truce Palestine may not be continued."

McNaughton said that "no unilateral action by one party or another which is inconsistent" with the aim of a peaceful solution of the Palestine problem "should be permitted by the Security Council."

Shot Two Wolves South Of Marmora

MARMORA, Aug. 19. (ENS.)—Charles Gordonier shot his second wolf of the month on Monday, bagging it on property to the rear of Jack Wellman's residence, on No. 14 Highway, about two miles south of the village. The presence of wolves in Madoc township on the west shore of Moira Lake is suspected through farmers coming across dead stock on their farms.

RCMP OFFICIALS in Montreal announced recently that Inspector J. R. 'Jim" Lemieux has been appointed commanding officer of a sub-division in North Battleford, Saskatchewan, comprising 19 detachments. The 44-year-old officer, who played a prominent role in the Canadian espionage cases, has been in charge of 15 border patrol detachments in Quebec province for the past seven years.

Tanners Want Controls Kept On Leather

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(CP). — The government removed price controls from hides and leather last year despite the desire of the tanning industry to see them retained, President Roy Stuart of the Tanners Association of Canada testified before the Prices Commission Wednesday.

Mr. Stuart, wartime administrator of hides and leather for the Prices Board and a member of a tanning firm, said there was a fear that leather prices were becoming too high for the industry's good. He added that he would like to see the controls reimposed.

"What good would it do you now?" Prof. C. A. Curtis, chairman of the Commission, asked. Leather and hide prices have both risen substantially since contorls wer removed in September, 1947.

Mr. Stuart then admitted he thought reimposition now would be impossible, but added:

"Wouldn't the public be able to buy shoes more cheaply? I wish they had been kept on."

Substitute Worry

In explaining the industry's desire for the retention of controls untiti world hide prices became more normal, Mr. Stuart said tanners were always concerned over the introduction of substitutes for leather.

Earlier in the session another witness, C. Worrell Conway, vice-president of Anglo - Canadian Leather Co. Ltd., testified that demand for leather was lighter this year than last. Fewer shoes were being produced, he said, and more substitutes, especially rubber, were being used for soles.

Mr. Conway, testified under questioning that his firm's profits in 1946 were 6.9 per cent of sales. In the first half of 1947 they were 6.5 per cent and in the first six months of this year had dropped to 2.*8 per cent. The actual sales and profits were not disclosed.

Financial statements which Mr. Conway produced for the commission, after Prof. Curtis had ruled that private companies could not be exempted from revealing financial details of their operations, are being studied by the commission and its accountant. So far they have not been made public.

Must Learn To Live With Reds–Professor

GENEVA PARK, Aug. 19 (CP) —Democratic countries must learn to live with Communists, Dr. Goodwin Watson, professor of education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, Wednesday night told the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion.

He spoke on the psychological prerequisites of peace.

He said Communists could be beaten in another global war. Or, short of war, Communists "might be segregated, barred from the right extended other citizens, expelled from our schools, reviled in our press, kept out of our social agencies."

"They could be left to develop their own way of life in one vast section of the globe," Dr. Watson continued. "The prospect is one which will maximize misunderstanding, hostility and insecurity.

"If we can't eliminate Communists from the face of the earth, if we don't want to live in an anxious, armed camp, then we and the Communists have to learn to live together."

Lindsay Girls Gain First Over Cobourg

Lindsay defeated Cobourg on the latter's diamond last night 9-6 in the first of their girls' intermediate "B" playdowns. A slim crowd saw a good game in drizzling rain. The return fixture will be at the Bowl here at three Saturday afternoon and third, if necessary, there in the evening. The Lindsay lasses played heads-up ball behind seven-hit hurling by J. Bryans, who struck out four. Her mates gained 15 hits of R. Macklin, whose support slipped in costly fashion at times. Yet the score was always close enough to make it an interesting fixture.

All of the winners looked good, especialy the twirler, while H. Deyel and M. Chase were outstanding in the field. R. Hay and R. Macklin went best defensively for the homesters. M. Owens led Lindsay at bat with a double and two singles, and D. Hunter hit a homer. M. Moore topped the Cobourg crew with the willow, slapping out a homer and single.

The teams:

Lindsay H. Deyell, 2b; P. Graham, 1b; D. Hunter, c; M. Chase, ss; M. McGill, lf; D. Woods, cf; D. Madill, rf; M. Owen, 3b; J. Bryans, p.

Cobourg: R. Hay, ss; M. Moore, 3b; J. Rowden, c; H. Staple, 2b; R. Macklin, p; R. Hills, cf; K. Mulhall, 1b; D. Fisher, lf; A. Dufton, rf; M. Jamieson, rf.

The rugged Orillia senior "B" lacrossers, crowding Oshawa for second place in the standing, tangle tomorrow night with the Petes at nine in Miller Bowl. Fresh from their win o'er the Creighton crew —latter's third straight loss—on Tuesday in Orillia, the O's will make it a hot fight all the way. And the Petes will have to hustle to resume their winning ways. It adds up to a nifty gutted-stick number, and should draw another whopping crowd of cash customers. End of the schedule is in sight and the loop-leading locals are determined to remain atop the heap, but finding the opposition getting stiffer down the stretch. The classy senior "A" Owen Sound bunch play 'em an exhibition here Monday.

Harris W. Steel of Beatty's in Fergus, Ont., writes to tell us of an open swim meet there on Aug. 25. A CASA championship event under sponsorship of the Ontario section of the association. Championship events for swimmers 14 years of age and under are featured along with other trials of speed, novelty swimming, clowns and the rest. The letter says it is open to all swimmers but doesn't go into too much detail. Those interested here might write Mr. Steel, Beatty Bros., Fergus, or the Fergus Swimming Club for more particulars. Won't be long till the autumn aquatic program is underway locally.

An Umpirical Setup?

A meeting is called for at 10 a.m. on Aug. 22 at 450 George St. N., for those interested in umpiring. Plans are being made to form an umpires' association for the city, softball and baseball, and umps of the past, present and future are invited. There are several such associations in Ontario, one of the strongest being in the Inter-County Baseball League in Western Ontario. Under one head, it is pointed out that such an association would work for the betterment of all—the leagues, clubs, fans and umpires themselves. With minor arbiters trained and brought along for future work. It might be a good idea, at that.

Legionnaires and B-A open their four-in-seven City Softball League finals at seven tonight in the Bowl, barring rain, and a huge crowd is expected. The sizzling semi-finals certainly drew record galleries for this semester, and the finals should hit a new high. One school of thought would favor Legion because they've come through a hot session and are right in the pink, whereas others feel the rest B-A had will do them a lot of good and that Legion may be dragging before it's over. Take your choice, but be sure that some swell softball will be served up ere the city title is settled.

Lindsay Goes One Up

Lindsay lastes beat Cobourg at home 9-6 last eve in the first of their twin-in-three PWSU intermediate "B" playdowns. J. Bryans pitched fine ball and had good support afield and at bat. A neat number and the same teams tangle at three Saturday afternoon in the Bowl, third tilt, if necessary, here in the evening at seven. Rain ruined the local twin bill last night, but Marines and Westclox have a double-header Friday and on Monday, if necessary. Westclox won the first of the four-in-seven finals for the city title and the right to go into PWSU intermediate "A" playdowns.

* * * * * *

And the baseball setup. The senior Petes are idle till Monday when the colorful House of David diamondeers play here under lights, game at 8.30 with some pepper-ball antics around eight or so. The Murphyites then trek to Belleville on Tuesday to play Batawa, last COBL scheduled fixture for them, unless the Kingston-Petes' game needs to be replayed. Which is doubtful. Belleville writer thinks Gordie Muffitt will be back for loop playoffs. One of the Oshawa-Kingston games in Kingston last Saturday was never box-scored, for goodness' sake! Junior Kinsmen-Kiwanis playoff last night was rained out, and they'll go tonight at six in Riverside, third if necessary there Friday at six. Peewee final is tonight at six on the Quaker diamond. Likely some minor action here Saturday.

For The Arena Fund

We're told that the Peterborough Citizens Band and the civic arena committee are sponsoring a big band concert Sunday night in Riverside at 8.30. Bringing in the Belleville Municipal Band, with a silver collection taken up for the civic arena fund. Quinte band offered to come and should prove a fine Sunday night attraction for a big crowd. They expect some 5,000 people out, if the weather is favorable. Civic arena committee plans another big drive for funds next month to put the project across and make sure of a closed rink for Peterborough this coming winter.

20 Ontario Pros Capture Trophy

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—(CP).—A team of 20 Ontario professional golfers defeated an equal number of amateurs at the Rosedale Club Wednesday, winning the Arthur Hulbert memorial trophy by a score of 53½ points to 36½.

The event was played under Nassau rules, whereby a point is awarded for each nine holes. Team members met in match play, singles in the morning round and in best-ball foursomes in the afternoon.

The pros won the singles 38-22 and the best ball matches 15½-14½.

Lloyd Tucker from the Kitchener Rockaway Club was the leading professional point-scorer. He swept three points from Phil Golding, Toronto Mississauga amateur, in the singles and teamed with Willie Lamb, Toronto Lamton, to take another three points from Golding and Rod Phelan, Rosedale.

Bob Gray, Toronto Scarboro pro, beat Rudy Horvath of Windsor 2½-½ in the singles. But Horvath teamed with Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener Rockaway, to gain an even split in the afternoon with Gray and Dick Borthwick, Hamilton Ancaster.

The trophy perpetuates the memory of Arthur Hulbert, late Toronto Thornhill professional.

Brooklyn Edges Phillies Within One Game of Braves

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A new-found strength on the mound is making Brooklyn Dodgers the most feared and respected club in the National League.

Receiving their ninth route-going performance by a pitcher in their last 15 games, Burt Shotton's Brooks shut out Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 Wednesday night in Brooklyn, to climb within one game of the league-leading Boston Braves. The slipping Braves were beaten by the Giants in New York 8-2.

In racking up Brooklyn's fourth straight victory, Rex Barney gave the best performance of his major-league career. He permitted only one hit, a fifth-inning single by third baseman Ralph Caballero. He walked three and struck out five, three in the last of the ninth.

Rookie Robin Roberts almost matched Barney's shutout pitching last night, but his own error and wild pitch paved the way for Brooklyn's lone run in the first.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals also took advantage of Boston's defeat, coming from behind to edge Cincinnati Reds in St. Louis, 4-3. The Cards now are only 2½ games off the pace. Trailing 3-2 in the last of the ninth the Cards quickly tied the score when Nippy Jones tripled. Then Red Schoendienst scored the winning run on a wild pitch.

Eight-hit pitching by Sheldon Jones and home runs by Johnny Mize (No. 29) and Sid Gordon (No. 24) were the highlights of the Giants' victory over the Braves.

Pirates Rally

Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for six runs in the top of the eighth to come from behind to defeat the Cubs in Chicago, 7-4. The victory moved the fourth-place Bucs to within five games of the Braves.

Cleveland Indians extended their first-place margin in the American League to three full games over Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics by defeating St. Louis Browns in Cleveland, 3-0. Sammy Zoldak, former Brownie, was found for nine hits by his ex-mates, but was tough in the clutch.

The Red Sox climbed over the Athletics into second place by two percentage points when they unleashed a 17-hit attack against three Philadelphia pitchers to whip the A's in Boston, 10-2. Ted Williams and Birdie Tebbets paced the Red Sox attack with three hits apiece. Veteran right-hander Denny Galehouse spaced eight hits for his sixth victory.

Vic Raschi earned his easiest victory of the season when New York Yankees defeated Washington Senators 4-1 in a Washington game called at the end of the fifth because of rain. It was Raschi's 16th triumph.

Razzle-Dazzle Aerial Attack For Stampeders

CALGARY, Aug. 19.—(CP).—Supporters of Calgary's football ing Stampeders are hoping that a powerful forward line and razzle-dazzle aerial attack will place the foothill's city brand on the elusive western Canada football championship.

It is 37 long years since Calgary fans have been given a chance to serenade a championship grid team.

Coach Les Lear, a former Winnipeg Blue Bomber, will unveil his attack Saturday when his red and white-clad cowboys meet Toronto Beaches Indians in an exhibition contest. Four days later, Stamps open their 1948 league schedule against Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Stamps are building their aerial attack around two husky United States imports—quarterback Keith Spaith and right end Woody Strode.

Spaith has brought grins of delight to rabid Stamp supporters with a sizzling display of hard, flat passes. Strode, six-foot-four end, played last season with Los Angeles Rams of the Pacific Coast pro loop, and is reported one of the best all-around ends in Pacific Coast history.

Surprise Package

Biggest surprise package in the Calgary attack may be two rugged Vancouver youngsters playing their first season in senior company. The youngsters, Rod Pantages and Pete Thodos, both starred with last yeaf's Dominion junior champion Vancouver Blue Bombers.

Pantages is being groomed to share fullback duties with veteran Paul Rowe. Thodos, is showing promise of developing into an elusive broken field runner.

Lear is building his backfield attack on a wide-open style of pla yworking out a T-formation. Only hold-overs from last year's club are Rowe, replacement expert Bull Wusyk and veteran Fritzie Hanson.

Replacements include Harry Hood, a former Blue Bomber and Norm Qwong, speedy Calgary junior.

Have High Hopes

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19—(AP) — Confident that its ace, Jaraslov Drobny, would be able to make his smashing southpaw service produce its customary baffling backspins, the Czechoslovakian Davis Cup team today had high hopes of squeezing past the favored Australian forces in the interzone finals here.

Little Giants Down Bears 8-4

By the Associated Press

The Little Giants aren't going anywhere in the International League, but Jersey City fans are walking the streets again with their heads high. The Giants after six straight failures, have finally beaten their neighborhood rivals from Newark.

It took some mighty slick clutch pitching and timely batting by veteran southpaw Jack Kraus to turn the trick, but the Li'l Giants did it, 8-4, Wednesday night.

Kraus, who had lost the series opener in the ninth inning last Sunday, came back with only two days rest and hung up his first victory since June 25 to snap a personal eight-game losing streak.

All other games were postponed by rain.

Tarzan Tells Olympic Stars To Capitalize

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 19 (AP)—Johnny Weissmuller, the screen's perennial nature boy, has some words of advice for the 1948 Olympic champs:

"You are Olympic champions for four years. Take advantage of it. If you get offers of big shows, take them, but make sure they are big. Get what you can and then get out."

Johnny's own pro career started slowly. After his victories in the 1928 Olympics he hooked up with a swimming suit outfit.

While peddling his swim suits through California, Johnny's physique was lamped by movie moguls and deemed ideal for the venerable G-string of Edgar Rice Burroughs' king of the apes, Tarzan. For 16 years Johnny grunted and bellowed his way through the jungle features. This year he and Tarzan's film mentor, Sol Lesser, had a falling out. Hollywood gosiped that Johnny's gold had turned to pot.

Johnny has now set up a deal for "Jungle Jim," which can be described as Tarzan with clothes. He will make two of the features a year for five years and he will rake in part of the profits. The later should be considerable, since the films are made in 12 days at a $200,000 cost.

To-day's Feature:

20 years ago in the movies:

Toronto's Mary Pickford made national news by cutting off her curls....Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll starred in "Able's Irish Rose"....Romance was rumored for Al Jolson and Lupe Velez....Thedo Bara was making a comeback....

Clara Bow was top star in the amount of fan mail, followed in order by Billie Dove, Buddy Rogers, Colleen Moore, Mary Pickford, Dolores Costello, Richard Dix, May McAvoy, William Boyd and Mary Brian....."Noah's Ark" was the flop of the year....."The Barker" with Milton Sills, a hit ....Anita Page and Joan Crawford symbolized the flaming age in "Our Dancing Daughters."

Doty Turns Out With Argonauts

TORONTO, Aug. 19 (CP) — Diminutive Fred Doty, an early-season hold-out after helping Toronto Argonauts to two of their last three Dominion football championships, said Wednesday night he will turn out with the Big Four team again.

The 130-pound quarterback missed a hectic scrimmage, however, in which tempers exploded all over as some of the newcomers bidding for wingline jobs crowded the veterans.

Harry Daniels, a sturdily built Winnipegger who played one season with Blue Bombers, looked impressive again on the line and is expected to catch a berth. He is here pursuing his ministry studies at Wycliffe College.

Two casualties have hit the Argos, prepping heavily for an exhibition game against Toronto Beaches-Indians Aug. 28. Sonny Colvin, promising backfielder of London, Ont. is out with a sore back while rangy Andy Thompson suffered a torn knee cartilage.

Billy Bell, backfielder with last year's champs, is headed for Queen's University and will not be out with the team.

Nice going lads. Keep up the good work. Say, how about doing just that down in Cobourg this coming Saturday? That is where the Midland League convenes this week-end.

Don't fail to check on the draw for the city golf championship published elsewhere in the paper tonight. This draw is made up of the qualifying 16 players from the Kawartha and Peterborough clubs. The winner receives the Girven trophy, emblematic of city golf championship. Fraser Dunfield won the same last year.

This cup was formerly contested for by the respective champions from each club, but now it is contested for by 16 potential champions from each club. May the best man win.

Don't forget to put your old crocks in the container for same in the locker room. These golf balls are to be put to good use by the boys in Sunnybrook and Christie St. hospitals in the very near future. Hope to fill the keg this week-end.

USUALLY IT IS AN OPPONENT that Joe Louis lays on the canvas. This time it is a painting. The heavyweight champion is using his good right hand for sweet charity's sake, painting a pair of boxing gloves. The picture will be shown and auctioned for the benefit of the Urban League, interracial agency for the improvement of economic conditions among Negroes. It will be exhibited with the work of other celebrities who are amateur painters on September 28 at the Associated American Artists, New York.

Brooklin Victors Against Hastings

OSHAWA, Aug. 19.—Brooklin Lynbrooks whipped Hastings' Guys 11-1 last night at Brooklin, in the first game of their OAS.A. Junior "B" playoffs. The return game of the series is down in Hastings on Thursday.

With Hooker pitching steady ball all the way, it was an easy win for Brooklin. Hooker fanned 11 batters and though he walked five he was seldom in trouble. Richardson singled with one out in the sixth and was advanced by Beavis who drew his third walk in succession. Kelly, pinch-hitting for West, clipped one to score Richardson with what proved to be Hastings' only run of the game.

Brooklin opened the scoring in the first when Gibson was safe on an error by the catcher and scored on infield outs. In the 2nd, Fletcher singled to start the rally, after Croxall had fanned. Mackey singled and Davidson was safe on the first baseman's terror. Burt walked, as Fletcher scored, making it 2-0.

In the fourth inning, Croxall, Mackey, Davidson all hit safely and a walk plus an error, made it a 4-run rally for the homesters.

Hooker homered to open the 5th and Davidson also homered after Mackey had singled, to make it 9-0. The winners got their last two runs on a walk to Fletcher and another homer, this time by Mackey, with two men out in the 7th inning.

Hastings—McGowan, rf and 1b; Richardson, lf; Beavis, ss; Oliver, c; West, p; Herrington, cf and p; Krego, 3b; Fairman, 1b; Odoherty, rf; Fife, 2b.

Brooklin—Gibson, lf; Johnson Nesbitt, 3b; Hooker, p; Croxall, cf; Fletcher, c; Mackey, ss; Davidson, 2b; Burt, 1b.

Umpires—C. W. Varcoe, plate, of Hastings and W. Graham, bases, of Brooklin.

Boer War Vet Jives At 72

GLASGOW, Aug. 19—(CP)—Sgt. Sandy McIntyre, 72, came north from London, on leave, scarlet coat bright on his shoulders and his medals jingling.

The bobby-soxers in Barrowland Ballroom, including a pretty 17-year-old who taught him jive, say they'll never forget him.

Sandy served 25 years with the Cameronians, taking the Boer War in his stride. When he took his discharge he was admitted to the Royal Chelsea Hospital in London, where the pensioned veterans are wards of the King and the ever-welcome guests of all the city.

He came north to spend his 14 days' leave with relatives, but he didn't hang about the house. Out he went about the familiar streets and he thought he'd like to dance.

So into the ballroom.

There he danced with willing partners, dances new and old. He said he liked jive.

Then he went to the microphone and hushed the crowd with his best-loved song, "My Ain Folk."

Sandy as a sergeant has 79 other pensioners under him. He snapped them to attention as a guard of honor when War Minister Shinwell visited them recently.

His ambition is to meet Field Marshal Smuts of South Africa, whom he saw during the Boer War when the former Prime Minister fought the British.

"But I doubt if he'll remember me," said Sandy, modestly.

Bills Unchanged Although Price Of Gas Higher?

No change in gas bills, but the price will be higher.

That does not make sense to the consumers of gas, especially the domestic folks, and may be the commercials. But, the industrial group, meaning engineers, know all the answers.

May be the domestic gas burners might as well pay their bills every two month and forget about B.T.U.'s

Not that the B.T.U.'s are not important They are the whole story, but it isn't easy for the layman suddenly to switch over into the field of combustion engineers and understand their terminology.

This preface to the decision of the Utilities Commission Monday that the gas rates will be "upped" with the first billing in September—but the figures on the bills, the cash to be paid over the counter at the Utilities Office, will not be increased.

And the reason is—more BTU's in this new propane gas.

What is a BTU, any way, as the Commissioners enquired Tuesday in forgetfulness of a measurement in physics they learned long ago.

Ross Dobbin replied that the British Thermal Unit is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree Fahrenhit. It has to do with hat values and heat contents.

As Mr. Dobbin reported on the gas change: "The new mixture we are now delivering has a heating value of 710 BTU's as compared with 460 BTU's in the old gas."

In the metering process, 1,000 cu. feet is the unit quantity. That is, whatever the heat content, the volume of the gas is the same, in this case—1,000 cu. ft.

But, in one 1,000 cu. ft. of gas there are 710 BTU's and in the other 4660 BTU's. You are getting more heat value from the propane gas, and consequently the price has to be increased.

Use Gas Accordingly

One of the comments in the discussion was that the domestic gas bills should not be higher—if the heating apparatus is properly adjusted, and if householders do not leave the kettle boil unnecessarily. They have to realize they are getting more heat value, and should use it accordingly, if the bills are to remain at present amounts.

Labor and other savings will not be exactly known for several months. It may be about the end of the year that this economy will be determined, and the Commission expects that an advantage in that direction will be passed on to the gas consumers.

The adjusting of ranges and other heating apparatus is still going on. The Dobbin report observed: "We have been using 12 men a day from July 5 to Aug. 7 to make calls. Half of them were our own employees. At this date we have 12 inspectors making the rounds, all of whom are our own employees."

"We can make all the gas required in four hours a day as against 12 hours formerly. Our bulk meter has not the capacity to measure the gas at present because of the great increase in the rate of make. We have ordered a new meter, but it will not be delivered until late in September. Consequently we are not able to measure accurately the amount of gas we are making. We can estimate the make approximately by taking the amount of liquid propane used in the month and dividing by 6½, this being the number of gallons required to make 1000 cu. ft. of gas."

"We have bought 48,000 gals. of liquid propane, and at the end of July we had about 18,000 gals. in storage. Thus, we had used 30,000 gals. which at 6½ bals. per 1,000 cu. ft. indicated that we had made 4,600,000 cu. ft.

Saving in Labor

'In July 1947 we made 7,230,000 cu. ft. of the 460 BTU gas. There will eventually be a substantial saving in labor to operate the plant, but we will not be able to effect this until next summer. The present large coal-fired boilers will have to be operated over the winter until a smalled gas-fired boiler can be secured."

"By July 3, the new gas had spread through the distribution system, and we began to get calls for adjustment of burners an stoves and appliances. We brought in a number of skilled mechanics from the Gas Company in Hamilton, and advertised that these men would be visiting each consumer to make any necessary adjustments."

"This procedure was continued up to the present time. Many consumers were not at home when our men called, so these have yet to be made. There are about 300 of thme. We will be calling on them between now and Sept. 15, when we hope to have all adjustments made to suit the new gas."

"At July 31, we had the following gas consumers: domestic 3,105; commercial 215 industrial 14."

Clue To History

JERUSALEM, Aug. 19 — (AP) — A Jewish soldier digging a slit trench at Salbit near Latrun has unearthed Mosaic pavement which may supply missing Palestine history of the two centuries after the birth of Christ. Jewish archaeologists said today the find appeared to be part of a Samaritan temple and a remnant of greater days of a Jewish sect still existing in the Arab city of Nablus.

Call Christians To Oppose Communism

LONDON, Aug. 19 — (AP) — Translated into more than 100 languages, a call to Christians to oppose Communism was dispatched to-day to all corners of the earth. It was sent by the Lambeth Conference.

The Conference report was published Tuesday night in the form of a volume presenting the views of 329 Archbishops and Bishops of the Anglican and associated churches which met in London for five weeks.

It was the first Lambeth Conference — a deliberate church body wielding great influence but possessing no legislative authority—since 1930. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. G. F. Fisher, was its president.

The Conference adopted a resolution stating it is recognized that many practising Christians believe in some political doctrines of Communism and that such belief is not inconsistent with their religion.

Nevertheless, the Bishops and Archbishops, including the highest authorities of the Church of England, and the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States were vigorous in their opposition to Marxian Communism, which, they said, is contrary to Christian faith and practice.

Work Against War

The Conference urged Christians to work for the elimination of war, and urged countries to refrain from using the atom bomb but took the attitude that occasionally war must be waged "as the lesser of two evils."

Other conclusions of the conference included:

A human rights declaration, pledging a campaign for full attainment of such rights everywhere.

A reassertion of the church's objection to the remarriage of divorced persons.

A recommendation of proposals, made by China, that women be admitted to the priesthood.

An expression of hope that unification of all non-Roman Christian churches may be attained.

Approval of a plan to hold a world Anglican conference of laymen and clergy in 1953, probably in the United States.

A plea to the countries of the world to remove the causes of war and for speedy completion of peace treaties for Japan and Germany.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, said many excellent practicing Christians are Communists.

He told a press conference that the Anglican communion is unalterably opposed to Marxian Communism, but the church—its attitude clarified by the recent Lambeth conference — does not make a blanket condemnation of Communist.

Sudden Attack Likely Britons Warned

BLACKPOOL, Lancs., England, Aug. 19—(AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told Britons Tuesday night they could not hope for a breathing space in the event of a new war and therefore must be "prepared to face sudden attack by an aggressor."

The chief of the Imperial General Staff spoke here twice Tuesday, at a ceremony in which freedom of the city was conferred on him and at a civic dinner.

At the ceremony he said: "A somewhat uneasy peace is brooding over the world. It is more of a truce than a peace; it is a period of exhaustion, ill-described as 'peace.'"

Later, he told the dinner audience: "We cannot hope for a breathing space, as in 1939, at the outbreak of another world conflict."

Lord Montgomery said that "in any future war our people at home must be prepared to face great physical dangers and many heavy blows delivered by enemy air attack."

"Civil defence will be of the first importance."

He called for 150,000 men and women to join the territorial army, to quadruple the present size of this reserve force. He urged the training of men as a preparedness measure.

2 New Plants For Hamilton

HAMILTON, Aug. 19—(CP)—This booming port is living up to its reputation as the "Ambitious City" with announcement that two big new industries will establish here.

It was disclosed Tuesday that both the Austin Motor Company, Ltd., of Great Britain and Canadian Westinghouse, Ltd., will open plants. Civic officials view the moves as a sign of confidence in Hamilton's future as a manufacturing and industrial centre.

It was understood the Austin Company purchased a war plant named after Gen. A G. L. McNaughton Hall—from War Assets Corporation and hopes to start production within three months. Price was not disclosed.

The company plans to employ between 800 and 1,000 workers turning out 200 to 250 cars weekly. It is hoped to double this schedule eventually.

Canadian Westinghouse announced it will build a $1,000,000 plant to manufacture electric motors. The company said the 21-acre site will provide suitable room for expansion.

MORE THAN 1,000 SQUARE MILES of Scotland and Northern England were flooded last week by torrential rains which put railways out of commission, ruined crops and marooned hundreds of families. Coastguards and lifesaving apparatus were rushed inland from their stations to aid in rescue work. Photo shows a rescue crew carrying a 73-year-old woman from her cottage at Grantshouse, Berwickshire. The woman's 76-year-old husband was rescued immediately afterwards.

ADDITIONAL CLASSES

Board of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition have decided to have some additional classes of entries for horses at the exhibition. A light delivery class is to be added, single and double. This will mean two classes in the delivery section, heavy and light, with the same prizes to be awarded for each. Pony mares and foals are another new class which should be a great attraction to children.

Cabinet Studies Import Plan As Butter Supply Worsens

By GEORGE RONALD

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 (CP)—The butter riches of New Zealand and Scandinavia have taken on new importance in the light of Canada's steadily-worsening domestic supply situation.

The cabinet is known to be digging into the details of every import possibility. Among informed sources here, it is believed the government may soon take action to avert the critical winter shortage which now seems inevitable.

With a general election not too far distant, it is pointed out, any move to maintain the butter supply would be wise politically as well as economically.

The question of a butter substitute is all but shelved for the time being. A supreme court hearing to determine whether the 62-year ban on Oleomargarine is constitutional is scheduled for early October.

Meanwhile, there is renewed talk here about the possibility of importing 15,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand.

Three-Way Agreement

In affect that would be a three-way agreement among Canada, New Zealand and the United Kingdom, since a contract in force until 1955 channels all New Zealand dairy exports to Britain. In the case of butter, it amounts to 224,000,000 pounds a wear. The agreement contains a clause which would enable New Zealand to divert some of her surplus butter to Canada.

The argument of import-conscious observers in Ottawa is that Britain, by agreeing to diversion of 15,000,000 puonds to Canada, would be ahead in the long run because Canada would pay in dollars vital to the sterling countries.

The same import talk includes reminders that the Scandinavian nations, ntably Denmark, could supply the butter Canada needs. There was talk about this time last year of buying 5,000,000 pounds from the Danes.

Give It New Life

A 15,000,000-pound purchase—from anyone—would breathe new life into Canada's butter supply. It now is 12,808,000 pounds below that of mid-August, 1947.

Authoritative sources who confirm the cabinet's interest in butter-import possibilities say the government also is keeping an eye peeled for all developments in the beef-price situation.

With shipments of Canadian cattle to American markets ready to be resumed as a result of the lifting of a wartime embargo last Monday, retail prices are getting set to jump. But, say observers, the increase may not be as great as some Canadian fear.

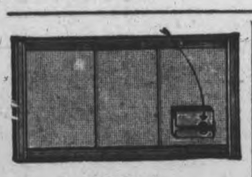
They point to the statement of Agricultural Minister Gardiner in Winnipeg Tuesday: "It is expected that prices both of cattle and beef will level out at a point between the American and Canadian prices . . . " That, it was learned, is the cabinet's belief.

Russ Prodigy Won't Go Back

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 19—(AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter today identified the "Swedish Kosenkina" as Lydia Makarova and said the 19-year-old girl who refuses to go back to Russia is a music prodigy.

The case is causing a sensation in Sweden. It parrallels the case of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, Russian teacher who leaped from a third storey window of the Soviet consulate in New York.

A Swedish foreign office spokesman said Tuesday the Soviet embassy here had asked repeatedly that the girl be sent back to Russia. He said the foreign office had declined these requests and told the Russian embassy to "leave the girl alone."



Dagens Nyheter published an interview with the girl, who said she had fled to Sweden in 1944 after her mother had died in Leningrad. At the time she was 15 and considered a musical prodigy. She has continued her studies in Sweden and will give her first piano recital at Stockholm's concert hall Jan. 29.

Lydia dreams of going to Paris to continue her studies, but she is afraid to leave Sweden and the protection she has had here, the newspaper said.

Charges Withdrawn Against Sam Habib

Charges of theft by conversion, laid against Sam Habib of Peterborough, were withdrawn at the request of the crown Tuesday in court. Alleging the accused had illegally not deposited money given to him by Polish veterans working on district farms, the case was satisfactorily explained to crown officials as a matter of post-dating of cheques.

Ohio Farmer Catches Big Bass

Guy Irwin, an Ohio farmer, entered in the Examiner's fishing contest, the 5 lb. 13 oz. large mouth black bass he caught below Bensfort Bridge Wednesday morning. He was using a June bug spinner and dew worms.

Mr. Irwin and his son Clifford of Columbus Grove, R.R. 1, and Bert Core and his son Clyde, Lime, O., R.R. 3, have been coming to the Otonabee River, at Bensfort, two years.

"My two brothers came to Rice Lake and the river some years ago," Clifford Irwin said. "They told us the fishing was good, and so we came up and rented a cottage. This is our second year at Bensfort. We arrived Monday for ten days or two weeks. We caught one pickerel before my father hooked this big bass. It is a dandy. My father had quite a struggle with him before landing him."

"There are not many farmers in our area who take a holiday at this time of the year," Mr. Irwin said. "Some go up into Michigan, but we like it over here. We have taken off our winter wheat and oats crop. Corn and soy beans are a fall crop. That gives us a little break, and we decided we might as well take some time off from work. So, we are back to the Otonabee River again this year. We decided that we are entitled to a holiday as farmers. We're not going to live forever, and we might just as well go fishing when we get this chance in August."

NO EXCUSE FOR CREWS

Letters to the council Monday night from both railways carried information that employees had been instructed to avoid blocking crossings in the city longer than the legal limit. That period is five minutes, Dave Bell of the CNR told the Examiner. Council recently threatened police action in the direction of shunting and other crews who quite obviously could have prevented some of the extended delays in recent complaints.

Fire Plays Strange Tricks In Downtown Blaze Interior of Building Shows

Intense heat, hidden but biting flames, huge billows of heavy smoke, can create strange effects. An inspection of the Kresge Building following the $150,000 fire Tuesday night revealed many queer tricks that fire—"the good servant, the terrible master"—can play on his victims. From the outside, the building did not appear to have suffered too much damage. Some of the windows were still in place. None of the big plate glass ones had been broken at the front of the store, and even the merchandise in them was affected little.

Inside, on the store floor, it was another story. Gaping holes cut in the floor by smoke-hampered firemen yawned into unrelieved masses of heaped ashes in the cellar below. The store aisles sagged and swooped crazily, dipping up and down with the heat-forced contours of the floor.

On the counters, the wide variety of goods carried by stores of this type looked mightly unsaleable to the inspecting parties. Celluloid dogs sprawled in grotesque shapes over books with toasted, curled corners. Cans of paint, lacquer and varnishes which had escaped the flames were blackened, in several cases had burst the containers and bubbled over.

Glassware lay scattered with cooking utensils of metal. Water, used in trying to reach the impishly elusive blaze below the floor, had created havoc in this assortment, although a surprising amount had not been hurt.

At the wrecked lunch counter, the stools had toppled in all directions, one row of them neatly laid in a row, like so many carefully placed pickets. Signs advertising "hot roast beef sandwich," "strawberry sundaes," and others, flapped on the wall in bright contrast to dull blackness of the store.

The acrid smell of smoke hung over the whole building and outside for some distance. As cleaners and firemen shovelled and swept away debris, each movement disturbed soot and soggy mush.

Along the corridors and in the offices on the second floor, damage appeared to be light. Little pools of water had formed on the floors

It was in the upstairs offices that some of the queerest results were noted.

In one law office, all the tops of the desks, which are a natural light oak shade, had been miraculously changed into glistening, highly polished, gleaming dark mahogany shade. Except where the blistering effect was not felt on the surfaces under paper weights, etc., it looked exactly as if the desk finish were the regular dark stain used on such furniture.

A heavy layer of smoke-carried soot lay over books, files and papers in most of the offices. Typewriters were scorched and will require considerable repair work.

In the desks drawers, most of the papers were not injured. However, it was noticed in one that, although the papers were safe, a cloth towel near the back of one of the drawers had been badly scorched by the heat.

Staff Of 75 Seek New Jobs Following Fire

No serious difficulty will result in the employment situation because of the Kresge Building fire, it was reported today following a survey of the situation which threw more than 75 persons directly out of work.

Kresge manager, Jack Lewis, said that the job of repairing the store will take an estimated three months. At its re-opening, the store will be in a position to take back its full staff—'maybe more."

In the meantime, more than a dozen women employees have already found other positions. W. H. Mellis, manager of the local Unemployment Insurance Office, said that it is believed that placements can be found through that office for all the others forced out of employment because of the $150,000 blaze.

Other stores in the city have been quick to come forward to pick up the large pool of experienced help made suddenly available. The waitresses will have no trouble finding work, promised several cafeterias and restaurants. And neighboring stores are making themselves open for the 40 or 50 shop-clerks.

Ross Farquhar, store foreman, has been transferred to another store of the Kresge chain. Miss Margaret Blair, cafeteria dietitian, has been transferred to Toronto temporarily. Stockmen Fred Collins and Edwin Fallis will be retained in employment here through the rebuilding period, as will caretaker Harvey Silvester. Two cashiers will also be kept on.

Mr. Lewis said that none of the employees would lose seniority because of the fire.

Every part of the big building at the corner of George and Simcoe streets was humming with activity today. Workmen and assessors checked into the blackened masses of merchandise. Insurance adjustors made the rounds of offices on the second floor to detail losses.

Stenographers blew dust from begrimed files and books, straighted out water-soaked piles of papers, tried to put the offices back in presentable shape. Smudges of dirt and dust marked businessmen trying to get on with their work.

The dentists were unhappy over the future as well as the past. Delicate machinery, expensive equipment and the numerous tools and accessories of their trade would take a long time to be put back into shape.

The machinery, they said, would have to be sent to the United States for complete overhaul. Initial delay—maybe three weeks — would be in explaining the why-and-wherefores of the situation to the customs officials. Then, they glumly predicted, it might be six months more before the American firms could finish the work.

Total damage has not yet been accurately established. Underwood-Elliott Typewriters offices estimate at least $3,000. About 60 machines were damaged, and hundreds of typewriter ribbons, platens and other parts have been ruined because of the heavy gum-layer laid down by the smoke, which carried paint fumes and other gaseous substances through the whole upstairs region.

In the insurance offices, men picked up the day-to-day routine under calendars which ominously proclaimed things like: "The next fire might be yours—are you prepared?"

Pearl In Sandwich

Ever find a pearl in a restaurant oyster? No? Meet another man who didn't find a pearl in an oyster. He found his in a sardine sandwich. The man was Jim Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce here. Eating his sandwich in a Charlote St. restaurant, Mr. Fraser closed his teeth on a small hard pellet. He removed the pellet, peeled off the white outer coating, and found a seed pearl. Oysters are going to ask questions about this.

Fewer Children In Attendance At Playgrounds

Attendance at the seven Peterborough playgrounds totalled 28,741 for the first six weeks, it was learned Tuesday night at a meeting of the recreation commission. Last year's figures for the same period were 33,757. However, Prince of Wales playground was closed on August 2 because of poor attendance.

Two of last year's playgrounds, Queen Mary and Nicholls Oval, were not in use this year, but were replaced by Confederation and Dixon House. Riverside and King Edward show the two largest single attendances, 8849 and 5065 respectively.

An additional grant of $3,500 may be made to the recreation commission by the parks committee, Chairman W. B. Gordon reported. It was decided that the commission would pay the insurance on Dixon House, amounting to $69.25.

Jack Dane reported to the commission on the drowning at Inverlea of Gerald Harran on July 5, saying that recommendations concerning safety of swimmers were carried out, including erection of a look-out tower, installation of life-buoys, warning signs and a definite roped-off area for non-swimmers.

Mr. Dane also reported on the band concerts held during the year, four at Riverside, one at Turner Park, one at King Edward, one at Tilco Field and four at Nicholl's Oval. Average attendance shown by the report was 3,500.

Following a report on the financial set-up of the City Baseball League given by J. R. G. Ouimet, commission decided to grant the Minor Baseball League $300 on a motion by Mr. Ouimet and Mr. Bolton. A letter will be sent out by the commission to the various service clubs asking if they wish to donate this year to the baseball league as they did last year.

In keeping with the usual procedure regarding salaries of employees, it was recommended that the salary of Joan Paterson, secretary to Mr. Dane, be increased to $1,550 per annum. Moved by Mr. Bolton and Mr. Ouimet that the recommendation be adopted.

Truck Takes Ditch Blame Wet Pavement

Damage estimated at nearly $500 was caused a truck which skidded off the wet pavement of No. 7 Highway three miles west of Havelock Wednesday evening about 6.30. The driver, John D. Newton of 503 Stewart St., was uninjured as the truck, owned by Weldrest Cleaners of Peterborough, crashed through four guideposts, plunged down an embankment and rolled over twice.

Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings investigated.

FLAG UPSIDE DOWN

Several times recently the flag at Riverside Park has been raised upside down. Flown in this manner, the flag indicates the need for immediate help. Maybe the playground supervisors are overworked.

False Teeth, Money, Clothes Forgotten By Hotel Guests

By JIM ENGLISH

Three years ago, somebody came into the Empress Hotel dining-room, sat down to dinner, ate and walked away, leaving his or her wooden leg under the table. Today that wooden leg is still in the cellar of the Empress, waiting for its owner.

"I don't know how it happened," said Dave Kerr, one-time goalkeeper for New York Rangers and manager of the hotel. "Maybe the leg was bothering the owner—a strap might have been hurting him or her. None of us saw the person come in carrying it. But it was certainly there when we cleaned up."

People will leave almost anything behind that isn't a part of their anatomy, said Mr. Kerr. They'll walk away from hotels without their false teeth, leaving them in the washroom or on the dresser. Usually they are back in a few minutes to claim them, lisping frantically. Others go right on home, where they discover their toothlessness and write to the hotel, pleading for the return of their plates.

False teeth aren't everything that gets left behind. Wallets are found in pillow cases, where owners had placed them for safekeeping and forgot them in the early morning rush. People generally come back for their wallets faster than for anything else, said Mr. Kerr.

"Just about the only thing we haven't found here is a toupee. Wooden legs, wallets, false teeth, all kinds of things, but never a toupee," said Mr. Kerr.

What gets into people in the rush to depart is something akin to panic. They forget essentials —pyjama tops, or bottoms, purses, rain coats, tooth brushes, anything else that happens to pop out of their minds.

Then there are the people who didn't leave anything behind in a particular hotel, but who claim they did. They write nasty letters, telling the manager that they are sure their false teeth are in a glass of water in room 109, and hinting that the hotel staff is composed entirely of thieves and grave robbers.

And then they find their teeth at home, or in another hotel in another city. "That's when they begin to softpedal," Mr. Kerr said. "They forget their earlier accusations, and say to forget all about it, they've found their teeth. They don't even apologize."

Hotel property is considered fair game by the guests. Towels, soap, blankets and sheets disappear with frightening regularity. Once a chesterfield was stolen from a Montreal hotel, but was recovered shortly after.

Ah, yes, there are mysteries in the hotel business. Who owns the set of false teeth in room 73, when the person who stayed there says he didn't lose them? Who owns the wallet found in the ash tray near the elevator? And most mysterious of all, who owns that wooden leg, how did it get there, and why was it left?

Fellow Employees, Friends Honor Late D. V. Canning

Deeply significant of the broad and esteemed place Dow Vernon Canning had won in Peterborough was the impressive tribute to his personality and many phased work in the community at the funeral service in his memory at Murray St. Baptist Church.

With the large representation of the membership of his church were members of the Board of Education, City Council, Board of Health and many of his fellow employees of the Canadian General Electric Company of which he was manager of its industrial controls division. There were others, too, associates of the past in his various activities and a numerous and general group of friends from outside those closer spheres of interest to whom, also, his untimely death Monday brought a sharp sense of loss and sadness.

Notable in that expression of sentiment was the respect manifested by the presence of many executives and other employees of the Peterborough and Toronto works and offices of the Canadian General Electric Company. Twenty members of the Toronto staff came here for the funeral. Mr. Ian F. McRae, works manager, and Mr. J. E. Girven, assistant, various department heads and associate employees comprised a numerous representation of the local branch of the company. It was striking evidence of appreciation of Mr. Canning, his long and responsible service since 1921 after his graduation from McGill University, and his friendly spirit, his wit and brightness of personality.

Needed So Much

"We are grateful that we had such a friend and associate for a time, but we needed him so much that his departure from us has left a heavy sense of irreparable loss," said Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, minister of Murray St. Church. Recognizable as a remembered facet of the character of Mr. Canning, the observation sounding a little understone of remembered humor, was Mr. Morgan's remark: "I can well imagine what he would say if I made a formal eulogy of him on this occasion. But, I do want to pay tribute to him as a gracious and kindly friend. He was a churchman of strong convictions who gave unstintingly of his time and talents to its service."

Rev. Mr. Morgan said Mr. Canning was highly esteemed by his associates in his daily work and in the fellowship of his church in which he was leaving a great vacancy. He had served the community of Peterborough well and faithfully, and particularly its children in his position for years on the Board of Education.

His Favorite Hymn

The only hymn of the service was chosen because it was a favorite of the late Mr. Canning: "Just as I am without one plea".

The City Council was represented by Mayor W. G. Ovens, Aldermen Grant Miller and P. J. Anglesey and City Clerk E. A. Outram. Other members were attending at the city hall a meeting which had been made a week ago by appointment.

Members of the Board of Education were Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Dr. R. C. Honey, G. Wilson Craw, Arthur Pitchford, Frank Jobbitt,

City Council Spends 3 Hours Studying Financing Prospective Civic Works

City Council spent nearly three hours Wednesday night studying the surface indications and delving into implications of a financial statement prepared recently by City Treasurer A. S. Couper and City Auditor Edward Humpage. Essentially it was a compilation of present and prospective civic works for which money will have to be borrowed within an indefinite period of the next few days whenever actual work and expenditure are begun.

The total of eleven items was $5,075,000. Some of them represented multiple costs, for example three items under the single heading of sewers; three likewise under general debt; three items under Board of Education; and three more combined under pavements. Actual total number of these items of outlay was 19.

At the top of this formidable column is Peterborough Civic Hospital $2,00,000. Next is sewage disposal $750,000. Third item is new city hall (land and furniture) $300,000.

May Change Site

That expenditure for the city hall site got a fresh going over, and members of the committee were asking themselves once more why the council should assent to buying Water-Murray block of land for the civic headquarters building when they now own the whole market block, Water-Simcoe, or whatever part of that square might be chosen.

Faced with costs from other directions far exceeding original estimates the disposition last night was to weigh that $300,000 item, most of it for purchase of land in the block opposite Confederation Square, against the trend of the tax rate as new issues of debentures will begin coming home to roost.

Expansion of the city within the last five years has given new sharpness to the Ashburnham sewer problem, and in fact to the larger need of sewerage extension and sewage disposal. The more attention and thought the council turns in that direction the larger becomes this one phase of development of the city.

Park St. Drain

There is an item of $100,000 in the statement for the Park St. drain. That means laying oversized cement pipe on the west side of Park St. from Brioux St., south of the Ovaltine plant, down to the river. The old ditch will have to be filled and finally a sidewalk laid.

With all the building of dwellings south of Lansdowne St. there is so far not a foot of concrete sidewalk on Park St. from that corner. The open ditch cannot be much longer tolerated with all the housing expenditure in that area and also with heavy increase in traffic. There was some suggestion of an effort to widen Park St., but the members of the council now sees so many outlets of expense that they are inclined more quickly to push into the background or discard altogether anything suspected of being a frill.

Last item on the list is $50,000 for fire hall extension. That calls for enlargement of the Aylmer St. depot or building a branch hall somewhere in the south end.

RANG ALARM

The mystery of who rang the alarm for the Kresge building fire on Tuesday night has been solved. Alex Craig of Ashburnham, came out of a George St. theatre and noticed smoke, went to the alarm box nearby and turned in the alarm.

Learn To Swim Classes Attract 963 Children

A total of 963 children have registered in the Learn to Swim program conducted by Mrs. Pansy Forbes under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Recreation Commission, Jack Dane reported to the Commission Tuesday night.

St. Mary's school leads in registration for girls with 84 between the ages of seven and 13 enrolled, followed by Central school with 62 girls and King George with 61. Queen Alexandra leads in the boys' division with 59 enrolled between the ages of six and 12.

Classes are conducted for beginners at Inverlea each morning, Monday to Friday, from 10 to 12 a.m., and at Riverside from 2 to 3 p.m. Classes for advanced swimmers and life saving are held at Riverside from 3 to 4.30 p.m. and at Inverlea from 2 to 4.30 p.m.

Window Broken Police Puzzled

Broken glass in the Brock St. door of the Liquor Store has police and officials of the store wondering. It is possible, it was pointed out, that the break could have been caused by a car throwing up a rock or stone from the road.

There were no indications that the shattered glass had been an attempt to break-in the store. It happened sometime early Thursday morning and was discovered by PC William Scott.

Uranium Rush On Way At Goldbridge

GOLDBRIGE, B.C., Aug. 19 (CP).—This small mining community, 120 miles north of Vancouver, today geared itself for an atomic-age "uranium rush."

With sleeping bags and hobnail boots at a premium, geologists, construction workers, beer-parlor waiters and a number of women have hiked 12 miles tot the Gun Lake area where Vancouver prospector Ernest Johnson recently discovered the radio-active mineral.

Prospectors have been leaving town for the last two days as scores of trailers moved in. The 100 resident families again found their small community the centre of attraction for the first time since 1939 when the gold boom during depression years kept it "hopping" with promises of great wealth.

The Gem property, where the uranium find was made, was mined for years for cobalt and other metals. Antimony was also discovered in the area.

Pretty Excited

Grant Coverdale, manager of the hotel here, said "the village is pretty excited about the uranium."

"There's a sort of 'gold rush' feeling in the air," he said. "We're all hoping this discovery will mean big things for the community."

Johnson 35-year-old Manitoba-born prospector, has staked claims on parcels of crown land where his explorations with a Geiger Counter indicate the presence of radio-active ores.

The discovery has been confirmed by the Provincial Mines Department which is checking the possibility that it may be pitch-blende, most valuable of all uranium ores.

McConnell Clan Assemble At Cobourg

NORWOOD, Aug. 19—(ENS)—The McConnell clan were again favored with a beautiful morning when they met on Sunday at Cobourg for their annual re-union. 98 sat down to dinner, at 12 noon.

A short business meeting was held and the old executive were re-elected for 1949, with Reg. McConnell of Detroit, added to the committee.

It was decided to hold the re-union in Cobourg in 1949 on the second Sunday in August. Communications were received from Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kennedy.

The prize for the oldest member present went to Mr. G. Hamlin of Peterborough; the youngest by Larry Metcalfe; the lucky plate by Mrs. H. Lobb, and the lucky draw by Mr. Vansickle of Brighton. The children all received treats of bags containing candies, popcorn, gum and nuts.

Charge Jews With Acts Against Church

JERUSALEM, Aug. 19—(AP)—The Latin Patriarchate released today a report by the Vicar-General of Galilee accusing Jews of criminal acts against 12 Roman Catholic institutions in northern Palestine.

The report, by Monsignor Anthony Vergani, an Italian citizen, has been forwarded by the Patriarchate to the Vatican secretary of state.

It alleged that seven churches, convents and hospices have been looted by Jews, and others seized by force. It expressed concern that the Jews might "start a continued expropriation of ecclesiastical properties which may have no small repercussion in the Christian world."

Earlier, Jewish soldiers were accused by the pastor of a Greek Catholich church in Jaffa of breaking into the church and carrying off religious objects.

Msgr. Vergani, on the basis of personal observation, reported these acts against Roman Catholic institutions.

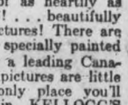
During His First Year grow is what baby does best! And because good food promotes sound growth, quality is naturally the first consideration in choosing baby's food. Flavour is important, too, for even at his age the little man has decided ideas about what tastes good. That's why he'll love HEINZ BABY FOODS . . . flavour-fresh, oh-so-carefully cooked — then vacuum-sealed to retain vitamin content in a high degree. Try all of Heinz Baby and Junior Foods, remembering that a 78-year-old Heinz reputation for quality stands back of every one of them and when you buy food for baby, the best is none too good!

Isn't It Wonderful the way children love to collect? Parents are often amazed at the lengths they go to get the weirdest things! (And sometimes you wish they wouldn't!) But now, the Kellogg's people have designed a "collector's item" that you'll approve of as heartily as your children do! . . . beautifully coloured bird pictures! There are 15 in the series, specially painted for Kellogg's by a leading Canadian artist. The pictures are little gems and the only place you'll find them is in KELLOGG'S KRUMBLES! And how your family will love Krumbles! . . . Crisp, curled and shredded whole wheat — a different flavour — a different form . . . and concentrated for extra nourishment!

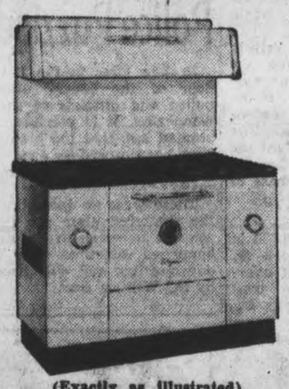


"What a Cook!" is what your husband will think when you top off a good summer meal with a BENSON CORN STARCH dessert! Try this one, for instance . . . it's delicious — no wonder it's a family "flavourite"!

FLOATING ISLAND

1 egg, separated
1 tbspn. white sugar
1¾ cups scalded milk
½ cup white sugar
⅛ tspn. salt
1 tbspn. Benson's or Canada Corn Starch
¼ cup cold milk
½ tspn. vanilla
Red Jelly (for garnish)

To stiffly beaten egg white add 1 tbspn. white sugar; beat again, using rotary beater. Poach by spoonfuls on top of milk which is being scalded in top part of double boiler. Skim out and reserve for top of custard. Mix together ¼ cup sugar, salt, Benson's Corn Starch and cold milk. Blend, and stir into hot milk; stir and cook over hot water until smooth and thick. Cover and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Add well-beaten egg yolk and again cook for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add vanilla; beat with rotary beater until creamy. Pour into chilled individual glass serving dishes; top with the poached meringue and garnish with a tiny bit of bright red jelly. Serves 4.



Fair To Your Eyes? Few of us are . . . for it's hard to tell when your eyes are tired! You can't "hear" them complain even though they're hard at work all day long and half the evening . . . which is why it's your duty to look out for them! I advise two drops of MURINE in each eye night and morning and whenever your eyes tell you to! Though this is advisable all year 'round, it's especially important in Summer . . . since sun, wind, dust and light glare put an extra tax on your eyes. Murine contains 7 ingredients that blend with the natural eye fluids . . . cleansing and soothing delicate tissues gently as a tear, and relieving that strained feeling! So ask your Druggist for Murine today!

Company Coming for the week-end? Give your sinks and basins a brand-new "scrubbed" look with very little time and effort! And here's a good idea to avoid last-minute rush cleaning:—make a weekly habit of cleaning drains with Gillett's Drain Cleaner. Just two tablespoons do the trick . . . leave even the worst clogged drains clear and free from clogging sediment! Simply follow the directions on the tin for quick-as-a-wink results!

Lindsay Council To Discuss Sewer

LINDSAY, Aug. 19—(ENS)—Members of the town council met Tuesday evening with Engineer Oliver Smith, Lindsay, in an informal discussion on a proposed plan to relieve the sewer conditions in the south ward.

Mr. Smith, according to a report presented a plan to build a sewer connecting with a number of branch open ditches in the southwest part of town. The sewer would drain the area around Albert Street south and in the vicinity of the Canadian Arsenal out to the Scugog river. The proposed plan will cost an estimated ten to fifteen thousand dollars. A committee of Mayor Charles Lamb, Reeve P. H. McFadden and Aldermen Frank Speer and Vince cote were named unofficially to meet with the Victoria county road on Thursday. It is reported that the county is interested in the proposed plan which would drain some county property.

It was decided that Mrs. O. Dunford be sent to the Whitby School for Leaders as delegate from Springville. This school opens Aug. 31 and closes Sept. 3 at Whitby Ladies' College.

A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Bowles for her hospitality. Mrs. B. Preston offered her home for the September meeting when Springville WMS will entertain Fairmount WMS.

Give $45,000 To Assist Yellowknife

OTTAWA, Aug. 19—(CP)—A 34-year-old town official who flew 3,000 miles to get help for his costs-burdened people today is going back home with a promise of $45,000 from the government.

The official, Fred Henne, said in an interview it was his first trip to Ottawa to get help for Yellowknife, and it's the first time Yellowknife has had to make the appeal.

The little centre of 3,000 in the Northwest Territories is producing such abnormal costs as 25 cents for a loaf of bread, 55 cents for a quart of milk. Even water—hauled by truck like gasoline—costs a cent a gallon.

Mr. Henne, in a meeting with the Northwest Terrtiories council Tuesday, produced charts showing comparattive earnings and cost of living in the community.

Heaviest cost was the upkeep of its new $200,000 school and new Reod Cross hospital. To help the school the council said the government would grant Yellowknife $20,000; to help cover a hospital construction deficit of $31,000, there will be another grant of $25,000.

Yellowknife's workers earned between $150 and $200 a month, but the community's cost of living is about 130 per cent higher than it is in the average provincial community.

Shoes range up to $25 a pair; bacon is $1.00 a pound; an average six-roomed house costs about $15,000.

Waterfront Tension In NZ As Union Slows Down Pace

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Aug. 19 (CP).—The showdown which has been looming for many months between the New Zealand Labor Government and the powerful Waterside Workers' Union has again been averted by an agreement to refer to a tribunal a dispute which has been tying up the Auckland waterfront. Many observers, however, consider that the crisis has been only postponed.

The government claims that the longshoremen, once among its strongest supporters, are out to harm the government by creating industrial unrest, by delaying shipping over trivial matters and by slowing up deliveries of imported cargoes and the shipment of New Zealand abroad.

The union claims it is merely safeguarding the interests and working conditions of its members and that the government is dictatorial in its handling of disputes.

Whatever the rights and wrongs of the case, the waterfront is certainly the most disturbed section of the industrial scene in New Zealand. The slowness of cargo handling compared with other countries and with New ealand before the war has been frequently atotacked by visiting ship masters. Some overseas shipping companies now are declining to accept cargoes for New Zealand because they claim the risk of delays in port is too great.

By Hand or Machine?

The most recent dispute, over whether the hatches of the Mountpark, a ship bringing wheat from Australia, should be lifted manually or mechanically, has dragged on since Feb. 20 and has tied up most of the Auckland waterfront for two lengthy periods.

Under the engagement system prevailing in New Zealand, the Waterfront Industry Commission can declare a vessel a preference ship which means that no labor will be allocated to other vessels until it is worked. This enables ships already manned with watersiders to continue loading or unloading, but no labor becomes available for new vessels arriving. Therefore, when the watersiders refuse to work the preference ship the whole port gradually become idle.

Following hints by farming organizations that direct action might follow if present conditions continued, the government has strongly supported the Waterfront Industry Commission in the present dispute. However, it eventually agreed to have the matter referred to a tribunal presided over by a Supreme Court judge. Further lengthy haggling ensued, and on several occasions it seemed likely that no agreement would be reached and that the long-predicted showdown between the union and the government had arrived.

The Auckland Chamber of Commerce, which has been strongly critical of the union's activities, has shown no confidence that the agreement reached is any solution of the general waterfront position. It has asked Prime Minister Peter Fraser to declare a state of emergency on the Auckland wateffront and to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate the long-standing waterfront troubles in the port. The prime minister has replied that every consideration will be given to the proposal.

ONLOOKERS IN LONDON'S staid Old Bond Street had their choice of guesses. Were these men indulging in a game of "handies," or mayhap was this a mass demonstration of delirium tremens. The men, however, were not rehearsing for a jamboree. It was merely part of a day's work. If you look closely you can see them carrying a piece of sheet glass, 16 feet by 8½ feet, for installation in a Bond Street shop window.

21 Steers Bring Highest Price

TORONTO, Aug. 19 (CP) — Highest price in history of the Toronto Livestock Market was recorded Wednesday when 21 choice steers were sold for $30 a hundredweight. Average weight was 1,350 pounds.

The animals, said to be the best quality seen on the Toronto market in years, came from Peel County's Caledon East and were bought for shipment to the United States.

The selling price in the U.S. was not indicated but $1.50 a hundredweight duty freight and other charges would substantially increase it.

Some 500 head of cattle have been shipped from Toronto to the U.S. since the embargo on export was lifted last Monday. Destinations have ranged from Buffalo to Providence, R.I.

SNOW AND COLD

Contrary to popular belief, it is never too cold to snow. Sub-zero temperatures, however, seldom holds enough moisture for the snow to fall in flakes. Then the fall is fine and dust-like.

Find High Level Of Employment Across Canada

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 — (CP).— Employment in Canada is being maintained at a high level, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

A survey conducted during the week ended last June 5 showed almost 5,000,000 Canadians had jobs. The exact figure was 4,948,000 of a total "working force" of 5,030,000. That left 82,000 out of work.

The employment total — 3,876,000 men and 1,072,000 women —was an increase of 127,000 over the figure for the same week of 1947. The number of jobless persons was 80,000 less than in mid-February and 10,000 less than at June 1, 1947.

The working-force total — which includes civilians who have jobs or are looking for work— was the second highest on record. The peak was in mid-August last year, when 5,080,000 Canadians were either employed or seeking jobs.

Employment Grows

Statistics indicate total Canadian employment is growing at the rate of about 100,000 a year, the bureau said. Employment in the Prairie Provinces and the Maritime Provinces "seems to be relatively stable but there is a marked upward trend in the other regions."

The survey on which the bureau's report was based was carried out during the last three weeks of June, covering "a scientifically-selected cross-section of the civilian population of Canada living outside of institutions."

"Approximately 40,000 households were interviewed, covering about 2 per cent of the population living in the 27 largest cities and 1 per cent of the rest of the people."

All interviews were based on the week ended June 5.

Allowed To Land

LOWESTOFT, Suffolk, England, Aug. 19 — (AP). — Thirteen refugee Finns were allowed to land Wednesday some two weeks after they had sailed into Lowestoft Harbor in their cargo boat, the Anja. Their troubles were not over, however. Immigration authorities said they might disembark if they stayed in England only long enough to arrange for the rest of their trip to South America.

Crippled Girls Charm Audience

SMITHS FALLS, Aug. 19 — (CP). — Premier Drew was among 1,000 persons charmed Wednesday by the singing of 12 girls who almost forgot their crutches and leg braces in the excitement of the moment.

The young misses put on an impromptu program for the official opening of Merry-Wood-on-the-Rideau, the new camp of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

In a brief speech, Mr. Drew praised the humanitarian efforts of the Society and affiliated service clubs. Their support was "a practical demonstration of Christianity in helping those less fortunate."

The dozen girls are the first to attend the camp, formerly an exclusive summer resort. They will be followed in two weeks by 12 boys chosen by the Society.

Rotarians and Kiwanians from 15 eastern Ontario service clubs who had aided in the development of the camp attended Wednesday's ceremonies.

Walter W. Lewis Dies In Saskatoon

Walter Wellington Lewis, husband of Mrs. Ella Mary Lewis, of 84 Avenue D North, Saskatoon, died on Aug. 8 at the family residence. He was 65. Funeral services were held at Dinsmore August 11.

Mr. Lewis was the son of the late David and Nancy Lewis of Goodwood, Ont. Leaving Goodwood in 1905, he came to Saskatchewan to homestead in what later became known as the Dinsmore community. In 1910 he was married to Ella Bates of Burleigh Falls. They continued to farm at Dinsmore until their retirement in November, 1947, at which time they took up residence in Saskatoon.

Surviving Mr. Lewis is his wife; two sons, Darcy of Dinsmore and Floyd of Regina; one sister, Mrs. Eliza Brown of Stouffville, Ont.

A niece of Mr. Lewis, Mrs. Mabel Reilly, of Toronto, was spending her vacation with her uncle at the time of his death. This was Mrs. Reilly's first trip to Western Canada.

Pall-bearers were: G. W. Morgan, James R. Watson, George Thrasher, Percy Conn, Jack Way and Frank A. Foster.

Hold Birthday Party

HASTINGS, Aug. 19—(ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. George Crocker, Oshawa, owners of Crocker's Island View cottages where they are vacationing held a birthday party for their daughter Barbara on Monday.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and enjoying rides on the swings and teeter totters. The supper table was set beneath the trees where the children feasted on sandwiches, butterscotch, puddings, cookies, cakes, lemonade and a huge birthday cake with nine candles. After supper the children were taken out in boats by Misses Shirley and Helen Bryant of Oshawa who are vacationing in one of the cabins.

Those present included Elaine Beavis, Mary Hager, Elaine and Betty Parker, Catherine Potten, Verna Fisher, Shirley Smullin, Donna Moore, Eleanor and Donald Emerie, Jack Smith, Donald Bryant and Barbara Crocker.

Receipts High

HASTINGS, Aug. 19—(ENS)— Receipts for the Hastings softball street dance on Wednesday, Aug. 11 were $815.50. Expenses amounted to $586.97, bringing the net profit to $586.97. . . . . .

The executive of the softball club wish to express their appreciation to everyone who in any way worked or helped to make their street dance a great success.

Hard Surface Paving Ignored

TORONTO, Aug. 19 — (CP). — Although Ontario is spending $57,000,000 on highways this year, none of it is being used for hard surface paving.

Deputy Highways Minister J. D. Millar said Wednesday no paving contracts would be let in the immediate future. He said that high costs, labor scarcity and material shortages were the major reasons why the department is concentrating on such work as earth and rock grading.

One department official was quoted as saying the cabinet has alloted priority to hydro construction in view of last year's power shortage and possible future shortages.

Illustrating the jump in construction costs is the current price of cement. Pre-war cost was about $10 a cubic yard. Now bids have been received up to and exceeding $50.

That is the reason the 17-mile strip of super highway between Fort Erie and the paved portion of the Queen Elizabeth Highway at Niagara Falls has not been completed. The two lane gravel road has been a major bottleneck during the tourist season.

Stress Mental Health For Factory Workers

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP) — A Canadian scholar said today neither business nor medical leadership are doing much to make sure factory workers are healthy mentally.

Dr. William Line, psychology professor at the University of Toronto, made the statement in a paper prepared for the International conference on mental hygiene.

He said a factory worker must feel he is learning and that he counts for something and must have a "feeling of belonging or of partnership."

"Business undoubtedly thinks of itself as a form of government and tends to assume it is capable of taking on the responsibilities of government," he said.

Hanna Candidate For Leadership

TORONTO, Aug. 19 — (CP). — John W. Hanna, member of the Ontario Legislature, announced Wednesday night he will be a candidate for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party at its convention opening in Ottawa Sept. 30.

He is the first candidate officially to throw his hat in the ring for the post left vacant when John Bracken retired because of poor health.

Mr. Hanna, who holds Huron Bruce constituency for the Progressive Conservatives in the provincial legislature, chose his 59th birthday as occasion for the announcement. He was born Aug. 18, 1889 at Wingham.

Mr. Hanna was elected to the Ontario House in 1943, re-elected in 1945 and against last June. A merchant, he is a former mayor of Wigham, a western Ontario town of 2,000 persons about 50 miles north of Stratford.

In the business girls' section, Miss Gladys Mortimer won a silver spoon for lowest number of putts. Mrs. Barbara Williamson had low gross on the first three holes and Miss Ruth Bradshaw was low gross winner.

GLITTER BITS AND PIECES—New tidbits to make light chitchat with your fashions are the miniature pins which one is encouraged to scatter carelessly over lapel, bodice or cuff, just for the glitter of it. The quartette above, tiny motifs studded with rhinestones, are typical, showing both classic and whimsy ideas. The little begemmed conversation pieces make a beguiling neckband, too. A key, a prancing horse, a cuffed hand, a heart, are shown here. Crowns, quills, daggers and so forth, are also to be found in this collection.

Fall Mode Slim Waist Important Detail On Hipline

PARIS—Slim lines replace the padded outlines of the "new look" in most of the French fall fashion displays thus far.

Skirt lengths remain about the same, from 10 to 14 inches from the floor, but much of last year's exaggerated fullness has been removed from the silhouette.

(New York designers earlier repudiated the "new look," showing a preponderance of slim skirts for street wear in the fall previews last May and June).

One of the few designers clinging to the bouffant line is Christian Dior, author of the "new look," who shows a silhouette in which a full circular skirt is lined with buckram from waist to hem, to make it stand out, parachute-fashion.

Tight Waistlines

The main points that have emerged from the shows to date indicate: Waistlines extremely tight. Waistline seams fall anywhere from the top of the ribs to midhips level. Many dresses are cut in three sections, bodice, waist yoke and skirt.

Skirts are mainly straight with an abundance of detail placed around the hips, or comprise a close fitting sheath which merges into a deep flounce at the knees.

Many have built-up waistlines that extend nearly to the bust and are teamed up with dressy blouses or wool-jersey sweaters.

A general back-to-the-twenties trend is perceptible, but most have a definite 1949 flavor.

New Silhouette

There is still time for a really new silhouette to emerge from the collections. Pierre Balmain, usually noted for slick wearable designing, Christobel Balenciaga, and Captain Molyneux have yet to launch their fall creations.

Fur Stoles and Capes

The loose, wrap-around coats that have no buttoned fastening are clearly lifted from the twenties, and the addition of fantastically long and luxurious fur stoles and fur lining, which run the gamut through mink and chinchilla, leopard and cony, supplies the modern touch.

Hips are spotlighted with fur also. Many jacket peplums are laid around with fox or Persian lamb.

Some coats are so voluminous they look like caps into which colossal sleeves have been inserted.

Brief coats look like full cut editions that Chinese coolies wear and often have graduated hemlines that dip at the back. Some, particularly Dior's, are stiffened with buckram. Many are furlined.

Capes of all lengths, topping dresses or adding extra warmth to heavy winter topcoats, have staged a comeback.

Color Ranges

Broadcloth, in all weights, heavy blanket velour, wool jersey and plaids are prime favorites for coats and dresses. Colors range through beige, soft grays, deep browns, forest greens, with occasion sun yellows and brilliant reds. All shades of spruce, mulberry and lilac are popular.

Satin a Favorite

Evening wear has changed very little. Billowing dresses, long sheaths, slit to provide a little leg movement, and Grecian drapery are all-featured.

Satin is the favorite so far for billowing skirts, the most popular length seems to be ankle level in front, dipping to the floor in back.

Former Husband Of Duchess Marries Again

LONDON, Aug. 19 — (AP). — The marriage of Ernest Aldrich Simpson, former husband of the Duchess of Windsor, to Mrs. Avril Joy Leveson Gower, 39, socially prominent sportswoman, was announced Wednesday.

An unobtrusive, five-line item on the society page of The Times said the marriage took place Aug. 12 and "Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will be in residence at 11 Upper Phillimore Gardens after September 16."

The Times made no other mention of the ceremony and it was not until mid-afternoon that other newspaper editors awoke to the story and splashed it on front pages.

A young woman who received telephone calls at Simpson's office refused to say anything about the reported marriage.

"I simply am not talking," she told newspaper men.

The London Star said the marriage was Simpson's fourth and the third for Mrs. Gower, whose last husband was Brig. Hugh Nugent Leveson Gower, company director and member of a cricket-playing family.

DOROTHY DIX

Prospective Husband Should Consider Health of Girl

A young man who is contemplating matrimony asks if I will tip him off to the "general principles of choosing the right girl for a wife."

Well, son, that's a hard task, for there are no universal rules for picking out a wife. They are mostly exceptions. For what hits one man's fancy in women, leaves another man cold. And there you are. However, when you go a-courting, it will save you much grief and money if you will bear certain basic facts in mind.

Dorothy Dix

Before you let any girl pull the wool over your eyes take a good long, appraising look at her and see if she looks as if she would swoon at the sight of a cooking stove. When men marry, they seldom give their brides' health any consideration, yet the success of every marriage depends just as much upon whether their wives are doctors' bills or huskies as it does upon anything else.

Also the happiness, for no one who is frail and weak and nervous can be a very cheery companion. Of course, no one is immune to ill health. Even the strongest can be smitten down by disease, and when that misfortune happens it is the husband's bounden duty to show his wife added affection and sympathy and do everything possible to ease her sufferings.

The next thing to look out or before you pop the question is whether Angel Face is bossy or not. That takes the astuteness of the F. B. I. because every girl in pursuit of a husband acts as meek as Mary's little lamb until she gets him. So be warned in time, and if you find that you are doing just the things that Mary wants to do, and that she is supervising your diet and picking out your necktjes, flee for your life.

Don't marry any girl until you are sure that you are congenial—like the same kind of pie, and read the same Who-dun-in stories, and that you never run out of talk when you are together. The greatest enemy of domesticity is boredom. Lack of congeniality is at the bottom of practically every divorce. So when you find out that you have talked out to Arabella and yawn in her face put on your hat and beat it.

Ascertain before you take that fatal trip to the altar whether you will be committing bigamy and marry Mama when you marry her daughter. If Mama is going to live with you and run the house tell you where you get on and off, and if your fiancee has already begun to say even before the wedding that "Mother says we should do so and so," prepare yourself for the worst. You will never be anything but a stooge in your own home.

And, of course, it is always the part of wisdom for a man to observe before the wedding how a girl reacts to money. If she thinks it is something to throw at the birds; if she dresses beyond her means; if she always insists on going to the most expensive night clubs and places of amusement, beware. She will make the kind of a wife who is never satisfied and who keeps her husband's nose to the grindstone until she works him to death.

These are some of the dangers of marriage, son, and the wise guy looks before he leaps.

One Permanent Cost $15 ...the TONI only $2.50

So soft, so smooth, so natural-looking. You'll say your Toni is the loveliest permanent you've ever had. But, before giving yourself a Toni you will want to know—

Will Toni work on my hair?
Yes, Toni waves any kind of hair that will take a permanent, including gray, dyed, bleached or baby-fine hair.

Is it easy to do?
Easy as rolling your hair up on curlers. That's why every hour of the day another thousand women use Toni.

Will Toni save me time?
Definitely. The actual waving time is only 2 to 3 hours. And during that time you are free to do whatever you want.

How long will my Toni wave last?
Your Toni wave is guaranteed to last just as long as a $15 beauty shop permanent—or your money back.

Why is Toni a Creme?
Because Toni Creme Waving Lotion waves the hair gently—leaves it soft as silk with no frizziness, no dried-out brittleness even on the first day.

Can I use Toni for my little girl's hair?
Yes—with complete confidence. Toni has been awarded the Parents' Magazine Tested and Commended Seal.

How much will I save with Toni?
The Toni Home Permanent Kit with re-usable plastic curlers costs only $2.50; with handy fiber curlers only $1.50. The Toni Refill Kit complete except for curlers is just $1.25.

Which twin has the Toni?
"My Toni-savings paid for a new hat," remarks Eileen Mary Skillings. "No wonder Edith Ann says, after this we'll be Toni Twins." Eileen Mary, the twin at the left has the Toni.

Where can I buy Toni?
At all drug, notions or cosmetic counters. Try Toni today.

There is NO FINER WAVE AT ANY PRICE!

Toni Kit with plastic curlers— $2.50

20 Patients Undergo Brain Operation

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 19—(CP).—Twenty mentally ill patients at Westminster Hospital have undergone delicate brain tissue operations which doctors hope will return many of 70 war-wracked veterans to normal life.

Dr. E. S. Goddard, chief psychiatrist at Westminster, said it was too early to tell what would result from the surgical development because two to three years of study and training are required before the men can be released as cured.

Several have recovered sufficiently to be allowed to go home, Dr. Goddard said.

The operations continue slowly as each patient is studied and treated before surgery. Months of training and convalescence follow. Dr. Goddard said doctors hope to return at least half of the 70 to sanity.

Wait Recount In Alta. Vote

EDMONTON, Aug. 19—(CP).—Alberta today awaited the outcome of a recount in Beaver River constituency to see whether the Liberal candidate would win the seat and enable the Liberal party to form the official Opposition in the Province's 11th Legislature.

The Social Credit Government of Premier E. C. Manning swept back into power in Tuesday's general election, winning 50 of the Legislature's 57 seats, but the Opposition party still remained in doubt today with both the Liberals and CCF groups having two members elected.

Besides their leaders—Liberal J. Harper Prowse and the CCF's Elmer E. Roper—each party has one member elected. Beaver River constituency in northeastern Alberta today could produce another Liberal, giving Mr. Prowse the 3-to-2 strength, sufficient to form the Opposition.

Although Social Credit candidate leads in Beaver River, Liberal nominee C. R. Belleville may defeat him on a recount caused by Harry Lobay's lack of a clear majority. John Hannochko, CCF, appears out of the running.

Cement Supply Short For Next Few Months

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 19.—(CP).—Priority demands on Canadian cement have caused a shortage in supply that may last well into next year, local dealers and contractors agreed today.

"If it weren't for supplies from American sources, and our purchase of ready mixed concrete, we would be unable to fill our building contracts," one London construction man said today.

Builders and supply firms declared the shortage affected small purchasers from coast to coast in Canada.

Government housing projects and integrated and prefabricated housing have contracted for considerable cement throughout Western Ontario, a dealer declared.

For the man who wants to put in a concrete floor in his garage or build a new sidewalk, he can't get Canadian cement. There just isn't any.

Price Revision Made In All Chrysler Lines

A price revision effective immediately has been announced on all Canadian-built Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge, and DeSoto Passenger cars and on all Canadian-built Dodge and Fargo trucks.

In making the announcement, C. W. Churchill, president of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, said that no price changes in its Canadian-built passenger cars had been made since September 15, 1947, and that the revision of the price, which is approximately 8 per cent, is the result of increasing costs. The Examiner in error, on Monday, had reported a price reduction.

FIREMEN RELAX

Peterborough firemen have had a quiet time since Tuesday night's fire at the Kresge building. The Fire Department had no calls on Wednesday.

MIAMI, — Hurricane-hunting planes went out again today to explore a suspicious wave of squalls and showers in the West Indies. Forecasters said the condition had developed no positive circular movement which would make it a tropical disturbance but added the condition would bear watching for the next few days.

Hodge, (in dark glasses), U.S. military commander of South Korea and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander.

RussImperialism Blasted By U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(AP)—The United States Wednesday borrowed one of Russia's favorite charges — "imperialism" — and threw it right back in the Kremlin's teeth.

The occasion was the State Department's official comment on the new Soviet-dictated Danube River agreement.

That document was signed at Belgrade Wednesday by Russia and the Soviet satellites. It reserves full control of the waterway to the Danubian states. The Western Powers, repeatedly rebuffed in their efforts to open the river to vessels of all countries, refused to sign.

Lashing out at "Soviet manipulation of the six votes of its puppet states," the State Department declared: "The unhappy subservience of the Danubian peoples to Soviet imperialism was never more clearly manifest than at this conference."

There were more harsh words, as the United States served notice that it "of course" will refuse to recognize the new river controls and so will those parts of Austria and Germany under American control.

The actions of the Soviet delegation to the conference, the State Department asserted, "have made evident the determination of the Soviet Union to perpetuate its economic and political enslavement of the Danubian peoples.

"Its refusal to accept provisions assuring genuine freedom of commerce and non-discrimination show that it intends to maintain vested interests which it has established for its own benefit through extortion from government imposed by force against the will of the peoples of its satellites."

Babe's Old Friend Flies From California

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP).—John Sylvester, 33, arrived after flying from California to attend the funeral service for Babe Ruth today.

Sylvester made headlines with the Babe when he was 11 years old. Near death from an ear infection, Sylvester received a letter and autographed baseball from the Babe.

Ruth told him he would hit a home run the next day in the world series against St. Louis Cardinals, as a gift to Johnny Sylvester.

'He hit it, all right," Sylvester saaid. "He hit three of them."

Two years ago when the Babe was ill Sylvester visited and cheered him. Today he said:

"I know I'll miss him and millions of other will too."

Four Persons Injured When Bomb Explodes

GHENT, Belgium, Aug. 19 — (Reuters) — Four persons were severely injured today when a bomb exploded in the home of Professor Paul Franssen, secretary of a committee organizing a pilgrimage of Flemish Separatists.

The professor and his family were not at home at the time of the blast.

The pilgrims plan to visit the Tower of Yser at Dixmude near here. Built as a memorial to Flemish dead in the First World War, it became the recognized spot for demonstrations by Flemish Separatist movements.

Gets Seven Days For Drunk Driving

LINDSAY, Aug. 1.—(ENS). — Earl Lee, 47, Garden Hill, was convicted in police court Wednesday on a charge of drunk driving. He was sentenced to one week in jail, ordered to pay costs of $43 and his driver's license was suspended.

Chief R. L. Naylor, Omemee, testtifned that on August 2 a motorist passing through the village reported that a vehicle ahead of them had been weaving across Highway 7 all the way from Peterborough. When Lee was arrested his speech was thick and he was unsteady on his feet, said Chief Naylor. Lee requested a blood test and results produced in court by Miss V. Vincent of Queen's Park Laboratory, Toronto, showed sufficient alcohol to register a conviction.

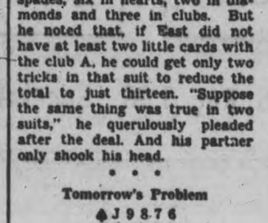
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A CURE FOR PESSIMISM

One sure cure for pessimism of an unfounded nature is the playing of the two extremely different kinds of contract bridge—rubbers and match-point duplicate. The rubber player who refuses to bid for somewhat doubtful games will find that he loses more points from wasted opportunities than he ever could from being beaten occasionally in a close contract. Match-point duplicate will complete his cure in some other phases of bidding and play, when he finds that people at other tables, who strove for more ambitious results than he, on the same hands, made his close-to-the-vest scores look sick by comparison.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).



South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	5 NT	Pass	6 ♠
Pass	7 NT

Bidding of that general type went on at all tables in a duplicate game, in which everybody who used the Blackwood convention learned that the side had all the aces and kings plus three of the queens. Several of the West players then selected 7-Hearts for the final contract, though most of them picked the safer 7-No Trumps. Safer? Yes, because when enough positive tricks can be counted to produce a grand slam, there is still the remote danger of a defensive ruff on the opening trick of a suit contract, whereas that play has never been made successfully against a No Trumper.

One of the West players got his side bottom score on the deal because he put the pair into the pusillanimously pessimistic contract of only 6-Hearts. Later he admitted that he had counted up to fourteen tricks when he learned about West's two aces and three kings—three tricks in spades, six in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs. But he noted that, if East did not have at least two little cards with the club A, he could get only two tricks in that suit to reduce the total to just thirteen. "Suppose the same thing was true in two suits," he querulously pleaded after the deal. And his partner only shook his head.

Colorful Army Gathers Blueberry Crop

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 19 (CP).—A small and colorful army, creeping across burnt-over barrens, marks every summer's peak of the New Brunswick blueberry system. The army of berry pickers ranges from barefooted children to grandmothers who have seen "60 berrying times." It's largely a family affair, with youngsters and parents filling pans, pails and baskets.

Most people think of the blueberry season as the half-way mark of summer, when they can buy or pick enough berries for their own cooking or preserving requirements. But many persons depend upon the picking season as a source of income, and commercial gathering of blueberries has an important place in New Brunswick's agricultural picture.

They are worth more than strawberries, raspberries or cranberries. In some years the value of the blueberry crop even exceeds that of the apple harvest. The financial returns may fluctuate sharply from year to year, depending upon the weather, demand, size of the crop in neighboring Maine and availability of labor. It is estimated the commercial output this summer will be worth $250,000 — an average figure. Twice in the last 10 years New Brunswick blueberries have brought double that amount.

Four-Fifths Canned

Only about one-fifth of the berries find their way to market fresh. The rest of the annual crop goes to freezing and canning plants for the Canadian and United States trade.

The key to future success in the competitive market is believed to lie in modern methods of cultivation and harvesting, such as the use of special hand rakes and cleaning machines.

This was indicated last year when more than 3,000,000 pounds of New Brunswick blueberries sold at a below-average price of nine cents a pound. The low price was responsible for a large quantity remaining unharvested in northern sections of the province, where hand-picking is the principal method of gathering the fruit. In a southern county where the industry has developed more efficiently the largest crop ever reported was harvested.

The New Brunswick blueberry is a close relative of England's bilberry. Other cousins blanket the North American continent. One cultivated variety in New Jersey measures seven-eighths of an inch in diameter — a giant compared with the smaller berry of this province.

Politically conservative Jews consider Beigin and his organization a Fascist group.

Begin Prices Inquiry Into Footwear

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 (CP)—The Prices Commission has launched its second commodity investigation, a probe of the leather and footwear industry intended to find out whether the price of shoes is excessive.

The commission began work on leather Tuesday after cleaning up remaining details of its investigation into fertilizers. The first trade witness, C. Worrell Conway, vice-president of Anglo-Canadian Leather Co. Ltd., of Huntsville, Ont., had just embarked on his evidence when the commission adjourned for the day.

He was preceded on the stand by two government officials, F. Tracy Carten of the trade department and W. H. Lancely, Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Mr. Tracey said that this country produces a wide range of leather and, although it was to import several hundred thousand cattle hides a year, it has made rapid progress towards self-sufficiency since the 1920s. The value of leather production rose from $14,188,118 in 1932 to 28,474,387 in 1940 and $56,998,751 in 1946.

Shows Tables

Mr. Lancely produced a series of statistical tables showing the growth of both leather and shoe production. Average monthly shoe production has risen from 1,658,000 in 1926 to 2,964,000 in 1947. There was rapid growth in production during the war and immediately afterwards, reaching a peak of 3,605,000 pairs a month in 1946.

Mr. Lancely's statistical tables showed that output of domestic sole leather had kept pace with shoe production. It rose from 1,764,000 pounds in 1926 to 2,513,000 in 1947.

Mr. Conway was accompanied in his appearance before the commission by Harold Manning, KC, counsel for the Sole Leather Tanners Association, who opposed the introduction of the operating returns of individual companies. He explained that the firms engaged in the tanning business were private companies which did not normally publish annual reports. Publication of details of their finances would give their competitors a marked advantage, he said.

Russ Police Invade U.S. Sector

Seize Five Policemen While Allied Forces Stand Back, Watch

BERLIN, Aug. 20—(CP).—Russian military police and the German police they control invaded the American sector of blockaded Berlin today on a black market raid and seized five German police belonging to United States sector forces.

An American military government official said the action clearly violated United States jurisdiction.

Earlier Russian MP's and Communist-controlled German police raided downtown Potsdamer Platz, where the British, American and Russian zones meet, and arrested about 600 Germans without violence. This contrasted to an operation Thursday night when Germans stoned the Communist police, who responded with gunfire which wounded four civilians.

The police, riding in open trucks, were escorted by Russian army tommy-gunners in American-made jeeps. There were jeers as they withdrew. Five minutes after they drove off, the square was again packed with a new group of black marketeers and buyers.

ADN, the Russian-licensed German news agency, reported that 200 Russian sector police took part in the Potsdamer Platz raid today.

The agency complained that western sector police standing on the boundaries did not co-operate in the raid.

Known Criminals

An official Amercian statement on last night's shooting incident at the Potsdamer Platz described a number of the leaders of the Russian sector police force as "known criminals."

Alfred Mueckenberger, head of the Berlin city administration's city coal office, has been arrested by German police acting on instructions from the Russian Kommandatura, the British-licensed German news agency reported.

"The police entered his office and took him away to an unknown destination," the report said.

Meanwhile, British authorities ordered a stop to Russian propaganda broadcasts over amplifiers

Record Display Of Flowers At Armouries

Largest flower show ever to be held in Eastern Ontario opened today at the Armouries. It is jointly organized by the Peterborough Horticultural Society and the Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society. As well as local entrants, there are exhibitors from Bowmanville, Indian River, Newcastle, Omemee and rural districts.

Tha show is a blaze of color and includes asters, dahlias, nasturtiums, phlox and many other types of flowers in addition to the very beautiful gladiolus section. One outstanding exhibit is the potted plant section, in which many entries, such as a flowering Vanda Orchid exhibited by Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, are being shown not for competition but for educational purposes.

Another special feature is the exhibit of the Peterborough Junior Horticultural Society, one of the largest junior exhibits ever to be held at an adult show. All flowers and vegetables entered in the junior section are grown from seed and bulbs specially supplied by the society.

An interesting class in the gladiolus show is the ladies' division, which include dining table decorations, brides' bouquets, corsages and decorative studies made of gladiolus. A particularly unusual section is the decoration of ladies' hats with gladiolus tips, which has never been done before in Canada.

Clarence Bacon, of the Horticultural Society, and Harold Ball, of the Gladiolus Society, are chairmen of the two committees which have organized the show.

Vivacious Margaret Rose Officially Becomes Of Age

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Aug. 20—(CP).—Amid rumors of a love match with the 22-year-old Marquess of Blandford, Princess Margaret, one of the world's most popular 'teen-agers, celebrates her 18th birthday Saturday.

The rumors flourish in the face of general belief among friends of the royal family that the King's younger daughter will not marry for at least two years.

When she does, those who knew her best believe she will marry a man of her choice, for in public and in private Margaret has demonstrated she has a mind of her own.

With this, her official coming-of-age birthday, Margaret will take on a larger share of the royal family's public duties. The first will be at Amsterdam Sept. 6. There she will represent the King and Queen at the enthronement of Princess Juliana.

It will be a sober responsibility for the fun-loving young woman who has said, more than once, to her elder sister: "You look after your Empire" and who slyly remarked to a friend "Isn't it lucky that Lilibet is the older of us."

Lighting Is Cut In Stores Again

TORONTO, Aug. 20.—(CP).—Hydro-Electric power-saving regulations, restricting lighting of store windows, banning lighting of outdoor electric signs, and prohibiting commercial use of space heaters, were announced today by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Officials said the restrictions probably would be effective Oct. 1.

Shops, show windows and offices may be listed during business hours at the rate of two watts a square foot of floor area. Between 4.30 p.m. and 9.00 p.m. show windows may be lighted to the extent of 20 watts a fpot of width.

The regulations approved yesterday, permit 60 watts each 100 square feet of playing area for lighting outdoor playing fields. The ban on electric devices used commercially for space heating applies also to hotels and tourist cabins.

Police Capture Bandit, $7,000

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—(CP).—An unidentified bandit was captured by a bank employee and police today after a running gun fight following the $7,000 robbery of a Banque Canadienne Nationale branch on north-end Boyce St. The bandit dropped the loot on the street in his headlong flight from the bank.

Early police reports said the bank employee, not immediately identified, grappled with the robber who broke away and ran towards an open field. An accomplice, waiting near the bank in a car bearing Ontario license plates, jumped out of the car and disappeared.

After several shots were fired the bandit surrendered and was taken to detective cells. Police said he carried two revolvers. Two shots had been fired from one of them.

Prime Minister King On Way To Ottawa

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 20—(AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King left by Grand Trunk Railway today for Ottawa after nearly a week's vacation in Maine.

During his Maine visit, Prime Minister King was the guest of John D. Rockfeller, Jr., at the latter's Seal Harbor summer home.

Both at Seal Harbor and in stops here, the Canadian Prime Minister remained in seclusion. His secretary, J. Edward Handy, described the Maine visit at one for "sun and rest."

Chinese People Skeptical About New 'Sun' Currency

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20.—(AP).—The banks of China closed today to get ready for a new "gold yuan" which will repace the virtually-worthless Chinese paper yuan.

Nanking announced plans for the new currency Thursday, saying it would be "backed by a 100-per-cent reserve" and would be worth 4 to $1 in United States funds at the official exchange rate. Other foreign currency exchange rates will be announced later.

The going rate in the black market for the fantastically-inflated old currency is 12,000,000 to $1. Chinese were given until Nov. 20 to exchange their old yuan currency for the new at 3,000,000 to one.

There was almost universal skepticism in Shanghai, the financial heart of China, about the new "sun" currency, as it is called.

Commodity traders showed a lack of confidence in it. Commodity prices this morning were 20 per cent higher than Thursday.

Financial skepticism was heightened by all the restrictions accompanying the new issue, such as outlawing of gold, silver and foreign currencies.

StripLomakin Of Position Over Teacher

Charge Official Abused Special Privileges; Must Leave Shortly

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP).—The United States is stripping Jacob Lomakin, Russian Consul-General in New York, of his official position because of his conduct in the Kosenkina affair and has demanded Russia get him out of this country.

This sensational turn in the Soviet-American row over the refugee school teachers in New York was disclosed today with publication of a United States note handed to the Russian Embassy Thursday night.

The note flatly rejected Russian charges the teachers, Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina and Mr. and Mrs. Michael I. Samarine, were abducted by the anti-Russian Tolstoy Foundation with the connivance of American officials. The three, the note said, wanted to stay in the United States.

While recognizing the right of Russian officials to protect its nationals in the United States, the note said they also are entitled to the protection of the "applicable laws of the United States."

No Secret Police

Declaring the United States Government will not turn Mrs. Kosenkina over to Russian authorities against her will, the note said:

"The Government of the United States cannot permit the exercise within the United States of the police power of any foreign government."

The Sate Department told Russian Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin and his government the Russian charges, including some by Foreign Minister Molotov, "have been based upon misinformation."

Th State Department also published the texts of two notes from Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin and one from Foreign Miniser Molotov of Russia. Radio Moscow broadcast Molotov's note Aug. 12.

The Department told the Russians in effect the United States government holds Lomakin responsible for this misinformation. He was accused of an "abuse" of LONDON, Aug. 20 — (AP). — The Evening News declared today Prime Minister Stalin has ordered the stage set for a coup d'etat in Yugoslavia and already has chosen a successor to Premier Tito.

The story was undated and bylined by the Evening News diplomatic reporter. It gave no source for the information.

"Marshal Stalin has ordered the formation in Moscow of a free Yugoslav committee, to be composed of anti-Tito Yugoslav Communist emigres. He is understood to have designated as successor to Tito, if the coup succeeds, Col-Gen. Peko Dapcevic, who is believed to be at present in Moscow."

80 P.C. Slowdown

KITCHENER, Aug. 20 — (CP)—Union officials today announced a "slowdown" to 80 per cent. of efficiency in the Dominion Rubber Company plant here. The step was endorsed Thursday at a meeting of Local 80 of the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO). The union said the step was recommended by its executive board. The slowdown is effective for 10 days and further action will be taken if a dispute with the company is not settled by then.

Oshawa Holdup Suspect Shot By Police

HAMILTON, Aug. 20 (CP)—A sharp-shooting detective shot Frank Wasni, suspected robber, to death on a busy downtown street Thursday night, ending a short chase that started when Wasni broke for freedom while being taken in for questioning.

Police said Wasni, a youthful former resident of Winnipeg and Toronto, was wanted for a $5,000 robbery Monday at Oshawa, engineered by two men who knocked down a beer store clerk on his way to the bank.

Wasni was spotted in an automobile with a girl friend near Wellington and Rebecca streets, five blocks east of Central Police Station. Police said later the girl friend, a Hamilton woman, was questioned carefully but would not be charged.

Inspector Walter Hagan said the department was advised Wasni had come to Hamilton Wednesday night and that he was wanted. He did not disclose the source of the information, first indication either of the two Oshawa robbers had been identified.

Fired Warning Shots

Detective William Homer, a member of a police shooting team, said he shot the fleeing Wasni through the back after he broke away from him in front of the police station. He said he shouted and fired several warning shots first.

Homer said he was bringing Wasni to the station in his car while Detectaive Albert Bunn brought in the woman when Wasni made his break.

The chase weaved through bystanders west on King William street. Witnesses said the two policemen raced after the suspect, with the woman running behind screaming hysterically: "Don't shoot, leave him alone."

Wasni was felled on a service station lot at the northeast corner of Catharine and King William. George Purnell, station employee, said the woman rushed into the garage as the chase went by the door and threw herself into his arms. She was still screaming when police took her away, he said.

Rideau Hall Damaged

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Government House, the residence of Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, was badly damaged today when workmen installing a skylight accidentally broke the piping of the springler system. Tons of water poured down from floor to floor, carrying away ceiling plaster and damaging newly-decorated walls.

Rich New Uranium Strike Made At Lake St. Peter By Bancroft Prospector

Geiger Counter Needle Almost Goes Over Top When Held Near Ore Sample; 2,000 Acres Staked In North Hastings

A uranium strike has been reported at Lake St. Peter, a hamlet on Highway 62, 100 miles north of Peterborough, in the rugged rocky northern limits of Hastings county. The find was made a week ago last Wednesday in Sabine and McClure townships by Arthur Shore, Bancroft prospector, employed by Leadura Mines of Wilberforce. Shore was prospecting using a Geiger counter, not more than 150 yards from the highway when the counter registered a strong reading. He broke through one foot of overburden with his miner's hand pick, and uncovered the uranium, in an extensive feldspar ore body.

He drove the 45 miles to Wilberforce in a jeep carrying samples, and immediately Dr. Harold Way, geologist of Niagara Falls, New York, along with H. G. Pitt, resident engineer made the return trip. After a geological survey by Dr. Way, a large haversack of samples was collected, one a crystal weighing four pounds.

Late Thursday afternoon Mr. Pitt and Robert Crichton, Toronto, passed through Peterborough en route to Ottawa to show the samples to Dr. Parsons, head of the research section of the Dept. of Mines. They stopped off at Bob Hayes' service station opposite the Y.M.C.A. and he saw the samples.

"They looked just like lumps of hard coal, except they were three times as heavy, and there was a reddish stain on several samples," Mr. Hayes said.

Counts Almost Blend

He added that when a sample was held near the Geiger counter, the clicks in the delicate electric instrument were so close together they they almost blended with one another.

"Mr. Pitt pulled the Geiger counter away, before the needle on the indicator went over the top of the semi-circular dial," Hayes said.

The samples were examined at Wilberforce by J. Dowsett, world famous mining engineer, and consultant to Dome Mines and Ventures Ltd. He is quoted by Mr. Pitt as saying the samples were extraordinary.

Shore, the lucky prospector, is a pudgy, middle-aged hard rock miner who has prospected the Bancroft area of Hastings county for the past ten years, seeking gold, silver, iron, and lead. He has made several finds of minor importance. Five months ago he signed on with Leadura Mines as a prospector, and has spent most of that time, with others covering a wide area in north Hastings and Haliburton.

Stake 32 Claims

The group of men staked 32 claims on the property and have obtained title to 2,000 acres near the hamlet of Lake St. Peter. The claims have all been registered, and the next step is to get an assay, and permission from the Atomic Control Commission to take out enough ore for a millrun test. Sale of any radio-active

Canada Packers Gives Workers Wage Increase

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (CP)—A new agreement bringing wage increases ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour for 5,000 employees of Canada Packers Ltd., has been reached between the company and the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the union, announced yesterday.

The new wages scale is based on a 9.6 per cent increase for all employees in the bargaining unit. The agreement, which has been approved by the union's national policy committee, is subject to ratification by the membership. However, Mr. Dowling said he is "quite confident" it will be approved by the membership.

Average hourly rates at Canada Packers under the new scale is $1.04, with the minimum for male held up from 87½ cents to 95½ cents.

The settlement, reached after a relatively short period of negotiations is in contrast to last year's prolonged strike that shut down Canada Packers and Burns & Co. for 40 days and Swift Canadian Co. for 57 days. The strike ended with a wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

Included in the Canada Packers agreement are improvements in union security, guaranteed hours of work, and vacations with pay.

Negotiations are still being continued with Swift & Co. Mr. Dowling said that now that a basis of settlement has been reached with one of the Big Three in the industry, he felt confident that that an agreement will be reached with Swifts and Burns "without difficulty."

Car's Dizzy Run Leaves 3 Shaken

Three American tourists received treatment for relatively minor injuries in Port Hope Hospital this morning following what was described as a "mad few minutes" in a crazily out-of-control car on No. 28 Highway, two miles north of Bailieboro. Mrs. Gladys Zucker, Cleveland, a passenger in the car, was most seriously hurt with a sprained shoulder and foot and bad bruises. Her husband had a minor cut on his head. Miss Corinne Zucker, the driver, injured her arm.

The accident happened about nine o'clock this morning as the Zucker car overtook and attempted to pass the car of Ross Kaye, 539 George St.

Skiding out of control, it zoomed into the ditch, ran along the shoulder of the road, jumped back on to the pavement, over the road into the opposite ditch. Continuing, it again leaped back to the pavement, over the road again and crashed down into the four-foot ditch there, knocking over a telephone pole and crashing into the fence of Stewart McGill of Millbrook.

Damage to the Zucker car was about $200, to fenders and doors. The Zuckers were all shaken up, but considered it "nothing less than a miracle that the car didn't overturn." The mad course of the car from leaving the road the first time was more than 500 feet.

National Labor Policy Outlined by CCF

Collective Bargaining Laws And Collaboration With Provinces Planned

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20 (CP) — The CCF's national labor policy, spearheaded by a nation-wide labor code, was on public record today following its approval on Thursday night at the party's bi-the ennial convention here.

The code was adopted in a five-point resolution which described the present Federal code as falling "far short" of protecting labor.

Associated resolutions, also approved, called for Federal settlement of the Lake Shipping strike, two-weeks vacations with pay for Federal employees with more than a year's employment, a 40-hour week and improved conditions for working mothers.

The platform resolution concerning the labor code said the CCF is determined to:

1. Introduce "genuine nation-wide collective bargaining legislation."

2. Guarantee labor the right to organize and obtain "union security" in both private and public enterprise.

3. Collaborate with the provinces in administering labor laws.

4. Streamline conciliation procedure.

5. Outlaw company unions and provide "effective sanctions" against violation of the CCF's proposed national labor code which the party proposes to put into force if and when it gains control of parliament.

Other points covered included national minimum standards, hours of labor, minimum wages, equal pay for equal work and minimum employment ages.

A. R. Mosher of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, criticized the existing labor code. Mr. Jolliffe said it was significant that the Ontario government, which has been waging a "cold war" against labor, had adopted the Federal code for Ontario:

The lake dispute resolution was critical of the Federal government, the shipping companies involved and the Canadian Seamen's Union for its "Communist" leadership.

C. H. Millard of Toronto, introducing the resolution, declared seamen should not be "made victime of anti-labor employers, of the callous disregard of the Federal government."

In a report from the CCF National Trade Union committee, Pat Conroy of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, stressed the need for close farmer-labor co-operation to further CCF objectives.

22 Men Escape As Trawler Blows Up, Sinks

HALIFAX, Aug. 20 — (CP). — The Halifax fishing trawler Arleux blew up and sank 15 miles off Nova Scotia's eastern shore Thursday and today her 22 crew members attributed the blast to a wartime mine or depth charge.

Capt. Edward Denty, who with the other crew members landed safely at the fishing village of White Head, 100 miles east of here, said the ship's construction would have made it impossible for her to sink so fast unless she was blasted by high explosive.

Naval authorities here said, however, the chance of the 357-ton craft having struck a mine were "extremely remote."

Only 3 Minutes

The Arleux's crew members, who escaped serious injury, made for shore in two lifeboats. They had only three minutes to abandon ship before the 130-foot vessel settled.

First reports indicated the Arleux, owned by Atlantic Trawlers Limited of Halifax, had met her doom through a boiler explosion. This was denied by chief engineer Guefald Fosen, a Norwegian, who said the boiler was "intact after the blast."

A navy spokesman confirmed a report that an explosive had been snagged in a fisherman's net off White Head two months ago. He said the object was similar to a depth charge and had been picked up from the bottom of the ocean where it was harmless.

Destruction of the $20,000 ship marked the end of a colorful career and swept from the seas Canada's only Atlantic-coast oil-burning beam trawler.

Capt. Dentry said: "It happened so quickly there was no telling what part was hit. There was no sign of smoke — just a big gusher of water.

"She kept going down. She sank in three minutes."

Arabs, Jews Warned Avoid More Violations

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 20 — (AP). — The United Nations has warned both Arabs and Jews to avoid further violations of the month-old Palestine truce.

Responding to fears expressed by the Palestine mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, that the situation in Jerusalem was "gradually getting out of hand," the security council voted the waring Thursday night.

The warning was given in a resolution advanced jointly by Canada, Britain, the United States and France. No delegate voted against the proposal but Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, Syria and Colombia abstained on some sections in a point-by-point vote.

his positon and a "gross violation" of proper conduct of foreign officials.

As a result, the note said, the State Department is "requesting" President Truman to revoke credentials granted to Lomakin by the United States and wants him to leave the United States "within a reasonable ime."

The note was not signed by either State Secretary Marshall or Robert Lovett, State Undersecretary, although both took a hand in its preparation. It was signed simply "Department of States" and bore the initial "L," presumably meaning Lovett.

Improper Conduct

While concentrating its fire on Lomakin, the United States declared its reports on the refugee teacher cases "indicate that officials of the Soviet Government have been engaged in conduct which is highly improper."

The note "categorically" rejected all charges made by the Soviets against American authorities.

The United States requested copies of two letters which it said were in the hands of the Soviet Consulate-General in New York and had been written by Mrs. Kosenkina. One was written at the time she decided not to go back to Russia and one little more than a week ago when she jumped out of the Consulate window in New York.

In general, assertions by Mrs. Kosenkina, as described in the State Department note, covered these main points:

1. The interview which she gave to the press Aug. 7, after Lomakin had forced her return from the Tolstoy Foundation refugee farm, "was arranged by the Consulate-General and...she was instructed to make false statements to the effect that she had been kidnapped."

2. She went to the farm, according to her testimony and of a number of other persons, "voluntarily, and stayed there of her own free will."

3. According to her reports she wrote Lomakin in New York telling him where she was "but she denies stating that she was kidnapped."

Misleads Government

The American note then asserted Lomakin had, in effect, misled his own government so the protests which the Soviet authorities made officially through Foreign Minister Molotov and Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin "have been based upon misinformation."

Moreover, the note charged the Consul-General had "hindered the investigation of the competent police officials by refusing to allow them to interview Mrs. Kosenkina" at the time she was in the Consul's control.

"This action was the more serious," the United States note asserted, "in view of the subsequent statements by Mrs. Kosenkina to the effect that she jumped from the window of the Consulate-General in order to avoid having to return to the Soviet Union.

"In addition to the statemen made by Mrs. Kosenkina that she was compelled to make in a press intefview false statements which were dictated to her, the Consul-General has himself made ir issued statements to the press which, in view of all the evidence available, the Department of State can only conclude were deliberately designed to mislead the American public in regard to the serious charge involving the United States government.

"The United States government considers that Consul-General Lomakin's conduct constitutes an abuse of the prerogatives of his position and a gross violation of the internationally accepted standards governing the conduct of foreign officials."

Charge Murder In Fire Death

BALCARRES, Sask., Aug. 20 (CP)—R.C.M.P. today continued to press their investigation of the mysterious death of an unidentified person in a fire-swept shack near here early this week.

Charges of murder and arson were laid against Frank Catalack, 39, of Balcarres Thursday in connection with the discovery Tuesday of the charred bones of an unidentified person in the ruins of his razed shack.

Meanwhile, the bones are being examined by Dr. D. F. Moore, pathologist, at Saskatoon in an effort to identify the person. Reports here indicate the victim of the blaze was 20-year-old Florence Brabant, former Regina waitress whose home is at Lebret. Conflicting stories here and at Yorkton said Miss Brabant had lived with Catalack for some time and that they had been married since October, 1947.

At the same time another report here said Catalack had been married but that he and his wife were now separated.

Hotel Clerk, 66 Held In Shooting

TORONTO, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Alexander Douglas McLaren, greying man-about-town, was shot to death at midnight in the lobby of an elite midtown hotel and polic early today charged the hotel's night clerk, 66-year-old Harry Springall, with murder.

Police said Springall admitted shooting McLaren because he was creating a disturbance in the lobby of the Alexandra Palace Hotel on University avenue, across the street from the Toronto General Hospital.

McLaren, 50, was shot through the chest and right arm and died shortly after in hospital. Police said they found a third bullet embedded in the wall of the hotel lobby.

Paul McKenzie, hotel manager, said McLaren was ordered from the hotel about an hour earlier because he was "drunk and incoherent." Police said he apparently returned with the intention of visiting his mother, Mrs. Nellie McLaren, who has a apartment in the hotel, and a quarrel started when Springall ordered him to leave.

No Brush

There was no brush between British and Russian forces. The Lieutenant Colonel commandnig the Britons talked amiably with the Russian troop commander after the raid.

The tension was greater last evening.

The raid on Potsdamer Platz was the second in as many days against the black marketeers who make it their centre. At least five Germans were wounded Thursday when Soviet-controlled police skirmished with some 600 irate Germans in the Platz, where the Russian, British and United States sectors converge.

Germans in the crowd yelled "Communist pigs" at the police. It was a question, however, whether the shouters were sincere anti-Communists or just piqued black marketeers.

Five hours after the smoke had cleared and the Soviet-sector police had retreated, the black-market trade was going on as usual.

The city was rife with unconfirmed rumors after the action died down.

Report Flags Burned

One German reported to American authorities some demonstrators burned several Soviet flags in the shell of a ruined building. This could not be verified. Nor was there any confirmation of reports that there was one fatality in the skirmish.

During the rioting British and American police appeared on their side of the square and Russian troops on their ground. They were not involved in the fighting, however.

Although Russian-backed police faced a hostile throng Thursday, observers reasoned the same thing could happen at any time to western-backed police if they over-stepped into the Soviet sector during such a raid.

Though the Queen sometimes exercises a restraining influence, Margaret has fought strenuously for growing privileges. The final battle over which functions she was too young to attend developed at Ascot. The Queen told her to stay at home but half an hour later, after the King and Queen had left for the race course, Margaret ordered the car from a bewildered Buckingham Palace servant and drove after them.

Margaret's favorite pastime is dancing. Her partners say she talks without stopping, telling so many amusing stories that they forget she is a royal princess.

Can't Go Alone

But a princess is not allowed to go dining and dancing with a man by herself. Always another man and a lady-in-waiting go with them.

Lords Blandford, Porchester, Milford Haven and Lord Ogilvy have frequently called on her. But not all of Margaret's boy friends have titles.

When she was still in her early 'teens Margaret was dubbed "a flirt" because she knew the name of nearly every officer who came on guard at Windsor Castle during the war.

The chief difference her 18th birthday will make to Margaret is that from now on she could succeed her father or sister as Queen without need for a regency. She is not, however, qualified to be a counsellor or state until she is 21.

Russian Author Saves Teacher

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Victor A. Kravchenko, author and refugee from Russia, Thursday night claimed to be the "rescuer" of the Russian school teacher, Mikhail Samarine.

He claimed to have spirited Samarine away from a New Jersey chicken farm Aug. 8, when he said Soviet "agents were overrunning New York and New Jersey on the trail" of the teacher and his family.

mineral must be through the Atomic Energy Commission, but the Commission has set a price of $2.75 per pound on uranium, and guaranteed sale. Permission is granted readily for exploration and development because of the urgent need and demand for this atomic essential.

The discovery was made within the bounds of the pre-Cambrian shield and is in direct association with fieldspar ores.

This is the second major discovery of radio-active ores in Eastern Ontario. Last May prospectors for eLadura Mines discovered what is believed to be the only commercial ore body of thorium oxide in the world, and this ore body was examined in July by two geologists from the Ontario Dept. of Mines, but their report has not been made public as yet in the mining journals.

This latest find differs from the thorium oxide in appearance in that it is massive, closely resembling the pitchblende found at the famous Eldorado Mine at Great Bear Lake.

A statement from the Dept. of Mines at Ottawa is expected within a few days regarding this latest discovery.

Find Confirmed.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 — (CP).— Canada's supply of uranium — used in the manufacture of the atomic bombs — is increasing "month by month," an authoritative mines spokesman said Thursday night.

But just how much of the valuable ore is being stocked in the Dominion is one of the most closely-guarded secrets in the country, the spokesman added.

He made the statements as he confirmed reports that uranium are has been discovered in British Columbia, about 120 miles north of Vancouver.

This discovery, said the official, added to others already made and being worked in Northern Saskatchewan, the Northwest Territories, and Northern Ontario.

42 More Refugees Reach New Brunswick

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 20 — (AP). — Forty-two refugees from Russian-dominated Estonia tied their little ship up here Thursday after a 30-day Atlantic voyage and today awaited word from Ottawa whether they could remain in Canada.

Crowded aboard the trim, 60-ton Atlanta, the group of men, women and children reached St. John after sailing from the Canary Islands. They sailed from Stockholm June 19 and stopped at an English port before continuing to the canaries.

The refugees, willing to go "anywhere for work and shelter" rather than return to Estonia, included Capt. Eugene Kommissar, 32, and four children.

Report Trends Mixed In Light Trading

TORONTO, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Trends were mixed in light trading here today. Industrials held steady and golds firmed slightly on scattered gains. Base metals and western oils were quiet and showed a slightly firmer tone.

The few industrials trading moved in narrow fractional range. Utilities were a little better and papers eased slightly. Bell Telephone rose ¼ and International Petroleum, Imperial Oil and Canadian Car were up ⅛. Walkers eased ¼ and Massey-Harris Pfd. ½.

Senior golds edged upwards while gains outnumbered losses in juniors. Lamaque rose 10 cents and Wright-Hargreaves gained 2. Springer, United Keno Hill, Malartic, Kirkland Lake and Eldona were 1 to 5 cents stronger.

Base Metals Corporation moved actively in the base metals list to touch a new high for the second successive day. Consolidated Smelters was up ½ and Gulf Lead, New Calumet and Sherrit edged ahead. International Nickel eased ⅛ to 35½ and Osisko, Steep Rock and Falconbridge weakened. Golden Manitou and Quebec Manitou declared their first dividends and both were down 4 cents in trading.

Anglo-Canadian and South West Petroleum eased in the western oils and Pacific Petroleum rose a penny.

Say Greek Neighbors Threatening Peace

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 20 — (CP).— Greece's three Communist neighbors were accused today by a United Nations agency of threatening peace in the Balkans by aiding Greek guerrillas.

The accused countries are Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. They were warned by the UN General Assembly last year against asisting dissident forces in Greece.

The special committee on the Balkans (UNSCOB) reported to the Assembly, after a year of on-the-scene inquiry, that the three Soviet satellites were continuing their activities against the Athens regime.

UNSCOB said it had evidence Greece's Communist neighbors had supplied arms and munitions to the guerrillas, had permitted the use of their territories for tactical operations, and had given the guerrillas moral support through government-controlled radio stations.

Frederick Grove Canadian Novelist Dies

SIMCOE, Aug. 20 (CP)—One of Canada's great novelists, an author-adventurer who won international fame, stirred literary controversy, but earned few dollars, died Thursday at his farm home near here where he spent his late years in near seclusion.

Frederick Philip Grove, Russian-born son of Swedish-Scottish parents who became a colorful interpreter of Canadian Prairie life, had been a semi-invalid for several years. It was one of the cerebral hemorrhages he suffered that took his life.

He died amid the peaceful surroundings of the Western Ontario countryside where only two years ago, sitting on the screened porch of his modest home, he told an interviewer he felt his life a failure.

It was a life of early wanderlust, a thirst after the unknown that drove him to four continents before he was 21. Coming to Canada in 1982, he seemed to find his answer in rural Manitoba, where he worked for many years as a laborer and wrote amid personal poverty.

Success at 50

He was 50 before any publisher could see merit in his works. Then, "Over Prairie Trails," an essay published in 1922, won him instant recognition among critics and comfortable post as high school principal in Rapid City.

Three years later, on of the controversies that colored his career, making him a legendery figure even in his lifetime, uprooted him from Manitoba. His first novel, Settlers of the March, drew criticisms of obscenity and the school, along with all others in Manitoba, refused to re-engage the author.

Described as a serious, realistic, painstaking artist—the first psychological novelist to deal with contemporary Canadian life—he left eight published novels and two volumes of essays.

His autobiography, in search of myself, published in 1946, won the Governor-General's award for non-fiction. Ahe Royal Society of Canada awarded him the Lorne Pierce gold medal for distinguished services to Canadian literature and the University of Manitoba gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

But these belated honors were not matched by financial returns. His only book to achieve popularity was, in Search of America, written in 1893-94 but not published until 1927.

16,000 Out On Strike

BIRMINGHAM, England, Aug. 20.—(AP). — Sixteen thousand British automobile workers were on strike today in a dispute over introduction of American mass-production methods in the Longbridge plant of the Austin Motor Car Company.

The dispute began Thursday over rates of pay based upon the speed at which an American-made multiple gear cutter could be operated.

One worker assigned to the machine averaged 280 operations in an 8½-hour shift.

Pointing out the demonstrator who installed the gear cutter had proved 360 operations could be completed, the management suggested a piece work rate fixed at a compromise figure of 330 operations per shift.

Workers rejected the proposal, referred the dispute to their shop stewards, and started a stay-in strike.

CCF Convention Has Approved Public Ownership Of Banks

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20—(CP).—The CCF National Convention turned today to a study of international affairs after lengthy sessions Thursday at which three planks of the party's "first term" platform were adopted. The policies concerned a nation - wide labor code and associated public ownership of chartered banks and integration of all transport means with the Canadian Pacific Railway put under state ownership.

Had it not been for the bank issue—snarled by vigorous debate for more than two hours — the convention might have proceeded further with contemplation of its proposed 10-point national pro-

When approved, the CCF plans to make this program the basis for administration when and if it assumes control of Parliament.

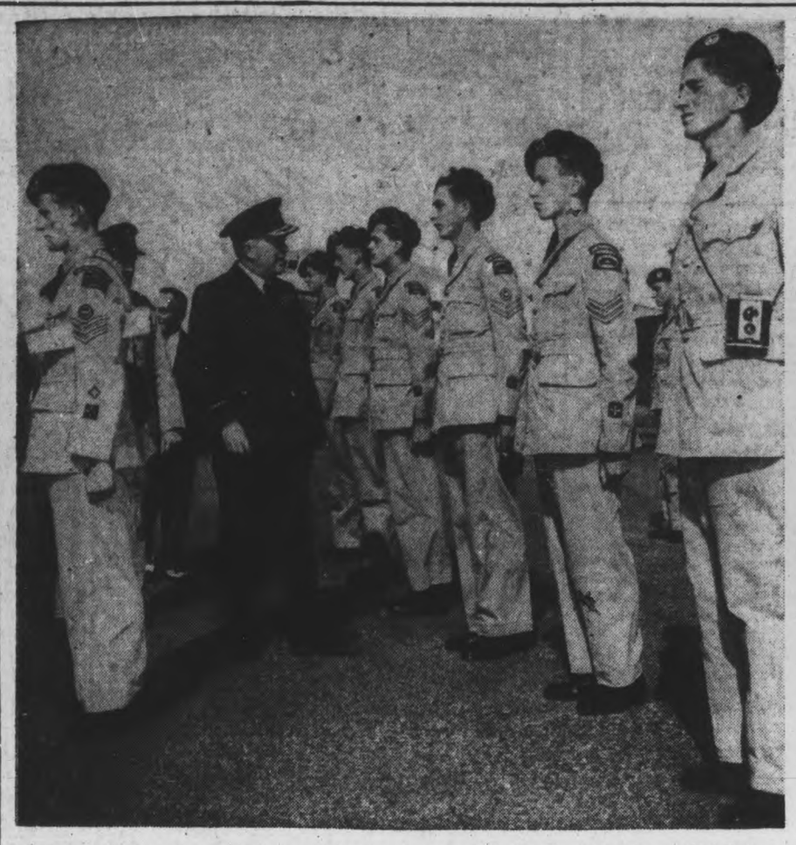
The bank controversy concerned the merits of outright ownership compared to "effective public control," the latter coupled with a threat of nationalization if the banks did not co-operate. Twenty-five speakers joined the debate, with the final vote being 94-56 in favor of public ownership as proposed by the CCF national eexcutive.

Railway Police

The railway police also resulted in considerable debate before acceptance of a resolution which pledged the party to establish freight-rate scales that would not be discriminatory against any region.

The Labor plank was approved with less argument than either bank or railway issues, although speakers were plentiful who backed what the CCF termed a "new deal" for labor.

After considering its proposed stand on international affairs today, the convention will debate major proposed planks concerned with socializiation of the coal and steel industries, the manufacture of farm implements and fertilizers and the oil, gas and electricity industries. None of these, however, is expected to cause debate approximating that of the opennig day.



National leader M. J. Coldwell, in his convention address Thursday, said the program adopted by delegates should be regarded as what a C.C.F. government "intends to carry out as time and circumstances permit."

Not Too Rigid

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, speaking from the floor, warned against imposing too rigid a policy which, he suggested, could "hamstring" the government when the C.C.F. gained a majority in parliament.

The scrap over the bank policy resulted from a difference in the proposals of the national executive and national council of the party. The executive had recommended immediate socialization, a which the council rejected in favor of "public control."

To achieve the latter objective, the council recommended extension of the powers of the Bank of Canada, reconstitution of the industrial development bank with sufficient powers to finance national planning objectives, and "effective control over the policy of the chartered banks to ensure conformity with the national investment plan."

Have Started Requisitioning Cheddar Cheese

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 — (CP). — The government began early in August to requisition all cheddar cheese from current production in Ontario and Quebec to fill the United Kingdom contract, Agriculture Department officials said Thursday.

They described the action as "fairly routine" and explained that the same course was followed last year. Ontario and Quebec domestic requirements are filled. While the requisition order is in effect, from stocks on hand or from other parts of Canada.

The requisition order was applied somewhat later this year than last. In 1947 it went into effect during mid-July and was maintained through October.

Agriculture Department officials said they did not believe the order would result in dislocation of domestic supplies or a shortage of cheese for Canadian consumers. Cheese stocks on hand when the order went into effect, said an official, were 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 pounds greater this year than when similar action was taken last year.

Agriculture officials said the date on which requisitioning of cheese begins depends on "the urgency and shipping arrangements." They said the requisitioning order would run through August, with the possibility that some cheese from current production might be sold on the domestic market towards the end of the period if it was not required ti fill the contract.

Officials emphasied that domestic supplies would be ample and scouted any suggestion that the order couid result in a shortage for Canadian consumers.

Will Run Off Finals In Doubles Tourney

WESTWOOD, Aug. 20. — The August meeting of the Westwood branch Women's Institute was held Tuesday on the lawn at Elm Grove Farm, the home of the secretary, Mrs. Stewart Graham. In the absence of the president Mrs. A. Wood, the first vice-Mrs. W. Post conducted the meeting.

The entire program was on agriculture. The motto, "Flowers are the sweetest thing God made, and didn't put a soul in," was presented by Mrs. Fred Neilson.

The feature was a two minutes talk by each member on agriculture. Current events were given by Mrs. Everett Elmhurst, and a guessing contest sponsored by Mrs. H. Pacey was won by Mrs. S. Graham and Mrs. W. Post.

A meeting ponsored by the home economics department of the Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday, September 22 in the Agricultural Office, Peterborough, to which all are welcome.

It was decided that prizes amounting to $5 would be given for the best fancy apron at the Norwood Fair, the exhibition to be by an Institute member in Peterborough County.

A very interesting demonstration on smocking was given by Mrs. S. Graham.

The hostesses for the month were Mrs. W. Renwick, Mrs. T. J. Cardwell and Mrs. E. W. Sargent, and a pleasant social time was spent.

Control Credit Buying

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — (AP). — The United States government Thursday clamped controls on most consumer instalment credit purchases between $50 and $5,000, effective Sept 20. A new Federal reserve board regulation requires a one-third down payment on automobiles and a 20-per-cent down payment on most household appliances. A time limit of 15 months is fixed for completing all "easy payment" plans of $1,000 or less.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Family Pet

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20 — (ENS).—When he reads this item, the hit-and-run driver who ran over a dog in Campbellford on Wednesday night at about 11 p.m. will know that Paddy, 12 year-old springer spaniel pet of the Kingston family, died from his injuries.

A neighbour heard the dog scream when he was hit, heard the car speeding away without stopping or even slowing down, and notified the Kingston family, but it was too late to get the animal to a nearby veterinarian.

Paddy was purchased 11 years ago for Dorothy Kingston, sister of the local newspaper proprietor, on her birthday, and had remained with the family ever since.

Cross Continent On Holiday Trip

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20. — (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bateman and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Palliser with their daughter Anne, returned Monday from a transcontinental motor trip, during which they covered about 3,200 miles.

The trip took eight weeks, and took them from Campbellford to Vancouver on the Canadian side, and back through portons of the United States.

On the numerous stopovers they made during the trip they visited with a number of friends and relatives of Campbellford people.

Among the notable sights they encountered was the Calgary stampede, and the Old Faithmul geyser in Yellowstone National Park. They were much impressed by the roads over which they travelled, especially those which rise for several thousand feet in the Canadian Rockies, and had no complaints about road conditions.

The only mishap was when a wheel came off the camping trailer which they took with them, and bent an axle, causing an overnight delay.

The trailer, however, more than made up for this incident by providing them with accommodation which would have been extremely difficult to obtain at most of the stops they made.

Acquit 2 Oshawa Men On Robbery Charges

BICTON, Aug. 20.—(CP).—Laverne R. Beare and Earl W. Carter, both of Oshawa, Thursday were acquitted of armed robbery charges.

Charges were laid after Vincent Gentile, restaurateur, was held up July 17 by two gun-toting masked bandits. When Gentile said he carried only $3 cash the holdup men left.

Crown Attorney Gordon Walmsley said in court Thursday that evidence against Beare and Carter did not justify committing them to trial.

Reporter Scooped Car Runs Away

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20 — (ENS). — There is much rivalry among newspapermen in Campbellford, and much kidding when one "scoops" the other on some item.

Jack Coxwell, who often pinch-hits for his father, "Hilly," was talking to the station agent about 11 p.m. on Thursday when the Examiner correspondent arrived and asked him if he had seen the car which had gone over the bank a few feet away from the station.

Jack said that he hadn't, and refused to believe the story until he had accompanied the Examiner man, when he found to his sorrow and the delight of the onlookers, that the car was his own, which he had left parked outside the station in second gear.

The damage was confined to a couple of bent fenders, and the car was removed from its precarious position by driving it further down the bank and back onto the road.

But Jack was scooped on his own accident.

Social Credit Suits Alberta

The triumphal return of Mr. Manning's Social Credit party in Alberta was by no means a surprise. That party has given the province good government since 1935, and Alberta is faithful to any government it likes. The Liberals ruled there from 1905 until 1921, and from 1921 until 1935 the United Farmers were in power. In spite of its peculiar financial doctrines the Social Credit party has been able to lower interest charges on its debt, and however wildly the Social Crediters may talk, what they do is entirely orthodox. Neither the Liberals nor the C.C.F. had anything to offer in the way of campaign issues, and the protest against the Manning administration was desultory, to put it mildly. The Social Credit victory was a foregone conclusion.

* * *

Because the Social Crediters have dropped many of their strange beliefs for the present it must not be assumed that they have dropped them forever. It was no accident that the great apostle of Social Credit was a missionary, Bible Bill Aberhart. Social Credit is a faith, rather than a political belief, and the day may come when Mr. Manning thinks it opportune to revive the faith in all its primitive glory. His following is a devoted one; not even the revelations concerning the sad state of the provincial welfare services shook their certainty that Social Credit belief and Social Credit politicians were best for Alberta. The extreme side of Social Credit is not dead; it sleeps.

* * *

The victory of Social Credit in the provincial field is a sign that there will be several Social Credit candidates in the next Dominion election, and that they will probably win their seats. If the federal election should have a very close result the value of the small number of Social Credit seats would be high, and some interesting bargaining would be done in order to gain their support. It is a possibility that Social Credit may yet be a power in the land, and it should be watched with interest.

New Russian Drive Against Religion

A news report from Paris tells at some length of a new Russian drive against religion. It has been plain for some time that Russia changes her attitude toward religion to suit her political needs. In 1941, when it was necessary for Russia to be on good terms with Britain and the U.S.A. we were told that the Orthodox Church enjoyed considerable liberty; this was good news in most Eastern European countries where the Orthodox Church is powerful, and in Britain, where the Orthodox Church is in communion with the Church of England. Propaganda stories in the East also told of Russia's tenderness toward the Moslem faith; there are several millions of Moslems in the Asiatic portion of the U.S.S.R. But now we hear that Christianity and Moslemism are alike out of favour, and the official paper of the Communist Youth League declares that "communism and religion are incompatible and irreconcilable".

* * *

This sort of thing should not be called atheism; rather, it is a kind of paganism. An atheist has no god, and people who have no god are very rare and are usually of an extremely intellectual type. The Russians most decidedly have a god, and that god is the State—a kind of Moloch demanding the most elaborate sacrifices in the most capricious manner. Their hostility is not toward Christianity, or to the God whose existence is proclaimed alike by Christian and Jew. It is toward all gods, including the God of Islam, who may demand an allegiance which runs counter to the demands of the state.

* * *

Within the past two years we have heard Communists in Canada declare that they had "a higher loyalty" than that which bound them to this country. Now it is a fact that every Christian, every Jew and every Moslem has a higher loyalty than that which binds him to his country; it is his loyalty to God. Many a man has set that loyalty above patriotism and has suffered for it. So also do the Communists put their loyalty to their ideal above patriotism, and so also they are ready to suffer.

* * *

But for what are they suffering? The loyalty of the religious man to God is a loyalty to something beyond this world and vastly greater than this world; it is a loyalty to everlasting values which are not soiled or warped by the necessities of daily life. The Communists' loyalty is to a system and an ideal which is wholly secular—that is to say, changeable to suit the necessities of the moment. The weathercock nature of Communist doctrine has shown itself clearly during the past twenty years. Is it any wonder that Communists cannot permit loyalty to an ideal which is, by its nature, unchangeable?

Wise Motorists Refuse Knights Of The Thumb

We have what amounts to full employment today in Canada, and yet there seems to be an unusual number of men and women cadging rides by the roadside. A majority of hitch-hikers are well dressed, and some of them are positively smart, yet they are ready to travel at someone else's expense. Some of these people are criminals; a few of them are in genuine need of a ride; the remainder are grafters.

Our readers will have read the report of the adventure of the man from Orillia who, during the past fortnight, picked up four young men who signalled to him for a ride. When they had gone a short distance one of them clubbed him, and when he recovered his senses he was bound and gagged in the back seat of his car, and knew from his pain that he had been beaten and kicked. After a jaunt of five hours he was thrown out on the roadside, and the four young thugs drove off with his car.

One case in a thousand, you say? Yes, but every year we read of cases of this kind. It is common charity to give wayfarers a lift, you protest? Agreed, but there are wayfarers and wayfarers. Our opinion is that a motorist should never pick up a hitch-hiker without making a few enquiries first, to assure himself that the need is real. A man who is driving a car is completely the victim of anyone who is riding with him.

There are people who need lifts, and it is not hard to distinguish them from those who merely want a free ride. Motorists should use the utmost caution before taking strangers into their cars.

Criticism And Cold Steel

We do not believe that there are two men in Canada — not two newspapermen, certainly — who would risk their lives in defence of an opinion on an artistic matter; we salute, therefore, with our profoundest bow, Mario Corto-Colleoni of the Roman newspaper Expresso and Domenico de Paoli of the Roman paper Il Giornale Della Sera, who recently fought a duel because they disagreed about the appointment of the new superintendent of the Rome Opera. On Wednesday morning they met with swords, and Corto-Colleoni defeated Paoli. We do not suppose that this has changed Paoli's opinion in any way, but we admire the spirit which will carry two critics to the field of honour.

It is a pity that there is not more of this sort of thing here. We shall feel that Canadian literature has really arrived when the book editor of the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix (a lady) meets the book editor of the Toronto Telegram (also a lady) on the duelling ground with hatpins. We should feel happier about Canadian music if Mr. Yocum of Saturday Night ever called out Mr. Archer of the Montreal Gazette to a bout with ice-tongs. If Canadian critics cared as passionately about art as the critics of Rome not only would art flourish here, but our national life would be markedly more lively.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The craze for bobby-socks is said to be waning. And so far as we are concerned the craze for dirty, ill-fitting overalls may follow it into obscurity.

"Kilt Worn For More Than 300 Years", says a headline. And is now becoming a little shiny at the seat, we presume.

As rabbit is now a popular meat in England it is reported that magicians are pulling fewer of these creatures out of hats. The next economy move will be sawing their women in four.

Spats are the latest style for women. And we can remember the day when only our Aunt Jemima wore them, in the face of family protest. Jemima should have lived to see this day!

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

THE plaque on the gate to Jackson's Park calls the Park "West Nichols Park"? Isn't "Jackson's Park" a good enough name?

ANSWER: "West Nichols Park" is the official new name. The adjective is to distinguish it from "East Nichols Park", the new name for Nichols Oval . I think that the parks will continue to be known as Jackson's Park and Nichols Oval—and quite rightly so—despite the names given on the memorial gates erected during celebrations of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation (1927). The gates are in memory of Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nichols, whose gifts of money made the acquisition of the parks possible. Mrs. Nicholls' maiden name was Jackson. Her direct heir was a nephew, Benjamin A. Jackson. He was born in Madrid, U.S.A. and died in Peterborough in 1896. After the death of Mrs. Nichols in 1890 he and his wife came to reside in the Nichols home in Peterborough. They were socially pleasant people. It was in tribute to Mr. Jackson that the then recently acquired "Quarry" was named Jackson's Park. At least, that is what my limited researches and testimony of other residents lead me to believe.

DEAR Sir or Madam: Could you give me and other readers more information about the old road or rail-road that was supposed to have been built—was it by the Indians?—across Rice Lake from Harwood to Hiawatha? We still see mounds which look like the old road bed.

ANSWER: The road was built. It was the Cobourg - Peterborough Railway. Between 1850 and 1870 there was a great railway-building boom and dozens of projects were started, some of them finished, and most of them resulted in bankruptcy . The Cobourg - Peterborough Railway Company's charter was secured in 1852. Large sums of money were subscribed by both private citizens and the municipalities concerned. The line lay almost due north from Cobourg to Peterborough. It reached the far side of Rice Lake at Harwood. A bridge across the lake carried it to Hiawatha. Then the line lay north, across Highway 7 just east of Lock's Bridge, to Ashburnham ("East City").

In the winters of 1855 to 1857 the bridge across the lake was shifted out of position by the ice and rendered unusable. Trains ceased to operate to Peterborough, but for a few years around 1865 a service was carried on by boat to Harwood and thence by train to Cobourg. In 1886 the railway's property was disposed of by the courts for $30,200. Several hundred thousand dollars were sunk in the business. Edwin C. Guillet's recent history of Cobourg, prepared for the town's 150th birthday which was celebrated a couple of weeks ago, gives an account of this railway. He gives too much credit to the good business sense of Peterborough citizens when he suggests that they were content to sit back and let Cobourg foot the bills. Peterborough (both its individuals and the corporation) nearly went on the financial rocks because of money they lost in this and other railway projects.

The old line of the railway is readily traced by travellers in the district. You must not, however, confuse "Serpent Mound", at the Rice Lake end of the Keene road with the railway. That is an ancient Indian encampment, and probably burial ground.

QUESTION: Is it true that if you pick a guinea-pig up by the tail, its eyes will drop out?

ANSWER: You'll not catch me trying to prove it.

◇ ◇ ◇

SIR: What is the best swear word you know?

ANSWER: You will have to see me privately about that; we might make a rich exchange of bloody expressions. A picturesque expletive I can set down here is the one commonly used by old North West voyageurs: "Crush my soul on the end of a fence rail!" I am, By the way, greatly opposed to such namby-pamby euphemisms as "darn". A good honest "damn" is much to be preferred, as the Bishop of Winchester remarked after being bored by the late President Wilson's tut-tuts. For your instruction I might say that the best, most vigorously colourful swearing is not necessarily the most blasphemous.

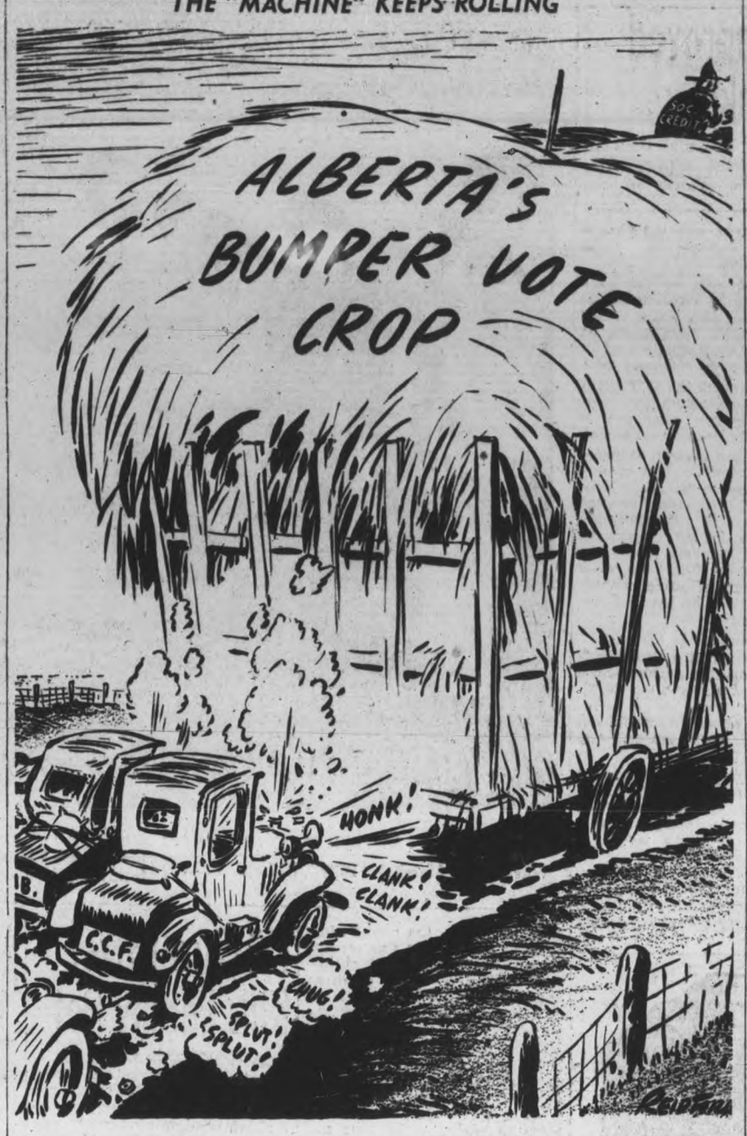
QUESTION: We frequently read that we should "plant by the moon". Has the moon any effect on growth? If so what and why? Is there scientific evidence to back up these theories?

ANSWER: Until recent years and with notable exceptions, modern scientists have pooh-hooed such notions as being old wives' tales, superstitions and the like while they have gone ahead building up a mass of superstitions which would scandalize people of older generations but which our people soak up as gospel. (For instance, they invent vitamins, atoms and allergies and nearly everybody believes in the silly things.) Now science seems almost prepared to believe that there may be more lies in their proud scientific structure than in the lowly old wives' tales. (See Dunbar's "Mind and Body")



The German philosopher and natural scientist Dr. Rudolf Steiner (1861-1925) was a notable exception to the old arrogance of scientists. He developed a system which he called "anthroposophy", i.e. "wisdom of humanity". He believed (and lectured widely on his beliefs) that mankind is the centre of all perceptions and that folk lore is really wise.

To "plant by the moon" presumably means to plant according to the moon's phases. While the moon may not affect weather directly as it does tides, its phases and changing appearance are indications of weather conditions. So there is a large crop of farm-lore and folk sayings about the moon. It is said, for instance, that plants grown for their underground products (like potatoes) should be planted when the moon is waning; plants grown for their fruit above the ground (like tomatoes) should be planted while the moon is waxing. Red currant jelly, if it is going to set well, should be done down at the full of the moon. Corn grows fastest at night. And Prince Hal, says the Bishop of Ely in Shakespeare's "Henry V", "no doubt grew like the summer grass, fastest at night". I have great faith in these old sayings and beliefs, and would like to hear more of them from the readers of this column.

FOR THE RECORD: The first phonograph in Peterborough was exhibited and demonstrated on the stage of the Bradburn Opera House (the site of the newest movie house now being erected) on June 27th, 1878. There is no record of what the admission charge was to see this marvel of seventy years ago, or what cylinders were played.

THE "MACHINE" KEEPS ROLLING

Letters To The Editor

FACETIOUS

Sir: That is a fine suggestion of yours about turning Peterborough sewage into fertilizer, as Milwaukee manufactures "Milorganite". I assume that this name is a combination of "Milwaukee" and "organic". If our fair city takes up the idea what about calling our product "Peexcrete", from "Peterborough" and "excrement"? No sooner said than done. All the best,

ONE OF THE BOYS.

THE SOIL IS NOT INEXHAUSTIBLE

Sir: A good many people, I think, will agree with the editorial suggestion in last night's Examiner about composting our sewage. The peoples of the East (where I spent fifteen years before the war) know the value of human waste as fertilizer and it brings quite a price, as farmers buy it from city contractors. Our wastefulness in the West will bring, as you point out, its own revenge if we persist in it.

Already there are barren tracts in Ontario due to foolish cutting of trees and impoverishment of the soil. We would make this district one of the richest in Ontario if we chose to follow a proper course of putting back on the soil what we take from it. Our soil cannot nourish us indefinitely unless it is restored with good fertilizers and organic fertilizer is the best of all.

Peterborough could give a lead in this respect and win the admiration of the province. Thanking you,

CONSERVATIONIST.

EXAMPLE OF ST. THOMAS

Sir: I wonder if you are aware that the city of St. Thomas treats sewage in somewhat the manner described in Wednesday's editorial, i.e. by dehydrating it and selling it as fertilizer? What about the Council looking into this?

INTERESTED.

APPROVES SEWAGE CONSERVATION

Sir: That was a splendid suggestion in your editorial on August 18 for processing the city sewage and returning it to the earth as fertilizer. I have heard at various times about the waste of minerals in sewage but I never dreamed it was so great as shown by the figures you printed. As a conservation measure alone the plan deserves serious consideration by our Council and I think the City Engineer should be asked to look into it at once. As one who lives in a part of the city where the odour of sewage is very offensive in warm weather I have a special interest in this problem and so have hundreds like me.

Yours sincerely,
SOUTH ENDER.

Re-Writing An Old Joke

(CORNWALL STANDARD-FREEHOLDER)

THIS is the time of year when people on this continent take snapshots like mad, building up collections with which to bore other people next winter.

In addition to the snapshot artists, we now have the home movie fan. It's interesting to note how an old joke has been carried into new surroundings. The old family album, with which Pa or Ma "entertained" the young suitor for their daughter's hand, has been a stock humorous situation for years. But the family album is disappearing now, or at least it doesn't sit on a table in the parlour or on top of the piano. Its place is being slowly taken by the home movie camera, which still is too new a development to allow proud parents to show their daughter's young man movies taken when she was a child.

But it will come. We can start re-writing the scenario for the joke now, with Maisie and her boy friend sitting tensely on the chesterfield while father tinkers with the movie machine. He'll be saying: "And on this reel there's some mightly cute pictures of Maisie taking a bath in a tin tub at the cottage, when she was just two years old." And Maisie, of course, will be saying desperately: "Oh, Pa!"

We might pause to pay a short tribute to the men who helped to make this continent snapshot and home-movie happy. The Encyclopedia Americana tells us that several persons must share the honours — or the blame. Louis Jacques Mande Daguerre invented the first successful photographic process in 1893, but the principle of the camera is said to have been understood by Aristotle, 2298 years ago. Leonardo de Vinci, the great Italian genius, wrote a piece on the way a camera would work.

But all these early efforts were held up by one thing—a film on which to record the photos. Daguerre produced his famous daguerrotype, followed by the equally-famous tintype. But the camera enthusiast still needed a wheelbarrow to carry his stuff around.

Finally a man named George Eastman set the stage for the snapshot fiend. In 1888, he invented paper backed roll film and a small, simple, inexpensive camera. And then came the deluge.

LIVELY PARTY

The father was trying to cheer up his daughter's rejected suitor. "Have a drink?" he suggested.

"I don't drink," the young man answered gloomily.

"Have a cigar, then?"

"I don't smoke."

"Well would you like to turn on the radio?" the father said desperately.

"I hate the radio. I think I'd better be going. My sister's giving a party, and I promised to get back early to amuse the guests."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him exceedingly.... So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon; for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which Moses the servant of the Lord had made in the wilderness....

In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee. And Solomon said unto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead.

Now, O Lord God, let thy promise unto David my father be established: for thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude. Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people, that is so great?

And God said to Solomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life; but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for thyself, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king: wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee; and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, such as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither shall there any after thee have the like. (II Chron. 1: 1, 3, 7-12.)

◇ ◇ ◇

A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsels. (Prov. 1: 5.)

For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. (II Tim. 1: 7.)

Stars and Stripes

Some American correspondents attending the Olympic Games have reported a certain coolness, shown by a drop in the volume of applause, towards the American athletes in the parade with which the Games opened last week; and they have ascribed this to the fact that the Americans did not, like other delegations, dip their national flag as they passed before the King. It is perhaps worth making clear, to anyone who noticed and resented the incident, that their action in keeping the flag upright implied no lack of respect. It is in fact an inflexible usage, amounting almost to a superstitution, with the Americans that the Stars and Stripes must never be dipped under any circumstances; to do so would be considered an insult to the flag, as improper as for a man to keep his hat on in church. Perhaps for lack of a royal family, "Old Glory" plays a far larger part in the national traditions of the United States than flags usually do. Sentiment has crystallized around its legends; the shop in which, it is believed, Mrs. Betsy Ross, a Philadelphia upholsterer, stitched the first company of stars and stripes to General Washington's specification is preserved as a national monument; the national anthem (though Congress has never explicitly recognized it as such) celebrates the survival of "the star-spangled banner" after the bombardment of Fort McHenry, Baltimore, by the English fleet in 1814. All spectators at Wembley who knew of the Americans' peculiar veneration for their flag will have appreciated last week's incident at its proper value. Any notion that it was part of a sinister plot to emphasize the dominance of capitalist American over Britain may be left to the Moscow radio.—Manchester Guardian.

The Hiding Place

A summary of convictions and seizures under the Foreign Exchange Control Act shows that the ingenuity of those who try to smuggle currency out of Canada is being matched by the ingenuity of Canadian customs officers at border points.

A woman had U.S. travellers' cheques and currency concealed behind a cushion in her train compartment—it cost her $200 and the hidden funds. A Toronto man crossing at Niagara Falls was found to have thirty U.S. dollars concealed in his right sock and $98 in his left sock. An Alberta woman had $219.75 in U.S. currency in a small cloth sack pinned to her underclothing. A Detroit man was caught with $2,178 in U.S. currency and $108 in Canadian bills hidden in a bag of potatoes in his car—that cost him $500. Another Detroit man—who paid $1,250 for being found out—had $1,600 hidden in his clothes and another $845 in a newspaper on top of his car heater.

The moral is that the customs men know most of the hiding places—and that it pays to be honest.—Ottawa Journal.

Disunity In Churches Scandal, Fisher Says

LONDON, Aug. 20 — (AP). — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. G. F. Fisher, Thursday night called disunity among Christian churches "a scandal."

The Archbishop said in a radio address, however, that the recent Lambeth conference of Anglican bishops found grounds for hope that progress toward unification is being made.

"Some of you who hear me are no doubt impatient about the divisions of the churches and cannot imagine why we don't abolish them," he said. "Some of you are so used to them that you don't bother about them. But they really are a scandal — a stumbling block.

"The Lambeth conference of 1920 made a notable appeal to all Christian people on this matter, the force of which is by no means exhausted. But its working out takes time. . . .

"The great, growing and glorious fact is that increasingly, with certain churches, alas, excepted, all are seeking to find in Christ the way to a unity in which no truth will be surrendered, partial truths will be fulfilled and the wholeness of the faith of Christ more faithfully expressed."

Cheaper To Buy Car In London

LAKE ORION, Mich., Aug. 20 (AP). — Dick Wells, a Commercial Airlines pilot, who discovered a quick way to get delivery of a new car, claimed to-day he saved $567 by buying it through a dealer in London—4,000 miles away.

He placed his order for a new car about a year ago in the United States.

While in London, he saw the same model he had ordered on display in a dealer's window. Its price was the equivalent of $1,820 the dealer said. Wells recalled the car he had ordered at home had a pric tag of $2,387.

The dealer said Walls could have immediate delivery, and suggested, when the pilot asked about shipping arrangements, that he place the order in London and pick up the car at South Bend. The American did so, and received the car at the London dealer's price, he asserted.

However US company officials insisted the list price on Wells' model was $1,861, in the United States and abroad. What the pilot must have paid, they added, was that amount with a foreign dealer's handling charge of $14 tacked on.

U.S. Tourist Dies In Car Crash

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Mrs. Alexander Blake of North Plainfield, N.J., was killed Thursday when the automobile in which she was a passenger collided with a truck four miles west of here. Police said Roy Bronston of Toronto was driving the truck.

Her husband, who was driving at the time of the accident, suffered a fractured leg and undetermined injuries. He was taken to the Bowmanville Hospital. Brunston and his passenger, A. K. Taylor, also of Toronto, suffered minor body bruises.

According to Brunston, the accident was due to the slippery condition of the highway. "I was going west along the highway, when the Blake car, which was coming east, wet into a long skid and we collided head on," he said.

Provincial Cons. Ray Kowl and Coroner Dr. Charles Austin investigated. No charges have been laid.

Legionnaires Defeat B-A In First Pair of Finals

Legionnaires defeated B-A twice at the Bowl last night before another big crowd to go two up as the four-in-seven City Softball League finals opened. They edged out a 7-6 decision in the opener but romped to a 14-2 verdict in the nightcap. The first was an exciting scrap but the second was too one-sided to be really interesting. They meet again in a Tuesday night twin bill.

Each side used two twirlers in the first fray, Lefty Reid taking over from Bob Greenlaw in the seventh, Bob getting credit for the win. Ken Guilfoyle started for B-A but gave way in the eighth to Bob Strickland, the former being the losing pitcher. Ken fanned eight but walked six. B-A had the tying run aboard in the ninth. Pagett led the hitters with three for five, as Scriver got two in three, Lewis two for four and Collins two for five. Starr topped B-A with two in three, Hawkes had two for four as did Blewett, and Crowe two in five. B-A pulled off a double play and Pryde and Pagett made smart running catches. The box score:

SECOND GAME

Howie Dalton hurled three-hit ball to handcuff B-A in the second affair, and his mates pounded two pitchers in timely style to roll up the count. The two runs gained off Dalton were unearned ones in the eighth. Bob Strickland was hit hard for five runs in the initial inning and he left in the fifth. Ron Akers was nicked for five more in the sixth. But sides were loose afield, but Legion came up with a double play and neat catches by Dalton and Pagett. Dalton also led the hitters with two for three, Scriver getting a pair in four and Collins and Harrison two for five each, one of the latter's being a homer. The box score:

Peewee Honors Captured By The Trojans

By FRED MAYBEE

Trojans defeated Gord's Inn last evening at Riverside 15-12 before a nice crowd in a well-played contest as the two ended their five game series for local pee-wee honors.

Gary Kearns drove in five runs, scored three and handled eight chances with only one miscue. Gary hit a home run in the sixth with the bases loaded.

Ball, Corbett and Turner hit well, each with two, while the first named drove in four runs.

Jerry Frizzelle pitched a fine game and struck out 13 and had good support afield. For the losers, McIlomyle had three hits and drove in three while Starr, D. Baptie and Guerin each had two.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Orillia plays the Petes an OLA senior "B" fixture at nine tonight in Miller Bowl, and it should be a dandy. Petes have to pull up their sox—not socks—after dropping three in a row as the race warms up. The Petes still have a fair lead on Oshawa, and Orillia is in third spot ahead of Huntsville. Likely a big crowd on deck. Monday brings Owen Sound here, leading club in senior "A" this season and with such star scorers as Doug Gillespie — winner last year — and Rusty Slater, who tops the circuit this semester. Coach Piper Bain has promised to bring his full squad, and this game will give fans a chance to see how the senior "B" champs shape up against senior "A" opposition.

* * * * * *

By their beards you shall know them. The House of David touring pro ball players. They bring their own lighting system to Riverside next Monday night to play the Petes an exhibition under the arcs. Game will start at 8.30 p.m., but the bearded wonders will stage a pepper game before that for 10 or 15 minutes. Fans who have seen these pros in action here in other years will recall the classy baseball they serve up, spending all their time on the diamond each summer in various parts of the States and Canada. A worthwhile exhibition for ball fans.

Some Girls' Softball

Marines meet Westclox tonight in a twin bill at the Bowl, starting at seven. The second and third games of the Girls' Softball League four-in-seven finals to declare an intermediate "A" winner. Clockers took the first but aren't likely to sweep the series in four straight against the smart Outboards. Ought to be a nifty series ere the end. At three tomorrow aft in the Bowl, Cobourg colleens and Lindsay meet in the second of their two-of-three PWSU intermediate "B" playdowns, third if necessary being at the same place at seven p.m. Saturday. Lindsay took the first but didn't have too much to spare.

* * * * * *

Jack Turner advises us of the OBA minor playdown games affecting local teams tomorrow. Two games here, Kingston vs. our peewee champs at two in Riverside and Lindsay midgets vs. Bill Murphy's East City squad these at four. While the East City bantams are off to Trenton, and the juvenile Kinsmen play in Oshawa. All these series are best two out of three. No return dates have been named yet, but they'll be sometime next week for sure. Dope on the junior setup should be in elsewhere, while our intermediates await word to go against the Belleville winner. And the seniors await COBL playoffs, playing Batawa in Belleville on Tuesday.

Legion Captures Two

Legion sort of surprised us, and likely many more in that big Bowl crowd last eve, when they beat B-A twice to open the men's softball finals. The 7-6 game was okay, a tight tilt, but that 14-2 nightcap job was something else again. We rather expected the teams to break even the first night but Legion had other ideas. They were most convincing in this twin bill and could end it Tuesday by the same brand of ball. But we don't look for that. Too many smart players in the B-A lineup to drop the big series in four straight. If you'll recall, Knights won their first two semi-finals 'gainst Legion, one by a big score, too, but eventually lost out. So, this series is by no means over.

* * * * * *

First fray last p.m. was a nifty and B-A almost tied it up at the last. None of the pitchers showed too much and the hitting was even. Fielding generally fair. Second struggle was loose but Howie Dalton handcuffed B-A with a fine three-hit hurling chore, and his buddies along with himself hammered the apple all over the orchard in a couple of big frames. They also fielded good in the pinches till a couple of lapses let in two unearned runs in the eighth. Bob Crowe got two of the losers' three hits in this one. Couple of fans were hit in the stands by balls but no serious damage done. Teams go again twice next Tuesday.

* * * * * *

Those Juniors Again

Junior ball semi-finals betwixt Kinsmen and Kiwanis will be settled tonight at six in Riverside, if they don't change their minds again. Kiwanis sent word they couldn't make it last p.m., so the peewee final was run off instead at Riverside. Trojans taking the title 15-12 in a good game against East City. Protests and postponements have marked the hectic junior playoff serial, and we are amazed at the patience shown by Oshawa Hunters—awaiting the finals —and the Lakeshore League executive. Anyway, they're billed to tangle again tonight in Riverside Park.

Egyptian Troops Plan To Attack School

JERUSALEM, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Egyptian troops threatened Thursday to open fire on a girls' farm school in Southern Jerusalem unless Israeli troops evacuate it. The Egyptians have seized heights overlooking the site.

Col. Moshe Dayan, commander of the Israeli brigade here, said he rejected the "ultimatum."

The truce atmosphere has become supercharged, but Jewish censorship has made rumors and facts hard to check.

Banta Wins 17th Hurls Royals To 7-3 Triumph

Jack Banta of the pace-setting Montreal Royals needs only three more victories to become the first pitcher in International League to win 20 games this season.

The 25-year-old right-hander registered his 17th triumph, his fifth in a row, Thursday night when he hurled the Royals to a 7-3 triumph over Buffalo Bisons in the first game of a twin bill. The Bisons took the nightcap 2-1.

The lanky pitcher, first in the loop to win 17 games, had the Bisons blanked until the seventh and final inning when Larry Barton belted his 15th homer of the season with two on and two out.

Ernie Silverman, recently elevated from the bull pen to starting assignments, outpitched Clarence Podbielan in the nightcap for the Bisons.

Silverman also squeezed home Ed Mordarski with the winning run in the seventh inning.

Despite the split the Royals remained 13 games ahead of the runner-up Newark Bears who battled the last-place Baltimore Orioles to a 3-3 11-inning tie. The game was called because of a curfew law.

Tied Score

Johnny Maldovan had the Orioles behind 3-1 with one out in the ninth when the Orioles tied the score on three hits. Jack Wallaesa drove in all of Newark's runs against Bob Kuzava with a two-run homer and two singles.

Toronto Maple Leafs wrested third place from the Rochester Red Wings, beating the Wings 5-4 and 2-1. The Leafs broke a scoreless tie with a five-run rally in the sixth inning against Al Papai to win the opener.

The Wings bounced back and knocked starter Nick Strincevich from the hill in their half of the sixth with a three-run rally. Jim Konstanty finally halted the uprising.

Lefty Al Porto beat veteran Max Surkont in the finale, allowing the Wings four hits and fanning eight. Van Harrington's double and a single by "Puddinhead" Jones accounted for the first Toronto run. Hank Biasatti socked his 18th round-tripper for the other.

Three-hit pitching by Hub Andrews featured Jersey City Giants' 5-1 triumph over Syracuse Chiefs. Frank Davis' fifth homer of the season in the eighth inning resulted in the Chiefs' lone run. Hal Hamberger and Buddy Blattner homered to pace the Giants' seven hit attack against southpaw Frank Fanovich.

Won't Affect Salmon

VANCOUVER, Aug. 20 — (CP). — The Fraser River's reduced salmon catch this year will not directly affect the quantity of canned-salmon available on the consumer market this winter, fisheries department spokesman said Thursday. It was reported Wednesday that the Fraser River catch this year would not reach its originally expected 1,000,000 fish.

Cheats Gallows Twice

MONTREAL, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Raoul Bazinet, sentenced to be hanged for the strangle-murder of his sweetheart, cheated the gallows for the second and last time Tuesday. Guards found him in his cell, dead of cancer. The 42-year-old lumberjack was originally scheduled to die Monday. But he was so ill from cancer of the stomach that his hanging was indefinitely postponed.

Ask Meal Tax Cut

MONTREAL, Aug. 20 — (CP) — The Canadian Restaurant Association, Quebec branch, Thursday asked Premier Duplessis to modify the provincial hospital tax on meals to make things easier for tourists and wage earners. The Association asked the Premier in a telegram to lift the tax exemption on meals from 60 to a dollar, and to abolish the five per cent tax on group meals.

Brecheen Beats Sun Jinx As Cards Blank Reds 4-0

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Harry (the Cat) Brecheen has demonstrated he can puzzle the hitters during the daytime as well as at night, the St. Louis Cardinals' ace hurler appears a cinch to realize his ambition of becoming a 20-game winner.

For years the slender 33-year-old southpaw has been known as a whizz at night, but no more than a good pitcher under the sunlight.

Brecheen pitched one of his best games of the year Thursday, under a boiling sun, shutting out the Cincinnati Reds on four scattered hits, 4-0.

It was his fourth victory against two losses in day games and his 15th triumph of the year.

The triumph pushed the up-and-coming third-place Cardinals to within two games of the leading Boston Braves.

The Cards put together four of their six hits in the sixth inning to score three runs. The other was tallied in the fourth on Terry Moore's home run. Moore also had a hand in the big inning, driving in Erv Dusak and Marty Marion with a single.

Pirates Prevail

Rip Sewell, 40-year-old big league veteran, hurled his fifth victory of the season over the Chicago Cubs as the fourth-place Pittsburg Pirates prevailed 2-1. But it was Sewell's eighth of the year.

Both Pittsburgh runs off Doyle Lade were tainted. The Pirates tallied in the first when Andy Pafko dropped catcher Bob Scheffing's throw on a steal and pushed over the winning run in the sixth when Dixie Walker singled, reached second on Emil Verban's error and scored on Danny Murtaugh's single. The victory shoved the Pirates only 4½ games behind the idle Braves.

The Philadelphia Athletics regained second place in the American League race, turning back the Boston Red Sox, 10-3, in Boston. Connie Mack's fighting A's, knocked out of the runner-up spot by the Red Sox Wednesday, pounded five Boston pitchers for 14 hits. They now trail the pace-setting Cleveland Indians by 2½ games.

Tied 2-2 going into the seventh, the A's drove Joe Dobson to the showers with a four-run rally to give Dick Fowler his 12th victory against four defeats.

Allie Reynolds, going the route for the first time since July 20, held the Washington Senators to five hits in pitching the fourth-place New York Yankees to an easy 8-1 victory. Reynolds helped his own cause with a two-run single during a six-run fourth inning against Early Wynn.

Cobourg Chief Down Zaduk

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 20.—Chief Emmerson Charles of Cobourg improved as he went along Thursday night to earn a unanimous decision over Mike Zaduk of Guelph in the feature attraction on the Canadian Legion boxing show in Belleville Memorial Arena. Charles started to open up in the third round of the five-rounder to win by a clear margin.

Hollywood Holds Banquet; Honors Sennett

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20 (AP).—Hollywood which somehow forgot its first great master of the drama, the late D. W. Griffith, finally remembered the man who first made the screen laugh. The Canadian-born Mack Sennett was the honored guest at a banquet given by the Masquers Club, a fraternal group of troupers.

The event brought out such old time names as Chester Conklin, James Finlayson, Andy Clyde, Hank Mann, Raymond Griffith, Al Christy, Fred Niblo and Buster Keaton. Among the tributes — Frank Capra: "The greatest comedy school of all time"; "Everything learned was with Sennett"; Hal Roach: "The father of comedy"; Jesse Lasky: "The Ziegfeld of the movies."

Stars Roundup

Sir Ralph Richardsen, who gets a $500 weekly allowance but no salary during his stay in the United States, returns to his native England immediately after "The Heiress." He is mulling a couple of pictures for Korda and will present Ibsens "Brand" at the Old Vic.

Alan Ladd, who used to slug down straight shots on the screen in the best tough-guy tradition, has done practically no drinking in his last three pictures.

Bill Holden is hunting for a Western story to star himself and his wife, Brenda Marshall. He'd like to do it as his own production.

Harpo Marx says after "Blondes Up" he'll get to work on an autobiography, "Laugh Without Words." It will also feature data on techniques of the world's great clowns . . .

Remember When—

Both Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs were without managers at the finish as the Cubs gained a 6-2 victory seven years ago today in a turbulent contest in which ebullient Leo (Lippy) Durocher of the Dodgers and Jimmy Wilson of the Cubs suffered banishment after lively discussions with the umpires.

Ladies' Rinks Win Out In Tournament

It was an ideal day for bowling and the ladies made a real hit when they chose Thursday, Aug. 19 for their open tournament. It was semi-cloudy and warm all day and that was just right.

Although the attendance was not what was expected nevertheless all had three games and the tournament was all over by 9.30 o'clock.

The Peterborough rinks helped themselves to four of the five prizes. The only visiting rink to score a prize came from Oshawa.

It was quite noticeable that some of the clubs in the district who depend on our ladies for support when they hold a tournament, were conspicuous by being absent.

An Odd Case

Our attention was drawn to a rather unique circumstance which took place during the final game. We doubt if it will ever occur again and it might be passed on to Ripley. Miss B. Dawe, playing in her first open tournament, was playing lead for her grandmother, rMs. F. Dawe. The skip opposing Mrs. Dawe was Beverly's other grandmother, Mrs. H. Beatty.

The tournament was witnessed by a large crowd and they were not slow to recognize the fine plays of the ladies. Adding it all up it was quite a tourament.

Don't forget the men's doubles tournament tonight at 7.00 o'clock sharp.

Winners

First (Peterborough) — Miss Sexsmith, Mrs. Helson, Mrs. Doughty, Mrs. Bearne, skip—each a blanket.

Second (Peterborough) —Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Darling, Mrs. Renaud, skip—each a Chesterfield cushion.

Third (Oshawa) —Mrs. Dewland, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Clements, Mrs. Wright — each a pair of flannelette blankets.

Fourth (Peterborough)— Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. Greenslade, Mrs. Yeotes, skip—each four tea towels.

5th (Peterborough), Luck Draw—Miss Smith, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Northrop, Mrs. Beatty, skip —each a pyrex dish.

PHOTO TAKEN AT QUEBEC CITY shows the 30-ton Swedish vessel Astrid, aboard which 29 self-styled Estonian "refugees from communism" headed for Montreal. On the way here from St. John's, Nfld., which they left early in August, they were forced by shortage of food and the fierce river current to land at Quebec last Saturday. The 29 are being held by immigration authorities there until it is decided whether they can stay in Canada.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Brooklyn Dodgers, held to six points in the opening half played under Canadian rules, turned on the heat in the last half played under American code to wallop Montreal Alouettes 27-1 in an exhibition football game Thursday night at Montreal. Some 10,770 fans saw the tussle.

Sparked by swivel-hipped Hugo Marcrolini who led the All-American Conference Dodgers with a pair of touchdowns, the American pros took full advantage of unlimited interference under their own familiar rules to rush the Big Four Alouettes off their feet in the final half. Fred Kijek booted Montreal's lone point in the second half.

Peter Serrell's "Green Dream" of Balboa Yacht Club, Newport Harbor, Calif., drifted home the winner in the first race of the open class competition at the International 14 Regatta in Lake Ontario at Rochester, N.Y., Thursday night. In fifth place and first Canadian boat to finish was Wally Williamson's "Norwester" of the Royal Canadian Yachmt Club, Toronto.

Tony Wheeler, flashy Cornwall forward, set what is probably a league record by scoring 13 goals as Cornwall seniors defeated Hogansburg Indians 33-11 in an interprovincial senior lacrosse game at Cornwall Thursday night. It was the last scheduled game of the season. Playoffs start this week-end.

Crews from Toronto and Detroit were tied for the lead Thursday night after two days of racing in the annual International Barthell series for universal Q yachts on Lake Michigan, near Milwaukee. The Royal Canadian Yacht Club from Toronto and the Interlake Yachting Association of Detroit had 9½ points each.

Hans Gerschwiler, Swiss skater, will be figure skating professional of the McIntyre Skating Club in Schumacher, Ont., this season. Gerschwiler, Swiss, European and world title holder in 1947, will report at the club Oct. 15.

Teddy Swain of Toronto will meet Montreal's Jean Richard, Canadian featherweight champion, in a 10-round non-title bout at Montreal next Tuesday, promoter Raoul Godbout announced Thursday at Montreal. Swain has been listed by the Canadian Boxing Federation as No. 1 challenger for Richard's crown.

Warkworth Plays In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20 — (ENS) — Warkworth defeated Campbellford to the tune of 17-12 at Colborne on Thursday night in the second game of the OASA playoffs. Campbellford took the first game on the home ground when the visitors went down before a score of 13-4.

The third game will take place tonight at Campbellford, and a first-class tussle is expected when the home team's ace hurler, Bruce McComb, will be on the job. It was McComb who put Warkworth down in the first game with six hits.

In Thursday's playoff, Jim Robertson was in the box for Campbellford, with Don Beatyt occupying a similar position for the home team. Beatty lasted the entire game, but the visitors, replaced Robertson in the second innings with Cliff Anderson, after Jim had given up eight runs. Cliff carried on for the rest of the game and pitched fair ball.

Warkworth jumped into the lead at the start, scoring four, while Campbellford scored two for the first inning.

Warkworth added six in the second and maintained their lead throughout the game, to the disappointment of the large crowd of Campbellford supporters who had journeyed to Colborne to see the match.

Two Tractor-Trailers Collide On Highway

HAMILTON, Aug. 19.—(CP). —Rounding Duff's Corners at the junction of Nos. 2 and 53 highways, shortly after midnight Wednesday, a heavy tractor-trailer began to slide on the wet pavement.

Out of control, the trailer crashed into another tractor-trailer rounding the curve from the opposite direction and as the two vehicles skidded in a tangled mass along the roadway, steel bars from one transport were flung out and fell on a following automobile.

Australia Trips Czech Players

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 20—(AP)—After sweeping the interzone finals first two singles matches from the Czechoslovakian tennis forces, Australia appears virtually assured of meeting the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round for the fourth time running.

The Australians need only one more victory out of a possible five to qualify. They are expected to clinch it today when their Geoff Brown and Colin Long engage the humbled Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik in the doubles match.

The Czechs based their hopes yesterday in the singles on Drobny, rated as Europe's top court player. But he stunned them, as well as a slim gallery of 500, by Billy Sidwell, freshman member being widely outplayed by little of the Australian team.

After battling for almost three hours, the steady Sidwell pulled out a 6-3, 6-2, 9-11, 14-12, upset victory over the Czech ace. That followed Adrian Quist's rather spotty 6-2, 13-11, 66-0 triumph over Cernik, rated as a hopeless underdog for that opening engagement.

Drobny's downfall resulted because he was unable to control enough of his booming left-handed shots.

Harriers Planning 10-Mile Road Race

The Peterborough Harriers will sponsor the second annual Lakefield-Peterborough 10-mile road race on Aug. 28. The race will be run over the same course as last year and will start in Lakefield and finish at St. Paul's Church in Peterborough.

The course record for the old race is not known as it was discontinued many years ago and no record was kept on file, so last year's winner's time has been accepted as the course record. The holder of this record is Jack Martin, 19-year-old, long-legged distance runner of the Peterborough Harriers, who romped over the course a quarter of a mile in front of the runner-up, in one hour, 15 minutes.

W. A. Thistlewaite, who was runner-up, has been in heavy training for this event since July and is expected to be a real threat this year.

A large entry is expected from Peterborough and surrounding counties, as this event was very popular in the days of Albert Smoke, the Indian, Ray Best and Charlies Thorpe, former distance runners.

Entry forms can be obtained from The Examiner or at Dominik's.

Police Group Favors 9-Zone Setup

CHATHAM, Aug. 20. (CP) — Ontario Police Association in convention here Thursday endorsed a recommendation in a report of the resolutions committee asking that the province be divided into nine zones for organization purposes.

It is proposed to establish a committee in each zone for the consideration of all local problems and the chairmen will meet periodically for the exchange of information. Each chairman will supply to member organizations in his territory the information on police problems heretofore supplied by the central office.

Boundaries of the various zones have yet to be worked out, but the chairmen of these zones are as follows: Windsor, George Preston; London, Robert Fraleigh; Hamilton, William Croft; Toronto, John Mason; Cornwall, Tom Hammill; Port Arthur, L. McKeown, president of the Fort William branch; Sudbury, Jack McLaren; Midland, Archie McDonald; Peterborough, John Morrow.

Dealing with a resolution from the Middlesex branch, pointing to the difficulties experienced by police officers in handling of insane or apparently insane prisoners, the resolutions committee urged that it be forwarded to the Attorney-General's Department, and that C. R. Magone of the department, in his address, Friday, deal with phases of the Mental Hospital Act which would help delegates.

3-Cornered Contest

That there will be a three-cornered contest for the presidency of the association was indicated when nominations were conducted by Ald. Blair McKinnon, acting mayor. Inspector A. Webster of Forest Hill was renominated with Deputy Chief W. H. Neil of Windsor and Sgt. A. McKinney of Toronto. E. B. Coulter of London was nominated but withdrew. He was given an acclamation for first vice-president when E. Ostler, Cornwall, withdrew. Nominated for second vice-president were, Gordon Preston and Garnet Samis. William Croft of Hamilton was re-elected treasurer by acclamation.

President Webster, reviewing the past year, said that progress had been made. He estimated that more than $500,000 had been received by police from salary increases throughout the province. He suggested that the association should include, in future requests, a five-day week.

Will Run Finals In Toronto Bowling

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (CP) — Finals of the four trophy events in doubles competition of the Provincial Lawn Bowling tournament will be run off today.

In the Townsend-Clark trophy main pairs event, the Hilson-Burwash entry of Agincourt will meet the father-and-son entry of Bill and Dr. Bill Cameron, Toronto Runnymede.

Grainger and Yerek, the Richmond Hill pair that overcame an eight-end posted by their opponents in a quarter-final game on Thursday, were defeated in their semi-final Thursday night. They now await the result of the final game to tell whether they get third or fourth prize of the Townsend-Clark.

GUELPH, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Col. G. Hedley Basher, superintendent of the Ontario Reformatory here, reported considerable increase in revenue from the reformatory's industrial and farm activities in his annual report yesterday.

Chas. J. Ray Gets First Prize In Horticulture Contest

The long series of first prize awards won by Ed Riley in the lawn and garden competitions of the Horticultural Society was finally terminated this year by Mr. Charles J. Ray, 808 Water St.

Their premises were entered in the class described: for the best lawn, garden and floral display where professional help is employed. For quite a number of years Mr. Riley has carried off this credit and honor as his contribution in helping enhance the beauty of Peterborough. He was again almost in first position, only three points behind Mr. Ray who will be cordially greeted by horticultural members for his accomplishment.

Mr. John Jessen, judge of the competition entries, remarked: "In my years of experience I have never seen more beautiful gardens. The quality of material is excelled only by the skill that is reflected in the work that has been put into them."

Wm. C. Wilks, secretary of the society, told the Examiner that not more than four points separated first, second and third prize winers "in many cases".

"It is most gratifying," Mr. Wilks said, "to note the number of new members among the winning entries. We feel our effort in securing experienced lecturers for our meetings has repaid us by a fine display in these competition and we look forward with great expectation to the annual flower show Aug. 20-21 at the armouries."

Pools and Rock Gardens

Mr. C. C. Pilon, 580 Gilmour St., was awarded first prize in the class for the best pool "originality of design, variety of aquatic plants, condition and care of immediate surroundings to be considered.

Mr. Stabler took the first award for the best rock garden, followed by John A. Smith, 150 Benson Ave., and Mrs. S. O. Shields, 9 Anne St.

Mr. J. Sidney Mason, 667 Armour Road, one of the most steadfast supporters of the society and a tireless horticulturist, won the Fraser Challenge Cup for the best amateur lawn, garden and floral display, lot frontage 50 ft. or over; no professional help to be employed. Second was Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, 209 Geraldine Ave., and third Mrs. Chas. Levine, 738 Aylmer St.

Wins Society Cup

In the same amateur section, but for lots under 50 feet frontage, for which no professional help is engaged, first prize and the Horticultural Challenge Trophy was awarded to Lorne Ritchie, 255 McGill St.; second, Mr. R. Bell, 716 St. Mary's St.; and third, Mr. B. Lucas, 294 Reid St.

Second prize went to Mr. C. Davis, 390 George St., south; and third, Mr. L. Titterington, 207 King George St.

Mr. J. R. Caban, 694 Charlotte St., west, was the winner of top prize for the best vegetable garden, lot 30 ft. by 30 ft. or under.

In that division, but for larger garden lots, Mr. R. Bell, 716 St. Mary's St., won first prize; Mr. J. Rigden, 445 Albertus, second; and Mr. J. A. Smith, 150 Benson Ave., third.

Secretary of the lawns and gardens committee is Mrs. Olga Butcher whose report was received last week but was temoprarily overlooked.

U.S. Buyers Slow To Take Up Canadian Cattle

GROUP JUDGEMENT

It requires a group of minds to constitute the ideal executor.

GREY & BRUCE TRUST & SAVINGS Company
437 George Street

TORONTO, Aug. 20 — (CP).— This week's Livestock Market — the first week of trading since the embargo on Canadian cattle to the United States was lifted— saw some price predictions fulfilled, but there was no flood of United States buyers to the stockyards and the Canadian housewige was still paying less per pound for beef than her United States counterpart. In fact, the buyers from over the border balked at prices they had to pay for meat which they considered inferior to that on their own markets.

Monday's trading was confused but prices settled Tuesday unevenly $2-$6 a hundredweight higher. Calves gained $4-$5, but hogs gained only 50 cents and lambs dropped 50 cents. Sheep held steady.

The cattle run of 8,639 head was 3,400 more than for the same period of 1947 and 1,300 more than for last week. Included in the run were 3,000 stockers. Better weighty steers gained $4 a hnudredweight selling at $26.50-$27.50. Wednesday, one load of choice weighty steers sold at $30. Butcher steers gained $3, selling at $18-$25. Heifers were up $2 at $18-$24. Fed yearlings gained $4-$5 at $27-$29 for choice. Butcher cows were up $4-$4.50, closing easier at $17.50-$19 for best quality. Bulls advanced $5-$6, selling at $16-$22. Stockers gained $4 selling at $15-$22. Shipments to the United States, were estimated at around 20 loads of cattle and three loads of calves.

Other Gains

Calf receipts were 2,081 head. Prices gained $4-05 a hundredweight closing at $27-$28 for the choice vealers. Plain to medium grades sold from $14-$25 and a few grass-fed calves sold at $10-$13.

Only 1,610 head of hogs were received and prices advanced 50 cents a hundredweight for both hogs and sows. Grade A $33.50, Grade B1 $33.10. Sows were $23.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled $3,227 head. Lambs were weak to 50 cents lower at $23.50 for the bulk of good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Sheep sold mostly from $5-$9.50 with a few at a top of $10.

Apostle Thomas Is Topic As WA Meets

ROSENEATH, Aug. 20 — (ENS).—The Apostle Thomas was the topic, with the "The Thinker,' as the theme of the devotions conducted by Mrs. A. Nill at the meeting of the United church W. A. on Wednesday afternoon. The three occasions where Thomas is met with in the gospels, his refusal to believe in and later his acceptance of the resurrection. Jesus' treatment of his unbelief, and the lessons to be learned from the doubting disciples, were points developed in the talk.

The meeting was held in the town hall, Mrs. B. Thackeray, president, was hostess and Mrs. F. Derry, vice-president, presided.

Treasurer Mrs. F. Norris announced receipts during the month, $30.40 from rent of silver and sales of aprons and greeting cards; the day's receipts, $8.83, and the bank balance $219.94. It was decided to present a pair of pillow cases to Mrs. E. Boote (nee Jean Carew), a recent bride, and daughter of a member, Mrs. T. Carew.

Mrs. Charles Sandercock distributed aprons cut, ready for sewing. An invitation was received and accepted to attend the open thankoffering service of the WMS. A card of thanks was received from Harry Down for a sympathy message.

An interesting number on a program conducted by Mrs. Everett Adams was the story of the composition of 'The Blue Danube,' arranged by Johan Straus on his shirt sleeve, and read by Mrs. E. Waldie. Mrs. Lorne Thackeray had a group of two readings and Barbara Skuce gave a reading. A contest, guessing the number of jelly beans in a jar, was won by Mrs. I. Skuce and a Biblical contest by Mrs. H. Taylor was won by Mrs. R. C. White's group.

Supper was served by the hostess. There were 20 members, 10 visitors and three children present.

Man, 47, Assaults 83-Year-Old Neighbor Court Says 'No Excuse' For It, Fined $50

LINDSAY, Aug. 20 — Forty-seven-year-old John Daniels, of Cameron, was fined $50 and $26.50 costs in court here Wednesday, when she was convicted of unlawful assault on his neighbor, 83-year-old James Rodgers, of Fenelon. Daniels pleaded not guilty.

Rodgers in his evidence, said that he was going back to his farm from a visit to Lindsay and had turned on to the Cameron road when he passed two or three cars. When he had gone about half a mile a car passed him and pulled up in front. Daniels got out and started waving his arms in the middle of the road.

When he got out and asked what the trouble was, he said that Daniels told him he had hit his car further along the road, but when he looked at the fender he said there was only an old crack there.

Daniels told him again that he had done it, but he still maintained that he had not. It was then that Daniels hit him, he said, knocking him down on his right side. Mrs. Daniels and a boy was in the front seat. He said he then "scrambled" to his feet and got back into his car, but Daniels followed with his fists clenched.

The following day, Rodgers went to see Dr. Graham in Fenelon Falls who testified today that, one of Rodgers' eyes was almost shut, that the had severe injuries to his face and the lower end of his right wrist was broken, being an impacted fracture.

Rodgers' nephew said his uncle came home and was bleeding about the face for an hour after he arrived home. His shirt and hands were covered with blood.

Daniels said that he only hit Rodgers once and that Rodgers attempted to strike him first. When asked whether he helped Rodgers up off the road, he said he did not, but waited until he had got up before leaving the scene.

Magistrate Gee replied to a request from the Defence Council for suspended sentence that "there was absolutely no excuse for a man of 47 to hit an old man of 83."

JACOB LOMAKIN, Soviet consul-general here (left, wearing hat), fends off reporters' questions outside Soviet consulate in New York soon after Vice-Consul Zot Chepurnykh had announced that "something big will come out of the consulate. It will wind up everything." Meanwhile, Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, whose leap for freedom from a third storey window of the consulate has developed into a full-fledged international incident, was reported sinking today at the hospital. Police are maintaining a heavy guard over the victim of Soviet strong-arm methods.

Church Re-opens In Norwood Newly Decorated

NORWOOD, Aug. 20 (Special) —Congregations of three village churches joined on Sunday, Aug. 8, for impressive services marking the re-opening of Norwood Baptist Church. It had been closed for two months for extensive re-decoration work.

Rev. Robert Dick, pastor of the church, extended the welcome to other churches and expressed the desire for full fellowship with them.

Special guest soloist for both morning and evening services was a young tenor from Sweden, Gunner Knudsen, accompanied on the piano by his wife. Among hymns sung were "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Holy City."

Mr. Dick was in charge of the service, at which Evangelist Daniel Cairns of Toronto preached the sermon at both services.

The opening prayer—a prayer of gratitude and dedication of the new church—was given by Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian Church.

The church was beautifully decked with flowers about the altar. Both services were attended by overflow congregations.

Following the service, there was a concert of sacred music.

Discover British Treasury Has Little Spark of Humor

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Aug. 20 — (CP) — The British Treasury, usually counted as without soul or humor, has momentarily lifted its iron mask to reveal a whimsical smile.

The revelation, heartening both to those who pay the state and those who are paid by the state, came during discussion of legislation with the impressive title of "Superannuation (Miscellaneous Provisions) Bill."

Lord Pakenham, who sponsored the Bill for the Government in the Lords, said, amid a rumble of laughter, that "the tender heart of the Treasury" had been moved to compassion by these cases."

Rhyme and Reason.

"The Treasury is frequently moved," he continued, amid further laughter, "sometimes to the extent of breaking into verse. On one file I came across the following: :

"When lovely woman stoops to folly,
And finds too late that men betray,
Their Lordships share her melancholy,
And offer leave (but without pay).
They deprecate her resignation,
And probe with tact to find the cause;
Suspend with nice discrimination
The superannuation laws."

"Their Lordships" are the Lords of the Treasury, the final authorities on financial affairs of the Governhment, whose spending they watch with cold eyes.

Female Dilemma.

Their Lordships often are vexed—as are members of Parliament— by the tempestuous ways of women civil servants. The Labor Government now in power is largely composed of men and women who at party conventions in the past, approved resolutions in favor of equal pay for men and women.

Now that Labor holds office, representatives of civil service organizations call on the heads of departments to make good their promise. The Treasury casts a horrified gaze at the prespective increase of millions of pounds in the Civil Service Bill and the women are told they must wait. They take the decision with less than good grace.

More Killings By Malayan Reds

SINGAPORE, Aug. 20—(CP)— Dispatches from North Malaya said today Communist insurgents had killed at least four more unarmed civilians.

The insurgents killed a young Chinese couple in Johore state while the wife knelt and prayed for mercy. Relatives watched the Reds riddle her and her husband with atomatic fire.

A Chinese foreman kidnapped several days ago was found slain in Negri Sembilan State. His hands were tied and he was shot through the head. A youth was taken from a coffee shop and killed in Selangor State.

Uniformed insurgents burned down a smokehouse filled with rubber on the Cheras Estate in Selangor.

The British Army said Gurkha troops in Johore killed a Communist, wounded and captured another and arrested nine known Communists in a sweep in the Kota Tingg area.

Governor Sir Franklin Gimson watched police raid the village of Hong Kah, on the western outskirts of Singapore, and screen more than 60 persons, detaining five Chinese and two Indians for further questioning.

Terrorism is not seriously affecting tin production, it was officially learned. Authoritative sources expected July tin ore production figures to top 5,000 tons, compared with 4,762 tons in June.

Romanian Agency Says Jovanovic Murdered

LONDON, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Rador, the official Romanian news agency, in a broadcast heard here to-day accused Premier Tito and other members of the Yugoslav Government to-day of treason and "horrible murder" in the death of Gen. Arso Jovanovic, former Chief of Staff of the Yugoslav army.

The Yugoslav Government announced Wednesday Jovanovic was killed by a border guard on August 12 while attempting to flee across the border into Romania.

Repeating charges first voiced against Tito by the Russian-dominated Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform), Rador declared:

"The clique of traitors of Tito and (Interior Minister Alexander) Rankovic, which has let loose a wave of terror against Yugoslav Communists who are loyal to the interests of the working class, has thus committed another crime. This time the victim was one of the most popular heroes of the Yugoslav liberation struggle."

2,160 Babies Born In Sudbury This Year

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20 — (CP). — London today conceded one Canadian baby championship to Sudbury, but claimed another for itself.

It is a matter of quantity against quality as city officials put it. When it comes to babies Sudbury has the numbers, London has the best, they sad.

So far this year 2,036 babies were born here. In Sudbury in the same period there were 2,160 births. And Sudbury has a population of only 40,000 compared to London's 91,000.

China Adopts Gold Standard Currency

By The Canadian Press

New Zealand today revalued her currency up to parity with Britain's streling and China adopted a new gold standard.

Chinese government spokesmen said the new currency will be called "gold yuan." It would be backed by 100-per-cent reserves.

Rates of exchange for the new Chinese currency were not disclosed. But official sources said the rates would be one gold yuan for 3,000,000 Chinese dollars of the national currency now in use, four gold yuan for each United States dollar and two gold yuans for each Chinese silver dollar.

Kresge's Had The Fire: We Had The Smoke: We Have The Goods

In some parts of our store the smoke became so dense that it penetrated boxes and packages and even the folds of goods, in the reserve. Where water was used, some of the third floor and basement and second floor goods lost some of their beauty. These go at half price.

The remainder of the stock — a great deal of it showing no damage — and this includes lines on all floors — much of it only having been delivered only a few days before — prints, girls' coats, house-dresses, gloves, tablecloths, travelling goods — will be selling at one third off.

6 Sub-Contracts Let For Civic Hospital

J. R. Marshall, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital, commenting on the architects' monthly progress report said that the building program has progressed very satisfactorily. A meeting of the board was held on Monday evening at the City Hall.

Roof slab at the new hospital has been laid except in the centre section. Construction of the single storey section of the North Wing is practically completed. The roughing-in of plumbing and heating in the West Wing is also practically completed and work has started on roughing-in in the North Wing.

The minutes were read of a meeting of the building committee at which the following tenders were approved: glass and glazing to Pilkington Glass Ltd. for the sum of $2,685, lead sheathing in the X-ray department to Canada Metal Company Ltd. $4,362, steel toilet partitions and doors to Westeel Products Ltd. $22,529, automatic temperature and air control for ventilation system to the Powers Regulator Company of Canada Ltd. of $2,815, ventilation duct work to A. G. Baird Ltd. $45,845.

John Hornal, superintendent, gave his report which showed that 500 patients were treated during July and operations totalled 265. Both these figures were higher than last month's in spite of staff holidays. Twenty-five patients were treated at the Queen Mary branch. Thirty-two patients were refused admission, less than half last month's figure.

A Busy Month

The report of the medical staff was as follows: patients discharged during July—recovered 266, improved 108, not improved 2, not treated 1, diagnosis only 2, deaths under 48 hours 3, deaths over 48 hours 9, stillborn 1, total 392; laboratory examinations 1,527; X-ray examinations 267, physiotherapy treatments 6.

T. T. Rodger, chairman of the finance committee, gave the statement of revenue and expenditure for the month of July. It showed an excess of revenue over expenditure for the month of $2,180.-08 and an excess of expenditure over revenue for the first seven months of this year as $8,036.90. The latter figure is an improvement of about $2,000 on the June figure.

Mr. Marshall presided at the meeting, at which Mr. Rodger, I. F. McRae, J. Mahoney, Melville Johnston, Warden James Humphries, Mayor W. G Ovens, Vern Selkirk and J. L. Welsh were also present.

Town Planners Suggest Widening Charlotte St. Want New Stores Set Back

Recommendations for the widening of Charlotte St. will be forwarded to City Council, it was decided Thursday night at a meeting of the Town Planning Commission. In all, two recommendations were forwarded, one that Charlotte St. be widened to at least 46 feet from Park St. to Water St., and the other that for future development there should be a set-back of all buildings between Park and Water of five feet on either side of Charlotte St. First motion was made by J. S. Craig and James Hamilton; the second by H. R. Sills and Mrs. W. H. Morton, and both carried.

Present width of Charlotte St. is 41 feet, and the widening would permit two parking zones, and three driving zones, one of which would be a passing lane. The widening would eliminate trees in the area mentioned in the recommendation.

An earlier suggestion that the street be widened from Park to Aylmer met with opposition from Mr. Sills, who said he could not see the use of widening that part when it would only plug up the part between Aylmer and George Sts. As an alternate choice, Mr. Sills suggested that Sherbrooke St. be widened for the whole of its length, adding that this would be better than widening the part of Charlotte St. first suggested.

Another recommendation to be forwarded to council is that the master plan of the city as drawn up at present be adopted as official. This was moved by James Hamilton and seconded by Mr. Craig.

G. W. Craw pointed out that since the drawing of the map conditions had changed and that school locations as marked were fine, but that the type of school might not be suitable for the future.

Chairman James Dutton mentioned that the council would not refuse the request of the Board of Education to build a new school, and by the same argument it would not be likely that council would refuse a request of the commission to change the master plan.

Commission also decided that appearance before council requesting passage of the master plan would be better than a letter accompanying the plan and recommendation.

Has 5 Lots Approved

Appearing before the council seeking approval of a sub-division of five lots on land near the junction of highways 28 and 7A, James Turnbull secured the recommendation of the commission.

The lots in Mr. Turnbull's sub-division are of 66 feet frontage, but have more than the area required for water supply and septic tanks, it was shown by the survey's plan of the sub-division. Recommendaiton, moved by Mr. Hamilton and seconded by Mr Craig, was carried.

A request to the commission for establishing a cabinet shop on Otonabee St. was refused, as the desired location is in an area zoned as residential.

A letter received by the commission asking for permission to set up a dry cleaning establishment was considered by the board, and a recommendation made that the site the writer had chosen was located in a neighborhood shopping zone, which did permit the establishment of a dry cleaning service.

Pork Prices Soaring Also

Just after the cow jumped for the moon, the pig followed it. Several Peterborough butchers say it did, anyhow. According to them, pork prices for fresh, smoked, and cooked meats have advanced from five to seven cents a pound. One butcher said the wholesale price of dressed weight hogs had advanced $2 a hundred.

Gordon S. Matthews of Canada Packers said today that although prices for cooked pork meats have gone up, there has been no wholesale increase in the price of fresh or smoked pork.

"The live market in Toronto and in Montreal advanced about half a cent recently, and pork prices will go up a little, but not much. There has been no increase in the price of fresh or smoked pork," he said.

Bologna, head cheese, weiners, and similar pork products have gone up in price from five to seven cents a pound, and on this the butchers and Mr. Matthews agree.

Chief Geo. Smith Sets Fire Loss Over $200,000

Following close inspecaion of the damage to the Kresge building, the estimated loss has been raised to more than $200,000—a jump of more than $50,000 over the previous estimate given at the time of the fire. The higher figure was given today by Fire Chief George Smith, after insurance investigators had checked through losses on the second floor. Smoke damage to next-door Richard Hall department store has also been heavier than first believed.

Chief Smith, who directed operations at the Kresge fire, said that it was the worst in Peterborough for several years.

"If here had been any possible chance," he added, "of getting into the basement, there would be a very different story to tell, but owing to smoke it was quite impossible. Plastics, paints and oils made it an extremely dirty fire, and there were more different types of gas than a fireman would normally encounter in years of fire-fighting."

Nearly a dozen firemen had to be treated for sore eyes the next day, and Fire Chief Smith himself was wearing dark glasses until today in order to see. William Sorrie had three stitches in his hand which was cut by glass, and Captain Albert Mason has a cast on his right hand, which has a broken bone. All the force, however, are back on duty.

Lauded Young Men

Fire Chief Smith said that his firemen did excellent work. "The young men, who were able to stand up to the smoke better than the veteran firemen, were really anxious to prove themselves and did their very best. Bill Bloom came back from hospital to return to duty at the fire."

He thanked everyone who assisted in any way at the fire. "Their help," he said, "was very much appreciated by the fire department in general. The loan of gas masks by CGE and G. Whitaker and Company was particularly appreciated. I am also very grateful to the police for their work in handling the crowd and in helping in many ways. The co-operation between the two departments was excellent. The ambuance workers also deserve special praise for their work that night."

Local Horsemen Win At Fair

Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Co., Walter Ferguson, Allan B. Mann of Bridgenorth, W. H. Lindsay of Campbellcroft and Garold E. Robinson have been prominent winners in the section for horses at Belleville Fair this week. R. M. Brown in poultry and Lorne Pimmett, Shorthorn cattle, have also done well.

Mr. Ferguson took three firsts and three seconds in the hackney class. His horses were entered under the name of Ferguson Coach Lines.

Haig Kelly's four horse hitch of Clydes included in their winnings the Fleming Family Memorial trophy for the best team, any breed, in the entire show.

He also won the hotelmen's special for the best pair of geldings not less than 3,300 lbs., also top prize for four horse tandem event.

Allan B. Mann won a string of first prizes in carriage horses including brood mare and foal, carriage teams both over and under 15.2 hands, and both carriage singles.

The Robinson Percherons virtually cleaned up that section. He also won the heavy team class 2800 to 3300 lbs.

250 Apsley Area Children Getting Free Dental Care

Two hundred and fifty children within a fifteen-mile radius of Apsley are receiving their first dental care free of charge this year through sponsorship of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

It all started when executives of the Peterborough Branch saw that children in the north part of the county needed dental attention badly. They approached Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the Peterborough and District Dental Public Health Commission, which has been organized for the past two years. In May of this year the Commission commenced a survey of the northern county public schools and the result of the findings of 12 Peterborough dentists, who gave their services free for the day, prompted executives of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross to appeal to the head office of their Society in Toronto for a mobile dental clinic.

Their request met with immediate action and two weeks later a truck and trailer unit values at $30,000 rolled into the parking lot of the Apsley Red Cross Outpost Hospital. Under the direction of Dr. F. H. Frowd of Toronto and student-assistant J. A. Whyte of Arnprior, consent cards were mailed to the parents of 250 Apsley district children from itemized lists of each school enrollment supplied beforehand.

It was not long before parents flocked to the Dental Coach from Clydesdale, Glen Alda and the hamlet of Apsley to be interviewed by the dental staff and to assist in filling out each child's case history. After a preliminary examination and X-rays, visits were decided on, and from the first of June more than 60 children have been attended, requiring from eight to 10 appointments each.

The general opinion of Dr. Frowd is that children in Apsley district were sadly lacking in dental hygiene and by force of circumstances, lack of vegetable diet. Appointments combine extractions, operative dentistry, oral hygiene and simple lectures on diets and judging from the fun the children make of their trips to the mobile operating room, it must be very pleasant work for the professional staff in pleasant surroundings.

The coach is 27 feet long, divided into three rooms, operating, laboratory and waiting room and is supplied with power and water from the hospital plug-in lines, and the interior equipment is worth $10,000. The complete trailer-coach unit was a donation gift from the members of the Junior Red Cross Society and a second clinic has been working in the Lake Rosseau district for the past year.

The itinerary of the Apsley clinic will be to proceed to Coe Hill later in the Fall and will later move to the Mount Julian and Burleigh Falls districts.

Dr. Craig said that the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross are to be congratulated on the effort in going after this much-needed service for their district and that if the Branch were not so well organized, that many children in outlying parts of the County would never have received dental attention. He said further that lack of dental health in children is as ridiculous in these modern days as the old-time method of extracting children's teeth with a thread attached to a slammed door.

Recreation Director To Attend Meeting

Jack Dane, Peterborough recreation commissioner, will be attending this week-end a meeting of the Recreation Directors' Federation of Ontario, which will be held near Queenston. A large part of the meeting will be devoted to discussion of a university course for recreation directors.

Two University of Toronto professors from the school of social work will be present to help plan this course the first of its kind in Canada. Directors from seven cities in Ontario, Ottawa, Pembroke, Brantford, Barrie, Toronto, Oshawa and Peterborough will attend the convention.

Three Americans Get 22 Muskies

A catch of four muskies Wednesday morning, ranging from 33 to 40 inches in length, made the total of a Pennsylvania party 22 muskies since Saturday night. The party is staying for their twelfth year at Bald Lake Lodge on Bald Lake.

Although only seven of the 22 have been keepers, the party, composed of Miles Milliron, Stan McCollum, and Lou Albaugh, all of Kitanning, Pa., is content with its success to date. Mr. Milliron said that last year they landed more than 30 lunge.

The seven keepers ranged from seven to 15 pounds, the largest being one of the four caught on Wednesday. The largest the party has caught in their 12 years at Bald Lake was a 22-pounder.

He told also of fabulous mornings whey they caught six and nine muskies, four keepers, and said that a day without at least two was a poor one. Bald Lake is a relatively inaccessible lake, having only two roads, both leading from the east end of the lake on the road north of Buckhorn.

THE PIONEER SPIRIT

A week ago last Monday Holiday Inn on Lake Kashagawigamog in Haliburton lost its main lodge through fire. The cabins were untouched by fire and the guests obtained meals from nearby lodges. Tourists and neighbors came to the assistance of the owner and by Friday of the same week, just four days later, a new dining room had been completed and was in use. Which just goes to show what co-operation and a spirit of true neighborliness can accomplish.

Bug Gets Blame

An innocent little bug, flying inconsiderately into the eye of a truck driver, started a series of incidents on the highway Thursday which caused damage to two trucks and a car.

It all started when the bug blinded truck driver Eugene Bowman of RR 1, Ridgeville, who lost control of his vehicle and sideswiped a truck driven by Neil Tully, RR 4, Peterborough, near the Indian River turn on No. 7 Highway Thursday afternoon.

The glancing blow damaged the rack on Tully's truck and ripped off the whole side of Bowman's. The rack-gate from the Bowman truck flew through the air, striking an approaching car driven by Mrs. Gladys Willison, Indian River. The windshield was smashed in it.

Provincial constable Archibald Grayling investigated.

There will be 14 floats in the parade, mostly representing nursery rhyme characters. Between the floats will walk other Mother Goose characters, boys wearing oversize papier mache heads.

UEW Director Charges OLRB Now Partisan

TORONTO, Aug. 20—A charge that the Ontario Labor Relations Board has become a partisan body acting in favor of employer gruops and against CIO-CCL unions, is made in a letter by Ross Russell, organizing director of the United Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL), to the heads of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL).

Mr. Russell's letter calls on the Federation executive to hold a special meeting to consider complaints agains tth eboard and to plan action on them.

The UE's complaint is based on the recent decision of the board ordering a new collective bargaining vote at the Rogers Majestic plant, where the UE is on strike. The board threw out the results of a previous vote on the ground that picketing by UE members on the day of the vote violated board regulations against propaganda within a 72-hour period preceding balloting.

Mr. Russell claims in his letter that there was "not a shred of evidence that there was any violation by our union of the 7-hour 'no propaganda' period.

"We can only conclude that the ORLB has become more and more partisan, finally arriving at the position where they are openly taking a stand in favor of the employer or his stooges," the letter says.

Dealing with the claim that the board has discriminated against CIO-CCL unions. Mr. Russell states:

"It is a well-established fact that the role the OLRB has played in the past six months has been on the whole detrimental to nearly every CIO-CCL affiliate. The board has procrastinated at every step of certification with the result that in most instances months elapsed before either a vote was ordered or certification granted."

Snake Free, 23 Drown

MADRAS, India, Aug. 20 — (AP). — A cobra, trying to escape drowning in South India's flood-swollen Cauvery River, slithered into a crowded boat Thursday. The 24 panic-stricken passengers huddled on one side of the boat, causing it to capsize. Twenty-three were drowned and one man swam ashore.

Problem Of International Army Still Unsolved By U.N. Heads

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 20 (CP).—The closest the United Nations has come to forming an international armed force for stopping wars is the group of 49 unarmed guards sent to Palestine this Summer.

Most of those men, recruited from the world agency's secretariat, today are back on their regular jobs at U.N. headquarters — their places as truce observers filled by officers of the armies of the United States, France and Belgium.

Provision for an international army is one of the main points of difference between the old League of Nations and the three-year-old United Nations.

But in 2½ years of wrangling over the problem the United Nations has reached only a state of deadlock.

This U.N. weakness is expected to be a major topic of debate at the General Assembly opening in Paris Sept. 21.

Navy Problem

Russia insists that each country make equal contributions of forces. But the others on the M.S.C. emphasize that China has no navy and Russia only a small one.

Working on the Russian thesis the United Nations' force then would be small. For example, the size of its navy would be relative to the naval forces China could contribute.

Britain, the United States, France and China want the major powers to contribute what they are best able to give.

The Big Five have estimated individually what they think the size of the over-all force should be. They have not indicated what they think each country should contribute.

These are the estimates for the most important contingents: China and United States, France, Britain, Russia.

Canada has consistently urged that the U.N. form its international army. The Dominion considers the formation of a global army a major factor in the ultimate success of the world agency.

Recruiting Campaign

BARRIE, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday the Canadian active army will conduct a recruiting campaign this fall and winter to boost its strength by 5,000. Mr. Claxton, in a report during an inspection tour of Camp Borden, gave the present strength as 35,000. Today, Mr. Claxton flies to Picton, Ont., to inspect military installations there.

Staggers Out Of Bush

TIMMINS, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Lost in the bush in this northern Ontario district since Monday, A. R. Hubert, 65, staggered into a lumber company camp Wednesday suffering from exposure and hunger. He said his compass went "haywire" while he was investigating his mining claims in the area. Police and aircraft had been searching for him for two days.

Woman Masquerades As A Married Man

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 20. — (AP)—A missing Oakland bookkeeper wanted on theft charges is a woman masquerading as a married man, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Thursday.

Officers discovered "Robert Stewart Nelson", 25, missing since Monday, has posed as a man and has been "married" for two years to pretty 17-year-old Roberta Lawson.

Miss Lawson, near collapse when questioned by police, said she didn't know her "husband" was a woman. She said he told her he always wore a bandage around his chest because of a war wound. He explained he could not consummate their marriage because he still loved "his first wife," she said.

Wheat Supply Greater Than In 1947

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 — (CP). — Canada has started a new crop-year with an estimated wheat supply of 447,960,435 bushels, compared with 428,037,657 at this time last year.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday a July 31 carryover of 75,993,425 bushels, 13 per cent less than the 87,273,657 bushels on hand at July 31, 1947.

But the smaller carry-over, coupled with an estimated 1947-48 crop of 371,967,000 bushels—most of which has not yet been cut—provides the better over-all total. The 1946-47 crop was smaller—340,758,000 bushels.

One big chunk of 140,000,000 bushels of stock on hand will go to Britain at a fixed price of $2 a bushel. Another 150,000,000 will be used in Canada. The rest is available for the export to countries other than the United Kingdom.

Carry-over of other grains with last year's figures in brackets:

Oats — 47,217,971 (69,650,055); barley — 31,068,010 (29,112,331); rye — 727,460 (758,172); flaxseed —3,296,343 (779,929).

More than 800,000 bushels of the oats carry-over was in the U.S. at July 31; almost 300,000 bushels of the barley total was in the U.S.

The wheat carry-over in Canada included 39,162,000 bushels—most of it in the Prairie Provinces—on farms compared with 26,000,000 at July 31, 1947.

LIGHTNING'S POWER

Every lightning flash or electric spark is an atom-splitter, knocking electrons out of the air through which it passes.

AT 52, NORMAN THOMAS, Socialist candidate for presidency, still looks very much like the 32-year-old prematurely-gray man who in 1928 first carried the Socialist banner in a presidential campaign. Five campaigns later and entering his sixth, Thomas appears almost as vigorous.

Thousands Greet St. Laurent At Homecoming

QUEBEC, Aug. 20 — (CP). — A cheering crowd, jamming the concourse of Palais Station on Thursday night welcomed home External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, new head of the National Liberal Party, and future Prime Minister.

The Quebecers greeted Mr. St. Laurent with French-Canada's old song of tribute 'Il a Gagne ses Epaulettes." They were on hand when he arrived by train an hour before midnight on his first Quebec visit since the National Liberal Convention two weeks ago.

Posters bearing the words "Unity, Security, Liberty" and "Quebec Province with St. Laurent" were held high while a formal welcome was expressed by Mayor Lucien Borne.

Mr. St. Laurent told the crowd his present position was a demonstration that the population of Canada is not preoccupied by considerations of "religion, race, language and domicile."

His selection as Leader at the National Convention was "the Canadian nation's tribute to the French part of Canada," he said. "It is Quebec that is honored once again."

He said great honor was attached to the national leadership and he accepted for Quebec Province rather than for personal considerations.

Mr. St. Laurent said that Canadians of all provinces by their convention choice had paid a tribute to the greatness of such leaders of French-Canada as the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the late Ernest Lapointe.

With Prime Minister King they were men, he said, who had directed Canada to stature exceeding expectations.

Student Pair Stump Police

TORONTO, Aupg. 20.—(CP).—Two university students charged with carrying concealed weapons posed a psychological problem for police Thursday.

Two store detectives, seeing a pair of youths each carrying a black brief case, followed them around as they purchased straw hats, face cream, absorbent cotton, colored glasses and a length of rope. Detectives decided the youths had no good object in mind, so they closed in.

In the brief cases, they found two revolvers and 13 cartridges with a newspaper clipping of a hold-up.

Police, taking over the questioning, tried to get at the psychology of the clipping. One of the youths, a psychology student, said he and his companion, a law student, were studying the hold-up from a psychological viewpoint.

The guns were registered, the students said. The purchases were just props for a play they intended to produce.

That stopped matters temporarily. The pair was remanded until next Thursday to give police time to bone up on some psychology text books.

Nine Minor Cases In City Police Court

There were nine minor traffic and liquor cases disposed of in police court today, the first court in three days.

Dallas Johnson, Burleigh Falls, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for illegal possesion of liquor.

Also fined $10 and $2.50 costs each for illegal possession were Gerald Tully, 667 Chamberlain St. and Francis O'Keefe, 253 Dalhousie St.

John McMurray, 532 Rogers St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on his guilty plea of being drunk in public.

Fined $2 and $1 costs each for illegal parking were John S. Black, 596 Donegal St., and J. J. Kelly, RR 1, Norwood.

Robert T. Broadworth, 18 Spadina Rd., Toronto, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs for speeding.

William A. Synes, Bonarlaw, paid $10 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate brakes.

For driving with improper lighting, Maxwell Grant, McArthur's Mills, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

Motorist Loses Case In Court

C. Sproat, 475 George St., was fined a total of $9 and $5 costs in court this morning for two traffic charges, despite a spirited defence conducted by the accused on his own behalf. He was found guilty of speeding on George St. and pleaded guilty to driving through a stop light.

G. N. Gordon, city barrister, gave evidence that the accused had driven through the intersection of George and Simcoe streets at about 40 to 45 miles an hour, and against the red light. It was about 8:45 a.m.

The accused went into some detail as to how Mr. Gordon was able to estimate the speed of the car—which Mr. Gordon said he recognized, with the accused its driver.

"Are you a member of the city police department?" asked Sproat.

"No, I'm not," replied the witness, "but I probably could be if I were younger."

"So, you felt it your duty to report this to the police?"

'Yes, I think it's the duty of every citizen to report breaches of the law to the police."

"You must do a lot of business like this," said the accused in a sneering way.

"I'm not making much money on this," retorted the lawyer-witness, "and I'm wasting most of the morning at it."

A. E. Thompson also testified that he had seen the car—which he could not identify—as it went by. He had been talking with Mr. Gordon at the corner.

The accused said that he had checked in for work at 8:42 that morning, and argued that the summons mailed to him by police had a notation on it that the offence had been committed at 8:45.

Magistrate Philp explained that the charge was simply for the offence of speeding on George St. and that the time listed, which was approximate, was only for reference.

On the second charge, that of driving through a red light, the accused said that he would plead guilty, after the time element had been explained by the magistrate.

He was fined $5 and $2.50 costs on the speeding count and $4 and $2.50 for the second charge.

What Length For Fur Coats?

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(CP). — Furriers, pondering the next change of fashion, are in a dilemna.

They don't know whether skirts are going to become shorter again, or whether they'll remain as long as ever. But the fur coats have to be made, and on the accuracy of the furriers' guess hinges a great deal of money.

The longer the woman's skirts, the longer her fur coat. But on the other hand, if skirts become too long, fur coats are likely to become much shorter, for the simple reason that the weight of skins will be a difficult problem, while too great length becomes clumsy.

Leading furriers in Britain already report a return to popularity of hip-length and finger-tip-length jackets because many women do not like the look of long coats which now are more or less stabilized at 12 inches from the ground. These long models require back fullness of two or three folds.

FOLD CAREFULLY

When Using Oven To Bake Also Try Cooking Vegetable

One way the housewife can be super-smart and save money when every copper counts is to plan an oven-cooked meal on baking day. When the oven is on to bake the Sunday pie or cake, try baking the vegetables too. You will put new interest in the menu and cut down on the electric bill.

Baked potatoes are an all-time family favorite but beets, carrots, corn and beans are delicious when prepared in the following ways:

BAKED BEET CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup of water with home-cooked beets, or 1 cup liquid from canned beets
4 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons horseradish
4 cups cooked beets (diced) (May be home-cooked or canned)

TOPPING

¼ cup dry whole wheat bread crumbs
1 tablespoon wheat germ
1 tablespoon fat, melted

Melt fat. Blend in flour. Stir in beet liquid or water gradually. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened. Add sugar, salt, celery salt, horseradish and beets. Mix well. Pour into greased casserole or baking dish about 7½ inches in diameter and 3½ inches deep.

Mix bread crumbs, wheat germ and melted fat. Sprinkle over beet mixture. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves six to eight.

BAKED CARROTS

3 cups coarsely grated carrots
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
½ cup water

Grate carrots. Add other ingredients. Bake in greased casserole, covered, at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Serves 6.

CORN AND LIMA BEAN CASSEROLE

2 cups cooked lima beans
2 cups cream corn
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup dry whole wheat bread crumbs
1 tablespoon fat, melted

Mix lima beans, corn, onion, salt and celery salt together. Put in a greased casserole or baking dish. Cover with bread crumbs which have been moistened with melted fat. Bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees until the mixture is heated through and topping is brown, about 30 minutes. The addition of ½ cup chopped green pepper is acceptable. Serves six.

Fall Fashion Flashes

DEFT DETAILS mark new fur coats. An easy, boxy coat, 38 inches long, is fashioned of silverblue mink, and has a wide ascot tie neckline fastening. The pushup sleeves and with a deep flounce which can be dropped to form a muff. The three-quarter, boxy line is good with pencil-slim skirts.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT FOUR but three-leaf clovers are woven into the rayon jacquard bengaline used to fashion a smart raincoat. It has an elbow-length capelet, which, when detached, reveals a complete coat with little rounded collar. Slanting pockets at hipline have flaps; sleeves have tiny turn-back cuffs.

✧ ✧ ✧

MOVING UP in style and prestige is the wedge casual. The group designed for fall selling comprises unusual items such as a black suede open toe wedgie, an ankle strap model trimmed with a platform and petal appliques of gold snakeskin.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOOK OUT for fur-lined jackets for fall suits. Gray woollen is used for a charming suit, its hip - length, boxy, back - flared jacket lined with moleskin dyed a shocking pink all-over shirred chiffon blouse.

✧ ✧ ✧

SLIM AS A REED in front and drapery in back is the favorite formula for many of the new dresses. This line is used for a very slim long-sleevd frock of tissue woollen in royal blue, with pleats working the draping on either side to the back. Taffeta, plaided in white, blue and black, is used for the rolled collar and cuffs.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL SHADES of brown continue to register. Cocoa-brown satin makes a pretty daytime dress, with fullness, deep V neckline and draped hipline. Tiny buttons down the snug bodice.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONLY TOO soon will come the time when a warm tweed great-coat rates more than just fashion interest. A beauty—in a plaid of light blue, orchid and beige on a black ground—flares smartly from a shoulde-hugging yoke. Armholes are deep and, there is a small double collar, one in plaid, one in black. Slit pockets are concealed in voluminous folds at the side.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRESH-LOOKING hats continue to score over the very fussy, over-trimmed variety. Fresh-looking indeed in a small sailor of white felt with a slightly bloused crown. It is trimmed in front with a stick-up of oversized white feather daisies and has a lacy navy veil.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIMPLE LINES and fine cut mark the nicest of the new suits. Beige woollen is used for a suit with a fitted, curving, 23-inch jacket which has short pocket flaps, small, long-notched revers and a single-breasted closing of three amber-type buttons. Skirt is moderately flared.

✧ ✧ ✧

CLASSROOM COTTONS are classy and charming. For back-to-school wear, one designer makes a prety floral print cotton frock in black with all-over flower sprigs in poppy red and teal blue. Embroidered beading laced with velvet ribbon trims the high neckline and the short, puffed sleeves.

Community Fetes Newlywed Pair

BETHANY, Aug. 20. (ENS)—On Wednesday evening, a large crowd assembled in Bethany Town Hall to honor Mr. and Mrs. Preston Neals, recent newlyweds. Mrs. Neals is the former Aileen Cummiskey. Music for dancing was supplied by Robert Sisson, Clarence Page, Harvey Phillips and Miss Evelyn Mantle, with Morton Davis directing the square dances.

During the supper hour, Ralph Preston, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Preston, sang a solo. The bride and groom were escorted to the platform and Ralph Mulligan read an address of congratulations and good wishes. Robert Reid and Maurice Whiteside made the presentation of a handsome solid walnut China cabinet. Mr. Neals expressed the sincere thanks for the lovely gift.

BEST SAPPHIRES

The Best sapphires are found in Siam, but apphires are also obtained in Ceylon, East Indies, China, and North America.

FALL SUIT VARIATIONS—The long shapely jacket is again a part of the quality suit picture, as you'll discover when you go shopping for your autumn wardrobe. But there are subtle differences, new details which a glance at this handsome suit will show. It is made of amethyst wool worsted, which, of itself, means a new suit color. Very new are the double pocket flaps and newer still, the idea of merging the flaps into a back bow bustle, discreet to be sure, but none the less a bustle. A double pointed collar tops the slim jacket which is fastened with antique amethyst buttons.

DOROTHY DIX

Unwanted Bride Gains Only Heartache from Mate

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young woman who has been married exactly two weeks and already I am having husband trouble. My husband seems never to want to spend any time with me. He either wants to play golf, or go to see his mother, who lives only a short distance from us. He never takes me with him, and it makes me feel that he doesn't love me and that he isn't ready to settle down.

Dorothy Dix

The trouble seems to be that he knows I will always be at home when he returns. He said time after time that he wished he hadn't married and that he doesn't love any woman. I am ready to settle down and it makes me feel sort of funny inside and think maybe I am a fool to keep hanging on to him.

Shall I give him the break he asks for?—DISGUSTED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your husband is tired of you and wants to be rid of you after only two weeks of marriage, you will be well advised to pack your trunk and go back home to Mother, for there is no chance of any happiness for you in such an ill-adjusted marriage.

Free To Leave

Wives gain nothing but heartache by hanging on to husbands who do not want them and who insult them by their indefidelities and neglect. Sometimes the unwelcome wife has to stick because there are little children whom she has no way of supporting, but you have no such incumbrance and are free to walk out on a husband who doesn't love you nor want you.

Perhaps, however, if you show a little spunk, it will rouse his interest in you and he will decide to settle down with you, after all.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 17, very much in love with a fellow of 20 who has found another girl, so I don't mean anything to him any more. I am very unhappy. Should I go out with other boys and make the best of it, or do you know some way that I can get my fellow back? I feel that I will never love again. —MARY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Oh, yes, you will, Mary. The chances are that you will love many times and the last love will be the best of all, because it will be grownup love instead of bobby-sox love.

You see, you are at the time of life when you are growing, when your mind is developing, when you are acquiring new tastes and points of view, and the boy you are crazy about now,a year from now you wouldn't have him on a bet. He is going through the same change of character. That is why he has forsaken you for another girl, and in that he shows he is smarter than you are.

I am sorry I can give you no remedy for getting back your boy friend, but there is no way to revive a lost fancy. When you lose your taste for anything, from chocolate sodas to sweethearts, it is gone forever. You can never feel that way about 'em again. So perk up and go around and have a good time and get to know as many boys as you can so you can make a good selection. Believe me, the best is yet to come.

THIRD OF THE ONTARIO Society for Crippled Children summer camps now operating, Camp Merrywood on Rideau Lake was officially opened this week by Premier Drew to serve handicapped children of Eastern Ontario. Black Currant Jam Favorite For Canadian Breakfast

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 (CP).—The quantities of fruits beginning to appear on the market these days will keep the housewife busy in her kitchen for the next few weeks.

Black currant jam is always a favorite on the breakfast menu and home economists have produced a recipe guaranteed to bring out the best in this delicious fruit.

Ingredients: six cups black currants; five cups water; 6½ cups sugar

Wash, top and tail currants, add water and bring to a boil. Preecook uncovered for 15 minutes. Add sugar and boil five to eight minutes, or until it reaches the jam stage. Yield: about 7½ cups.

✧ ✧ ✧

High temperatures always bring on a craving for ice-cold drinks, and here are recipes for two thirst-quenchers that are different.

Blueberry Quench. — Ingredients: one cup boiling water; one cup blueberries; grated rind of one orange; grated rind of one lemon; one-third cup sugar few grains salt; three cups cold water.

Pour boiling water over blueberries. Add grated orange and lemon rind and simmer slowly for five minutes Press through a sieve Add sugar and salt and stir well. Cool. Before serving add three cups of cold water.

✧ ✧ ✧

Yield: six servings.

Raspberry Egg-Nog. — Ingredients: Two cups raspberries; one-half cup water; two eggs; one-eighth teaspoon salt; two tablespoons honey or sugar; one cup milk; one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg.

Crush raspberries with water, bring to boil and boil for three minutes. Drain through a moist jelly bag and then add sufficient water to make one cup of joice. Beat eggs with salt and honey, or sugar, until light. Add milk, raspberry juice and nutmeg and beat well. Chill before serving. Yield: four servings.

Try novel combinations of vegetables if you want to sharpen the family's appetite when dinner-time comes around.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest the following combinations: Green beans with sliced carrots; sliced carrot with celery; shredded carrots with onion rings; butter beans with small white onions.

A slight difference in seasoning also is attractive Butter is always a good dressing for vegetables and such seasoning as a tablespoon of chopped parsley, one-quarter teaspoon of celery seed, or just a sprinkling of rosemary, thyme, or basil, always lend interest.

New Blacksmith No Big Man But English Brunette

LONDON, Aug. 00.—(CP). — The traditional blacksmith of giant frame and "large and sinewy hands" has been displaced by a petite brunette with a mass of wavy hair, a cream complexion and a dazzling smile.

Down at The Smithy in Kensal Rd., Paddington, if you hear no ringing of the hammer it is probably because Smithy Jean McGowan, 24, is taking a few minutes off to repair her make-up.

But soon she will be back at her anvil, neat and unruffled in workmanlike blue dungarees, fresh despite the heat of the furnace.

Jean is the wife of Dick McGowan, who did 17 years as an army blacksmith, then started work with a firm in Ealing when he was discharged in 1945.

Jean went along to watch him at work one day, and was so fascinated she decided to hammer out a career on the same anvil.

"My husband said teaching a girl couldn't be any tougher than some of the army recruits he'd had to train, so he took me in hand right away . . ."

Jean proved such an apt pupil that in less than six months the McGowans had started their own business in Paddington as art metal and general blacksmiths and antique copyists.

Dick still does most of the heavier jobs, but says that on light and delicate jobs, like the wrought-iron gate and the ornamental firescreen, his wife is the better of the two.

For her fines work, jobs that involve the use of very thin wire, Jean uses the smallest blacksmith's anvil ever made, measuring little more than a foot in length.

"My customers bring in rough sketches and I work out the design in chalk on the smithy floor," said Jean. "Then I hammer out the finished job on the anvil."

2 "WHEN I GOT HOME I sobbed out the whole story to Mother. She explained that 'B.O.' could happen to anybody, and asked me to try Lifebuoy."

3 "THAT'S HOW I started to use Lifebuoy, and now I wouldn't miss my daily Lifebuoy bath for anything. I know it gives me long-lasting all-over protection."

Tour Across U.S. Ends In Jail

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 20. —(CP).—A cross-country tour of the United States which included stops at the best hotels ended in jail Thursday for William Dupchak, 19, Toronto. His companion on the illegal jaunt, Joyce Ackerman, 17, Toronto, is being held in Juvenile Hall.

Juvenile investigator Elizabeth Stonet said the pair were arrested after the nurses' home at St. Vincent's hospital here was burglarized Aug. 8, of approximately $50.

Miss Stone gave a report on oral statements by the pair:

They said they left Toronto July 1 with $9. They went to Florida, then to Phoenix, San Diego, Calif., and Los Angeles.

On their way they committed several burglaries, the total loot amounting to about $4,000. They said they specialized in nurses homes, the girl going in while the boy acted as lookout.

Miss Stone said they told of about 35 attempts on nurses' homes in the Los Angeles area, taking jewelry, money and other items. They said they stopped at expensive hotels on the trip.

Badly-Leaking Ship Towed By Destroyer

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 20 — (AP). — A badly-leaking fishing boat, the Allenel, was being towed into San Diego to-day by the United States Navy destroyer Perry, which answered her distress call 75 miles to the south on Thursday.

The Allenel, a boat less than 30 feet long, developed a dangerous leak and another small fishing boat, the Ginger, took her in tow. It was not known how many persons were aboard the Allenel, which operates out of San Pedro, Calif.

The Perry notified the United States coastguard she would try to pump out the Allenel and, later, advised port here she was towing her in. The destroyer and her tow were due early today.

Stole Flashlight Given 10 Days

Only case of looting in the Kresge fire Tuesday was heard in court today as Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, sentenced 20-year-old Willie Wagar, 287 Park St., to 10 days in jail. The accused youth pleaded guilty to stealing two small flashlights and 15 flashlight bulbs from the counter of the gutted store Wednesday morning.

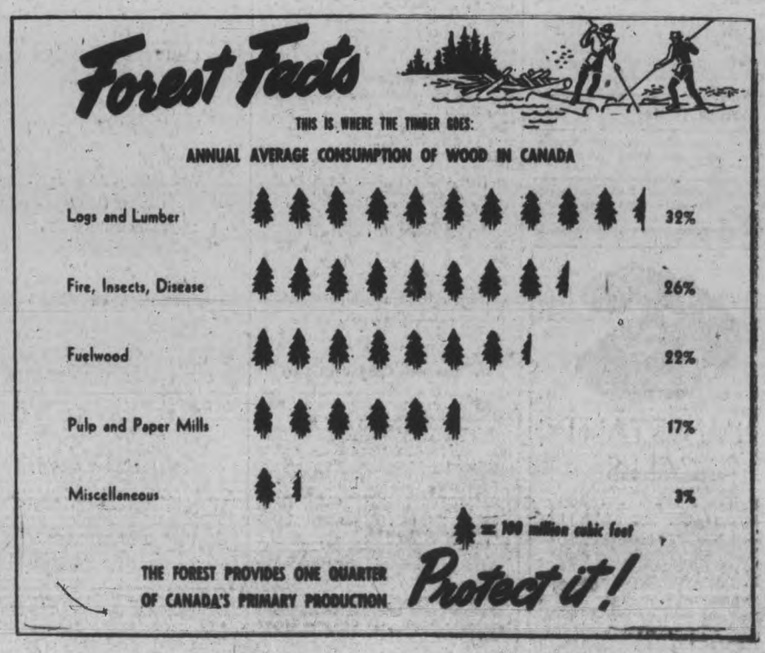
"Some of the public seem to feel that in cases of fire, the laws just disappear," the Magistrate told Wagar sternly.

"This is not so—the laws are the same."

Brought back to court at his own request a little later, the accused pleaded through tears to have his sentence changed to a fine. He said he might lose his job over the sentence.

"The sentence cannot be changed," he was told.

War Declared On Insect Pests



SIMCOE, Aug. 20. (CP) — An all-out war on insect pests will be declared here soon.

Plans of the operation—a new method of insect control—were announced Thursday at a Board of Trade luncheon.

Officials of a large oil company and a spray gun company volunteered to do the fogging on a non-profit basis.

G. N. Galimbert, senior sanitary engineer of the Ontario Health Department, said fogging was a process of spreading insecticide with machinery much like that for generating smoke screens. He said it might supersede aerial spraying.

J. M. Boyd of Londoon, Ont., said Simcoe was the first community in Canada to attempt such a complete elimination of insect pests.

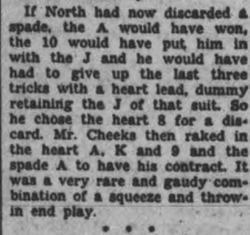
COMBINE TWO BIG PLAYS

Among the various maneuvers possible to a declarer, three are considered basically the most dramatic, the fundamentally big plays of the game. These are the squeeze, the throw-in and the trump coup. Upon the rarest of occasions, a fine cardsman gets a chance to apply the principles of some two of these in a single play. When that occurs, his execution of the maneuver not only gives him inward satisfaction, but entitles him to invite gently and accept graciously the congratulations of his partner and opponents.

(Dealer North. Both sides vulnerable).

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT



This deal, from our records regarding the late William Cheeks of Washington, was a fine and fitting example of several splendid things. First it revealed his confidence in Mrs. Cheeks, who sat in the East and who, he knew, would not pass the 2-No Trumps no matter what she held, as they used that bid. Second, it exhibited his artistry in the play of a neat hand. Third, it earned him a top score in the tournament.

North decided to lead his diamond 8, the A winning. The club 10 was sent to the K, the diamond 6 returned to the K, the club Q allowed to win, the club 7 to the J won by the A and the club 9 scored. North meantime had discarded the spade 6 and diamond 3, then the heart 5 when Mr. Cheeks put the 7 on the club 9. South returned the spade Q to the K, and Mr. Cheeks had his pretty finishing play built. Holding the spade A-10, heart A-K-9 and diamond Q, he had North counted for his best three cards in each major. Then he led the diamond Q.

If North had now discarded a spade, the A would have won, the 10 would have put him in with the J and he would have had to give up the last three tricks with a heart lead, dummy retaining the J of that suit. So he chose the heart 8 for a discard. Mr. Cheeks then raked in the heart A, K and 9 and the spade A to have his contract. It was a very rare and gaudy combination of a squeeze and throw-in end play.

Tomorrow's Problem

Against the spade 5 lead, how should South seek the maximum result in his 4-No Trumps contract.

Lloyd Fallis Badly Hurt In Car Upset

Two Others Injured When Machine Plunges Into Ditch

MILLBROOK, Aug. 21. (Special) — With two vertebrae of his spine fractured in the overturning of the truck he was driving south of here Thursday evening, Lloyd Fallis, 22, Millbrook, is reported today as still in "critical condition" in hospital. Two passengers with him in the truck also received less serious injuries. They are Richard Olan and Robert Gillis, 16, both of Millbrook.

The cause of the accident has not yet been determined. Fallis is unable to explain, being paralyzed at present. The two others told police that "things happened so fast, we don't remember a thing."

The accident happened about seven o'clock Thursday evening, about a mile and a half south of Millbrook on the Centre Road. The injured driver had been drawing grain from Ben Olan's farm near Carmel to Richard Olan's farm, the old Redmond place, south of Millbrook.

Turns Over

Descending the hill south of the Will Kennedy farm, the truck, in some unknown way got out of control, plunged into a ditch and through a fence, turning over in a deep field-ditch beside the road.

Fallis is a son of Wilbert Fallis and the late Mrs. Fallis of Millbrook.

He received a fractured backbone, causing extensive paralysis of his body. Dr. M. E. Hobbs, Millbrook, was called and had the young man removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. Olan had a sprained neck and a cut on the left arm. Gillis escaped with bruises and shock. The truck was badly damaged.

Dominion Asks U.S. Consider Arms Integration

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 21 (CP)— An integrated North America arms production that would allow Canada to concentrate on a comparatively few lines is being sought by Ottawa.

Its first requisite, authorities say, is agreement by the United States to allow the Dominion to produce certain equipment—her production of war vehicles is cited as an example—and turn surplus over to the U.S. In return, Canada would have access to those military things she herself did not make.

This system would be an extension of that which allows Canada's defence research scientists to concentrate on certain lines such as chemical warfare which national resources and abilities make feasible. In return, they have access to niformatoin from "friendly countries.

Industry Co-operates

It would also allow her seven Crown-owned armaments plants to go to work on more than the modified scale of today. An official of the Canadian Arsenals Ltd. said the firm would be "'delighted" to get a husby U.S. order. The only foreign order now is a call for small arms ammunition from China.

Reports from Washington indicated one might be coming. In the wake of the return there from Ottawa of Defence Secretary Forrestal authoritative sources were quoted as saying possibly $100,000,000 worth of wah materials would be bought here this year.

Meanwhile, officials of the Canadian Commercial Corporation reported the U.S. Defence Department has purchased more than $10,000,000 worth of materials here in the last year. Orders included $5,000,000 worth of army battledress and other surplus clothes for Greece; $4,000,000 worth of aircraft spare parts; $1,000,000 worth of horse meat and sundry other things, ranging from $200,000 worth of fertilizer to $30 for a look.

U.S. Trying To Arrange Truce Terms

International Incident Danger Spurs Officials To Action

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (CP)—American authorities today were seeking direct talks with the Russians to try to arrange a truce in the conflict between Berlin's rival German police forces which continued today.

The Russians served notice earlier today they will keep up their lightning police raids in downtown Berlin. The sallies, staged along the western sector border, have brought the blockaded city to the brink of serious international incidents.

The American move was undertaken to avert the growing danger of a clash between Russian and western occupying forces.

This danger has become acute since the Russians began using their military police and soldiers to support raids by Communist-controlled German police on the borders of the United States and British sectors of the city.

A high United States source said Russian military police made a raid into the British sector near the Potsdamer Platz this morning and arrested two British-sector policemen.

One of the policemen managed to escape while he was being escorted back across the sector boundary, it was stated.

Unconfirmed German reports said later this morning two other western-sector policemen were stabbed in a clash with Russian soldiers in the Tresemann Strasse, on the Soviet-American sector boundary.

Telephone Commandant

An official source said United States authorities, seeking to arrange discussions on the raids had telephoned the Russian commandant of Berlin, Maj.-Gen. Alexander Kotikov, and his deputy, Col. Alexander Jelisarov. Their offices said both Russians were out of town for the weekend.

Jelisarov ahnounced today the police raids.

"Raids on black marketeers will continue whether high-placed protectors of Berlin profiteers like it or not, he said in a broadcast.

A western-sector police officer said:—"It does not seem likely that we can really stop the black market unless the two police forces co-operate.

"At present it is much too easy for the black marketeers. They are the only people who gain from this ridiculous split in the police force."

Disregarding sectional boundaries, Soviet-controlled German police, backed by Russian tommy-gunners, pounced on alleged

17 Men Killed When B-29 Crashes At Base

RAPID CITY, S.D., Aug. 21—(AP)—Seventeen men died late Friday when a B-29 crashed and burned a few seconds after taking off from a United States air force base near here.

A board of officers was to open an investigation today in an attempt to determine cause of the crack-up, the first fatal crash here since the strategic bomber base was reactivated in April, 1947.

Officers said the huge, four-engined bomber had just cleared the field when one of the engines caught fire. The engine was stopped and the plane, short of crucial take-off power, banked to the left and nosed into a wheat field a short distance from the end of the runway.

Mrs. Lawrence Tietz, in whose field the plane came down, said she saw an engine drop shortly before the ship plunged. A deafening roar followed, she said.

Work All Night

Officers and men of the base worked into the night attempting to identify the burned bodies, many charred nearly beyond recognition.

A number of metal identification tags were found in the wreckage, but a check of dental records was being made before next-of-kin were notified.

A normal complement of men on a B-29 is 11, officers said. The six other men were along on the training flight "to familiarize themselves with the plane."

The plane crashed shortly before 7 p.m. EDT, and the fire was brought under control in about an hour and a half.

Russ Consul-General Sails On Swedish Liner; Leaving U.S. Within Week

Expect Soviet Officials Will Retaliate Against American Diplomats, Accusing Them Of Improper Conduct

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP).—Soviet Consul-General Jakob M. Lomakin, whom the United States State Department has expelled, has booked passage aboard the Swedish-American liner Stockholm, sailing next Saturday. The steamship line said Lomakin had made reservations for himself and his wife and two children. It said it could not disclose when the Envoy had booked his passage.

A line spokesman later said, however: "We have no record of the booking here. It was done in Europe."

The Stockholm plies between New York and Gothenburg, Sweden.

Lomakin was not available for comment on his scheduled departure.

However, Soviet Vice-Consul Zot I. Chepnurnykh said he knew "a couple of months ago" Lomakin planned a trip back to the Soviet Union.

Faced with formal United States charges Lomakin "abused" his official position by his role in the Kasenkina case, the Russians have no choice but to remove him from his post.

Expect Fresh Blast

But they may accompany the action with a fresh blast against the American stand in the refugee teacher dispute.

They may take some retaliatory measure — as they usually do in such instances — by accusing an American official in the Soviet Union of improper conduct and ordering him out of the country.

They may reject the state department's request for two letters Mrs. Oksana S. Kasenkina wrote before her spectacular leap last week from the Soviet Consulate in New York. The letters are reported to explain her decision to remain in the United States and possibly may throw further light on her treatment at Lomakin's hands.

President Truman is expected to sign early next week a formal revocation of Lomakin's "exequatur" — the credentials which the President originally issued permitting him to serve as Consul in the United States. When the President acts, Lomakin will have no further authority. The delay in action was suggested by State Department to give him time to wind up his affairs.

The department's request for photostatic copies of the two letters and the charges against the Consul were made in a note which the State Department sent to the Russian Embassay Thursday night and which was published Friday.

Threatens Revolt

LONDON, Aug. 21 — (AP). — A trade union leader threatened the Labor Government to-day with a "revolt" unless taxes on beer and cigarettes are cut. "It should be clearly understood," said General Secretary E. J. Hill in his monthly report to the Boilermakers' Union, "that the workers in heavy industry do not intend to give up beer drinking and smoking, and the sooner the tax on them is reduced the better. Otherwise they will revolt, and their profound loyalty to the Labor Government will turn to hostility."

Britain Opposes Israel's U.N. Application

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 21 (CP). —A British spokesman said today his government can not approve Israel's admission to the United Nations under present conditions.

His comment followed an appeal from the new Jewish state to the 11 members of the Security Council for votes. In sending the memorandum to the council, Israeli delegate Aubrey S. Eban explained that a formal membership application will be filed soon. Probably at the opening of the general assembly in Paris Sept. 21.

The British spokesman said the situation is too obscure in Palestine now for London either to recognize Israel or vote for admitting the new nation to the UN. Unless the situation clarifies considerably between now and the time of the voting, Britain can not cast an affirmative ballot.

Disclosure of the British position raised doubts as to the ability of Israel to get the necessary seven votes in the council. It must approve applications before they can be finally balloted on by the 58 nation assembly.

A spokesman said the United States will vote for Israel. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine also are expected to support the new state. However, Syria is considered certain to vote no and France, Canada, China, Colombia, Belgium and Argentina are doubtful.

Eban said recognition of Israel and her entry into the UN is essential to peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem and peace in the Middle East.

Deloro Workers Threaten Strike

DELORO, Aug. 21 — A strike of 250 employees of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., is threatened, unless the company meets union demands for a contract embodying a "package" wage increase of 15 cents an hour and union security.

Bernard Doherty, international representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, said the workers have voted 97 per cent in favor of strike action.

The company refines cobalt ore, a by-product of which is stellite, used in making high-speed cutting tools.

Original union demands amounted to 35 cents an hour, but this was cut down to the 15-cent figure. Mr. Doherty said the minimum hiring rate today is 60 cents an hour. A meeting has been arranged for next Wednesday, with James Hutchin, Ontario Department of Labor conciliation officer, sitting in. The outcome of the meeting will decide whether the dispute is to be settled without a strike or whether the men will walk out, Mr. Doherty said.

Greeks Paying Big Price To Win Guerrilla Battle

ATHENS, Aug. 21—(AP).—The Greek army raced on today to close a giant pincers on guerrilla forces in the Grammos Mountains but casualty figures indicated the Nationals are paying a high price for their victory. The guerrillas still control about 10 miles of the Greek-Albanian frontier. They are fighting bitterly to keep open the main road through Sliminitsa which has been under Greek fire for several days.

Driving across rebel territory, the Greek army almost succeeded in cutting it in two. A junction of army forces rolling from northeast and southwest would trap many guerrillas in a pocket of the former central sector of the Grammos perimeter.

The spokesman announced capture of Kiafa, last guerrilla stronghold in the mountain range, as the Grammos campaign entered the phase of final victory.

On the eastern end, Stathmos and Horoflykakis were captured and the guerrillas driven out.

Speculation arose as to where guerrilla chieftain Markos Vafiades will make his next stand.

Newspapers reported Vafiades has shunted his headquarters to Pyxos in neighboring Albania. Pyxos is located between two lakes north of the Vichi area of Greece. Vichi is about 30 miles northeast of the Grammos area.

Some military observers have suggested that Vafiades will strike back into Greece in the area of Vichi.

Geologist Proves Uranium Find

OTTAWA, Aug. 21. (CP)—Dr. Hugh Spence, senior geologist in the Mines Department, Friday identified ore discovered 100 miles north of Peterborough, as uksenite, a uraninite mineral.

Samples of the ore were brought to Ottawa Thursday by Gerry Pitt, a Wilberforce mining engineer. Mr. Pitt termed the discovery "the richest uranium strike yet" in the district.

Dr. Spence declined to comment on the economic possibilities o fthe find. "The sample is very interesting," he said.

Mr. Pitt said he has obtained permission from the Atomic Energy Control Board to remove tonnage quantities of the ore for mill-run concentration and assay. Results of these tests will be submitted to the board.

The discovery was made by Art Shore, a Bancroft prospector.

Must Be Careful

GOLD BRIDGE, B.C., Aug. 21. —(CP). — There's uranium in British Columbia's Bridge River hills—but no one knows how much—and inexperienced prospectors who hit the trail poorly equipped are risking their lives.

This was the core of statements issued Friday by Dr. F. F. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines, and the B. C. Chamber of Mines.

Father And Son Die In Blazing Cottage

PINE KNOB, N.Y., Aug. 21—(AP)—A New York state official and his five-year-old son whom he was trying to rescue were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed their cottage on Lake George.

Raymond Farrell, 41, of Slingerlands, N.Y., director of audits and accounts for the state employees' retirement system, and his son, William, were trapped by flames as the father tried to carry the boy downstairs.

Farrell's wife, Virginia, 38, was burned severely on the face and shoulders.

Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings, who laid the charged, loaned the accused the money on the understanding that it would be repaid Friday night at Hastings.

On a similar charge, to which he pleaded guilty, Albert Hollings, Campbellford, was also fined $5 and $2.50 costs. Damage to another vehicle with which his car was in collision on No. 30 Highway north of Trent River was stated to be $400.

Soviet Pincers Close Tight Against Allies On Danube

BELGRADE, Aug. 21—(AP).—The Danube River, central Europe's only outlet to the sea, will remain under Soviet control regardless of the fate of the new Russian-dictated Danube pact.

The Western Powers refused to sign the pact.

This control is virtually the same as that enjoyed by the Russians since the end of the war.

Western delegates to the Danube conference pointed out that under the new pact no shipper of any nationality could traverse the entire navigable part of the river from central Germany to the Black Sea without Russian approval and it was made clear by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky at the meeting that Western "economic penetration" is not wanted.

The entire pact was based on the Soviet theory of "sovereign rights" as opposed to the Western idea of making the important waterway an international trade route.

Under the new pact, if an American shipper, for example, wishes to deliver goods to any of the Communist-dominated countries through which the river flows, he must make an agreement with their shipping companies. In Hungary, Romania, and Yugoslavia, Russia has joint control of these companies. And in the Russian military zone of Germany and Austria one can be certain no American shipper will "penetrate."

Policing and sanitation on the river have been placed in the hands of the individual states, according to the laws of each. So even if an American shipper did have an agreement with one of the southern countries, there is nothing in the new pact to keep one of the intervening countries from stopping his trip.

Two Girls Pull Fliers From Burning Plane

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Aug. 21 —(AP).—Two teen-age girls Friday night were credited with pulling two fliers from their crashed plane an instant before it burst into flames. Both men were injured in the crash near Morristown.

State police say that Jeanine Girard, 15, of Morristown, and Vivian Turnbull, 14, of Rossie, rushed into a field into which the plane had crashed.

They managed to pull Richard McCagar, 25, the pilot and Keith Delaney, also 25, a passenger, from the twisted wreckage "seconds before it burst into flames" and was destroyed.

The plane developed engine trouble and crashed at Camp Vigor, a Girl Scout camp.

4 Ships Sink Off Nova Scotia

GLACE BAY, N.S., Aug. 21 — (CP)—Davy Jones checked four vessels into his locker off Nova Scotia during the past week but their crews laughed in his face today and prepared to go to sea again.

Friday the collier Larkspur plunged to her doom shortly after springing a leak off nearby low point and her 12 crew members rowed away without injury.

A few hours earlier, the trawler Arleux—wartime navy gateship at Halifax harbor—sank and her 22-man crew escaped without serious injury when her bottom was ripped out by an explosion.

Just one week ago two other vessels were lost off Nova Scotia without injuries to the crew. In the warm summer weather the hardy seamen dismissed their experiences as trifling, but admitted that if the accident had happened in winter there would have been numerous casualties.

The fishing boat Ronnie T. exploded and burned to the water's edge off Lunenburg Aug. 13 and the 42-ton collier Ernest G., a converted Fairmile launch, went to a watery grave off nearby Sydney in much the same manner.

Steals Back Into Ottawa, Mr. King Had 'Fine Time'

OTTAWA, Aug. 21 —(CP)— Cloaked in almost as much secrecy as his going away, Prime Minister Mackenzie King returned to the capital Friday night and hardly a person was there to greet him.

Thus ended a seven-day holiday for the "grand old man" of Canadian politics, the man who has held office as prime minister for a longer period than any other prime minister in the commonwealth.

Only a lone newspaper man and three of Mr. King's officials stood there waiting as the mighty C.N.R. locomotive carrying his private car attached to the rear of a long train roared into Ottawa's Union Station a few minutes before midnight.

The station was deserted when Mr. King finally alighted and packed himself into his sleek black car bound for his summer home at nearby Gingsmere, Que., in the Gatineau Hills.

As the officials and the newspaper man scampered aboard the train, he hailed them heartily. He shook hands with the newspaper man and asked: "How was it in Ottawa? The week was quiet, wasn't it?"

The former chieftain of the Liberal party did not want to say much more. He had been away for seven days "visiting friends" in Seal Harbor, Me. He wanted to catch up on his news, he said, before making any statements.

Mr. King said he enjoyed his trip, met friends with whom he had struck up acquaintanceship long before he became prime minister.

He had "a fine time." Mostly he slept and sat in the sun.

PCVS Cadets To Get Four Radio Sets

Three PCVS signallers, trained this Summer at Camp Ipperwash, will assist with advanced signalling instruction when new radio sets arrive this Fall. Major H. A. Craig, chief cadet instructor at PVCS, said Thursday he expects two walkie-talkie and two vehicle carried sets will be delivered at the school. These four sets will be for the use of the cadets alone.

All three signallers taking the course qualified and were given their $60 bonus. The six-week course, originally designed as a three-summer course, may be shortened to two, if an extra two weeks is added to it next summer.

Eighteen cadets from PCVS attended another camp in a 10-day course which emphasized field-craft, the use of ground for cover and camouflage. The specialized camps, in signalling and driver mechanics, ran from June 20 to July 31, and six from PCVS took the driver mechanic course.

Both Major-General Chris Vokes, GOC Central Command, and Lieutenant-General Charles Foulkes, Chief of the General Staff, who visited the technical training courses, were impressed with the quality of instruction, and said that the camps will be expanded in 1949 to accommodate 200 cadets.

From July 10 to August 7 a qualifying course for cadet instructors was held, and 100 attended. Captain John Londerville of Peterborough took his qualification for Major.

Major Craig said that in his experience at cadet camps during the past five years, this camp and course is by far the best ever offered from the standpoint of practical value to cadets.

32 SEA CADETS from all over Canada have completed a course at the Canadian Services College, HMCS Royal Roads, and received their badges as physical training instructors. The Cadets, under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada, spent two full weeks at the College and will return to their home corps full-fledged instructors and the envy of all their mates. From Peterborough there went Donald Buchan, 294 Lake St., Front Row, Second from Right, and next to him on the outside is John Lake of Cobourg.

black markeeers in two blitz raids Friday. The raids were made in Potsdamer Platz in the heart of Berlin, where the British, United States and Soviet sectors converge.

In one sally the raiders thrust into the American sector and picked up five American-sector police, including a borough chief.

Standing By

In a swift counter-measure, German police of the western sectors Friday night ordered motorized reserves to stand by and speed to sector boundaries "if necessary," according to the American-licensed radio.

East and west police have been near a state of civil war since the force was split several weeks ago—one controlled by the Russians, the other backed by the Western Allies.

The Soviet-licensed German news agency said that 2,500 persons were arrested in the two raids Friday.

An American official called the raid, in which the German policemen were abducted, a clear violation of American jurisdiction.

Neues Deutschland, organ of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity Party, today published a cartoon entitled "the front of Potsdamer Platz," scene of the police raids.

The cartoon showed German black market operators standing behind the protective arms of three United States military policemen.

The Communist press continued its jibes at the air lift.

Taegliche Rundschau, official Soviet organ, asserting "there have been frequent accidents in flights," said this "proved the poor quality of American planes and the incapacity of British-American pilots to deal with the simplest difficulties."

British and American officials have considered the accident rate to date amazingly low. There have been two fatal American accidents costing five American lives. The R.A.F. has not had any fatalities.

Topples Poles Driver Killed

TORONTO, Aug. 21. (CP) — Stanley Parker, 25, was electrocuted today when he stepped from his smashed truck on No. 2 Highway near here and touched 23,000-volt wires strung from a hydro pole which he had knocked down with his truck.

Police said they believed he was not injured in the crash. They said Parker left the truck after the heavy pole came crashing down on top of it and either fell across or walked into the wires.

Parker was driving west when the truck left the pavement, crossed the shoulder, and careened into the pole. His body was lying across the wires and current was still passing through it when police arrived.

The accident cut off power to suburban West Hill.

Parker, a contracting company employee, lived with his wife and two children at Oak Ridges for the past two years. Previously he lived at Burks Falls, Ont.

Dr. W. L. Christie, coroner, said an autopsy will be performed.

Plane Sights Charred Ship

HALIFAX, Aug. 21. (CP)—The gutted hull of a two-masted fishing schooner was sighted off the coast of Newfoundland 50 miles north of Torbay today by an American Army transport plane.

Search and rescue headquarters here dispatched a plane from nearby Greenwood Air Station early today. The plane reported in a radio message to Halifax that the fire-blacked ship was deserted.

No ships have been reported as missing off the Newfoundland coast to search headquarters here.

The possibility the crew may have abandoned ship and landed at the fishing village was held by officials here.

Harry Springall, 66, doorman of the swank Alexandra Palace in Toronto, is led from the private hotel after his arrest on a charge of murdering Alexander Douglas McLaren, 43, man-about-town. The victim was shot twice in upper part of the body and died in hospital 35 minutes after he was admitted. The dead man was on his way to see his mother who lived at the hotel. There had been ill-feeling between Springall and the victim for some time, polic said.

BULLET HOLE THROUGH oil painting in lobby of Alexander Palace apartment hotel on University Ave., Toronto, is indicated by motorcycle Constable James Harris. It was caused by one of three pistol shots allegedly fired during a Thursday midnight quarrel which ended in the death of Alexander McLaren. Two bullets were found in his body.

ALEXANDER McLAREN, man about town, whose mother has lived in a Toronto hotel for nearly 30 years, fell in front of the elevator, when it is alleged he was shot during a midnight quarrel in the lobby.

Two Good Muskies Taken From Trent

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 21.—(ENS).— Although Trent River hasn't had the opportunity to report any extra large fish being caught, the fishing at this resort has been excellent. Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Luck of Toronto, were fishing near Garrett's cottage on the channel and they landed a 17½ lb. muskie measuring 42 inches in length. The fish put up quite a battle and it was all Mr. and Mrs. Luck could do to land it.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchinson, Toronto, who were guests at Cedar Isle Lodge, while fishing Monday night in 'Lunge Bay, landed an 18½ lb. muskie measuring 44 inches in length.

A catch of 13 lunge, the largest weighing 14 lbs., was reported by Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Craig of Toronto, who are also guests at Cedar Isle Lodge.

Richard Bell To Handle Convention Organization

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—(CP). — Richard Albert (Dick) Bell, a man who says he cut his political eye teeth before he was able to walk, is playing a major role in the organization of the Progressive Conservative party's national convention here Sept. 30, Oct. 1-2.

As national director of the party, Bell has to iron out many of the kinks which develop in plans for the convention, called to choose a successor for John Bracken, retiring from the party leadership.

Bell was born 35 years ago on a Carleton County dairy farm about eight miles from Ottawa. His mother and father were both strong Conservatives. From his early teens, Bell jumped with vigor into election campaigns, organizing Carleton County meetings and addressing political rallies in rural school houses.

When he moved to Toronto to start a law course at the University of Toronto he was elected president of the university's Macdonald-Cartier Club, an organization which supported the Conservative party.

Full Time Job

He left the university in 1934 to become assistant private secretary to Hon. R. C. Matthews, revenue minister in the then Conservative Government. Besides his secretarial duties, he did organization work in Ontario. When Mr. Matthews decided to retire prior to the 1935 general election, Bell moved to the party's Dominion headquarters here and undertook party organization work as a full-time job.

On defeat of the party in the election, he returned to the University of Toronto to complete his law course and graduated an honor student in 1938. After being called to the bar, he forewent active practice to become private secretary to Hon. R. J. Manion, then leader of the party.

While he has been indirectly responsible for the election of many a candidate, Bell has never run for public office.

Chuckle, Chuckle

Finance Minister Abbott, always a man for a chuckle, had a great one recently on a cousin he declines to identify for publication. A little bit too much like rubbing it in, he says.

It seems that the cousin had been wanting an electric refrigerator for his summer cottage. He bought it exactly one day before Mr. Abbott's 25-per-cent. austerity tax was lifted.

Just a week before, one of the muted Mr. Abbott's law partners in Montreal bought a new car at the high rate. The minister got a laugh out of that one, too.

Miss A. Greaves Injured In Freak Mishap

LINDSAY, Aug. 21 (ENS). — Chairman of the Parks Board, Miss Ada Greaves, received painful injuries in an unusual accident at Victoria Park.

Standing near a rope which had been erected to keep the crowd back at a softball game later in the evening, ex - alderwoman Greaves was picked up and thrown face-downwards on the path after a bicycle ridden by Blake Pinney, Lindsay, had accidentally struck the thin rope.

One side of her face was embedded with cinders, her eye-lid and lip as well as her hands were cut and shoulder injured. It is expected that Miss Greaves will be confined to her home for two months.

Prior to the accident she had questioned the worker as to the advisability of leaving the rope up at such an early hour in view of the fact that the rope crossed the path through the park. Just as she said "Someone is going to get hurt," the rope caught her.

NOTICE TO GAS CONSUMERS

Effective September 1st, 1948, gas rates will be changed in accordance with the following schedule:—

	OLD RATES	NEW RATES
	Service Charge, 75 cents per month	75 cents per month.
1st	10,000 cu. ft. per months..... $1.45 per M.	..... $2.25 per M.
2nd	50,000 cu. ft. per month..... 1.35 per M.	..... 2.10 per M.
3rd	100,000 cu. ft. per month..... 1.25 per M.	..... 1.95 per M.
Balance, cu. ft per month.....	1.00 per M.	..... 1.55 per M.
	Less 10% prompt payment discount	Less 10% p.m. discount.

It will be noted that the actual rates are increased in proportion to the increased heating value of the new gas as compared with that of the old gas.

The gas which was supplied prior to July 1st of this year had a heat value of 460 Btu's per cubic foot.

The new gas, which is a mixture of propane and air, has a heat value of 710 Btu's per cubit foot.

The consumer will pay only the same amount of money for the gas consumed because he will use only 645 cubic feet of the new gas to do the same work as 1,000 cubic feet of the old gas.

For instance, under the old rates, a consumer using 1,000 cubic feet of the old gas of 460 Btu's per cubic foot would have a bill of $1.98 net. The same consumer would use 645 cubic feet of the new gas of 710 Btu's per cubic foot, for which the bill at the new rates, would be $1.98 net.

PETERBOROUGH UTILITIES COMMISSION

NOT MANY PEOPLE RECALL that Babe Ruth joined the New York National Guard in 1924. There was quite a hullabaloo about it, because the army in those days was fighting a desperate struggle to maintain itself as a competent fighting force. So it was suggested that in the interests of army recruiting the Babe report to General John J. Pershing, then chief of staff, in Washington. Pictured above is the meeting of two great idols—General Pershing, already enthroned in the hearts of his countrymen for his World War I accomplishments, and the Babe, already an acknowledged star in the baseball firmament and zooming up to new heights of popularity. The Babe outlived his old commander-in-chief by only a few weeks.

A Site For The City Hall

Because of the estimated expenditure of $5,075,000 which lies before the municipality it is rumoured that the City Council is about to abandon the project to build the new City Hall on the site opposite Confederation Square, and will build on the present market block, possibly on the site of the present City Building. We hope that this is no more than a rumour. The citizens of Peterborough have shown their preference for the uptown site in various ways, and if it is abandoned there will be general disappointment.

* * *

Looking at the Council's estimate of its expenditures during the next three years, we wonder if it has not exaggerated its difficulties. An item of $750,000 for the Board of Education, for instance, is surely very large? After all, the Board of Education has not spent anything resembling that sum on the city's public schools since 1919. And even if it were decided to build a $750,000 school, it would not be possible to draw the plans and complete the work within the three years under discussion. We would not wish the Council to relax its prudence in money matters; we suggest, however, that it is looking on the darkest side.

* * *

As for the new City Hall, it must be borne in mind that it is not only the focus of Peterborough local government, but also a memorial to the generous donor who left upward of half a million dollars to build it. Such a memorial, and such a gift, demands a suitable site, and we do not think that it can be successfully argued that the market block is a suitable site for such a building. It is true that the business heart of the city is moving southward, but there is no reason why the City Hall should be in the business heart of the city. There is every reason, however, why it should stand in a fine garden, and why its outlook on every side should be the finest that the city can manage.

* * *

Even if it is costly to buy a proper site for the new City Hall, let us show enough civic pride to spend the money and do the job decently. There are too many cities in Ontario which are lacking in character and beauty because they have been built on the cheap. The City Hall which will be built here will be the centre of the city's business and the symbol of the city's pride for a century at the least. Let us make sure that it is in the right place. Public opinion has already chosen the right place. Let us not forget the pride with which St. Paul was able to say that he was "a citizen of no mean city"; we want our children to be able to speak with equal pride of Peterborough.

A Fire Is Not An Entertainment

The serious fire in the business section of the city last Tuesday night presented one aspect which calls, we feel, for comment. The behaviour of the large crowd which gathered was far from intelligent or helpful. Fascinating though the spectacle of a burning building may be, crowds at fires are always a nuisance. There are very few people who have any real business at a fire; they are the firemen, the police, relief workers who are caring for the injured or the exhausted, and people who have an immediate and direct concern with the building which is being burned; all others, who have come merely to gape at a scene of destruction, should keep at a considerable distance.

This is especially true in the case of fires which takes place in built-up sections. Two recent Peterborough fires—at Dewart's mill and at the D.V.A. hospital—destroyed buildings which stood in comparatively open ground and the danger to watching crowds was lessened by that circumstance. But the fire at the Kresge building was in a built-up section and if there had been an explosion hundreds of spectators might have been killed or hurt. Explosions are always likely when large buildings are burning and when there are quantities of combustible materials and large glass show-cases, as there are in most retail stores, the chances of explosion are greater.

We urge the people of Peterborough, therefore, to show some discretion and reasonable prudence when they go to fires. A fire is not an entertainment; it is a dangerous and costly calamity. It is unwise and unfair to add to the dangers of the fire, or to run avoidable risks in order to get a good look at someone else's misfortune.

People Like To Read Advertisements

Wherever newspapermen are gathered together, the failure of the New York tabloid PM is likely to come up for discussion. Opinion as to why it failed to make the grade is divided—its curious crusading spirit, its editorializing of the news, the disagreeably personal nature of its editorials, and the hold which Communists gained over it—these are all blamed, severally and collectively, but there is one point on which most people seem to be agreed: part of its failure was owing to the fact that it carried no advertisements, and newspaper readers in general like to read advertisements.

Most people read newspapers; a survey taken in the U.S.A. gives the surprising report that 98 per cent. of the population read newspapers for about 45 minutes each day. The readers of 100 different newspapers were included in the survey, and the discoveries about the reading of advertisements were as follows: local advertisements are read by 71 per cent. of men and 93 per cent. of women; national advertisements were read by 52 per cent. of men and 59 per cent. of women; classified advertisements were read by 37 per cent. of men and 43 per cent. of women; amusement advertisements were read by 42 per cent. of men and 58 per cent. of women; department store advertisements were read by 36 per cent. of men and 80 per cent. of women.

People read advertisements to find out what they can buy, and they read advertisements in newspapers with special interest, because newspaper ads are, in the main, more down-to-earth than advertisements in magazines. They usually give prices, and they tell exactly where the goods are to be had. What is more, many of them are very good reading—interesting, informative and sometimes amusing. For women in particular, faced with the job of feeding and clothing their families, reading the advertisements is an important part of each day's work. And they like it.

Lord Alexander Is Not Lord Byng

We were interested and somewhat amused by the wording of the comment in the London Times on the election of Mr. St. Laurent as Liberal leader and the likelihood that he will become Prime Minister. "The choice of a successor in office", said the Times, "rests, of course, with the Governor-General, who may or may not ask for the advice of the retiring Prime Minister; but now that Mr. St. Laurent's already conspicuous claims have been reinforced by a resounding vote of confidence from the Liberal party, it is not likely that Lord Alexander will look beyond him".

We think it so unlikely as to be out of the question that Lord Alexander will look beyond him. The last Governor-General to lean too heavily upon the Royal prerogative which is vested in him was Lord Byng, and the upshot of that affair was that Lord Byng went back to England with a flea in his ear. As it was Mr. Mackenzie King who raised the constitutional issue at that time, we do not think that any Governor-General is likely to try anything of the sort so long as Mr. King retains a position of power or influence. In suggesting such a thing The Times is sadly behind the times.

Yet we do not wholly agree with those who think it impossible that the Royal prerogative in calling a new man to head a ministry should be invoked again. It is quite possible that a time might arise when the Royal prerogative was the sole defence of the people against a corrupt government. Anyone who wants to find out how that could happen should read Shaw's play, The Apple Cart, in which the matter is clearly dealt with. In 999 cases out of a thousand, the Royal prerogative is mere formality. But there is always that thousandth case in which it may be needed.

Diary Of An Uneconomic Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: At a social gathering this evening, where I joined in singing a number of songs out of one of those books called "The Jumbo Mammoth Folio of All the Songs Everybody Loves or Has Ever Loved" — or something of the sort. Many of these were songs which I do not suppose anyone ever liked mildly, much less loved; who, for instance, ever loved that gruesome ditty "Just Before The Battle, Mother"? Does anyone love that spine-chilling verse "Would God I were A Tender Apple Blossom", which has been wantonly foisted upon the beautiful Londonderry Air? The question answers itself. "The Letter Edged In Black" was in the book, but that kindred boob-squeezer, "Hello Central, Give Me Heaven 'Cause My Mama's There" was unaccountably omitted. My favourite in this genre has always been "Papa's Letter", a song about a father who, in order to get rid of his child and gain some peace for himself, stuck a stamp on her brow and told her to go shove her head in a post-box; while crossing the street to do so, the mite was run over by a brewery horse, and Papa's Letter wound up in the dead letter office. Very sad.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: Talked to a man whose home-town has just been rocked to its foundations by the discovery of a dead moose in the municipal water supply. The whole population have become beer-drinkers overnight... It is unjust that excessive eating makes one fat, whereas excessive sleeping gives no outward sign. A human dormouse of my acquaintance was hounding me this evening about my delight in the pleasures of the table. If I had not been a gentleman, an ex-officer of the Indian Army, and the wearer of two Old School Ties (one round the neck and another round the waist, serving the office of a belt) I would have told her to wipe the gravy-like deposit of sleep out of her eyes before addressing me in such a manner.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: A man writes to me today who says "Why has Samuel Marchbanks no economic problem? To me no Canadian is real unless he is engaged in a death-grapple with his bank manager". This is easy to answer; I have no economic problem because I do not believe in economics. I am an atheist and an infidel in all matters relating to Mammon. I have never had a bank account; I keep all my money in a tin box under my bed, and I never buy anything unless I have enough money in the tin box to pay for it in cash. I am rarely tormented by the desire to own anything, and I would exchange the Towers for a tent tomorrow if tents were practical dwellings in Canada. I fight inflation by eating cheaper food, and wearing my clothes past the bounds of hygiene. I have no insurance, and have made no provision for my old age, as I am resolved to become a whining beggar outside church and beverage-room doors when I am past work. All my life I have defied economics and I shall go on doing so. What is the result? I look at the world with the clear, bright eye of a man who has a tin box, and bank managers love me and sometimes give me blotters advertising their establishments.

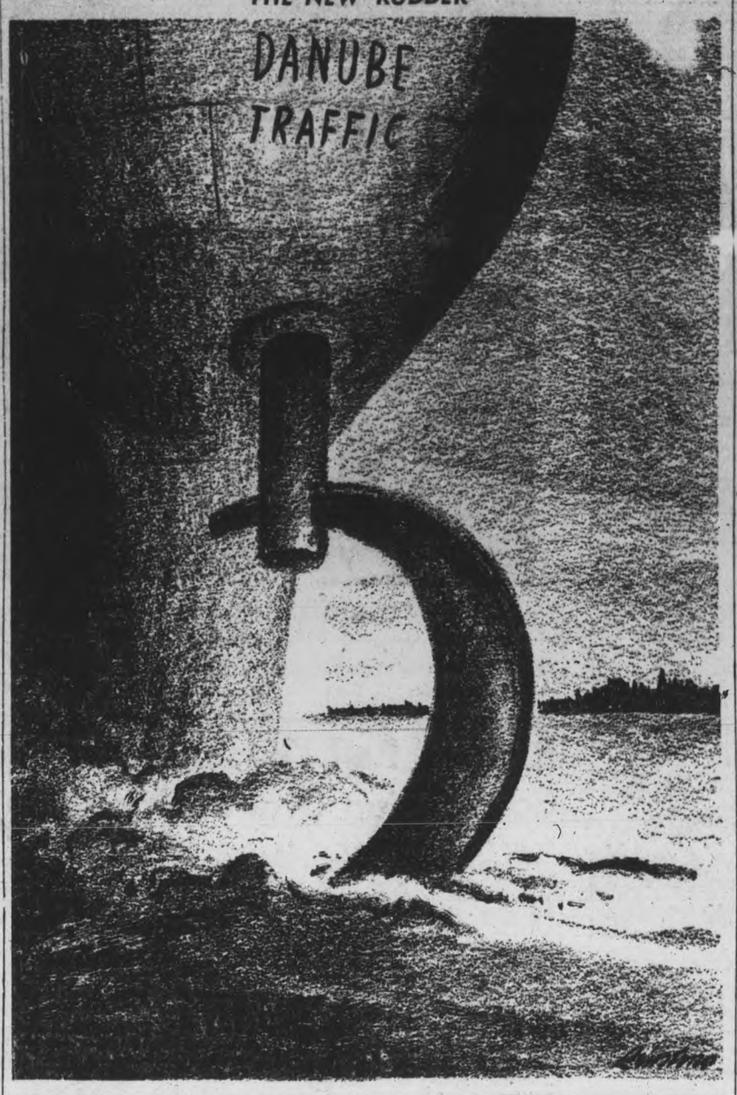
◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: Canada is growing up. Why? Because we are beginning to have interesting phonies upon our national horizon. Of late I have seen two or three good examples of the Phoney Westerner. This type is interesting, for although he comes from the West, he is a business man, in no way different from his Eastern counterpart. But he wears a big hat, and a horse-head pin in his tie, and he is very, very breezy. He walks with the gait of a man who is carrying a keg between his thighs, and this is meant to suggest a familiarity with horses. He is full of tangy, open-air oaths and he treats women as though they were idiots, this being his way of showing respect for their purity. He corresponds to that American type, the Phoney Southerner. We shall see more of him, as time passes, and the West becomes more and more sophisticated.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: People who are to appear on television, I see, have to wear quite a heavy makeup, and already several American politicians have permitted themselves to be ornamented in this way. I foresee that this will mean the return of makeup for men, on the street and on social occasions. At many periods of history men have worn rouge, powder and similar aids to beauty; the Duke of Marlborough (whom no one will consider a sissy, I trust) would no more have appeared at court without a certain amount of makeup than his descendant Winston Churchill would go to court without his necktie. The fierce Arab warrior of today outlines his eyes with black, to make them gleam and as a protection against the sun. And what, after all, is the difference between rouging the cheeks, and burning them brown with a sun-lamp? Both are the result of masculine vanity. I await developments with baited breath. The earliest attempts of some of my friends with the rouge-pot and the eyebrow pencil will be worth more than a passing glance.

◇ ◇ ◇



FRIDAY: My notebook says, "Grouse shooting begins today". Not for me....Sometimes I wish that my education had included a good course in household management. Last Autumn I ruptured myself in six places piling wood beside a wall which I now want the painters to paint. So this evening I seriously impaired my health lugging all the wood to another spot. During the winter it had become waterlogged, and was full of flat, gray, nasty insects, with about sixteen legs. I fear no insect, but I took care not to drop any of these up my sleeves or down the front of my pants, for they looked slimy and cold. I have put the wood near my garage, and as I have the word of honour of a contractor that he will move the garage soon I suppose I shall have another jolly polka with the wood before winter comes and outdoor work is, Heaven be praised, impossible for a few peaceful months. Sisyphus, who was doomed forever to roll a stone uphill, only to have it roll down again, had an easy job compared to my task in finding a resting-place for my wood.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: Had a tooth filled today. My dentist wears a tasteful white smock with a high collar; I can remember the first dentist whom I visited in my childhood, who wore a morning coat, and worked his drill with a foot pedal. His operating room was as dark as a church, and he had not been trained to stand any nonsense from children; my recollection is that he knelt on my prone form while drilling, and that every now and then he drilled a piece out of my tongue, just to learn me. In odd corners of the world strange dentists still lurk; an Irish friend of mine told me recently of visiting a dentist on the West Coast of Ireland who had no running water, and made his patients spit into a potted fern which was conveniently placed by the chair....The fanciest job of dentistry I ever saw was done on a Welsh farmer; a travelling dentist pulled all his teeth in the kitchen one afternoon, and sold him a false set to be inserted at once. The total service cost just under five dollars. The man was wearing the teeth when I met him, and there was a rugged grandeur about the lower part of his face which suggested the Sabre Tooth Tiger in the Royal Ontario Museum.

THE NEW RUDDER

Who Really Owns Big Business?

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

MUCH of the strength of the Socialist party in Britain and the C.C.F. party in Canada comes from sections of the population which are misinformed on the facts about the real owners of industries in general and thereby become confused in their political thinking.

When the C.C.F. party talks of taking over certain industries, the suggestion is that those in control of an industry consist of a very few executives who own it, arrogantly dictate its policy and reap huge profits from the operations of the workers. It is of interest to observe that these same executives in the main are recruited from men who have risen from the ranks by force of industry and ability, and without either family influence or inherited wealth.

In this regard it is interesting to observe certain facts brought out by the current issue of the magazine, "Trusts and Estates," in the United States, as to who really owns big business. According to this magazine, big business leaders are in no real sense the owners of the properties they operate.

In a survey of the 120 biggest United States manufacturing companies (total assets: $51,041,000,000), the magazine found only four in which any individual owned as much as 10 per cent. of the voting stock. The 120 companies were owned by 6,126,713 stockholders, almost 40 per cent. more than the total number of employees (4,464,000).

Of 62 companies giving a breakdown, 24 reported that no individual held as much as one per cent. Five out of every six holders owned 100 shares or less. About nine per cent. o fthe stockholders—accounting for 41 per cent. of the shares — were institutions (schools, hospitals, cemeteries, investment and insurance companies). They, in turn, represented millions of other individuals.

What is true in the United States applies in proportionate measure to Canada. A glance at the number of shareholders of the largest corporations here will give convincing proof.

The true situation, therefore, as to the owners of so-called big business is not only revealing but startling, in view of the statements made by Socialist politicians.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his servant, that walketh in darkness, and hath no light? let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay upon his God. (Isa. 50-10.)

Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp. And the man of God sent unto the not such a place; for thither the Syrians are king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass come down.

And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once nor twice. Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel?

And one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bed-chamber. (II Kings 6: 8-12.)

◇ ◇ ◇

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and is shall be given him. (James 1: 5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?....For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen. (Rom. 11: 33, 34, 36.)

Letter To The Editor

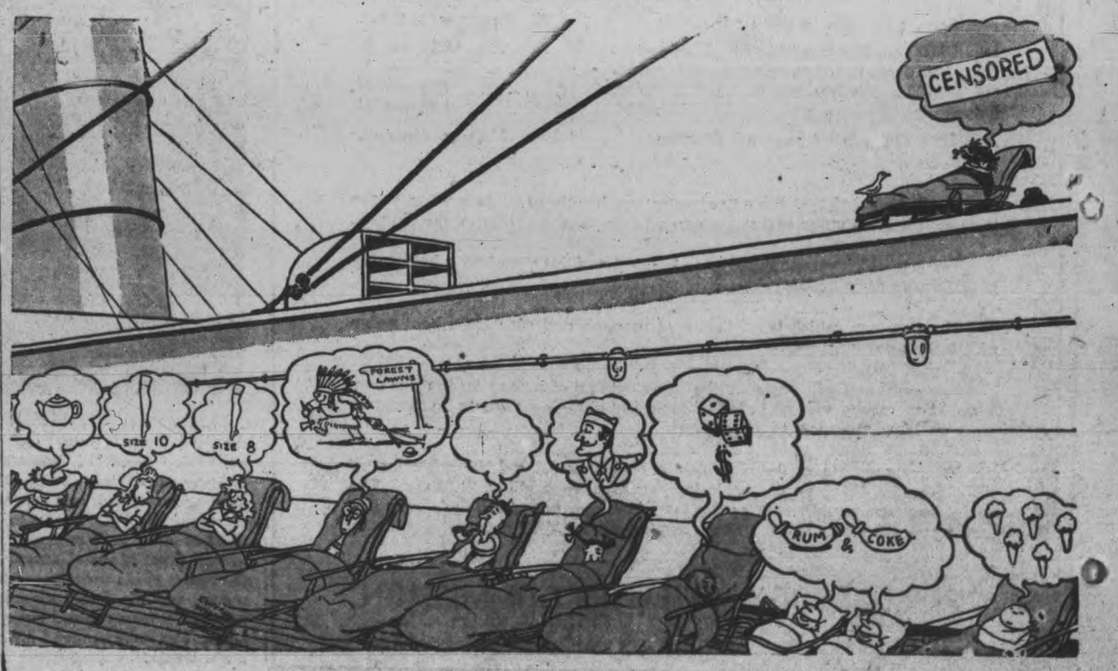
WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE!

Sir: We could not believe it when we saw in the Examiner that the elm trees on Lansdowne St. were going to be cut down.

We are not alone in our opinion that they are the most beautiful row of trees in Peterborough. We do not think it was a mistake to plant them, but the very opposite. Those who planted them showed good taste and the best judgment. The trees are far from a pitiful sight, we never pass them but we remark how beautiful they are. Do the wires not go through hundreds of trees in the city?

If Mr. Stocker were living the trees would not be cut down.

If the trees are cut down, those who are responsible will never get another vote from us. Please spare those trees.



A Lover of These Beautiful Elms.

First Aid Training

The benefits of first-aid training have been demonstrated many times in schools, offices and factories. Even in the so-called "white-collar occupations" the number of minor emergencies requiring trained assistance is large. Without prompt and adequate treatment, they may be dangerous. In factories, mills and mines the incidence of serious accidents is higher and the need for trained first-aid workers is more apparent. Even in the home, a knowledge of first-aid may often be invaluable when accidents occur.

THE CRISIS FAMILY RETURN TO BRITAIN

TYPICAL DWELLINGS that have sprung up along the Warsaw Road in the last two years, are shown above in the neat homes of James Laidlaw, Top, and Ernest Davies, Lower photo. Douro Building Inspector Fred Bell estimates 35 new homes have been built along the main roads of the township in the last two years. The Laidlaw home is south of the boundary road in Otonabee.

—Examiner Staff Photos

Warsaw Road Development Has More Than 25 Homes

Development of suburban Peterborough as residential property is not restricted to any one direction and one of the most noticeable changes is taking place along the Warsaw road, east and north-east of Peterborough.

This area has long been known as the Curtis district because of the two brickyards, one just east of the canal on the south side of Parkhill Road, and the other on the first concession east of the canal.

Ten years ago there were six houses on the north side of Parkhill Road east, and three houses onthe south side as far east as the first north and south road. Now there are three foundations out and these homes should be complete before the snow flies.

From the first concession east, and around the bend to the north-east to the next concession the greatest development has taken place. A decade ago, Bob Simpson lived in the house in the corner, the Blewet St. farm home was on the south side. On the west side of the road beyond the curve was the Woods farm home and the Lance Kemp place. Now there are at least 20 new dwellings built, with several others under construction. Near the Blewett home is a garage and a general store.

When the Veteran's Land Act took over two parcels in this area the building boom started. Four of the prefabricate type of homes were built, and several other smart, expensive homes went up. Jimmy Laidlaw has an imposing one story dwelling on the south side of the road.

Beyond the second concession east of the canal, there are three other dwellings under construction, on the Quinn property.

Present indications are that this entire stretch of heavily-travelled road will be all built up soon. This road to the garage is the boundary between Douro and Otonabee, but at this point what is known as the Warsaw road swings off to the north-east. The land is high and dry and lends itself readily to residential development and landscaping.

It is only a few minutes by car from any part of the development to the corner of Parkhill Rd. and Armour Rd. The area is also served by bus and residents of the area for the most part are employed in the city.

City Police Search All Prisoners

By BOB BUCHANAN

Precautions taken before prisoners are placed in the cells make the possibility of a jail suicide extremely unlikely in Peterborough. It has been reported that a prisoner took his life recently in the Kitchener city cells. The man hung himself with his belt.

Belts and braces are taken from prisoners before they are "booked in" to their quarters at the Peterborough Police Department. That is not all. Everything on the prisoners is searched and all holdings, including letters, wallets, gadgets, the usual things carried in the pockets, are taken away and stored until release.

In some cases even the shoelaces are removed. There is good reason for this added precaution, as demonstrated only a few nights ago. A man had been placed in the cells, minus his belt but wearing his boots. About an hour after, making a routine check, the police sergeant came across the man tying his shoelaces together His intention admittedly was to hang himself with the resulting rope.

Last suicide in the city cells was shortly after the First World War, when a man facing a charge ended his life by taking poison in an odd moment when he was left by himself before being thoroughly searched. Station veterans here, however, cannot recall a hanging in the city cells.

John Miller Dies

OSHAWA, Ahg. 21 — (CP). — John Miller, 82, noted cattle and sheep farmer, died Thursday at his home at Brougham, some 20 miles north-west of Oshawa. He was widely known in Canada, the United States, and Britain as a breeder and importer of Shorthorn cattle and Shropshire sheep. He always lived in Pickering Township, retiring to Brougham from his farm three years ago.

Surviving are his widow and three sons, Allan of Toronto, Hugh of Claremont, and Robert of Brougham.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

OPEN SEASONS ON DUCKS and geese have been announced by the Dept. of Mines and Resources. Bag limits and length of seasons are substantially the same as last year. A hunter is allowed a daily bag of seven ducks compared to eight in the west. For the first time, an all-Canada ceiling on three-shells-at-a-loading has been applied to shotguns used in hunting migratory birds. This means that automatic and pump guns must be plugged to this capacity. Some provinces restrict the number of shells to one or two. In Ontario the hunter can have one shell in the chamber and two in the magazine. Another All-Canada regulation is the reduction from 15 to 10 in the "possession limit" for geese of all kinds. The greatest change is that Ontario has been divided into three hunting zones instead of two.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

NORTHERN DISTRICT season is from Sept. 15 to Oct. 29. Central District season is from Sept. 25 to Nov. 8, and Southern District season is from Oct. 2 to Nov. 15. The Northern Division is north and west of a line from Mattawa on the Ottawa river westerly following the Canadian Pacific Railway to Heron Station, thence south to the International Boundary. The Central division is south of this line and north of a line running across the centre of Ontario, from the southwest angle of Bruce county easterly along the southern boundaries of Bruce and Grey counties to the southwest angle of Nottawasaga, Sunnidale and Vespra townships in Simcoe county to the south shore of Lake Simcoe along the north boundary of Brock township in Ontario county to the centre of King's highway No. 12. Thence south along the centre of the highway to the centre line of the C.P.R. near Myrtle thence east along that railway through Peterborough, thence along the centre line of highway 7 to Lanark county's west boundary. Along the west and south boundaries of Lanark and along the north shore of Rideau lake and Rideau river to a point opposite the northeast angle of Grenville county, thence southerly along the east boundary of Grenville to the northwest angle of Dundas county; thence easterly along the northernmost boundaries of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry counties to the Quebec boundary.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

THE SOUTHERN ZONE is all the part of Ontario south of the line described above, except that in the counties of Essex, Kent and Elgin, the open season for Geese (other than Brant) shall be from Nov. 17 to Dec. 31. In other words the duck hunting areas in the Peterborough district north of No. 7 highway are open from Sept. 25 to Nov. 8 and south of No. 7 the season starts Oct. 2 and ends Nov. 15. Mergansers are not included in the daily bag limit of seven ducks. Possession limit on ducks is 14. Geese, five per day, possession limit 10 at any time. Possession of birds killed during the open season is allowed in Ontario until March 31 of the following year.

BRADLEY'S BAY, south of Campbellford has apparently been given the brush-off, but it was purely accidental. About ten days ago, Gerry Mohar of Cleveland and his buddy came into the Examiner with a 21 pound muskie and a 30 pound muskie. They were staying at one of John Rogers cottages on Belmont lake. The 21-pounder was taken from Belmont lake, and it was assumed the big bruiser came from that spot too. Now we find the 30 pounder according to John Rogers was caught at Bradley's Bay. We hasten to correct this error. The catch was made near Hendrick's Cottages and during the last ten days at least seven other maskinonge ranging in size from 21 lbs. to 32 pounds have been taken in this same bay. The muskie fishing has been so consistently good at the Bay this year, that tourists staying at several district resorts, have packed shore dinners and headed for the Bradley area with splendid results.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

PHENOMENAL MUSKIE fishing was enjoyed this past week by three Americans from Pennsylvania. They are Miles Milliron, Stan McCollum and Lou Albaugh, all of Kitanning, Pa. The trio stayed at Bald Lake Lodge on the lake of the same name which is an extension of Pigeon and accessible over a rough road from the eastern end near Buckhorn. In five days the three men hooked and landed 22 muskies, seven of which were keepers. The fish ranged in weight from seven pounds to 15. That shows the substantial increase in the number of small lunge in the Kawarthas, and the Americans claim the 30 inch muskie law is bringing back the good fishing of a decade ago. Several other fine catches were reported during the week. Charles Moore, Akron, Ohio, got a 22 pounder in Rice lake near Keene. He was staying at Harold Wilson's Highland View Lodge. Gilbert Gravelle and Gord Ray, Jr., of Bridgenorth, teamed up to conquer at 21 lb., four ounce muskie in Lake Chemong, Thursday night.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

BEST FISHING SPOTS of the week can be limited to three. Bald lake, Bradley's Bay and Kosh lake, all for muskies. If the angler wants good bass fishing, try Buckhorn lake, and use like minnows or small live green frogs. Chemong bridge is still a topnotch spot for small-mouth black bass, and the powerhouse at Lakefield, and the Auburn dam are both producing good pickerel fishing. Lake trout and bass are starting to hit at Jack's lake, and boats can be obtained from Tom Lean or Jack's Lake Lodge a few miles from Apsley. Kosh lake, that hard-to-get-at lake, east of the head of Stony lake, is responsible for some fine strings of black bass and a few sizeable muskies. People who fish this lake won't say too much and that's the tip-off to the angler who doesn't mind going out of his way for good fishing. Some lovely bass have been taken in the Otonabee river near Bensfort Bridge, and one of these was a large-mouth weighing 5¾ pounds.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

RANDOM CASTS: Picnickers should have a look at the small park on Highway 28, above Haultain, on Eel's creek.... This is known to the natives as the depot bridge, and it is an ideal place for a Sunday picnic dinner....Gilchrist Park near the top end of Stony lake is also a fine picnic spot, and boats, bait and refreshments can be obtained from Cliff Bryant who has a small store on the road. Indian river starts here and anyone wanting to fish White lake can get a boat and row down the river to the open water....Fishing at this point is excellent....Bob Knisely, Bay Village, a suburb of Cleveland had to take a back seat to his wife in fishing at Camp Cleveland....Mrs. Knisely, hooked and landed a 12 pounder, and her husband's best effort was a six pound pickerel. Both were taken in Pigeon lake....They had the muskie froze to show the skeptical home-towners.... Reports are lacking from many Kawartha resorts...Please shoot the stories in before Wednesday of each week, so that mention can be made of each good catch.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

DUCK HUNTERS may be wondering about the gradual trend in laws aimed at giving ducks and geese more protection. Actually the number of duck hunters have tripled since 1945, probably due in a large measure to the fact that many veterans have taken up the sport. The duck population is still low across North America, although there was a good hatch this year. The three-shells-at-a-loading is one step to save the ducks. It was felt that more than three shots fired in quick succession at a flock was unduly destructive. It produced many instances of light wounding—birds were crippled or injured, hunters never got them and they were left to die. A rule like the three shell one doesn't hurt the hunter, yet it does much to help the over-all picture.

Peterborough's Average Weekly Pays $2.00 Higher Than Canadian Average

By BOB BUCHANAN

In a democracy, the "average man", theoretically is king. Following that trend of belief, magazine and other publications have a popular habit of "doing surveys", juggling statistics figures and emerging with vital data concerning "Mr. Average Reader" or "Mr. Average American" or "Mr. Average Dog-Lover" and other groups. The theory behind this is that every reader will automatically begin to measure his own possessions, peculiarities, pastimes and desirable qualities in comparison to the theoretical "Mr. Average Whatnot."

The fad uncovers some amazing things—facts which are interesting and (very occasionally) useful as well. It apparently interests the Average Reader to learn that the mythical Average Reader owns .84 automobiles, has 2.16 children, reads 6.4 books a year—and so on.

So: what are some facts about Mr. and Mrs. Average Peterborough?

Chances are more than two to one that Mr. P. works in one of the city's 85 manufacturing establishments. However, less than that proportion of the women workers are employed there—about 40 per cent of them.

Next largest group, in total number employed here, is the trade business, which includes retailing, wholesaling, other public catering. About one in eight men and one in seven women are connected with this.

Professions, public service, recreation service, business houses and personal services (such as beauty parlors, hotels, barber shops) account for the working day of more than 2,000 men and women.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics is apparently unimpressed with all the bass, muskies, pickerels et al caught by local residents in the Kawartha district. It coldly lists the figure "1" under the heading "fisherman."

Construction, transportation and communications account for the livliehood of about 900 more men and less than 100 women.

Pay Is High

Mr. Peterborough, as head of a household, brings home a weekly pay envelope of slightly more than $41 these days— more than two dollars a week higher than the general Canadian average.

It's three-to-two that he rents his house between $20 and $40.

The size of average Peterborough household (now we've started it!) is 4.02 persons. The .02 is probably the feeling of the head of the house when he compares his earnings with the present scale of living costs.

As stated, Mr. P. is (averagely speaking) one of the nearly 10,000 persons working inthe city's factories. With his fellow workers, he runs up an impressive list of totals. Peterborough is now the 10th largest centre in Canada by value of its industrial production, which is close to $100,000,000 a year, although it is only the 33rd largest urban centre in the Dominion. Those pay envelopes all add up to about $20,000,000 annually.

The people of Peterborough county are evidently all of a feather and decidedly stay-at-homes. More than 80 per cent have lived here all their lives. That leaves less than 10,000 who are not native born. Of these, about 6,000 have lived in the county for at least 10 years.

Forty-two thousand of the 47,000 people in the county were born in Canada. A little more than 4,000 were born in the British Empire somewhere—most in the British Isles. About 1,000 were born in Europe, and less than that were born in the United States.

Roughly half of the county's population is of English origin. There are 13,000 of Irish extraction, about 6,800 Scots.

English is, naturally, tops among the languages spoken. Only about 800 are bilingual. However, if one were an avid enough searcher, somewhere in Peterborough County (you'll have to take the word of the Dominion Statistician again for this), he would find at least one person who could speak: Austrian, Bohemian, Bulgarian, Chinese, Danish, Finnish, Flemish, Gaelic, German, Greek, Icelandic, Indian, Eskimo, Italian, Lithuanian, Magyar, Netherland, Norwegian, Polish, Russian, Spanish, Swedish, Syrian and Arabic, Ukrainian, Yiddish and Japanese. One must look elsewhere, however, if looking for a translator for Roumanian and Serbo-Croate.

On Sundays, one-third of the collective Mr. Peterborough goes to the United Church or, at least, that's what he told the government census taker. About 10,000 of the city attend the Roman Catholic church. The same number are members of the Church of England. Presbyterians in the city number 5,000 and there are about 2,700 Baptists. Loneliest of the city's church-goers must be the one and only Mennonite. Official strength of the Salvation Army is listed as 640. Adherents of other religious denominations are: Adventists, 30; Brethren, 97; Confucian and Buddhist, 37; Christian, 14; Church of Christ Disciples, 61; Christian Science, 71; Evangelical, 196 Greek Orthodx, 10; International Bible Students, 2; Jews, 184; Lutheran, 41; Mormor 22; Pentecostal, 540.

More Women Than Men

In the city itself, the fair sex have a slight edge (about 300) on the men. There are 97.32 men for every 100 women—which is about as close as comfort will allow. In 1871, it was nearly even-steven with 99.72 men for 100 women Hardly anyone would be left out in the cold at that margin.

In the county generally, the situation is reversed. Overall, there are nearly 1,000 more men than women—about 103 to 100, still two less than 105—100 proportion for Canada. In 1871, there were 106 men for every 100 women.

Residents of the Liftlock County aren't crowded. The density of population over its 1,415 square miles is 33.49 persons to the square mile. This is still 10 times more thickly populated than the whole country and about three times the average density of Ontario.

Mr. Average, who contributes about one child per household to the schools, has had about five or six years schooling himself. Less than half have finished 10 years formal education. There are 267 individuals, however, who have struggled through 17 years or more in schools, college and other education institutions.

Peterborough is a healthy city, according to the long tables of vital statistics. The death rate is 19th among Ontario's 32 cities.

Births, on the other had, are 23.5 per 1,000 of population—the 11th highest of the province's cities. And nine out of 10 of the babies born here are born in hospital, much higher than the national average.

Unfortunately, the government questionnaires don't leave space to name the average Peterborite's favorite color, or how many blue neck-ties does he own, or how many strokes it takes him to shave each morning.

—That is, if he does shave each morning. The unimaginative government forgot to ask that, too.

Pete Pound Out Victory Against Orillia, 21 to 9

The Petes' lacrossers walloped Orillia 21-9 here before a big crowd last night in a fair OLA senior "B" fixture. They racked up a 5-1 margin the first quarter, made it 9-4 at the half, and had a 14-6 edge going into the fourth. Play was pretty fast and clean, but one minor penalty being handed out. Jack Hammond of Orillia suffered a dislocated elbow in the first heat and was taken to hospital. Goalie Bun Hill of the Petes got a bang on the face in the fourth and retired, Rowan Chute finishing up.

IN ON SEVEN—Arn Dugan led the local lacrossers scoring last night, being in on seven, as they trimmed Orillia 21-9 here. Jack Foote was another big sniper for the Petes.

Arn Dugan and Jack Foote sparked the Petes' attack, being the main snipers. The others all went well, too, and the heavy scoring was well spread around. Ontario Holds Big Golf Lead

RIVERSIDE GOLF CLUB, NB, Aug. 21. (CP) — A powerful women's foursome was a strong favorite today to capture the Canadian Ladies' Interprovincial team shield for the fourth time for Ontario.

Checking in with 355 for the first 18 Friday, Ontario holds a comfortable five-stroke lead over British Columbia as the six-team field goes into the final 18 holes of medal play.

Pacing Ontario was a veteran Toronto Rosedale swinger, Mrs. N. J. Carlson, who fired a three-over-par 80. Steady and accurate, Mrs. Carlson sizzled through the back nine in par 35 and was only one over par when she reached the tricky 16th hole. Overdriving the hole, she blew up and went down for a five, two-over-par, when she missed a chip shot from a sand trap.

Third with 366 is Quebec, a three-time winner and defending champion. Their four-handicap artists found the greens tough and only Quebecer to score in the 80's was Mrs. T. M. Lockwood, Montreal Kaniwaki, with 89.

Lacrosse Schedule

The daytime lacrosse schedule at Miller Bowl for next week has been drawn up by Jack Foote. It opens with a juvenile drill at two p.m. Monday, followed by Rockets' practise and then Lions. Two playoff games, starting at 10 a.m. Tuesday: ePtes vs. Lions, and Tigers vs. Buffalos. Open for juveniles at one, then a peewee all-star workout, a free period at three and a Buffalos' practise.

Rockets and Spitfires have a 10 a.m. playoff Wednesday with peewee all-stars then drilling. It is open for juveniles at one as peewee Petes practise at two, Clapper's at three and Tigers at four. Next day sees two playoffs, opening at 10: Tigers vs. Buffalos and Petes vs. Lions. Juveniles drill at one, Kiwanis at two, Montreal at three, while four is open.

On Friday at 10 a.m., Rockets playoff with Spitfires, followed by Americans' practise. Juveniles go at one, all-star peewees at two, while the next two hours are open. Two playoffs are on, starting at 10, Saturday morning to wind up the week: Petes vs. Lions, and Tigers vs. Buffalos, both if necessary. Those interested should clip this schedule.

Asking For Design For Hall Of Fame

KINGSTON, Aug. 21 (CP). — The National Hockey League will sponsor a competition among architects for designs for hockey's Hall of Fame in Kingston. This was proposed Thursday night at a meeting of the Kingston Committee by President Clarence Campbell of the NHL. The structure will cost $150,000 instead of the $50,000 originally planned. Details of the competition have not yet been worked out.

Sue Deanna Durbin

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21—(AP)—Universal Film Studio Friday filed suit for $87,000 against the Winnipeg-born singing screen star, Deanna Durbin. The complaint said the actress became indebted to that amount to the studio in the last two years. A studio spokesman told reporters the dispute arose over salary paid Miss Durbin while she was on leave.

Westclox Girls Take Two Over Marines

Westclox defeated Marines twice at the Bowl last night to make it 3-0 on games in the four-of-seven Girls Softball League intermediate "A" finals. They meet again tonight at the Bowl and on Monday, if necessary. The first fray last night was a loose 2-2 affair, but the second was better, ending up in a 7-3 win for the Clockers.

In the opener, Marines could do nothing right while the winners played heads-up ball and hammered out 19 hits. J. Vass and V. Dorrest starred for them afield, with M. Cheel and M. Selkirk best for Outboards. H. Waite scattered 10 hits and fanned five, getting perfect support. Two twirlers saw action for the other side. Marg Hawthorne led the hitters with a triple, double and three singles in six, as Nona Whetun hit a homer and three singles. M. Behan led Marines with a double and two singles in four. The teams:

Second Game

The nightcap was a much better game, but Norma Kennedy made the difference. She allowed almost as many hits but fanned nine, taking over in the fourth. She was a bit wild in spots, too. E. Whitaker went well, also, giving nine hits and fanning seven as she allowed but one walk. Her backing wasn't qnite as good. She and M. Connolly were good defensively while B. Morrow and J. Vass stood out for Westclox. The latter led at bat with a double and two singles in four, while B. Larmer got two hits to top the losers. The eams:

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Word comes from Coach Bev Goulding of the senior PCVS champs that but seven or eight of last year's squad will be trying for places this season. There were 14 of those 26 in Grade 13 last year with another five in either Grade 12, Industrial or Spec. Commercial. Last year's captain, Jack Sisson, will dress with Argos in their game with Beaches Aug. 28, but may yet turn up with Queen's. Where Morris Richardson, ex-PCVS ace quarter, should have a good year with Queen's first team. Early PCVS practices are in order and candidates will report at the school the morning of Aug. 30 for uniforms, starting drills that afternoon in front of the school. Morning and aft drills daily through Thursday. First game likely at the Oval on Sept. 18 against Riverside Collegiate of Toronto.

This was written before the junior ball joust, so we don't know the setup there at the moment. But four of our minor clubs are slated for OBA playdown action this afternoon and early evening. While the East City bantams are at Trenton and the juvenile Kinsmen at Oshawa, Kingston peewees play the Trojans at two in Riverside, followed about four there by the Lindsay vs. East City midget melee. All opening games of best-in-three provincial playdowns. We should know the junior score ere column's end. No action yet for the intermediate Petes, while the senior Petes are in Belleville on Tuesday to play Batawa a COBL fixture.

This Is Your Invite

Walter Dinesen invites all players of the northend juveniles in the City Baseball League to a social evening at his home, 232 Carlisle Ave., next Tuesday at 8.30 p.m. That includes the following: A. Buckton, G. Bradley, J. Campanaro, L. Carveth, D. Collins, R. Craig, R. Fontaine, J. Johnston, W. Jones, H. Hanwell, R. Hotts, D. Long, B. Manbeck, T. Morgan, J. Nicholls, Bud Pollock, R. Welsh, R. Wilson and H. Yelland. Walter took over as manager of the club late in the season and the team made a good showing, giving promise of going further next season. Players are to turn in clean uniforms Tuesday.

Floodlight baseball returns to Peter's borough for a night in Riverside Park at 8.30 p.m. Monday. An exhibition attraction between the House of David touring pros and the Petes. The bearded wonders of Michigan serve up an interesting brand of minor professional ball and usually turn in some fine pepper play and a bit of clowning to prove popular with the customers. They bring their own lighting equipment and make a living all summer travelling about Canada and the States. The Petes, who wind up their regular schedule the next night in Belleville against Batawa, will be at full strength. But for Larry Edwardson, who is out the rest of the season.

Some "Name" Players

Another Monday night attraction is the exhibition lacrosse match at nine in Miller Bowl. Featuring the league-leading Owen Sound "A" squad and the Petes. Piper Bain's bunch includes: Gillespie, leading scorer last year, Slater (high scorer now in the loop), Bill Allum—best scorer among defencemen—Moon Wootten, ace goalie, and others. Should be a fine fray. Here's the list with numbers: Wootten (1), Allum (3), Perdue (4)—How they get around!—WcWhirter (5), Johnson (15), McReavy (12), Gillespie (8), Kazarian (13), Campbell (6), Woods (7), Shortridge (9), Slater (14), Burlington (16), Shkordoff (17), A. Smith (18), F. Smith (2) and Grant Gillespie (10).

Petes started and finished strong at Miller Bowl last night to avenge themselves amply on Orillia to the tune of 21-9. And the turnstiles clicked a merry tune, also! Whole squad went well, with main scorers being Arn Dugan and Jack Foote—latter winning himself another hat for his sniping and back-checking. Dootch Vitarelli got some nice ones and so did Smith. While Warren is starting to roll now. And the Breakspears. Chute took over in the net when Bun Hill got a hang in the face—but no real damage done. Jack Hammond of Orillia went to hospital with a dislocated elbow. But it was a clean contest throughout.

Westclox Ride High

Cobourg and Lindsay lasses meet at three this aft in the Bowl and, if necessary, at seven there to settle their PWSU intermediate "B" series, Lindsay winning the first. Marines and Westclox go tonight, too, and on Monday if it is necessary. Westclox have won three in as many starts of their four-of-seven final series over Marines to see who hits into PWSU intermediate "A" playdowns. Took two last eve by scores of 21-2 and 7-3. Played fine ball in both to earn the decisions, while Marines were terrible in the first fixture but came back to make it a real game in the nightcap. The juniors will get their chance later next week.

Kinsmen Even Up Series With Kiwanis

By FRED MAYBEE

Kinsmen defeated Kiwanis last evening 4-2 at Riverside, to even up their best of three semi-final series in the fastest, cleanest and best junior games of the season to date, between the two clubs.

Doug Plunkett and Red Sullivan combined to spoil the evening for Kiwanis. The former pitched five-hit ball, struck out six and passed two in a fine comeback after Monday's loss, while the latter's home run in the seventh with Plunkett aboard was the game-clinching wallop.

Jake Jaquith matched his rival evenly in a great pitchers' duel until the seventh, when Kinsmen took the lead one up and added another in the eighth. Both teams fielded well, as a whole. For Kiwanis, Stewart, Langhorne and LaPlante were best at bat, the latter driving in his team's two runs with a ringing double in the seventh.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The Selkirk trophy tournament has been postponed till Monday, Aug. 30 and Tuesday, Aug. 31.

Port Hope would like as many bowlers (ladies and gents) as possible to visit their club next Friday night. Those who would like to go and those who would supply cars should leave their names with Mrs. Kingsbury by Wednesday night.

Next Wednesday night, mixed doubles. Choose your own partner.

Tonight the "family hour" tournament, mixed rinks, 7.30 p.m.

There was a nice crowd up at the men's doubles tournament last evening. All the boys want is for someone to lead the way and they'll play along. 26 pairs were out — a fine showing. Several father and son combinations were seen. They did well too. Below are the winners:

Winners

A. Aitkenhead and W. Jolley, 1st; R. Burns and K. Shadgett, 2nd; G. Soulby and H. Outram, 3rd; G. Coleman and G. Coleman, 4th; B. Jeffries and F. Read, 5th; Judge Smoke and H. R. Martin, S. Lowe and A. Maunder tied for 6th.

JACK DEMPSEY can throw a right, a matter that can easily be substantiated by those who saw him fight Willard, Firpo et al. Now he is passing on his knowledge to a protege, Joe Weiden, 24, newly imported from Vienna, Austria, where he is said to have carved a niche for himself in European heavyweight ranks. Jack watches him toss a right into the big bag and then shows him what is wrong. Dempsey is one of Weiden's managers. He is training him for future fights on this continent. Newcombe Blanks Wings 3-0 Allowing Only One Hit

By The Associated Press

Don Newcombe, negro right-hander of the Montreal Royals, appears headed for his greatest season in the game.

The 24-year-old pitcher turned in his 14th win for the Royals last night and almost became the first pitcher in the circuit's 65-year history to hurl two consecutive no-hit no-run games.

He blanked Rochester Red Wings 3-0 on one hit in the first half of a doubleheader. The lone blow was a scratch single between the mound and third base by Bobby Young, lead-off batter in the fourth inning of the seven-inning game.

It was Newcombe's first start since he held Toronto Maple Leafs hitless and runless last Sunday in the first game of a double-header won by the Royals 8-0 in seven frames.

The wings bounced back and won the nightcap 3-2 as Bill Reeder outpitched Johnny Van Cuyk to hang up his 15th victory of the campaign. Cliff Dapper banged his seventh homer with one on in the fifth inning to account for both Montreal runs off Reeder.

Outslug Leafs

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons outslugged the Toronto Maple Leafs 12-8. The Leafs outhit the Bisons 15-12 but nine walks issued by three Toronto pitchers figured prominently in the Bison scoring.

Carl Cox and Coaker Triplett highlighted the Bison attack. Cox drove in five runs on three singles while Triplett belted his 16th home, a double and single and drove in two runs. Hank Biasatti, Toronto's promising first sacker, chipped in with his 19th four-bagger of the year with a mate aboard in the sixth.

Paige More Than Earns Keep Pitches Second Shutout

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

No matter what President Bill Veeck gave Satchel Paige, the great negro hurler, to sign with Cleveland Indians earlier this season, he would be a bargain at twice the amount.

The 44-year-old colorful right-hander already has earned his keep, aside from the won-and-lost column. Including last night's crowd of 78,382, largest ever to see a night game in major league baseball history, a total of 201,829 customers have jammed their way into the stands to watch Paige in his three big-league starts.

Last night's throng not only saw Paige shut out Chicago White Sox 1-0 for his second straight scoreless performance, but watched the league-leading Indians hang up their fourth straight whitewashing job in the American League.

This tied a league record first set by the Cleveland Club of 1903 and equalled by New York Yankees in 1932. The major-league mark is six consecutive games, set by the 1903 Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League.

The string of shutout innings pitched by Indian hurlers has reached 39, two short of the American League mark fo 41 held by the 1903 Tribe.

3-Game Advantage

The triumph, Cleveland's eighth in a row, enabled the Indians to maintain a three-game advantage over Boston Red Sox, who climbed past Philadelphia Athletics into second place by sweeping a double header from Washington Senators 5-4 and 10-4. The Athletics were beaten 6-2 by the Yankees to drop into third place 3½ games off the pace and only one length in front of the Yankees.

A crowd of 15,865 saw the Red Sox overcome a 4-1 deficit with three runs in the ninth and another in the 10th to win the opener from Washington. Vern Stephens clouted a three-run homer off Rae Scarborough with two out in the ninth to send the game into extra innings. Stan Spence, first Boston player to bat in the last of the tenth, blasted another homer off Scarborough to decide the game.

Home runs by Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio, the latter with the bases loaded, helped Jack Kramer register his 14th pitching triumph for the Red Sox in the second game.

Southpaw Ed Lopat pitched a six-hitter as the Yankees took the series opener from the Athletics in Philadelphia. It was his 12th victory. The Yankees chased Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, after seven innings, collecting a dozen hits off him and Bubba Harris.

Hits Home Run

Bob Dillinger hit a home run in the 10th inning to enable the St. Louis Browns to defeat the Tigers 5-4 in Detroit. Stubby Overmire was the loser. St. Louis Cardinals moved within half a game of the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers and 1½ games of the leading Boston Braves when they defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 7-4 in the National League.

A four-run sixth inning highlighted by Don Lang's two-run single, enabled the Cards to overcome an early Pittsburgh lead.

Andy Pafko cracked his 19th home run of the season and added a double and single to lead Chicago Cubs to a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

Hollywood After New Titles; Supply Limited

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21 (AP). —Here is an addition to Hollywood's many troubles: The movie industry is running low on the titles.

It's not so bad that studios are releasing pictures without them. But the problem of tagging the handles on to movies is becoming a bigger headache every day.

From 1916 to 1947, Hollywood used up 21,458 feature-picture titles and few of them were repeats. Four hundred or more new ones are added to the total as each year passes. And every studio is allowed to keep 250 titles in reserve for forthcoming pictures. Past names of films can be used only after they are seven years old.

The majority of film customers judge whether they want to see a picture by (1) its stars, (2) its title. That is why the right title is so important in these days of slow business.

The Lighter the Better.

The all-star "A Miracle Can Happen" flopped because people thought it was a religious film. Given a lighter tag, "On Our Merry Way," it fared better.

Likewise Goldwyn's "The Bishop's Wife." It was later billed as "Carry and the Bishop's Wife," with the ads slanted at comedy. It did better that way—"but think how much it would have made if it had a good title," lamented Sam.

The increased importance and the decreased availability of the titles has studios going mad. Pictures are released with names as vague as "Street With No Name" and as silly as "I Wouldn't Be in Your Shoes." Titles are getting shorter ("Rope," "Sand") and longer ("When My Baby Smiles at Me," "The Best Things in Life Are Free.").

Old Vic Plans Broadway Tour Early In 1949

By FRED KERNER

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (CP). — The famed Old Vic Company of London makes its return to Broadway after almost three years — and Canadians, too, will get a chance to see this company of Britain's most famous Thespians.

Arriving in January, the Old Vic's representatives will be headed by Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dame Edith Evans. Their repertory will comprise four plays with which they are reopening their London season at New Theatre in September.

Itinerary and dates for the tour of Canadian and American cities still is incomplete but Montrealers and Torontonians, as well as the people of Ottawa and London, Ont., will probably be the favored.

The company's repertory is Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus," Congreve's "The Way of The World," and Chekov's "The Cherry Orchard."

Among Sir Cedric's roles — and of interest to Canadian theatregoers who last saw him in "Shadow and Substance" years ago—are Sir Toby Belch in the Shakespearean piece and the title role in the Marlowe tragedy.

While this company tours here, their London playhouse will be taken over by another Old Vic contingent which now is touring Australia. This groups is headed by Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh.

Guild Tour.

Toronto has been added to the list of cities which this year will get to see one of Broadway's best companies—the Theatre Guild. The 1948-49 tour will be the Guild's most extensive since it was founded 29 years ago — a circuit of 30 cities.

It's a toss-up at the moment whether Robert McEnroe's "The Silver Whistle" or "Set My People Free" by Dorothy Heyward will be the first Guild production this year. Which ever is cast first will get first nod.

Show Time

Two Canadians have won parts in Clare Tree Major's touring children's companies. Robina Richardson of London, Ont., and Warner Burritt of Timmins, will tour the United States and Canada through the winter season playing to school and church groups. Both are graduates of the London (Ont.) Little Theatre's Summer School.

Deny Mosley To Visit United States

LONDON, Aug. 21 — (AP). — A member of Sir Oswald Mosley's staff at his country home in Wiltshire said to-day that Mosley is still in Britain and has no plans to visit the United States.

"Sir Oswald is somewhere about the farm right now," the staff member said, "and I have not heard he intended to go abroad."

A spokesman for the union movement, which Mosley heads, said here that "Sir Oswald Mosley has no intention of going to America."

Barred at Ports.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Times-Picayune Friday night says it has information that Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, is en route to the United States by ship and that immigration authorities have issued orders "to all ports to keep Mosley out."

The newspaper says its information came from immigration authorities whom it did not name.

It also says it had been learned from New York that Mosley is to appear in St. Louis at a rally with Gerald L. K. Smith, one-time Huey P. Long aide and now national director of the "Christian Nationalist Crusade."

At Washington, Immigration Commissioner Watson B. Miller said he had never heard of Mosley being en route to the United States nor of any order bing issued to keep him out.

Followers of Smith assembled in St. Louis Friday to form a new political party and nominate a candidate for President and Vice-President.

At St. Louis Smith said "a man of great prominence and importance" will be the principal speaker at the new party's closing convention session to-night. The speaker's name, he said, would be withheld until he is introduced.

Russ Soldier Helps

KITCHENER, Aug. 21 — (CP). Mrs. Matthew Kunsch,, 28-year-old refugee from Czechoslovakia, has arrived to live with relatives here and she credits her escape to the kindness of a Russian soldier. She said she was fleeting the Communist-dominated country when a squad of Soviet soldiers overtook their party but the sergeant in charge relented and took them to the border of the British zone.

THE LORD MAYOR OF LONDON, Sir Frederick Wells, is pictured holding the Olympic flag to a fanfare of trumpets, during the ceremony marking the closing of the XIV Olympiad. He received the flag for safe keeping until it is wanted for the next international games which will be held at Helsinki, Finland. Former British Olympic contestant Lord Burghley, an official at these Olympic Games, is shown in foreground-right.

Halifax Girl Beauty Queen

By KAY REX

HAMILTON, Aug. 21 — (CP). — A winsome blonde from Nova Scotia is this year's "Miss Canada."

Twenty-year-old Jean Ferguson of Halifax Friday night won title in competition with the looks — and brains — of 35 hand-picked beauties from many parts of Canada. Now she's fixed her grey-blue eyes on the "Miss America" crown, to be contested later at Atlantic City.

A chance at the latter honor was one of the awards she gained in winning the third Dominion beauty pageant here.

"I'm so proud to have won the folks back home gave me such a wonderful sendoff," the tall, young singer said in a "thank you" speech at the close of the gruelling four-hour contest.

In the audience were her mother and father, Mr and Mrs. R. A. Ferguson, who had travelled 1,200 miles from Halifax for the event.

Along with clothes, jewelry and a $3,000 scholarship to further her career — which already has begun as a singing radio star—Jean will have all her expenses paid to the Miss America pageant.

Youth prevents disaster stops runaway horse
WINS DOW AWARD

JEAN-PAUL ST. PIERRE OF MONTREAL
shows unusual courage in spectacular rescue of child from ice wagon

Seeing the danger to the child as well as to the pedestrians on the busy street, 17-year-old Jean-Paul St. Pierre ran out and leaped onto the wagon.

The little boy, waiting alone on the seat of the ice wagon, was not prepared for the sudden jolt which threw him off his balance. The horse, frightened by a truck, had reared and started to charge madly down the street. Several pedestrians tried to stop the runaway animal . . . and cars screeched to a stop when the careening ice wagon reached busy intersections.

JUMPS ON WAGON

17-year-old Jean-Paul St. Pierre saw the plight of the youngster and acted quickly. Running out on the street, he jumped on the wagon and grabbed the reins so firmly that they broke, throwing him into the ice blocks behind. Back on his feet, he told the child to hold on, and then leaped onto the horse's back. The plunging animal tried to throw him, but St. Pierre held on grimly . . . finally working his way to the neck of the horse and grabbing the bit with both hands . . . bringing the animal at last to a halt.

Grabbing the reins, he tugged at them with all his strength, in an effort to check the horse. But the reins snapped—and St. Pierre fell back among the ice blocks.

The heroic action of 17-year-old Jean-Paul St. Pierre, of Montreal, undoubtedly saved the life of the stranded child as well as the lives of many in the path of that wild race. We are proud to pay him tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

Rejects World GovernmentPlan

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21 (CP). — The CCF national convention on Friday rejected a proposal to include a world government plank in its international affair policy.

Under the proposal, the party would have been committed to giving up enough Canadian sovereignty—particularly over armaments and military forces — to enable a world government to function.

Delegates instead included a clause in their policy reiterating the party's belief in developing the United Nations "into an effective organ of government at the international level."

The national council statement called for:

1—An international police force under the United Nations.

2—General support for the UN and its agencies.

3—Support for the European Recovery Program and Canadian contribution to ERP.

4—Canadian support in strengthening the Western union of European nations.

5—Early completion of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Japan.

The discussion of international affairs came after the convention held lengthy sessions Thursday, at which three planks of the party's "first term" platform were adopted.

332 P.C. Delegates Coming From Quebec

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—(CP). —Ivan Sabourin, Progressive Conservative leader in Quebec and vice-president of the Federal party, in a brief released Friday, said that Quebec's delegation to the party's national convention opening in Ottawa Sept. 30 will number at least 322.

They have been drawn from all counties in Quebec and represent a "cross-section of every class of the electorate."

The convention has been called to name a successor to John Bracken, who last month announced he would resign the party leadership because of ill health.

5-Pound, 10-Oz. Pickerel Landed

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 21. — (ENS).— Twenty seconds after his first cast with a minnow hit the water at the first powerhouse on Friday evening, Ernie Abernethy, Campbellford's angling barber, was hauling in a 27-inch pickerel which tipped the scale at five pounds, 10 ounces, and measured 13 inches around the girth.

Mr. Abernethy feels that the pickerel may start to bite now that the weather has cooled a little, and he is usually right. Friday's catch would seem to prove his contention.

A high octane safety fuel which will not burn has been developed for use in airplanes.

BABE RUTH was always the hero of the small fry. He had often expressed the feeling that "making some kid happy was the best method of honoring a friend." These two youngsters, Russel Anderson, nine, and Michael Pelli, 10, were among the first to turn up with floral offerings at the Universal funeral parlor in New York. They are entrusting their offering to a police officer on duty at the parlor. The body of the Babe later went to the Yankee Stadium to lie in state until the funeral held on Thursday.

Damages of Sun Bathing Stressed By US Group

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. — A serious warning to sun bathers to guard their eyes against irreparable damage from sunlight and the misuse of sun glasses was issued today from the New York Headquarters of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, a national organization to protect the eyesight of the American people.

"Few people realize how little protection is given by even an expensive pair of sun glasses from the dangerous burning heat rays of the sun," said the executive director of the society, Dr. Franklin M. Foote, and he continued: "In fact the main danger of sun glasses is that the darker they are, the more they give you a false sense of security. Because the light is cut down, you feel that your eyes are safe — but actually, your eyes are less safe in many cases than without the glasses. Normally, the amount of light entering the eye is automatically controlled by the iris, the colored window of the eye which closes down in strong light to a mere pine point. But when dark glasses are worn and the bright light is cut down, the iris opens wider, but the glasses do not cut down the dangerous invisible heat rays, against which most sun glasses are no protection at all."

The tragic results of a failure to realize this basic danger of wearing sun glasses were stressed by Dr. Foote in telling of the case of a young girl who is now partially blind after one mistake during a few hours of sun bathing. Helen was a 20-year-old college girl. She wore very dark sun glasses, mainly because she thought they made her look "smart." Lying on her back on the sand, she found that her glasses were so dark that she could look straight into the sun and watch its great red ball of fire for several minutes without blinking. On her way home, she found she still saw a great black ball where the sun had been in her sight. We all know that effect — the "after-image" after looking into a very bright light, which gradually disappears after a few minutes. But Helen's after-image did not disappear, in fact it grew larger and blacker, until, in a panic, Helen went to an eye doctor. He broke the terrible news to her that she had burnt the central part of the "retina" — the part of the eye which actually "sees" — in each eye, just as a burning glass can burn a hole in a carpet. Now Helen will carry with her for the rest of her life and without hope of cure, a dark spot in the centre of her vision as a fatal souvenir of her sun bath in dark glasses on the beach.

Don't Look At The Sun

The executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness said that, of course, few people are quite as foolish as Helen in looking straight into the sun, for each holiday season, out of the twenty million people who buy sun glasses, many thousands find themselves with inflamed, swollen, irritated eyes, because they do not realize that even the best sun glasses provide almost no protection against the sun's burning heat rays. Discussing the difference between the various types of sun glasses, very cheap types of sun glasses were dangerous for other reasons also. These lenses may be made of ordinary colored glass, not ground or polished. Such lenses may distort objects — like looking through a bad window pane — thus causing eye fatigue.

Finally, Dr. Foote gave a set of simple rules for all holiday-makers who sun bathe and wear dark glasses:

1. Always remember that sun glasses, however dark, or however expensive, do NOT protect you against the dangerous burning heat rays of the sun.
2. Do not use sun glasses which seem to distort objects.
3. Wear your sun glasses only in the bright sunlight — and never, NEVER look straight at the sun.

Dorcas, a Woman of Good Works

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 9:36-42- Matthew 25:31-46.

In the town of Joppa lived a woman by the name of Tabitha or Dorcas, a disciple of Christ, and very charitable, making garments for the poor and giving money to the needy.

Dorcas was taken ill and died and all her friends, and the widows she had helped, gathered about her bier and wept, and as Peter was about nine miles from Joppa, they sent for him.

When Peter came to Dorcas' home, he sent all other friends out of the room where she lay, and prayed long and earnestly to the Lord to help him bring her back to them.

After praying for some time, Peter turned to the body of Dorcas and said, "Tabitha, arise." She opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up.

MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 25:40.

Wise Fisherman Knows Bait Must Attract The Fish

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said unto Simon: Fear not. From henceforth thou shalt catch men.—St. Luke 5: 10.

It is helpful to remember that Renan, a master of literature, looks upon this Gospel according to St. Luke as the most beautiful book ever written. Yet the ordinary Christian reads it as a book he ought to read. Perhaps you may strive to see something of this beauty in this story.

It is a pen picture in the life of Simon, important and unforgetable. From being an ordinary fisherman he becomes the great fisherman in the Church of the Living God. St. Luke, with the eye of an artist writes:—"When Simon Peter saw it he fell down at Jesus' feet saying: Depart from me for I am a sinful man, O Lord." If you are a fisheman you can see the astonishment in the eyes of Peter as he sees the wonderful catch. Yet you would never guess what he would say. Are you deeply moved when you read: "Depart from me for I am a sinful man, O Lord." It is a cry from his heart; it proves that he has qualifications for a higher service and office. Simon had looked into the eyes of the Pure One and his eyes are opened to see the contrast between himself and the Lord Jesus. This is the ideal of the Christian religion that " the pure in ehart shall see God." When men have caught a glimpse of the beauty of holiness in the face of Jesus Christ as soon in the Gospels they are filled with horror at their own wickedness.

The highly respectable Isaiah, moving in the highest social circles of his day, is meditating in the Temple when he has a vision of Jehovah. "I saw the Lord," he writes. He sees the contrast between his own respectability and the pureness of Jehovah. From his heart he cries: "Woe is me for I am a man of unclean lips, for mine eyes have seen the King."

The men in the other boats saw the multitudes of fishes, causing the boat to sink. They did not utter this cry. They only saw the fishes and enview Simon's good fortune.

The Lord is looking for men and as a wise Master he tests them, fell down at His feet crying "Depart from me for I am a sinful man." Simon had the spiritual faculty to see the Spiritual Presence and he responded to the revelation. You may have the faculty for art and stand in rapture before a lovely sunset. Have you the eye for spiritual things? Are you color blind spiritually?

St. Luke, with the touch of an artist closes the story with the though provoking words: "Jesus said unto Simon: Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men." The writer is a Greek, writing for the quick, subtle mind of his own people. The Greek word "catch" means "catch alive." They were to catch men alive; men who would live in this world and yet be dead to the things of this world. They were to be dead to the impurities, bitterness and selfishness around them. In this world they were to be alive unto God through Jesus Christ. They are to reveal in their characters something of His patience and sympathy, so that they also may catch others. They are to become "little Christs."

The wise fisherman knows that the bait must attract the fish. They cannot force the fish to bite. Is your religion attractive. You have lived beside some neighbour for many days. Suddenly the horror falls upon him — his beloved passes beyond. Would he naturally come to you for sympathy in his hour of agony? If so, thank God. Through you will pass some of the sympathy you have received from the Chief Fisherman. This ancient Scripture will come to your sorrowing friend with new meaning: "Come unto Me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give rest unto your sols." Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord.

I heard the voice of the Lord saying unto me: Whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me.

Dorcas Teaches Lesson

Scripture—Act 9:36-42; Matthew 25: 3-46.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

What is a good neighbor? He surely is one who is thoughtful and considerate of others in the neighborhood. A man who, when his neighbor is ill, cuts his lawn for him, shovels his coal, digs his paths, or performs other work around his home.

The woman who, when the family next door is in trouble, does whatever her hands find to do to help out—caring for the children, tidying up the house, baking some dainty for them.

Tabitha, who by interpretation, was called Dorcas, was such a good neighbor. Her activities were not confined to the people in her neighborhood in Joppa, her residence, we may judge, but extended to all those who were in need of help. She sewed garments for poor widows. She was liberal with her money when money was needed. She was beloved by all.

There never has been a time in the world when so many people needed our help, or we have had such a chance to exert our neighborliness for the whole world as today. People are hungry, in need of clothing, bedding, spiritual encouragement. Many good neighbors are at work packing boxes of food, clothing, blankets, etc., to be sent to many different parts of the world.

There are also good neighbors who do not send packages abroad, but visit the sick and needy at home and bring cheer and comfort to many. Both women's and men's organizations do much helpful work in this way— and children are very often the recipients of these good works.

Now it came to pass that the good Dorcas of our Bible story was taken sick and died. Her friends laid her in an upper chamber of her house, but they could not think of this fine woman as being dead. Even while they wept, they thought of the Apostle Peter, and knowing that he was only about nine miles away from Joppa, they sent for him, asking him to come to them as soon as possible.

Peter went with them as soon as he heard the news, and when he reached Dorcas' home in Joppa he went to that upper chamber where Dorcas was lying, finding there many widows and other who were weeping and telling one another about Dorcas' many gifts of coats and garments to them.

Peter turned them all out of the room because he wanted to be alone to ask a very special favor of the Lord. Kneeling down by the side of Dorcas' bed he prayed earnestly, then turning to the body, he said, "Tabitha, arise."

"And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up. And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up, and when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive."

When it became known throughout Joppa that Dorcas was come alive again, many people believed in the Lord.

The need for doing good works is spoken of many times in the Bible. Paul, in his letters to disciples, stresses the need of living good, helpful lives as well as having faith in Jesus. In 11 Corinthians he writes, that "we may abound to every good work." In Timothy 6:18, we read, "We should be rich in good works," and in I Timothy 5:10, "We should be ready unto every good work."

And finally, in Matthew 25:31-46, Jesus said that when He comes again in glory and separates the good from the bad, He will say to those on His right hand (the good), "Come ye blessed of My Father. . . For I was hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took Me in, I was naked, and ye clothed Me; I was in prison, and ye came unto Me."

Then the righteous questioned, "Lord, when saw we Thee an hungered, and fed Thee drink?. . . And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

There is no life happier than the one that abounds in good, unselfish deeds; none so miserable as his who has never learned to be a Good Neighbor, like Dorcas.

English Musician New Organist St. Paul's Church

Christopher Gledhill, music master at the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, England, has accepted the appointment of organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough. He will commence his new duties early in October.

Mr. Gledhill will succeed Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.CO., who for 27 years has served well St. Paul's and Peterborough. Mr. Chenhall suffered a heart attack over a year ago and late last fall asked to be relieved of his duties. However, he consented to carry on until his successor was ready to take over.

Mr. Gledhill comes to Peterborough highly recommended as an organist, pianist, teacher and choirleader, and he has been commended both in Europe, South Africa and England for his work on the concert platform and over the air.

Born in 1912, he was educated at Marlborough College, Wiltshire, the Royal College of Music, London, Oriel College, Oxford, where he was an organ scholar. In 1934 he took his B.A. degree, his bachelor of music degree in 1935, and after returning from war service, his M.A. degree in 1946.

Mr. Gledhill was organist, prior to the war, for one season at St. Mark's English Church, Florence, Italy, and on his return in 1937 to England he was appointed organist of Mortlake Parish Church, London, and remained there until the outbreak of war. He also held school posts, which entailed choir training and organ playing. In January, 1946, he was named music master at the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth. His duties included teaching of organ and piano, playing the organ on Sundays, taking choir practices, conducting congregational practises of some 500 cadets, writing and rehearsing incidental music to plays, taking classes in music appreciation, conducting the college orchestra, and he recently conducted the Choral Society of the town of Dartmouth in Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas."

His musical career was interrupted by the war, and he enlisted in September 6, 1939, was commissioned in February, 1941, and was released from the army in December, 1945, with the rank of captain after having served in England, France (1940 and 1944), Madagascar, Belgium and Holland.

Mr. Gledhill plans to organize classes as soon as possible after arriving in Peterborough, and a room is being provided for his studio at the church.

BIRTHDAYS ARE COMMON ENOUGH, but a birthday party held Friday for the two girls in the Top picture was the first they had ever had. They are Joan and Dorothy Dunk, 15 and 13 years old, who attend Confederation playground. The cake in front of the two girls was donated by a Peterborough baker. The Bottom picture shows Bob Stevens and Garry Kearns of King Edward playground, trying out a new game—tether tennis. Supervisors Winona Rostocky and Mary Craw look on.

Tether Tennis, Gay Party Feature Playground Menu

Two innovations in city playgrounds are keeping the children happy. One was an unusual birthday party, and the other is a new game—tether tennis. The birthday party was held at Confederation School playground for two sisters. Tether tennis has spread to every playground.

Introduced locally last week, tether tennis is fast becoming the most popular playground sport. The game is played with a tennis ball held in a crocheted bag, attached to a tough linen cord leading to the top of a ten-foot pole.

Six feet from the ground, a white strip is painted around the pole. Two players take part, standing at opposite sides of the pole outside a three-foot circle marked on the ground. The players attempt to hit the ball in opposite directions, so that ball and string will wind around the post.

Points are scored for the number of times the ball is wound around the pole above the white line. Usually 15 points are needed to win a game, but so popular has the game become that on most playgrounds children halt at five points to give others a chance to play.

Two sister, Joan, 15 and Dorothy, 13 Dunk, got the surprise of their lives Friday at Confederation playground, when Mrs. Lilian Hewitt, playground supervisor, brought out a three-foot long cake with 15 candles at one end and 13 at the other. The cake was the main part of the most unusual birthday part for either girl, and was donated by a Peterborough baker.

Joan and Dorothy stared at the cake, amazed, because never before had their birthdays been celebrated like this. But they made up for a lot of lost time on Friday.

Before the cake was presented, the King Edward Playground Dramatic group put on "Little Black Sambo" in which the lead was played by Tommy Meredith, and the part of the father by Ron Murduff, the mother being Patsy McDougall.

At noon the children had a picnic lunch to which each child brought sandwiches. In the afternoon Mrs. Hewitt held races and games for the small children, with ice cream for prizes.

Claims Orders Not Received To Cut Hydro

Ross Dobbin, Peterborough Utilities manager, said Friday that he had received no official word of restrictions in hydro. A Canadian Press story of Friday said that stores and offices will be limited to two wats for each square foot of floor area during business hours, and 20 watts for each foot of width in show windows between 4.30 and 9 p.m.

"As far as I know, most of these things are rumors," Mr. Dobbin said. "I don't know when restrictions will be enforced, and I won't know anything about them until orders are issued. When it comes, it will be about the same as last spring."

The Canadian Press story said the power - saving regulations were announced by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and that "officials said the restrictions probably would be effective October 1."

THREE "GLAD" SHOWS

Three gladioli shows all in one day. Must be a great number of people planting them every spring. First there is the "glad" show of the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society, and also at the armories the "glad" section of the Horticultural Society's show ending tonight. And finally, the big display of gladioli on the farm market this morning. The potatoes and the beets, peppers and string beans were in grand company. They were almost hidden by the rich blend of colors.

62 New Homes Being Built In Ashburnham

Ashburnham has a definite edge as far as home building goes in Peterborough. Since April a totalof 62 building permits have been issued for that part of the city alone. The south end is running a close second with 44 permits issued. Trailing behind are the north and west ends, where 14 and 17 have been issued.

Cost of the houses averages close to $6,000. Only one permit was issued for a house expected to cost more than $10,000 and one for a bunday expected to cost less than $2,000.

Caddy and Beverly streest in Ashburnham are the heaviest building areas for that district, while Brookdale on Reid St. is perhapes one of the heaviest in the city, with 54 houses under construction.

Fine Two Men For Having Ducks

LINDSAY, Aug. 21 (ENS). — Another conviction has been registered under the Migatory Birds Act. Two Bobcaygeon men, Matthew and Percy Nichols, pleaded guilty to having migatory birds in cold storage lockers and were fined $10 and costs of $9, each.

Evidence showed that the birds were shot previous to March 31st but when RCMP Inspector G. B. Pickering of Cobourg, found the wild ducks in the locker the charge was laid. The ducks will be handed over to the Victoria County Home for the Aged.

A flare-up took place in court when Officer Pickering stated that police constables were entitled to 20 cents a mile, each way. Barrister R. I. Moore disputed the mileage costs claiming they could only be collected one way. The officer was right.

Oshawa Man Pays $25 Fine In Lindsay

LINDSAY, Aug. 21—(CP)—A charge of dangerous driving aganst Wilbert Charlton, 53, of Oshawa, was dismissed in police court Friday by Magistrate A. E. Gee. Charlton was convicted on a second charge of careless driving and fined $25 plus $18 costs. Charlton was the driver of a car which sideswiped a loaded dump truck driven by Melburn Middleton, Lindsay, on a curve north of here. The rear dual wheels of the truck were knocked off and the Charlton car was demolished along the left side. No one was injured.

Fresh Vegetables Near Pre-War Prices Boon To Housewives Hit By High Costs

Vegetables are dropping to pre-war prices, and soon tomatoes may be selling at 35 cents a six-quart basket, Tony DeNoble, manager of the Modern Fruit Shop, said today. He believes prices are down due to the good crops, and the fact that many home-owners who have a bit of spare ground are setting out vegetables in it.

"For these reasons, farmers aren't selling too well. They see that, and consequently offer their goods at lower prices. That means that we can pass the saving on to the housewife," Mr. DeNoble said.

Cucumbers, cabbage, cauliflower, are all down, and some cucumbers are selling at five cents each. Celery costs 15 to 19 cents a bunch and carrots are selling for 15 cents a pound. This may take some of the sting out of the cost of meat.

Trees Needed Don't Cut Them, Rehill Suggests

Harold T. Rehill of the Exhibition Board suggested this morning that removal of the beheaded elms on the south side of Lansdowne St. at Morrow Park should be indefinitely delayed by the parks committee of the council. The proposal is herewith passed on to Ald. Herbert Young, chairman of that committee.

"There was some talk of taking out that long row of trees this fall," Mr. Rehill said. "If that is done this year the leafy appearance of the street will be ost, and it would look decidedly bare until young trees are planted and growing inside the fence. The elms are not going to do any harm for a year or two. Their tops are not yet near the telegraph wires above them, and for that reason I don't think we should be in any hurry about taking them out and spoiling the exterior look of the park. That is the way it appeals to me on second thought."

One of the main improvements in buildings is the conversion of the long shooting gallery of the military camp into lavatories where plumbers were speeding up installation this morning.

The Lansdowne St. fence has been replaced by the heavy wire type that is genrally used around industrial plants. Some of the barn roofs have been painted a bright red. A new cow barn was about three-quarters completed. It has to be roofed and the exterior painted. G. A. Gillespie said it would be ready for the opening next Thursday.

The job of changing the park back to civil uses, begun by Stan Lowe, was in the stage of finishing touches in grading and leveling. Pipe lines were being laid to the barns which provides more space than ever for livestock.

Meanwhile small boys who were in the cradle when the Exhibition gave way to military invasion in August 1940 were playing baseball in the centre of the racetrack oval. They have never seen an Exhibition here. Children who were then seven or eight are now in their midteens, with hazy memories of the show. Time has moved on, and the Exhibition directors are now trying to catch up with it again.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Prairie Harvest No Longer Colorful Scene of Yesteryear

REGINA, Aug. 21 (CP)—Much of the color has gone from the Prairie harvest scene along with the toil once involved in reaping Canada's top commercial commodity.

Power machinery — more and more in evidence since the early 30s — has slashed the labor demand and speeded up harvest operations.

But Saskatchewan's farmers girding for the annual onslaught that puts them on top in Canadian wheat production, still know they're heading for days that may last 18 hours or more.

From early August till late September ranks generally as harvest time. Early-ripening wheat has been developed to speed operations and beat the deadly fall frost that has plagued Saskatchewan farmers since the turn of the century when wheat changed the province from an outpost.

The farmer may be delayed — as this year — by a late spring and tardy rains. Oh his operations may be suspended by early snow.

Preceding those harvests of the past were special excursion trains that huffed westwards laden with husky men from Cape Breton's coal fields, Maritime lumber camps, Quebec and Ontario farms and factories.

For fabulous meals, a bunkhouse bed and $6 to $10 a day—big money when a nickel bought a cigar—they tramped behind horse-drawn binders to pile sheaves into stooks that dotted wheat fields in regular patterns.

Used Stationary Thresher

Then with racks, they loaded the sheaves and drove to the stationary thresher where straw belched out one spout and grain out another.

Hungry men — a light eater wasn't considered a good worker —were fed five times a day by a harassed housewife whose main fear was rain that would halt threshing and leave stranded on her hands hordes of mouths to feed.

That scene began to fade with the advent of the combine or reaper-thresher that cut and threshed the grain in one operation. During the last decade many farmers continued using the ald stationary thresher because they couldn't afford to buy new equipment.

With the return of wheat and markets, there appeared tractors and combines to cut the seasonal migration to a comparative trickle. Only 500 workers are expected for the Prairies this year.

A modern crew of three men, a truck and a self-propelled combine methodically threshes as much in a day as three times that number of men could have managed formerly.

And in good grain country where heavy soil ensures top yields, a fine midnight in harvest time will show a dozen outfits rumbling steadily through the crop, their brilliant headlights shining for miles.

Meanwhile, rusting and weed-grown in almost any farm-yard corner if it hasn't been sold for scrape, is the old stationary thresher sitting beside a binder or two and perhaps an antique steam engine or old-style gasoline job. Today's harvesting doesn't have tha personal touch.

Marks Princess' 18th Birthday

LONDON, Aug. 21. (AP) — Princess Margaret abandons her role of little sister today.

It is her 18th birthday and a solemn occasion for the merry princess whose wit and personality have endeared her to the entire commonwealth.

All her life, Princess Margaret has been overshadowed by her older sister, Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the throne of Britain. But now Margaret must shoulder some of the duties of state.

The latest name to be linked romantically with hers is that of the Marquess of Blandford, 22-year-old heir to the Dukedom of Marlborough and a Kinsman of Winston Churchill.

Lord Blandford is one of the guests at Balmoral Castle in Scotland today, where the Royal family is celebrating Margaret's birthday. The celebration calls for a family dinner and dancing as part of a modest observance. Messages and gifts have been pouring into Balmoral and Buckingham palaces for the princess.

Efficient Girl

The young princess doesn't smoke. She drinks only a little champagne now and then. She can cook, make beds, shop and run household gadgets if need be.

Many consider the princess the most photogenic of the Royal family. Her hair, which shows dark in photographs, actually is fair. Her complexion is creamy, scarcely needing the makeup she uses more lavishly than the King and Queen like. She has large blue eyes which are merry and inquisitive, and at times pensive.

The princess isn't overawed by affairs of state. Nothing could illustrate this fact better than an incident during the Royal family's tour of South Africa in 1947. Margaret and Elizabeth were standing in a garden during a farewell dance party tendered the visiting royalty. Elizabeth, after a while, turned to her sister and said:

"We'd better be getting back now."

Margaret replied promptly:

"You go back and look after your empire. I'll take care of myself."

Money Spent On Insulation Pays Largest Dividends

Of all the dollars you invest in a house, those that you spend for proper insulation will pay the greatest dividends. Most of them will return to you in a year or two, and still keep on saving you money for the full life of the building. And in addition to tangible returns in cash saved, proper insulation will declare extra dividends in comfort and health.

In new houses the net cost of insulation is slight. Sometimes, particularly when insulating materials are used to supplant other structural or surfacing materials, their use may actually cost nothing. In calculating the cost of insulation one must credit against it the savings that result from using a smaller boiler or furnace and smaller radiators than would be necessary if the same house were not insulated. These savings cut down the investment; subsequent fuel savings retire the balance and pay the dividends.

Big Loss in Side Walls

The function of insulation is to retard the flow of heat through the enclosing walls, floors and roof of a house. In winter heat flows outward; in summer it flows in. In one locality figures showed that the side walls accounted for about 60 per cent of the heat loss in winter, the roof 40 per cent. In summer the conditions were reversed: two-thirds through the side walls. While these calculations are by no means conclusive, they indicate that for all-year comfort and economy, it is important to insulate both side walls and roof with equal effectiveness.

These proportions related only to the heat movement that could be reduced by using proper insulation materials in the enclosing surfaces. In addition, heat is lost or gained through the glass in windows and the thin panels in doors; through cracks in and around these openings; and through the leaking of air in and out of the building. Of all the heat generated in a house in winter approximately 26 per cent is lost through thin panes of glass, 10.7 per cent is required to heat air that leaks in and the balance 63.3 per cent goes out through side walls, roof and cellar door.

In summer a slightly different situation exists. Of all the heat entering the house from out-of-doors - 23 per cent comes in through windows (unless shaded), 6.3 per cent through leakage of air and the balance of 70.7 per cent through side walls and roof.

Cut Down Loss 50 Per Cent.

Under winter conditions this means that in addition to insulation, definite economy and freedom from drafts and cold spots can also be gained by using double glass in windows (storm sash, or double panes) and weatherstripping on all windows and outside doors. Actually double glass will cut losses through windows about 50 per cent; good weatherstripping will reduce infiltration losses up to 90 per cent or more.

In summer, weatherstripping remains effective but ordinary double glazing does not—at least not to the same relative extent as in winter. It seems to cut down heat transmission from the air, but double glazing is only of slight value in reducing the direct heat of the sun. This can only be checked effectively by shade outside of the glass, such as by trees in full leaf, awnings, Venetian blinds and shutters.

The extent to which insulation will reduce the remaining losses varies widely and depends upon the quality and character of the construction as planned without insulation.

Since houses of different designs vary widely in windows, roof and wall areas it is not possible to say how much can be saved in first cost of heating or cooling equipment or in fuel without having all the facts at hand. But there is no standard type of construction that cannot be improvements in a relatively few years.

Because many variable factors are involved there is no point in attempting to compare the four major kinds of insulation except in the most general terms.

Rigid fibre board insulations have this merit; they can often be used structually in place of other materials, as for sheathing, as a base for plastering, or as an interior finish, and therefore may do two jobs for the price of one.

Blanket type insulations, usually flexible materials consisting of fibres of some sort encased in paper or waterproof sheeting play no structural part but possess technical qualities that bring them much popularity.

Fill type insulation, including rock wool, glass wool and other mineral fibres, granules and powders of many sorts have enjoyed much popularity in recent years. They are very effective insulators because they must be used (under most conditions) in thicknesses of from 2 to 4 inches. Those of a mineral nature are fire barriers because they stop fire travelling through the hidden air spaces they occupy.

Reflective insulations, usually consisting of metal foils in some form, derive their insulating value in a manner totally different from the three other types. They possess the property of reflecting back toward the source a large part of the heat that seeks to pass across the hollow spaces in walls, ceiling and roofs.

Hunters Hired To Kill Deer

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Aug. 21 (CP).—Deer, wild pigs and goats multiply so rapidly in New Zealand that hunting instead of being a rich man's sport can be indulged in at the expense of the state.

The rapidly increasing herds of game damage forest reserves and the pastures of back-country farms. The government has found that amateur hunters cannot keep the herds in check and employs parties of professional cullers to deal with areas where the game is causing most damage.

These men earn a good living and to anyone with a love of the outdoors they lead a life to be envied. During the spring, summer and autumn they operate from camps established in wild forest country or in the mountains. Chamois and thar — or goat antelope — as well as several kinds of deer are among the game which falls to their rifles and the stalking calls for a high degree of skill.

Strategy and tactics are planned at conference in the winter and the hunters are allocated to the localities which most need attention. The parties then study their areas and decide whether to work outward from a central point, to work inward from the circumference, or to drive the game to an area favorable for shooting.

Some of the cullers get enormous bags. Two men have secured 50 thar in a day, and on occasion parties have shot 200 deer in a day. A party of five once killed 800 goats, the easiest prey, in a single day. The individual records are 68 deer to one rifle in a day and 1,400 a season.

Vienna Situation Parallels Berlin In Many Respects

By HUBERT HARRISON

VIENNA, Aug. 21 (Reuters)—The Berlin crisis has caused many Viennese to ask anxiously: "Could the same thing happen here?"

Superficially, the situation is much the same. The Western Allies are occupying a large part of Vienna. Vienna, as Berlin, is surrounded by Russian-controlled territories through which the Allies can maintain land communications with their own zones only over roads and railways which run through many miles of Soviet territory. But there the similarity with Berlin seems to end.

And while uneasiness is felt in Vienna at events in Berlin, there is reason to hope, as the Western Allied commanders seem to do, that co-operation will not break down and the present reluctant but fairly effective joint control will continue.

Vienna is not fed, as are the British, French and American sectors of Berlin, by the occupation powers. There is a central Austrian government and the feeding of the whole country, including Vienna, is in its hands.

Even if they were cut off by road and rail, the Western Allies would have to bring in by air only enough supplies for their comparatively small staff in Vienna.

A further difference in the situation is that, whereas the German people have never been allowed free movement between the Russian zone and the western zones, the Austrian people have the right to pass freely from one zone to another and to transport goods.

Free Movement Guaranteed.

If this right were taken away, it would be a direct breach of the the control agreement drawn up and operated with Russian consent.

Even more important is the fact that, if free movement of supplies between the zones were prevented, the Russian zone as well as Vienna as a whole would soon be starving. More than 60 per cent of the food consumed in the Russian zone of Austria is supplied by the Americans.

If this were cut off, either the Russians would have to feed 2,500,000 Austrians or take the responsibility for starving them.

There is still another difference between Vienna and Berlin. In the eastern zone of Germany the Russians have control of the people through the Communist-controlled Socialist Unity (SED) party; in Austria the anti-Communist Socialist party is the strongest group in the Russian zone and the Austrian police and public authorities are controlled by the central government which is a coalition of the right-wing People's Party and the Socialists.

The Austrian people would like to see all the Allied forces leave Vienna and Austria, but except for a Communist minority they would not like the Western Allies to leave unless the Russian go too.

If the Russians tried to squeeze the Western Allies out they would find themselves faced everywhere with an antagonistic people who would become more and more difficult to control as they began to feel the lack of food supplies from the American zone.

Tannery Mgr. From Omemee Gives Evidence

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—Testimony Thursday before the Prices Commission, engaged in an investigation of leather and shoe prices, for the third day running reflected the tanning industry's uneasiness over currently high leather prices.

Charles Shaw, owner of the North American Leather Co., Ltd., of Omemee, predicted that competition "over the next six months is going to be exceedingly keen."

He said he believed leather prices might fall.

Similar to other witnesses who have appeared before the commission in its current probe, he expressed uneasiness over the Argentine policy of holding large quantities of hides off the market.

Witnesses have told the commission that, although there is some secrecy about it, they believe the Argentine Government is holding back something like 2,500,000 hides, resulting in the possibility of a sharp break in prices if they are suddenly offered for sale. When he was asked his ideas about the future hide and leather market, Mr. Shaw countered with the question:

"What is Peron going to do?"

Mr. Shaw said his firm's sales in the first six months of the year had fallen from $521,000 for 1947 to $225,000 for 1948.

He estimated the firm's loss in the first portion of this year at $12,000. In the first eight months of 1947 its profit was $12,500.

Yesterday, Roy Stuart, president of the Tanners' Association of Canada, said that the Government removed price controls from hides and leather last year despite the desire of the tanning industry to see them retained.

Record Crowd Attends Carnival

COBOURG, Aug. 21 — (ENS) —Attendance Thursday night of the opening of Cobourg Rotary Club carnival set a record. Always note for good prizes, the Rotary Club excelled itself in the quality of the merchandise in the various booths and at the big wheel. A high class free vaudeville show which ran for a half hour commencing at eight p.m., had the effect of a big crowd on hand by the time the booths were ready to swing into action. A Mixmaster was the opening prize in the bingo booth and drew the ladies like a bargain sale at the Nylon counter. One of the most popular booths on the ground, particularly in view of high meat prices, was the booth where hams went to the winners. It was in charge of Mayor Joseph Smith. The attendance prize went to Mrs. Rose Wass.

Police Select Peterborough Convention Site

CHATHAM, Anug. 21 (CP). — The public are "tired of lawlessness which has been evidenced in connection with labor disputes," said C. R. Magone, KC, of the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, Friday night in an address to the closing session of the Ontario Police Association's convention.

Mr. Magone called on labor leaders to insist on respect for law and order and the administration of justice.

Referring to an incident at Hamilton recently when a number of seamen were taken off a vessel by rival unionists and forcd to by rival unionists and forced to run barefoot ahead of a jeep, Mr. Magone said police are trying to discover the perpetrators of the outrage. "If they are connected with labor organizations, officers and law-abiding members should disclose to the police any information which will help them."

The convention selected Peterborough as the site of next year's gathering.

Mr. Magone warned police officers should not be concerned with the merits or demerits of any labor dispute. The only question to be determined is whether the law of the land is being protected. "Whether or not a strike is justified I suggest is not for you to consider." That is the position we take in our department when we receive requests for Provincial Police assistance for local police officers.

"Individuals in this country have the right to work any place they want. No person or brand of persons has any right by intimidation of any individual or his family or by force to compel him to abstain from doing what he has every right to do."

Commit Fred Aldred For Trial In Murder

TORONTO, Aug. 21 — Fred Aldred, 21-year-old Claremont youth, was committed for trial by Magistrate Atkinson yesterday on a charge of murdering William Cowan, 57, Malvern storekeeper who was shot with his own gun on August 1.

Aldred and May Hill, 17, with whom he had eloped the day before the killing, were committed for trial on joint charges of break-in and theft.

The Crown closed its murder case at an earlier hearing Tuesday, when Magistrate Atkinson signified he intended to commit Aldred, but Defence Counsel Harry Rose insisted on calling other Crown witnesses when Crown Counsel George Guardhouse refused to do so.

Make 2nd Strike In British Columbia

GOLD BRIDGE, B.C., Aug. 21 (CP)—Reports of a second uranium strike in the Bridge River district Thursday added fresh impetus to the prospecting race.

The new strike is on property under option to Egil Lorentzen of Vancouver, located near the claim of Ernest Johnson, who pioneered the rush.

Johnson, who is in partnership with Lorentzen for the development of ore-rich properties, announced his find last Saturday. His claim is about 120 air miles north of Vancouver.

The announcement touched off a deluge of professional and amateur prospectors.

Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines for British Columbia, warned the public "not to lose their heads" over the strike.

"We don't want to get too excited yet," he said.

Dr. Walker confirmed Johnson's earlier find, and said ore contained uranium. No analysis of the content has yet been made public.

PCVS Students Will Choose "Bump" Silhouette In Skirts With Pretty Sweaters, Waists

By MARGARET LANCASTER

The spotlight is on Young Miss Peterborough who has just two more weeks in which to acquire her school wardrobe for fall 1948. Many only "slightly veiled" hints have been hurled at parents lately in regard to the length of those skirts in her closet. But cost of everyday living being what it is, the family purse strings haven't been able to provide a complete "new look" outfitting as yet.

Naturally, a wardrobe that will pay dividends can't be assembled with a couple of hours last-minute shopping, or a frantic Saturday-morning-rush downtown for something to wear—almost anything. Rather it is done with careful planning, keeping femininity in mind this time, as well as practicality.

The "bump silhouette" will make the biggest contribution to the fashion scene in PCVS halls this September. This is an effect achieved by hip flanges, huge inset pockets with wide bulky flaps, or fancy gathered pockets stitched on at the side seams. Cheerful colors predominate in these skirts of plaids and tartans or single color wool crepes. A new plaid being featured is the King George, and other nice ones noticed are named Prince of Wales, Black Stewart and Hunting McKinnon. The lines are mostly quite straight with no slits or flares and there are lots of buttons on skirts. Zippers are set in the centre back seam, and one smart plaid model has a belt coming from the sides to be looped over at back with a real Scottish air. Another attractive style has an apron front pointed to one side, with covered buttons spaced across the front.

Students are still wanting those soft wool "sloppy Joe" cardigans and sweaters and there are boxes and boxes of them in local stores. However, the v-neckline, tight-at-waist cardigan is newer and probably will be popular. Two-tone sweaters with Swiss style embroidery are coming in and will be conveniently priced. The girls no langer want wardrobes of sweaters as they did a few years ago, but a good sweater is rated essential. The dainty feminine blouses they choose may have short, long, or push-up sleeves and be trimmed with lace, tucks or frills. And they are still partial to flannel blazers, though the separate jacket has lost its once favored place.

Over-shoulder bags remain popular, made of water-repellent bengaline. The new all-purpose raincoats have very full backs with slits at the side for a belt that hugs the waist, and all have hoods. Fall coats for later on are loose-backed models of wool blanket cloth and velour and almost all have quilted linings and a hood of plain velvet, simulated leopard, or matching material.

Rumor has it that skirts are to be shorter, but for early fall they will still cover all but 12 inches of the Canadian girl's leg. However they won't have the bulky yardage and swirl of last year, except for date and dress-up wear when they have this season's "back" movement. Long full skirts get caught in bicycle wheels and trail on classroom floors they say so they ask for them to be slim and gored with easy fullness.

For their feet, students will choose low vamps and closed toes in preference to the ankle strap variety. It is a pleasure to note unpolished sloppy loafers worn with ankle sox are absolutely passe since the acceptance of long skirts.

THE STOCKHOLM NEWSPAPER Dagens Nyheter recently identified the "Swedish Kosenkina" as Lydia Makarova (above), 19-year-old music prodigy. Miss Makarova has refused to leave Sweden and return to Russia as requested by the Soviet Embassy. She said she had fled to Sweden in 1944 after her mother had died at Leningrad. A spokesman said the Swedish Foreign Office has turned down repeated requests that the girl be sent back to Russia and told the Russian Embassy to "leave the girl alone."

How To Clean Flower Vases

In the rush of summer life, the cleaning of the vases in which flowers have spent the best days of their lives is often one of the chores that is skipped. It doesn't take very long before the insides of the vases are discolored. A particularly dark and dirty line marks the height at which the water stood. The scent of the vases is, to say the least, unappetizing.

Take an hour off and collect the containers (bowls too) that are frequently used. If they are of metal, the proper cleanser for that metal, used inside and out, will restore them to their original beauty.

China, pottery and glass vases are not so easily cleaned, especially if they are so slender that it is impossible to put a hand inside of them.

Soak Vase

The first thing to do is to soak the vase (or the bowl) thoroughly. One of the following may be used in the water: Soap, one of the soapless detergents, vinegar, ammonia, borax or a household bleach. Sometimes one of these works, while another doesn't. It may be worthwhile to try all of them, not all at once of course, but one after the other.

If the soaking does nothing else, it will soften the stain. Using a household cleanser, such as is used on sinks or bathtubs usually gets rid of the water level stain and the worst of the brownish encrustation on the rest of the container. A gentle cleanser of this type may be used on the finest china or glassware, provided it is used on a soft cloth and used gently.

Bottle Brush

In the very narrow containers—try a bottle brush. It is a good idea to keep an old one on hand for vases. A tooth brush (an old one of course) comes in handy for scrubbing hard-to-reach corners of odd-shaped containers and the raised ornamentation on others.

A handful of coarse sand or small pebbles may often be used with a little water to scour the bottom of a tall container. Put sand or pebbles and water in the container, then rotate the container so the sand hits against bottom and sides.

Sometimes a pottery container is so porous that water stains on furniture result very time the piece is used. Try this cure. Let milk, skimmed of its cream, stand at room temperature to sour. Fill the container with the sour milk sans cream. Let stand for 48 hours. Throw milk away and rinse the container.

Annabeth Riedel Is Bride Of Stewart Wright Today

A pretty background of gladioli and sweet peas was arranged in Knox United Church today for the wedding ceremony uniting Annabeth Riedel of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. John Wesley Riedel, Kelliher, Sask., and John Stewart Wright, son of Mrs. John Wright and the late Mr. Wright of Peterborough. Their vows were taken before the Rev. H. G. Douglas.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Nolan Riedel of Toronto, the bride wore a gown of white silk bengaline, styled with a military jacket with deep peplum at the waist, and a very full skirt. Her veil was a finger-tip length and caught to a military peak headdress to match her dress. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Winnifred Wright, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, was frocked in turquoise brocaded taffeta and wore a peaked headdress of matching material. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

Mr. Bruce Wright was his brother's attendant. The ushers were Gordon Lupton and Harold Wilson.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Claude Shewen sang "I Love You Truly," and was accompanied by Mr. Cecil Lapp at the organ, who also played the wedding music.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Wright, mother of the groom, who received in a printed silk jersey dress on which she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following their honeymoon at Orillia, Mr. and Mrs. Wright will reside at 368 Water St. For going away the bride wore a wine suit with black accessories, and corsage of roses.

Wives Air Their Pet Peeves Against Delinquent Mates

A young girl who is about to be married asks what faults in a husband does a wife find it hardest to endure? Well, that's a hard question to answer, for women have different standards of conduct for their husbands, and the fault that one wife could laugh off would burn another wife up.

Dorothy Dix

But, generally speaking, I think that the grievance that gets most on the nerves of the majority of wives is for their husbands to take them for granted. It gives them a shock from which they never recover. During the days of courtship they have been fed up on flattery and to be suddenly deprived of this and put on a plain, but nutritious, diet is more than they can stand. As long as a husband takes an interest in holding his wife's hands, she will work them to the bone for him. But if she has to put on gloves to keep her hands warm, she qualifies for the martyr class.

Fault number two, which is a pet peeve with wives, is for their husbands to admire any other woman. They may know that their Toms, or Harrys are as domestic as the house cat and that they couldn't lose them if they tried, but nonetheless they expect their husbands to wear blinders when a good looker is around.

Reading Habit

Gripe number three is for a husband to be a bookworm. Most wives consider it the unpardonable sin for their husbands to spend their evenings wrapped up in their newspapers, instead of taking them stepping. The basis of many a divorce is a husband's "huh huh" when his wife was trying to tell him about how cute the baby acted, or how the price of butchers' meat had gone up.

The fourth grievence that wives have against their husbands is that they don't remember anniversaries, and when their wives remind them that this is the day they first met or the day they became engaged, or the day they got married, they just mumble: "Is that so?" And go on with their breakfast. No wife ever gets over this, or having her husband say: "Here's a check. Get yourself something. I don't know what you want." There was a day when he did remember her taste.

The fifth thing that sends wives to the Wailing Wall is for their husbands to criticize everything they do and say and to hold up some other woman as a model for them. Be sure the one thing a woman never forgets is when her husband tells her, after she has been up all night with a sick baby, how old she looks. Or calls her a fool when she has made some mistake. Or when he growls over the bills that she has slaved trying to keep down.

And the sixth and perhaps the most aggravating fault that husbands have is being scatterers who hang up their clothes on the floor; who strew newspapers and cigarette butts all over the place, and who leave the bathroom looking as if a cyclone had passed through it.

These are minor faults of husbands with which wives have to contend, but they are a blessing in disguise, for they give women a chance to exercise their traditional virtues of patience and forgiveness. Besides which, a wife could stand living with a perfect husband.

6—In Memoriam

BOOTH—In loving memory of Leslie Booth, who passed away August 21, 1946.
We cannot say, we will not say,
That he is dead, he is just away,
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughter Loretta.

BOOTH—In loving memory of Thomas Leslie Booth, who died August 21, 1946.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day
But never will the one I love
From memory pass away.
—Sadly missed by his mother.

McLEAN, William D. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away August 22, 1946.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

Rambling Reporter

WHAT, NO TABLES?

Another weekend is rolling around, one with nice weather, we hope, as hundreds of city people will be thinking of a pleasant Sunday picnic somewhere on the Kawarthas. Many of them, judging from last Sunday's 35 parked cars, will be going to that grand old standby, Burleigh Falls. With all the picnickers that have been going to Burleigh this year, and years before that, there is still no park accomodation in the way of tables or benches. There are two benches on the right approach to the iron highway bridge on highway ground that have been installed by the provincial department, but east, along the "Edgewater Drive," there are none. There are no containers for waste, no firewood, no fireplaces, and since people are going to have their family picnics there, come trash or high water, what can they do? The land is owned by the Department of Transport, and we are not prepared to say if they are inclined toward making pleasant spots for their taxpayers or not. The MP across the channel would endear himself to hundreds of citizens if he were to make some enquiries in Toronto. By now, the garbage-littered rocks must be easily visible from his fine home across the channel, and after all, people from the decent average home would welcome some of these picnic aids if they could be secured.

Just a passing bow to beds of flowers, pleasing to the pedestrian eye, made possible by some person's interest and effort. The heavenly blue morning glories out near Ald. BEWILDERED MOTORIST

Motorists zooming toward Toronto on the north lane of the four lane Queen Elizabeth road this week got a shock when they saw an ancient truck going the opposite direction on the same road. Soon a Provincial Police car came screaming up the south road and the officer headed off the errant motorist. He was ordered to turn around on the highway and get going in the opposite direction. It was a treat to see the look on the cop's face and also the look on the truck-driver's face. The latter appeared to be a foreigner and after the advice he got from the officer it is not likely that he will get on the wrong lane again.

FRIDAY, FISH DAY?

The fact that Friday has been called "Fish Day" for generations has finally crept into the common usage in the Editorial room when hardly an hour goes by that does not produce a tourist or townsman with his largest catch to be photographed and written up. But Friday of this week, to the amazement of the reporting staff, did not produce a single Isaac Walton; they have come to the conclusion that every day BUT Friday is fish day.

BACK IN HER IRON LUNG in Los Angeles general hospital, Mrs. Maurine Luker, infantile paralysis victim, gazes proudly at her baby, born to her via caesarian section while other doctors operated on her throat so that she could breathe during delivery. The delivery is acclaimed a miracle of modern medicine, for doctors here say it is probably the first time in medical history that a caesarian section was used on a poliomyelitis patient.

CCF Convention Considers Steel, Coal Socialization

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21 — (CP). — Already embarked on several major Socialist policies, the C.C.F. National Convention today got down to final study of its "first-term" program of socialization.

Due for consideration — and virtually certain to be written into the platform — were planks calling for socialization of coal and steel industries and the fuel industries such as gas, oil and electricity. That "socialization" would take the form either of state or co-operative ownership.

Plans adopted in the last two days included public ownership of the ranks and of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The party, by order of the convention, is committed to putting the socialization measures into effect in its first term as a Federal government.

Other Measures

Public or co-operative ownership of industries affecting agriculture also would be a C.C.F. commitment under the farm plank adopted Friday. Industries to be socialized in this way would take in the manufacture of farm machinery and fertilizer and the meat-packing business.

As already adopted, chief points in the farm program include:

1. Guaranteed prices for farmers.
2. A National Marketing Act.
3. Adoption of the "ever-normal granary" principle.
4. Crop insurance that would take in such products as grains, flax, potatoes and fruit.

Adoption of the first eight sections of the 13-point farm program went through without major dissent but a furore was stirred up over the national council proposal to give unqualified endorsement to the European recovery program.

The endorsement was given, but only after the national leadership had hauled out heavy artillery to bat down demands from sections of Manitoba and British Columbia for a condemnation of United States administration of E. R. P.

The debate hit such a pitch that National leader M. J. Coldwell — joining in a discussion for the first time of the convention — charged Communistinspired propaganda against E. R. P. had infiltrated into the C.C.F.

Mr. Coldwell urged the delegates not to "waste time discussing Communist propaganda."

After hearing the national officers, the convention — which has 165 voting delegates — adopted the E. R. P. endorsation with only two dissenters.

TOMMY HARRINGTON, 11, accused of the July 21 slaying of Mrs. Daisy Ebling in an attempted holdup, is shows leaving the Martinez, Calif., courthouse elevator with Undersheriff Al Aljets. After a stormy session in the chambers of Superior Court Judge Harold Jacoby at which Defence Attorney George T. Davis charged the proceedings were "unlawful", Tommy was made a ward of the juvenile court and ordered committed to a state reformatory.

Port Hope Takes Lacrosse Game

In an intermediate game on Thursday night in Port Hope, Peterborough was defeated by the homesters to a 14-4 count, witnessed by a large crowd. That makes it 3-2 in the best of seven series for the Petes. It was a fast game, with Port Hope drawing most of the penalties. The next game is slated for Port Hope on Wednesday.

Emerson and Saunders were best for Port Hope while George Hill went well for the Petes with 2 goals as did Crowley and Roach with one each.

Fined $10 And Costs For Selling Minnows

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 21 — (ENS). — Taking minnows for bait for resale without being in possession of a special license cost Arthur Dupuis, Hastings, a $10 fine with $17.50 costs, before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., here Friday.

Considerable argument ensued between opposing counsel regarding the meaning of the Dominion Special Regulations and their bearing on the Ontario Fish and Game Act, defence counsel J. F. R. Douglas contending that the words "for personal use" in reference to the bait were ambiguous, and did not specify that there should be no resale.

He said that Dupuis had applied for the necessary special license to enable him to sell the minnows and had forwarded the necessary fee with the application. The special license had ben refused, but he had not received notification nor had his fee been returned at th time the present proceedings were undertaken.

The court accepted the view of the crown, represented by Harry Daymen, that the regulations were clear enough, and that the ordinary bait-taking license which Dupuis possessed precluded resale of such bait.

The charge was laid by Game Inspector Reg. McCulloch, who confiscated the accused's seine net and license.

A further charge of selling minnows for bait without a license in the village of Hastings was withdrawn at the request of the Crown.

Fined After Accident

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 21. — (CP).—As a result of a collision on No. 30 highway south of the Trent River bridge shortly after midnight July 18, J. Meadows was fined $5 and $16.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court here Friday.

Accused was driving south on the highway and had started to turn to the left into a side road leading to his cottage when he was struck by a north-bound car driven by Frank Fitzgerald, Downer's Corners.

Co-Op Officials Urge Farmers "Get Together"

HASTINGS, Aug. 21 (ENS)— Annual meeting of the Hastings Co-operative Association was held Thursday evening.

T. McMillan, president, opened the meeting calling on the local manager, Arthur Lamey, to read the financial statement.

Mr. Lamey spoke on the different lines of merchandise and poultry products handled by the association, pointing out the services the organization could give, adequate space were available.

Claire Finkel, fieldman of the United Farmers Co-operative, Toronto, spoke on the expansion and local conditions, giving Mr. Lamey credit for the job done.

W. A. Amos, director of the United Farmers Co-operative, Toronto, gave a lengthy talk on Credit and local financing, remarking that he wondered how any organization could have done so much on such a small beginning and insisting for al to pull together and work for more suitable quarters in which to carry on a job that will be able to serve as people expect.

Bylaws were passed in accordance with the Co-operative Act followed by a general open discussion.

Salesman Drops 40 Ft. To Death On Driveway

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 21.—(CP). —John Parsons, 26-year-old Port Credit salesman, clung desperately to the edge of a downtown building Friday, then dropped 40 feet to his death on a driveway.

Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge said preliminary investigation for an inquest is under way.

Robert Johnson, 20, of London, said he and Roberts went to the roof to eat their lunches. Returning Parsons leaped a low wall on top of the building, then vaulted a second one. But this was at the edge, Parsons grabbed at the edge of a second building, separated from the first by a driveway. Then he fell.

Share In $40,000,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP). —Four universities — Columbia, Yale, Princton, and Harvard — will share in estimated $40,000,000 under terms of a will filed Friday. The money was left to the institutions by Eugene Higgins, 89, an 1882 Columbia graduate. Higgins died July 28.

Czechs Remain In Cup Fight

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21 — (AP). — With a 2-1 lead in matches, the Australian Davis Cup tennis forces need only one of the two remaining singles engagements with the Czechs at Longwood today to gain the challenge round for the fourth time running.

The ace swingers of those international rivals, Adrian Quist of Australia and Czech star, Jaroslav Drobny, have been paired for one clash. Little Billy Sidwell, the surprise of the inter-zone finals actions, will face Vladimir Cernik, No. 2 Czechoslovakian, in the wind-up action.

With their backs to the wall, Drobny and Cernik kept Czechoslovakia in the running yesterday by out-steadying Colin Long and Geoff Brown, Australia's doubles specialists, for a 10-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory.

Both of the Czechs displayed a marked overnight improvemet, Drobny especially. As a result, he appears capable of giving Quist the stiffest sort of an argument, since the 35-year-old Quist was far from impressive while defeating Cernik 6-2, 13-11, 6-0 in their opening match.

If Drobny manages to retain his form of yesterday and Quist continues erratic, the interzone final probably will be decided by the Sidwell-Cernik finale.

Sidwell, new to Davis-Cup competition this season, has more than enough to subdue Cernik, barring the most startling sort of an upset.

The winners last night bunched blows better behind steady hurling by Sanderson to earn the victory, while two flingers saw action for the losers, Horton and Shine. Pryde led the winners at bat with four for five, as Rochetta got three in four, Loyst three for five, and Lester two for four. Rochetta hit a hoomer. Two hits each were gained by Wesenberg, Beggs Dixon and Horton of Quakers. Wesenberg hit a homer. Teams:

LOW FINESSES MARKED

An interested fan wants to know why star players take a larger number of low finesses than most people. He read something about that in these despatches and wondered if there could be some reason, above all other reasons, for that fact. Indeed there is. It is because the better players do a more thorough job of card-reading, counting the lengths of suits in their opponents' hands, making deductions from the size of cards played and those chosen for discards, and thus knowing sometimes that a finesse of a h[illegible] is certain to be successful, or that it is extremely likely to be.

	♠ 8 7 ♥ A K J 2 ♦ A Q ♣ A Q 9 8 2
♠ A 10 6 5 ♥ 2 ♦ 9 8 6 4 3 ♣ 7 5	N W E S	♠ [illegible] ♥ 7 ♦ J 9 6 4 3 ♣ J [illegible]
	♠ K 9 4 ♥ Q 10 5 ♦ K 10 8 2 ♣ K 10 5

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable).

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	2 NT
Pass	4 NT

The better you play the cards, the higher you can afford to bid. That is the reason why it is sound for Frederick Kaplan, brilliant New York attorney, to bid with great eclat. Having done so with his 2 No-Trumps call on the first round, he properly went conservative when North gently invited slam with his 4-No Trumps, a bid they used in its natural sense. But not being in a slam did not keep him from playing the spots off the cards to make one.

West led the spade 5 to the J and K, and Mr. Kaplan went to work. He led the club 10 to the Q, scored the diamond A and Q, heart 10, diamond K and heart 5 to the A. When East discarded his diamond 6, he had his reading on West. That marked West with five hearts originally, exactly two diamonds, almost surely five spades because the 2 had been put on the third diamond, and consequently only one club, which had already been played. So the club J was marked as with East. He therefore brought the club 8 through, putting on the 5, then scored the club K, heart Q to the K, club A to drop the J, and the club 9. Thus he took all thirteen tricks in spite of an ace being out against him.

Suspended Eight Years By War, Peterborough Exhibition Resumes Its Program Of Competitions Next Week — George Croft Reports Fine Field of Fall Barley — Threshermen's Dinners Discarded By Combines.

Peterborough Exhibition emerges next week out of the salvage of the war.

Exactly eight years ago Morrow Park was given into the hands of the federal government through its Department of Defense. As that fair was ending, lumber rolled into the grounds for the construction of buildings for the military camp that rapidly occupied most of the enclosed area. It was laid out and equipped as a basic training centre. Subsequently thousands of men passed through its gates and establishment.

Already the memory of those years is dimming. Now, with the restoration of the park to the uses of peace, the Exhibition resumes its enterprise and purpose with many new directors, and with hopes of regaining its former place in this community.

Hugh Stewart is chairman of the board, and George A. Gillespie is manager-secretary. With the same unassuming and quietly busy manner of getting on with all his undertakings, Mr. Gillespie has devoted recent months to the reorganization of the Exhibition and reclaiming its parks grounds.

The eclipse of those years leaves the Exhibition under a heavy handicap of virtually breaking new ground. Experienced directors are familiar with the details of the show, but there is a newness about it that is a reminder of its willing sacrifice in war years.

"Naturally we are hoping for the goodwill of the public and their generous support," Mr. Gillespie said yesterday. "We would like to see a large attendance of farmers from this district. Entries already indicate that we shall have between 250 and 300 head of cattle, and other livestock classes are equally promising.

We expect that Dr. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, will be here to open the Exhibition. I thinks the grounds look better than ever. The directors have prepared an interesting program. We are assured of a big display of agricultural implements and manufactured products. So, considering the difficulties we have come through, we should have a splendid show."

The Exhibition opens next Thursday. Good weather is essential to its success, and with sunshine there should be a big attendance.

REED CANARY GRASS

Henry Sharpe's satisfactory experience with the inclusion of reed canary grass in a long term pasture mixture sown on a damp section of one of his fields was mentioned some weeks ago. He found out for himself its suitability for that type of soil, and his observations are confirmed in bulletin No. 805, published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture dealing with all the aspects of reed canary grass culture and use.

"As a pasture it appears to be about equal to brome grass and to brome and timothy in palatability. Chemical analysis indicates that as a fresh seed it is about equal to timothy, while as a hay it is inferior to timothy and red top. As silage its compares favorably with corn from a nutrient standpoint."

"Reed canary grass is growing in importance in Canada because is thrives best in moist locations ...It is one of the few cultivated grasses not damaged when flooded for some considerable time; indeed, it will grow and thrive in water for at least seven weeks in the spring without being injured. It is adapted to fertile soils, much or fairly well decomposed peat."

This grass was recommended to Mr. Sharpe by F. C. Paterson particularly in a seed mixture for pasture on a low section of a field. It was growing vigorously in moist muck on the Smith farm, affording a recommendation for use on other land of that type that is too often neglected. Copies of the new bulletin, No. 805 may be obtained from the federal Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

60 BUS. FALL BARLEY

George Croft reports a yield of 286 bushels of fall barley off less than five acres on the south side of Highway No. 7, opposite Mark Burnham's woods, east of the city. He took the crop off last Saturday, and estimates that it averaged about 60 bushels.

Mr. Croft is working the farm of his sister, Mrs. Chris Howson. The seed was the Tennessee variety, bought from Vern Stanley-Jones, now of the Pacific coast.

"The field was in sod last year," he said. "It was pasture two years and we took off three crops of hay. In one of those five years we took of 24 loads of hay. The field was well manured and grew alfalfa and mixed hay. We took a soil sample test and on instructions we used 250 pounds of fertilizer to the acre when we sowed the barley last fall on Sept. 13. It was a fine looking field and it turned out well."

Mr. Croft said Howard Howson had 3½ acres of fall barley on a field that was drowned in some place last spring.

"It looked poor all spring, but made a great recovery during the season. It isn't threshed yet, and may not do as well as the five-acre field, as we call it, but it looks good, too."

HOLSTEINS AT BELLEVILLE

Transferred from Stirling, the Black and White Day of the Hastings Holstein Breeders' Club, brought out 99 head at Belleville Fair Tuseday. Roy Ormiston, Holstein field man, was in charge of this section of the show.

A two year old bull from the herd of Herbert Watt, Foxboro, won the senior and grand champion title. The junior champion was shown by David Hollinger of Foxboro. Senior and grand champion female was a three year old heifer owned by Max Burnside who also took the junior chamionship.

Rating of the graded herds was: Emile Masse, Allan McComb, David Hollinger, Jack Burnside, Max Burnside and Herbert Watt.

Junior Competition

The junior department of the fair attracted 40 boys and 70 girls from five counties of the district. In the open livestock judging Gerald Eggleton of Belleville turned in the card for 523 points, followed by three Campbellford boys. Del Merrill, Bill Curle and Bruce Elmhurst.

High contestants in dairy cattle judging were Bill Curle, and Frank Harry, Trenton; in horse judging Mel Merrill and Del Merrill, both of Campbellford.

Northumberland girls won first place in both the home garden inter-club exhibit and also in the club work. Frank Paterson of Peterborough assisted in the judging.

A LETTER TO THE "AG. REP."

Frank C. Paterson recently sent out a circular letter to farmers urging them to bring in samples of their soil for testing.

"This is a good time of the year to find out whether your soil is well supplied with the necessary plant food to produce abundantly," he wrote in part. "How about your wheat crop that will soon be sown? Will the growing crop have a balanced supply of plant food? Or will it be more or less starved?

You can get some of the answers by having soil samples tested. Then you can use fertilizers more efficiently."

The letter has already produced some sample. It also brought an anonymous letter dated Aug. 11, which contains more of a spirit of responsiveness than may appear at first reading.

There is a glint of humor, perhaps, in it's indefinite address: "Land of Manure", and it proceeds as follows:

Dear Sir: We do not believe in placing so much confidence in fertilizer. We believe in crop rotation and manuring—the old time tradition. To use harsh fertilizers on depleted soil to induce crops, depletes it further. It may, though with wisdom, be used, coupled with manure.

It is high pressure salesmanship of fertilizers that is ruining the soil. How much do you get?

Farmers are getting tired of advertising for only one object, to get more money out of them, and get their crops also. And another thing amongst a thousand others, why grow more wheat, when prices go up and then down, and costs go up and stay up."

The letter is signed, "Peterborough County Farmer", with a postscript: "However, will bring in a sample some day."

Only that concluding suggestion persuaded Mr. Paterson to let the letter be published.

"The writer is doing some thinking about soil fertility, and he is bound to end up on the right side," Mr. Patterson remarked. "He is right about crop rotation, the use of manure, and soil depletion. That is an important part of the story I have tried to tell, but it is not all of it. Books are being written about the maintenance of soil fertility. It is basic in our farm practice and success. We have to get more humus in the land, and this man is right about the use of manure, but it is only one method, and many farmers have found it is not enough. My only comment is that I hope we get that man's soil sample."

Norm McConkey may be the only Peterborough livestock exhibitor at the Ottawa Exhibition next week. He is sending nine Hampshire sheep, and will probably have the same number at the CNE.

COMBINE CHANGES CUSTOM

Hereabouts as in Iowa, the combine has cancelled those dinners housewives of the farms used to spread before the groups of threshermen who co-operatively pooled their labor in seasonal rounds of neighborhood bees.

Iowa is thrust into the local picture for confirmatory effect of the extent and universality of this lamentable change in rural custom as sketched by Clifford Irwin, RR 3, Columbus Grove, in the corn state. He and his father are fishing for two weeks down in the vicinity of Bensfort Bridge. With them are Bert Core and his son Clyde, RR 3, Lima.

Four or five Smith, Cavan and Otonabee men tell the same sad story of dulling appetite (and distaff release from heavy sessions at the kitchen range), but they lace their corroboration with diffidence of publication of their names. Something should be done about this comparative introversion up here north of the border, in spots at any rate.

In back files of The Examiner you come across such phrases of fustian as "groaning board" and "sumptuary abundance" that were possibly inspired by the lashings of food once set before hungry threshermen. It appears that all that remains of such plenty, or that will remain in the day of a combine on every farm, is the annual dinner Art McIntyre rustles for the convention of the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen. And to make certain of one big meal, in the recent place of many, he has to beg and cajole the women of Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, to work their miracle of cookery. Just how Mr. McIntyre will fare next March with all the baby beef heading for the U.S.A., if not into the well fed State of Iowa, all the cheese bound for Britain, and with butter and maybe eggs beyond price, is too dismal a thought to conjure in these replete days of Ontario's big harvest.

Gone is the gusto, it seems, with riddance cheers from the Women's Institutes who may get around to cutting down the dinner bells for flower pots.

That's what the combine is doing for the country, and all it consumes in gas and oil. Rotundity at masculine waist lines was ever a rural rarity. Soon there won't be a size 44 to a township; nothing but lean figures. The trend is also steadily unsocial and isolatoinist. It can be laid on Hitler's ashes—the war, scarcity of labor, a huge agricultural job, mechanization. And the end is not yet. If this combining business continues at the present rate, Art McIntyre can say goodbye to his Threshermen's Brotherhood. They'll vanish too with those dinners farm wives used to cook up for seven or eight husky men, working all morning of the day the threshing mill arrived and was set up at the barn.

It might be any time in the fall or winter. Some farmers still follow that practice, but their number grows less. The combines cut and thresh, and the wheat around here is trucked immediately to the grain mils. There is still field threshing, but as young Mr. Irwin says "everybody combines where I come from," and that appears to be the prospect for Central Ontario.

The Irwins, father and three sons, work 450 acres of level Iowa land. They have four tractors, two combines, one corn picker, corn planter, three disc harrows, a cultimulcher, various double plows and so on. They leave their hay baling to custom work.

Combine and baler each cost the same amount, $1,100 to $1,200.

"We've been combining for five years," Clifford Irwin told The Examiner. "You get the threshing done fast, and you don't have to call on neighbors for help for a day or two as we used to do before. That was when we had to provide threshermen's dinners. It was the same all over. But that's past and gone at our place. I hear you are getting more combines every year around here."

Corn is the big grain crop with the Irwins; also soy beans; alfalfa, red clover, ladino, brome grass, and only a litte timothy.

"Dairy cattle, hogs, grain, pasture, it is just the same pattern as the farmer around Peterborough," Mr. Irwin said.

Also similar although not to the same extent is the fact some Peterborough district farmers have also been combining for five years; some too, manage their affairs to provide an August holiday, and fish if they feel like it. Probably that should be chalked up to the credit of the combine.

PASTURES FOR TURKEYS

Turkey raisers could cut feed bills 25 to 30 per cent by planning pastures, says Dr. W. A. Billings, University of Minnesota veterinarian. He told 200 members of the Ontario Turkey Association at OAC, Guelph Thursday turkeys are being raised haphazardly, some on good alfalfa land, others on bare ground. If a system of range rotation were followed 85 to 95 per cent of poults hatched could be marketed. This method would also help eliminate blackhead, a disease which annually kills three per cent of turkey flocks.

HOLSTEIN EXHIBITORS

Peterborough district will be represented by the following breeders in the Holstein cattle section of the Exhibition next week Thomas Farr & Son, Oshawa; James T. Brown & Sons, Newcastle; E. J. Brown, Orono; Eighlin Brothers of Douro township; Richard and Allen Davis of Otonabee; J. H. Jose & Sons, Newcastle; Norman W. McConkey, Peterborough; Stewart Nelson, Keene; Stanley Wood, Otonabee and Hugh W. Ormiston, Brooklin. There are 18 entries in the yearling heifer class and 17 senior heifer calves.

VISITORS FROM CANTON, OHIO, found muskie fishing in Rice Lake up to its usual reputation. Guide Clarence Hines, (Left), showed David Emery and his father, D.D., where this 19½-pounder was feeding at the mouth of the Otonabee River. They are vacationing at Hiawatha.

Enjoys Relief At Last From Nervous Indigestion

Suffered 3 Years Gas, Bloat and Belching; Got Bad Headaches; Nervous, Sleepless Nights; "Like Different Person Since Taking Syntona."

MRS. E. DUNN

"For 3 years I had stomach disorders which brought on nervous indigestion and I suffered endless distress until I began taking Syntona," said Mrs. E. Dunn, 573 Catherine Street North, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I got such horrid feelings that I became depressed and worried. After meals I would bloat up with gas, belch hot, sour liquids and get a suffocating feeling just like there was a lump in my throat. My nerves had become so jittery I couldn't get to sleep for hours after lying down at night. Nearly ever morning I awakened with a bad headache and a lame feeling across my back.

"I tried everything I knew of but got no relief. Then I read about Syntona helping other people and decided to get some. In a few days I began to feel some better, so I kept on taking it. Now my food digests nicely without souring or forming gas and my stomach never becomes upset. The distressed, suffocating feeling passed off and I haven't had that horrid, nervous condition since. I sleep well don't have headaches or lame back in the mornings, my tongue is clear and generally I feel like an entirely different person."

Syntona, made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots acts on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Aids elimination of excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

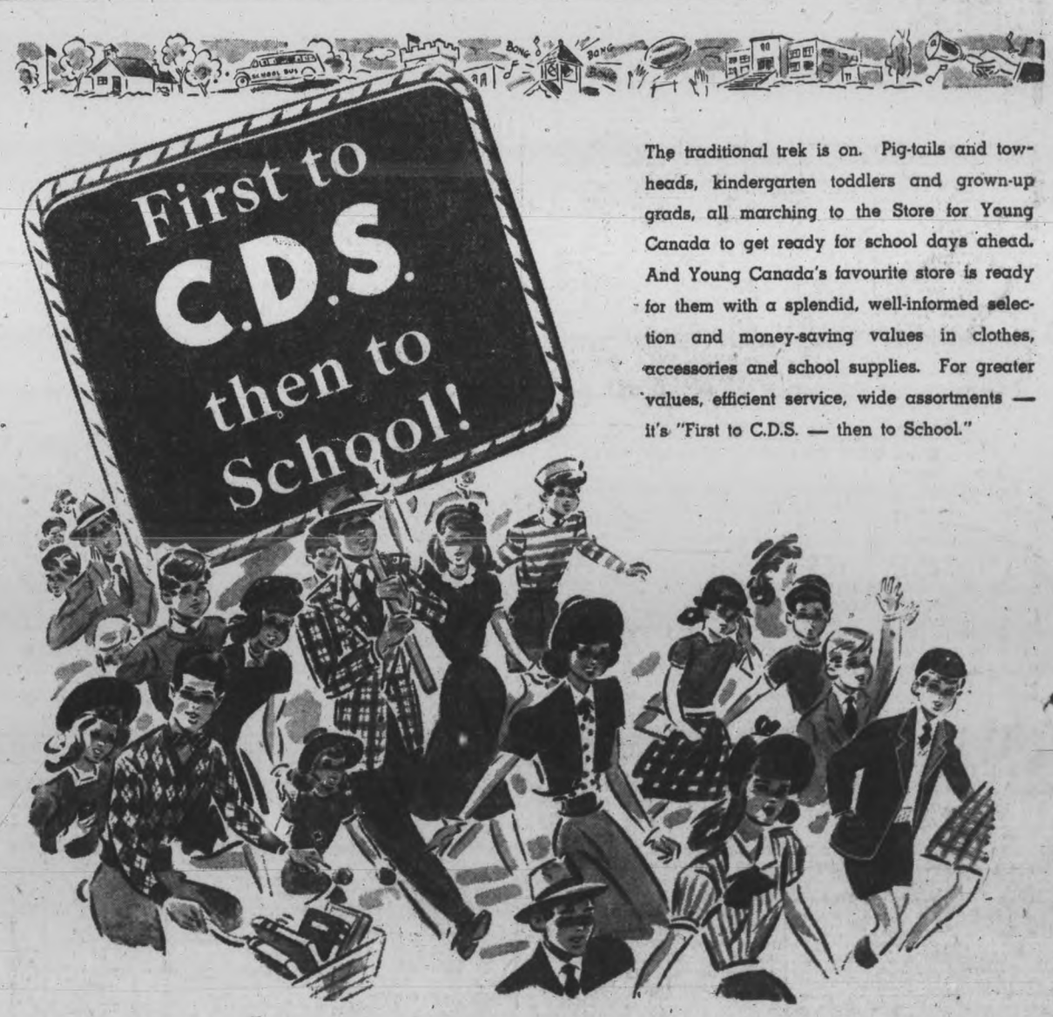
The Wisdom Of August



When the cicada zzzings in the heat of harvest time, summer has passed its meridian and will soon dissolve into autumn. The gradual change of season keeps to a familiar pattern in the sounds and colors and moods of August days and nights.

Another year has reached fulfillment. Its mood is matronal, calmly contemplating its scene of reproduction, the fields that have borne fruit, the nests that have become vacant, and the pods full of seed that once wore the beauty of bloom.

Reflective August folds her hands and sits content with her memories of the music of spring and the wild roses she twined in her hair. But, if all that utilitarian work of begetting is done, there is still time to weave the cloth of gold along waysides for the coming of autumn, golden rod and helianthus and the yellow toad flax, flecked with the blue of the wild chicory and set against leafage still brightly green in late summer.

The mood of August is the awareness of the wisdom the year acquires when it sees at length that the petals of the roses, and the apple blossoms were only a brief and purposeful blooming in the scheme of life that ends in fruition.

And its sounds! The cicada sounds a drowsy note in the afternoon warmth, but last night the August moon was still at the full peering into the grasses where an unseen chorus of crickets and katydids and other little voices filled the air with their strident unisons. They were under feet, but they seemed floating about in the moonlight that will soon be gone with another year's August.

The traditional trek is on. Pig-tails and towheads, kindergarten toddlers and grown-up grads, all marching to the Store for Young Canada to get ready for school days ahead. And Young Canada's favourite store is ready for them with a splendid, well-informed selection and money-saving values in clothes, accessories and school supplies. Toronto Gang Makes Resort Battleground

11 Of 150 Hoodlums Remanded To Aug. 30; Wasaga Jail Full

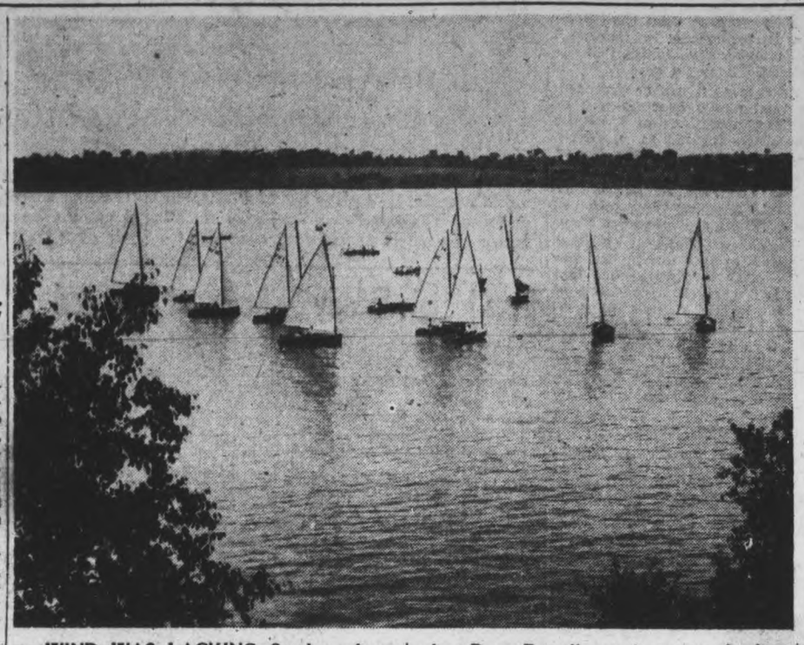
BARRIE, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Eleven youthful members of Toronto gangs of hoodlums and two men who gave Niagara Falls, Ont., addresses were remanded today until Aug. 30 on charges arising from a week-end pitched battle at Wasaga Beach, 30 miles northwest of here on Georgian Bay. Bail was set at $500.

Trouble from the young hoodlums who travel to the Beach, about 80 miles northwest of Toronto, by motor truck, has continued through the summer, police said.

Constable P. J. Poland of the provincial force said the boys, mostly 18 or 19, belonged to the notorious "Beanery" gang, so-called because of their Toronto restaurant hangout, and two others known as Junction boys and the Tipp gang.

Thirteen were arrested and held on charges of assault, disorderly conduct, obstructing police, taking part in an affray, having beer illegally, causing a disturbance and malicious damage.

Remanded Week



They overcrowded the small Wasaga jail before making a night appearance in the court of A. C. Jessop, justice of the peace. Mr. Jessop remanded them a week for trial and then they were brought to county jail at Barrie, 30 miles southeast of Wasaga.

Poland said the melee on the Georgian Bay beach started about 11 p.m. Saturday. Punching and kicking, the boys hurled threats at one another. Before the brawling was over at about 1 a.m. 15 officers were rushed to the scene. The last arrests were not made until two hours later.

Constables Frank Hurlburt and James Murphy, the only officers at the station, found themselves overwhelmed when they reached the scene of the brawl, which spread over a wide area. Groups of six and seven were piling onto individuals. Knuckles cracked against heads and shirts of the fighters were spattered with blood as the police tried in vain to stop the melee.

Greek Princess Visits Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 23 — (CP) — While Earl Louis Mountbatten and his Countess were receiving a vice-regal welcome in Ottawa today, relatives Prince Peter and Princess Irene of Greece were reported evading the limelight at a Niagara Falls tourist home.

Mrs. Truman J. Kenney, local tourist home operator, said the Grecian royal couple rented the second storey of her house for the week-end. She said they wished privacy and ate their meals in her home.

Mrs. Kenney said the pair left for New York today and were travelling incognito.

Two Freight Trains Meet Head-on In Fog

NORTH BAY, Aug. 23—(CP)—Two Canadian Pacific Railways freight trains met in a head-on collision in heavy fog Sunday morning near Gurney, 20 miles west of Schreiber. Full details are not yet known but it is believed the two locomotives met at a switch point when both were travelling at slow speed.

Five freight cars were telescoped and derailed by the impact and the two engines suffered some damage. Beyond minor scratches the train crews were uninjured.

Traffic was held up on the main CPR line for about seven hours by the accident, which occurred at 9.40 a.m. Sunday morning. Two of the derailed freight cars were behind one locomotive and three behind the other. The contents of four of them which were loaded were undamaged.

Stalin Ready To Receive Allied Envoys

PARIS, Aug. 23—(CP)—Premier Stalin will receive the three western envoys at the Kremlin in Moscow tonight, it was learned from sources close to the French foreign office.

(In Moscow, Western power diplomats held another three-power conference at the French embassy this morning. There is a general expectation here that they will seen Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia this afternoon or tonight.

(Some sources even expressed belief that Prime Minister Stalin might sit in.

(A new four-power session, attended by Molotov, Yves Chataigneau, the French ambassador, American ambassador Walter B. Smith and Frank Roberts, Britain's envoy, has been expected for several days. The negotiations have been in progress, and shrouded by secrecy, since July 31.)

Light Bulb Ignites 50-Ton Pile Of Coal

KINGSTON, Aug. 23—(CP)—"One for the book" is how firemen referred today to a freakish fire Saturday on Union St. West when a light bulb ignited a 50-ton pile of coal in a large apartment house bin.

Fine stoker coal was crammed into the bin until the bulb was covered under 10 inches of coal. Smoke and gas were rising from the coal when firemen came to put it out. When they dug down to the bulk, the light was still on.

Will Not Permit Red Dean To Visit United States

LONDON, Aug. 23—(CP).—The Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, today was told by the United States Consulate here that he will not be allowed a visa to enter the United States. Reuters News Agency said the visa was not allowed "as the authorities disapprove of the inviting organization."

The "Red Dean" had been invited to make a speaking tour in the United States by the American-Soviet Friendship Society.

(The United States frequently has denied entry to persons known to sympathize with Russian Communism. Harry Pollitt, general secretary of the British Communist party, recently was refused an American visa.

(The Church of England does not permit political activity by its clergy. Dr. Johnson, however, frequently has expressed sympathy with the Russian experiment in his speeches and writings.)

Dr. Johnson was to have flown to the United States Nov. 1.

Commenting on the decision, he said:

"It seems that no steps must be taken in the United States to cultivate American-Soviet understanding or friendship."

He said he is flying to Poland tomorrow to attend the Congress of Intellectuals in defence of peace.

"It appears that the iron curtain —for me at any rate — stretches across the Atlantic, but the cordial welcome comes from the East," he said.

"I note that the bishops (at the recent Lambeth Conference) laid particular stress on the menace of false propaganda. I wonder if they would lay the same stress upon the false propaganda that is implied in suppression of truth and facts by the denial of my right to visit the United States."

Dr. Johnson issued his statement through the London Daily Worker. He is a member of the editorial board of that Communist newspaper.

Nab Second Man In Oshawa Theft

HAMILTON, Aug 23 — The search for Jack Sirkoski of Hamilton, which was intensified since the shooting of Frank Wasnie by police Thursday, ended Saturday night with his arrest on a warrant charging him with the Aug. 16 robbery of an Oshawa brewers' warehouse.

The arrest was made by Acting Det. William Homer, the same officer who shot Wasnie in a short chase near Central Police Station. Wasnie was suspected of the Oshawa job and was being taken to headquarters for questioning when he broke away.

Assisting Homer in the arrest of Sirkoski was his partner of last Thursday, Acting Det. Albert Bunn. They went to the housing project on Kenilworth Ave. N., known as Strathearne Survey, in the search for Sirkoski.

While Bunn was in one of the apartment, Homer saw a man in a car parked near by. The car started up as he approached but he got there in time to stop it and nab the wanted man. Oshawa police escored Sirkoski back there for trial.

Said Insp. Thompson. "The inquest will be thorough in every detail and all facts related to the fatal shooting and the reason the man was being sought by police will be brought out. When the verdict of the jury is disclosed it will be the basis for any step by the department."

Heiress Decides To Enter A Convent

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y., Aug. 23 —(AP)— Constance Murray, whose grandfather left his family $50,000,000 will go into a Roman Catholic convent next month.

The 19-year-old, pretty blonde debutant's, decision to become a nun was revealed by her widowed mother, Mrs. John F. Murray, last night after the girl returned by plane from a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Murray said her daughter will enter the Convent of the Holy Child at Sharon Hill, Pa., Sept. 15—three days after she acts as a bridesmaid at her sister Catherine's wedding here.

Daughter of a onetime stock exchange member, Miss Murray is one of the heirs to the fortune of the late Thomas Edward Murray, electrical inventor and official of the New York Edison Company

Miss Murray, who first decided to become a nun when she was 14, was persuaded to wait until she had made her debut last season and taken a trip abroad

Rebels Surround Rangoon Large-Scale Battle Likely

RANGOON, Aug. 23 —(AP)— Military observers said today that a large-scale battle is in prospect as insurgents close in on Rangoon in an ambitious attempt to lay siege to the city.

These observers said government forces have been denied a chance of meeting the rebels in a decisive action. The rebels have been employing hit-and-run tactics.

But, they say, government troops will have a chance to strike possibly a knockout blow if the rebels continue to draw closer and spread their forces around Rangoon.

This capital city is cut off from the hinterland due to the suspension of utility services.

Present evidence suggests that the rebels—composed soley of Leftist eements — are not a co-ordinated force.

Ship Weapons

CANBERRA, Aug. 23 —(AP)— Prime Minister J. B. Chifley said today Australia has shipped weapons and ammunition to Malaya, where British authorities are fighting a communist uprising.

Chifley said in a statement that 'supplies of automatic weapons and ammunition, required in Malaya for the maintenance of law, and order recently, have been dispatched by Australian authorities by air and have been duly delivered."

He added that "certain other types of equipment which are being tested and examined will also be supplied to the extent available if they are found suitable for the purposes required."

Soviets Grab Cameraman In 4th Raid

Western Sector Police Badly Beaten Trying To Aid Him

BERLIN, Aug. 23—(AP)—The Russians today freed Thomas P. Headen, a United States military government official, after overnight detention, and British authorities released a captured German executive of the Soviet-controlled Berlin police.

But a fresh incident stirred tense Berlin.

Headquarters of the western sector German police announced Russian soldiers invaded the American sector of Berlin again to seize a German photographer.

This was at least the fourth reported violation of the western sector police jurisdiction in central Berlin since the state of civil war between rival east and west police forces began last Thursday with a riot in no-man's land of Potsdamer Platz.

However, the Russians today released two Americans held prisoners in the Soviet zone for 16 days. They are Lieut. Sherman Turner and Roland Myers, U.S. military government officials picked up while on a border inspection Aug. 5.

"Well Treated"

They were released to American officers at Herfeld, on the border of the American and Soviet sectors at mid-morning. Both were quoted as saying they had been "well-treated by Russian standards."

Headen, 45-year-old deputy chief of the American military government's information services division, was arrested by Russian soldiers armed with tommy-guns in Potsdamer Platz Sunday. He was turned over to United States liaison officers today.

Headen said the Russians had returned the camera he had with him when he was picked up, before the eyes of his wife and two children

Western police headquarters announced that Franz Erdmann, head of the criminal division of the Soviet-controlled police, was released after his arrest Sunday by British-sector police while he was watching a boxing match in the Olympic Stadium.

Charges Stand

The statement said charges of abduction and "presumption of authority" against Erdmann, lodged in connection with the arrest of about 20 western zone policemen by eastern forces since the split, still stand.

The latest invasion of the American sector by Russian soldiers occurred this forenoon just off the Potsdamer Platz, an area which is being heavily-patrolled by Russian, British and American military police.

The photographer "was standing on the American side of Koethener Street (which runs into Potsdamer Platz) when a Russian officer, accompanied by a Russian soldier, approached him and wanted to take his camera away," the headquarters of the western-backed police said.

No Formalities For Countess

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (CP)—With a flashing smile and a firm handshake, Countess Mountbatten of Burma today brushed aside the stiff formalities of an official reception.

The tall, good-looking wife of Earl Mountbatten, was on a tour of the headquarters of the St. John Ambulance Association.

But she took time to shake hands and chat for a few minutes with each of the nurses in the guard of honor assembled for her visit.

Among them she recognized several who had worked with her overseas during the last year.

"The Canadian girls served in Europe and the Far East—I had some of them with me in Malaya," she said. As Dame Grand Cross of the Order of St. John, she was dressed in the order's summer uniform of black shantung.

Babe's Gift To 'Kids'

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 — (AP).—Babe Ruth set aside part of his estate to be used for "the interests of the kids of America," his will showed today. The will provided for the home-run king's widow and daughters and left 10 per cent. of the remainder for "the kids." It was filed in Surrogate's Court for probate today.

Britain Receives Lion's Share Post-War Grants

GENEVA, Aug. 23. (AP)—Britain has received more post-war grants and credits from the rest of the world than any other country, statistics published today by the United Nations show.

The figures showed that between May, 1945, and June, 1948, government and private financial aid to Britain totalled an equivalent of $6,670,000,000.

The figures showed that the United States gave the greatest amount of financial assistance to other countries, with Britain second and Canada third.

In the same period, Britain aided other war-devastated countries with government and private aid totalling an equivalent of $2,450,000,000. Canada gave $1,894,000,000. The United States share of $16,160,000,000 comprised nearly 70 per cent of all the financial assistance given.

Canada's Share

Receipts of $487,000,000 by Canada were made up of an export-import bank loan of $300,000,000 and private credits from the United States totalling $187,000,000.

France received the second highest allocation of all countries, with a total of $3,957,000,000. The next largest recipients were the Anglo-American zone of Germany, with $1,876,000,000; Italy with $1,859,000,000; Poland, with $1,150,000,000 and the Netherlands, with $1,054,000,000.

Argentina was fourth on the "giving" side with $681,000,000; Sweden fifth with $521,000,000 and the Soviet Union, $478,000,000. The Soviet contribution consisted entirely of a government loan to Poland.

Of Britain's contribution to world recovery, an equivalent of $2,300,000,000 was in the form of loans by private corporations.

Man Pleads Guilty To Abducting Boy 6

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP)—William Wood, 26-year-old unemployed laborer, today pleaded guilty to a charge of abducting six-year-old Melvin Acquin who was missing from his home from Friday until Sunday night.

Wood was remanded to Aug. 30 after Crown counsel asked that the seven-year prison term be imposed in his case.

Melvin came home with 35 cents in cash and a street car ticket. He led police to a rooming house where Wood was arrested.

Death Commonplace Thing But Jerusalem Said Quiet

By JOHN RODERICK

JERUSALEM, Aug. 23—(AP)—A woman is crying in Jerusalem tonight. Her tears are for a ragged soldier who died here.

She saw the body of this man muffled in heavy blankets against a heat he could not feel. His friends were carrying him in a litter on their shoulders. He happened to be an Arab

An Arab communique put him into an official pigeonhole.

"One of our irregulars was killed by sniper fire near the Zion gate," it said.

His death in truth had nothing of the extraordinary in it.

The common placeness of killing and hatred have turned this ancient city, revered by three great religious, into something ugly to look at

The buildings still command an outsider's respect Its holy places are deep in breath-taking memories.

But the peace which these monuments call up is broken by the heavy step of soldiers carrying Sten guns, of clanking armored cars and the high whine of bullets.

I got my first look at Jerusalem from St. Stephen's gate

A stream of tired humanity moved along the Via Dolorosa (The Way of Sorrows).

The population of the old walled city has changed in the last few months of destructive battle and almost as destructive truce.

At Arab Legion headquarters everyone said it was a quiet day —one of the most quiet in weeks.

It seemed so with bright sunlight falling on dozing figures and the dome of the rock in the distance silent, deserted.

I sat down in a bare mess hall to a meal of hummus, an Arab dish of sour cream and cucumbers. Suddenly there was a loud whoosh as a mortar shell dropped a few hundred yards away. A second followed a minute later. A few soldiers looked up but kept on eating. During the next four hours the slap-slap of light machine-guns was mixed with rifle fire.

Somewhere one of the devout knelt in prayer — heedless, it seemed, of the jarring noise of man's quarrels.

It was a quiet day in Jerusalem.

Feigns Illness On Toronto Trip With Police But Doctors Say He's Faking; Faces $9,000 Theft Charge In Canada

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP).—Dan Keller of Toronto was arrested Saturday near Port Hope, charged with theft of $9,000. Keller, just back from Belgium, was arrested while making a motor trip from Montreal to Toronto. Police said the thefts occurred some time ago. They said $6,000 was taken from Lawrence Levert of Timmins.

They also said Keller may be wanted by United States authorities for an $18,000 robbery in San Francisco. Toronto police said charges facing him in the United States total 19, and involve some $76,000.

He was arrested less than 36 hours after he stepped into a Montreal-bound aircraft at a Belgian airport. Keller, 42, was born in the United States and became a naturalized Canadian in 1942.

Feigns Illness

He was brought to Toronto to face trial. Police said he broke down and cried during most of the trip. He feigned illness and was limp as officers led him into a cell.

The alarm was first given when Keller was recognized alighting from a trans-Atlantic plane at Dorval airport, Montreal.

With this knowledge, the two Toronto detectives drove eastward, scouring the highway tourist lodges and camps as they went. Pulled up at cabins between Cobourg and Port Hope the high-powered car with the United States plates was the giveaway which resulted in Keller's arrest. He offered no resistance when police walked in on him in the cabin.

Police said a passport seized when Keller was arrested showed that he had been in Belgium Friday morning, and had flown from there to London. He left a London airport at 10:17 p.m. Friday, and landed in Montreal Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Three weeks ago, he was known to have been in California.

"'He moves fast, this fellow," said Sgt. of Det. Mace. We've been trying to catch up with him for two years now."

Prior to taking Keller to the cells, police said it was necessary to take him to Toronto General Hospital for observation. At Bowmanville, on the way from Port Hope, Keller complained that he was hungry and hadn't eaten since 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Has Seizure

The detectives, Mace and Thompson, decided to get him something to eat at a restaurant there. While inside, Keller was apparently overcome by a seizure, and slumped to the floor.

When he failed to respond to first aid he was taken to a doctor who failed to find anything

Parents Watch Son Killed In Plane Crash

SHELBURNE, Ont., Aug. 23 — (AP). — Two men were killed when their stunting aircraft crashed and burned in a field Sunday night in full view of the parents of one of the victims, Grant Kinsley, 20.

The youth was on a joyride with William H. Townsend, 32, instructor at the Shelburne Flying Club, who was the other victim. They apparently decided to "buzz" Kinsley's farm home, bringing his parents and a brother out to watch.

Herb Kinsley, his father, said none of the family had any idea the youth was in the light Tiger Moth plane when it crashed "only a few yards away."

"Before we got there, the plane was a mass of flame," he said. "We tried to put the fire out but we didn't have a chance. We got the bodies out as soon as we could. Then I saw it was my boy."

Townsend, a former Royal Canadian Air Force pilot and parachute jumper, had brought the plane back earlier in the day from Toronto, where it had undergone repairs for two weeks. Officials at the Flying Club said he took Kinsley on the flight with the idea of surprising the youth's parents.

Townsend was noted as a spectacular parachute jumper, performing at several fall fairs. His feature stunt was with two 'chutes, releasing a small one and plummeting several hundred feet before pulling the ripcord on the other.

Car Turns Over 2 Men Injured

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23 — Two Hastings men were seriously injured late Saturday when an eastbound truck in which they were riding got out of control, struck a rural mail box, took the ditch and turned upsidedown. Morley Richardson, who was driving, suffered sustained head and face cuts from flying glass and possible internal injuries. Paul Petticrew suffered severe head and shoulder lacerations and an injured foot.

Oleo Case Hearing Will Start Oct. 5

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP). — The provincial governments and a number of interested groups have been notified that the supreme court's hearing of the margarine case will start Oct. 5, the justice department said today.

The court has placed the hearing at the head of the list of cases scheduled for its fall session. It was asked a few weeks ago by the government to decide whether the 62-year-old ban against the butter substitute is constitutionally valid.

It is expected that F. P. Varcoe, deputy justice minister, will argue that the law is valid. The government traditionally stands by the prevailing law in any such cases.

VICE-CONSUL LEAVES

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 — (AP). — Zot I. Chepurnykh, Soviet vice-consul here, said today that he is planning to return to Russian but will not accompany Consul-General Jacob M. Lomakin, scheduled to sail this Saturday.

Canada's Atom Work Said Tops

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, chief of the Atomic Energy Control Board, said today Canada's atomic project at Chalk River, is the equal of any such development in the world.

He was commenting on the part Canadians play, along with United States and British scientists, in the expansion of atomic knowledge. This tri-nation effort was outlined by David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, in an address in New York Saturday night.

He recalled that the three nations established a combined policy committee five years ago.

"Two western-sector police, who wanted to assist him, were beaten off by blows from the rifle butts of 10 Russian soldiers who had hurried to the scene in the meantime.

"The photographer was then dragged off into the Russian sector."

Negotiations for Headen's release began immediately after his arrest Sunday. During the night, however, officials at the central Soviet headquarters said they had no information on him because he might be held at a lower command post.

At noon Soviet officials said they had Headen and that he could be brought to Soviet headquarters.

Headen is deputy chief of the American military government's information services division.

It was not clear whether Headen stepped into the Russian sector when he left the curb, for boundary lines in the big city square are poorly defined. Some officials said they thought Headen may have stepped into the Russian sector. His wife and children looked on helplessly as the Soviet soldiers grabbed him.

Tried For Abduction

British sector police late Sunday arrested Franz Erdmann, chief of the Soviet-controlled criminal police, as he was watching a boxing match at Olympic Stadium. He was later released.

Western-sector police officials said the arrest of Erdman was not intended as a retaliatory measure. They said he would be charged and tried for abduction and "presumption of authority." He has jailed about 20 western-sector policemen since Berlin's police department has split between eastern and western sectors. Erdman still calls himself criminal police chief for all Berlin and claims he has a city-wide authority.

The United States provost marshal's office and western-sector police reported a quiet night at the American-Soviet sector border following Headen's arrest. American forces continued to patrol the border to prevent renewed incursions by Russians and Soviet-controlled German police.

Send for Help

Four provincial constables at the beach arrived but when the half-dozen policemen found they still could not handle the rioters, calls for more help were sent to Barrie, Collingwood and Elmvale. Within 25 minutes there were 15 provincial constables on the scene.

After scores of youths had been rounded up, taken to the lock-up and sorted out, 13 were held on various charges.

Following the battle in front of Davey's, about 20 members of one gang marched down the main section of the beach and entered the Wasaga Inn. They walked quickly upstairs, telling Mrs. John Lightbown, who was at the desk, that they were going to see a friend.

Mrs. Lightbown ran to the midway and called her husband. In the meantime, the young gangsters had gone upstairs and out on a porch overlooking the lake. After looking over the men and women on this porch, one of the gang said: "He isn't here." They then went to the next porch where two young men and a girl were sitting in the dark.

Pounce on 2 Men

Without warning, the gang pounced on the two men and began to kick and beat them. The victims of the assault were J. R. Murray and Jack Kirshner, guests who had arrived during the afternoon.

When Mr. Lightbown arrived, the gang had gone, leaving their victims bleeding and unconscious on the porch. The girl was not injured but had fainted during the attack upon the two men.

Mr. Lightbown, with Victor Kehoe and Eddie Stumpf, midway employees, then started down the beach in the direction after the gang. In front of Ted's Grill they found themselves confronted by 40 youths, ranged across the beach menacingly with clenched fists.

Kehoe, a powerfully-built man, stepped up and challenged them to "come out one at a time." Several gang members at once jumped on him, knocked him to the ground, kicked and beat him and burned his neck with a cigar. His right eye was blackened and his head was deeply gashed in two places.

With the arrival of the police reinforcements, the gang broke up and fled. Later, they were picked up in groups of three and four and taken to the police station.

Throughout the night there were reports of scattered flare-ups and it was after 3 a.m. before the police made their final arrest.

Chairman of the Wasaga Beach Commission, Herbert Brokenshire deplored the hoodlumism that has marked the week-ends. He said "these people have been a nuisance to resorts all over Ontario. I hope this affair last night will clean it up."

wrong with him. Upon arrival at Toronto, Keller was still blubbering and limp, and was taken to Toronto General Hospital for observation. After two hours, he was taken to Number 2 Station when hospital physicians failed to detect any signs of illness.

"He has feigned illness before," Mace said. "We are convinced that he is just putting on an act."

At Court St. Station, Keller had to be lifted from the patrol wagon. Escorting officers said he had stayed flat on the floor of the wagon on the way from the hospital. Inside, he sat dejectedly in a chair while police entered his name on the sheet.

Still whining, his trousers all but falling off and his face smudged with dirt, he was half-dragged, half-carried to his cell, the humiliating finish to his two-year spree of hotels, trans-ocean flights and high-powered automobiles.

Israel Tenders New Arab Peace Offer

JERUSALEM, Aug. 23—(AP). — Israeli Prime Minister David Ben Gurion has tendered another peace overture to the Arabs.

Addressing more than 100 delegates to the inner Zionist Council, he said Sunday:

"We hope the present war will finish soon with a peace conclusion with the Arabs. They need us and we need them."

Ben Gurion said the Palestine truce is "not yet working against us but it might one day if it continues indefinitely with immigration restrictions and permanent foreign control imposed upon us."

(In Stockholm, Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, said Sunday he will offer peace proposals for Palestine to the United Nations General Assembly next month.)

Ready To Tell More Secrets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (CP). —Congressional spy investigators said today Elizabeth T. Bentley is ready to tell how a Russian spy ring went after United States' wartime industrial secrets.

One member of the House of Representatives un-American activities committee said he fears the Russians may have been highly successful.

Miss Bentley already has given the committee, in secret sessions, a brief peek at what she knows about "espionage in industry," this member said, adding that she evidently knows a lot.

As soon as it can be arranged, he said, public hearings will be held on operations of what the committee regards as a fourth Red-spy network in the United States.

But first, the committee has several mopping up jobs to finish. These are left-overs from:

1. Testimony of Miss Bentley that she used to be a Communist and the courier for two groups that wormed wartime secrets out of the government officials and passed on to Moscow. Further hearings are planned starting Sept. 7.

2. Testimony of Whittaker Chambers, an editor of Time magazine, that he, too, used to be a Red.

Base Metals Steady After Poor Opening

TORONTO, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Industrials and golds firmed as trading continued light on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Base metals steadied after a poor opening.

Base metals were slow with most issues moving in narrow range. Base Metals Corporation was down fractionally and International Nickel and Quemot edged ahead on half-point advances. Steel Rock rose from 1 to 5 cents.

New Water Main Projected At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23 — (ENS)—A new water main for the Wallace Street area may shortly be installed by the Campbellford Public Utilities Commission, as soon as the necessary pipe becomes available. The commission has some pipe on hand, but the job will require some 400 feet of 4 inch pipe, and attempts are to be made to obtain more so that installation can be completed before the cold weather sets in.

The matter was brought up at Saturday's meeting of the commission, when C. W. Ayrhart requested that a water supply be installed at his property on Wallace street. Mr. Ayrhart is to dig the trench from his house to the corner, and the commission will do the rest.

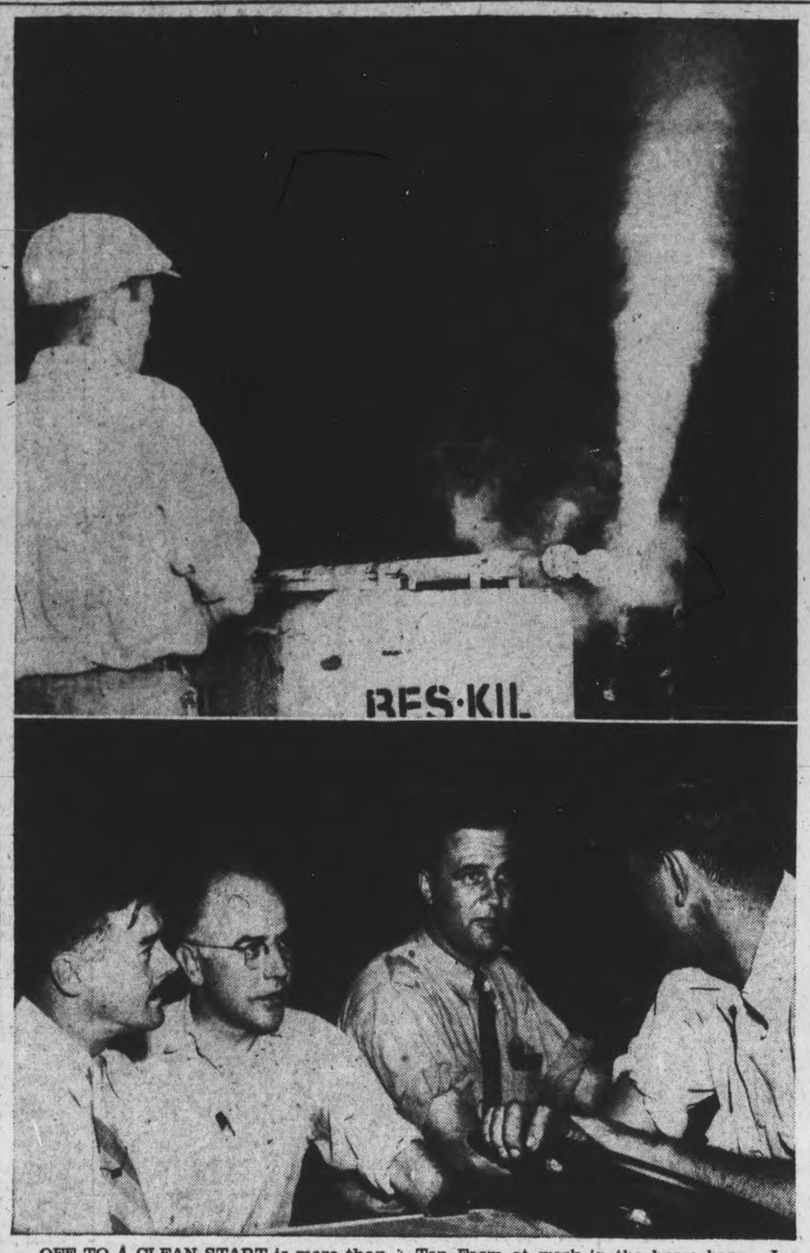
It was during this discussion that Manager P. C. Denyes remarked that the water main in that area was not far enough down in the ground to keep out the frost, and the commission had been put to considerable expense during the past few years thawing it out.

The commission named Commissioner Pat Hogle and Manager P. C. Denyes as a committee to investigate the matter, and granted them power to act.

A request from Mrs. F. I. Peters that the commission consider the installation of a pole light in the driveway leading to her convalescent home was left over for further investigation, some of the commissioners feeling that the matter was a private one, and others expressing the view that the home had some features of a public institution. All felt, however, that the installation might create a precedent which would be difficult to avoid in other similar cases. Manager Denyes is to look into the matter.

Manager Denyes reported that as the result of negotiations which he had been instructed to undertake with companies supplying gas and oil, Trinidad Leaseholds (Canada) Ltd., had agreed to instal the necessary tanks and pumps, providing that the commission agreed to purchase gas and oil from them. The only expense to the commission would be the digging of the hole in which the gas tanks would be installed, and for this the company would make an allowance.

The commissioners agreed that it was a good deal, in view of the estimated saving of about 11 cents per gallon on all gas used, and agreed to undertake the installation at once, the chairman and the manager being authorized to sign the agreement with the company on behalf of the board.



Commissioner Meyers reported that as the result of work undertaken by himself, the manager, and the former treasurer the books of the commission are now fully up to date as of July 31. He complimented the manager on his efforts in this direction. He also recommended that the commission consider the engagement of a firm of auditors to conduct an audit of the books to date, and that the books be carried on under the present system until a gradual installation of improvements can be made.

He also suggested that in view of the increased work which had fallen upon the office staff because of the condition of the books and the labor required in bringing them up to date, that the board consider an increase of salary for Miss F. Thomas.

The commissioners concurred in the recommendations, and in addition to granting Miss Thomas an increase of $15 monthly, also voted to engage the firm of W. C. Cochrane and Company as auditors.

During the discussion of the books, it was noted that more than $3,000 of unpaid accounts had been found. The commission had voted the necessary monies at various meetings during the year, but the cheques had not been issued by the treasurer. This matter had now been attended to and the cheques had been sent forward to the firms concerned.

In his final report of the evening, Manager Denyes told the meeting that the operations of the commission for the period ending August 1, 1948, showed an increase $3,074.50 over the same period of last year.

New Switches Ordered; Promote Safety

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23 — (ENS). — Following the meeting of the Public Utilities Commission here on Saturday night, the commissioners and the manager, P. C. Denyes, inspected a portion of the power plant.

During the meeting, the commissioners, at the suggestion of Mr. Denyes had authorized the purchase of two sets of gang operated disconnecting switches, at $420 per set.

These are required for installation on the switch tower at the plant, the present switches being too weak and too dangerous to the people handling them.

As the commissioners were able to note during their inspection of the old wooden switch tower, it is at present necessary for an operator to climb about 25 feet to reach the present switches, and should anything go wrong, the man concerned would be in very serious danger, as he is in a confined space and unable to get further than about two feet from the switches. The present practice, the manager explained, is to shut off the oil switches in the power house before attempting to disconnect those on the tower, which are of 2,400 voltage on a 4,000 line, making the ensuing arc almost impossible to break.

Delivery of the new switches cannot be guaranteed before eight months, and the commissioners decided that the order should be placed immediately, Commissioner Hogle remarking that "anything would be cheaper than having a man scorched up there."

Members also inspected the work done up to the present on the new bank of transformers at the plant, which are now in full operation.

The design for the installation had been made by Mr. Denyes, and the work had been carried out under his direction. Removal of the three old transformers is now underway. These are to be reconditioned by commission employees, following which they will be placed alongside the new equipment and made part of the system, which will then be able to carry a much higher peak load than at present, in addition to providing spare transformers in case of a serious breakdown.

The members were also shown some grading work which had been done on the portion of the land adjoing the highway, Manager Denyes explaining that the present switch tower stands on road property. As soon as a new tower and switches have been installed on the power plant property, he expects that the county may then be asked to do a considerable amount of roadwork on the road passing the plant.

Cobourg Lady Wins Top Carnival Prize

COBOURG, Aug. 23—(ENS).—Cobourg Rotary Carnival, held on Thursday and Friday nights of last week was the most successful one staged to date by the club. Ideal weather prevailed both nights and the crowd was on hand early, due to the high class vaudeville show which started at eight o'clock each evening. An opening prize of a Mixmaster at the bingo booth resulted in this booth being jammed to capacity at the start, was well-patronized until the carnival wound up.

One of the most popular booths was the cooked meats booth where Mayor Joe Smith and his assistants looked after the wheel and the prize hams drew a large crowd. Keeping up its reputation for good prizes, the quality of the Rotary Club prizes was exceptional.

Winner of the refrigerator was Mrs. M. A. Harkness of 112 Anne Street, Cobourg. The electric washer went to Mrs. W. Beatty of Grafton. Third prize, chair and ottoman, was won by Mrs. James Harrington, 374 William Street, Cobourg; the man's bicycle was won by Ed Smith of Cobourg and fith prize, a walnut table, was won by Dorothy Harris of Gore's Landing.

At the close of the carnival on Friday night, the carnival chairman, Grant McPherson, thanked all who helped and paid tribute to the Rotarians who worked behind the scenes. President Douglas Tait thanked those outside the club who helped in the various booths. Drawing first, second, third, fourth and fifth tickets respectively were Douglas Tait; Madeline Rooney of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Henry Taylor, president of the Kinsmen Club; Mayor Joe Smith; and Lyle Willson, representing the Kiwanis Club.

Following were the committees: Carnival chairman—Grant McPherson; stock room—Joe Patterson, John Ewart, McPherson, and all members of purchasing committee; entertainment and loud speakers, Bill Malton; big wheel—Wally Rawcliffe, H. Socialization of Industry Key CCF Platform Plank

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—(CP).—The shape of things to come with the accession to power of a socialist government at Ottawa was clear on the record today — sketched by the CCF party in national convention.

The large part, the program involves the implementation of a tenet of socialism; public ownership of the means of production and distribution.

The CCF, whose national convention ended here Saturday, pledged itself to the socialization of industry. The party's first-term program, completed near the close of the three-day meeting, would bring under public ownership "key" industries including chartered banks and railways.

It also would bring into effect "social ownership" of industries vital to agriculture, such as the farm implement, meat-packing and fertilizer businesses. "Social ownership" might mean either state or co-operative control.

The program would be launched, the party said, during its first term of government.

Ask Special Session

The CCF demanded that Parliament be called into special session immediately to reimpose living-cost controls on basic necessities, and to provide subsdies on these essentials.

It asked also for the renewal of the wartime excess profits tax—to finance the subsidies—and for legislation to prohibit speculation in foodstuffs, which would involve closing the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

M. J. Coldwell was returned unopposed Saturday as party president and national leader. The CCF constitution provides that the leader must be confirmed in office every two years.

The party's platform deals with the regulation of trade for agriculture and the fishing industry; a broadened national labor code covering all workers; revised Dominion - provincial jurisdictions and subsidized housing.

The first-term program would provide for public ownership of the fuel industries—gas, oil and electricity as well as coal—in co-operation with the provincial governments.

Other points in the program include:

1. Extended social security measures to provide for increased old age pensions, maternity and unemployment benefits.

2. Full hospital, medical, dental and optical care for everyone, regardless of income.

3. Control of the investments of large private investors such as insurance, mortgage and trust companies and the big industrial corporations.

4. A "new deal" for the Maritimes and Newfoundland as part of "national economic planning."

Housing Subsidy

5. Federal financing—by subsidy where necessary—of low cost, low-rental housing.

6. A series of constitutional amendments including abolition of the Senate and of appeals to the Privy Council, realignment of Dominion-provincial jurisdictions to give the federal government more power; a bill of rights and a national flag and anthem.

7. A farm program including guaranteed prices, controlled marketing, crop insurance and long-term, low-interest credits to farmers.

Margarine, banned in Canada now, provoked heated discussion But the convention finally approved its importation and manufacture through a crown company.

Liquor Vote To Be Reviewed In Cobourg Court

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23 — (ENS). — The validity of the June liquor referendum held in Campbellford will be determined in Cobourg during legal proceedings which will commence Tuesday morning.

Ten charges that irregularities occurred during the taking of the vote are to be investigated before Judge Miller, according to a writ served on the returning officer, J. F. McGregor, municipal clerk to the Town of Campbellford.

The writ was served at the instance of William Hogle, nurseryman, who managed the campaign for the wet side of the question, under the auspices of the Campbellford Citizens' League.

According to Mr. Hogle, the case will be presented by Harry Daymen, Cobourg lawyer. As far as could be ascertained during the week-end, arrangements have not been made to contest the charges by any organization in town, nor had counsel been engaged for the purpose. A considerable amount of interest has been aroused locally since the allegations contained in the writ were made public, and it is expected that a large delegation will attend the hearing at Cobourg.

Mr. Drew And The Progressive Conservative Convention

Ever since the conclusion of the National Liberal Convention the national director of the Progressive Conservative party, Mr. R. A. Bell, has been telling the country that matters will be much better handled when his party meets. The Liberals, he says, ran their convention in a high-handed manner which is repugnant to the democratic sensibilities of the Progressive Conservatives. Party bosses overrode the delegates who wanted to discuss resolutions on the convention floor; Mr. King "dominated" the convention; he also "brooded" over it. The whole thing was rigged, and Mr. Bell is disgusted with it. The Progressive Conservatives, he assures us, will show the country how a convention should be conducted.

• • •

We await this inspiring example with well-nigh unbearable eagerness. It is true that the Liberal Convention had a cut-and-dried air, and that some of the work on resolutions was hasty and unsatisfactory. The Progressive Conservatives have very wisely called their resolutions committee to meet two days before their convention opens, in order to avoid such a muddle. We expect that the convention will be very well organized. But if Mr. Bell wants us to think that the choice of a leader will be left entirely to the delegates, and that a free-for-all fight for the leadership will ensue, he asks too much of us. Our bet is that Mr. George Drew will be pointed out to the convention as the right man to support, and that the convention will loyally support him. It will be just as cut-and-dried a business as was Mr. St. Laurent's election.

• • •

That is, it will be so if nothing upsets the apple-cart between now and the convention. There is no doubt that Mr. Drew would not stand a chance in a general election if Mr. Duplessis did not support him. Mr. Drew will be valuable to the Progressive Conservative party only if he can assure it of Mr. Duplessis' warm approval. But there are rumours that Mr. Duplessis does not want to tag along behind Mr. Drew; he knows that he holds the fate of the National Progressive Conservative party in his hand, and it looks as though he might drop it at any moment. If he does so, the Progressive Conservative party is due for a long eclipse, or for extinction. If Mr. Duplessis will not pledge his support, we seriously doubt if Mr. Drew will wish to stand for the party leadership. He would rather be Caesar in Ontario than the leader of a futile cause in the Dominion.

• • •

Meanwhile, Mr. Drew is receiving much publicity as a man who makes Liberals shake in their shoes. W. L. Clark, writing in the Windsor Star, says: "A lot of Liberals are scared stiff that they will be facing Mr. Drew at the next session of Parliament; the thought causes them sleepless nights". Perhaps so. But there are also those who say that if the Progressive Conservatives elect Mr. Drew as their leader, the party will have cut its throat, and that its defunctive agonies, though violent, will not be prolonged. The two views appear to cancel each other out. The only possible course is to wait and see.

"The Luxuries Of Life"

"Give us the luxuries of life, and we will dispense with its necessaries". So said Oliver Wendell Holmes, and there is great truth in this seeming paradox. The people of Britain are proving it at this moment by the resentment which they are showing against the Government for having reduced their supplies of tobacco.

Compared with their other nations of the world, Britain is not a great consumer of tobacco; she uses only about three pounds per head of population yearly, as compared with the six pounds per head used in the U.S.A. But the Englishmen who like to smoke like their luxury very much, and the poor of England regard tobacco as a solace in hardship comparable with tea. It is unfortunate, in the light of present circumstances, that the English people are particularly fond of Virginian tobacco; neither Turkish nor Empire tobaccos have ever rivalled the American product in favour. And now, when Britain's credit in the U.S.A. is running low, the Government must either offend the people by cutting tobacco imports, or spend money on a substance which nourishes nobody, does nobody any discernible good, and quickly vanishes in smoke and ash.

But although tobacco may do no measureable good, it holds the Western world in a grip of steel, and there are millions of people who would suffer real hardship if they were deprived of its consolations. The man of wealth smoking his fine cigar, the devotee of the pipe (whether he smokes a distinguished mixture, or the most acrid shag) and the commonest type of all—the cigarette smoker—relies upon his habit far more than he realizes. Is it any wonder that the British smoker, deprived of tobacco, is short-tempered and resentful? Poor food, too few clothes, the patronage of a wealthy nation, bad weather—he can tolerate these; but the annoyance of having to do without his accustomed smoke rubs his temper raw.

The Misfortunes Of Aneurin

With the comfortable assurance that we do not have to take any part in them we watch the alarms and excursions of Mr. Aneurin Bevan, the British Minister of Health, and his enemies and detractors. Mr. Bevan has the bitterest and most unguarded tongue to appear in British politics in many years, and a great part of Britain's population is still indignant at his application of the word "vermin" to all Conservatives—roughly half the nation. Nor are the newspapers allowing the British people to forget it; they themselves have not forgotten that Mr. Bevan once called them "the most prostituted Press in the world"—a remark which showed an astonishing ignorance of the world's press.

Having long taken an interest in the rich, half-mythical history of Wales, and having a conviction that names have a great effect on destiny, we attribute Mr. Bevan's misfortunes and ineptitudes to the fact that his parents christened him Aneurin. The name is, in itself, a beautiful one, pronounced "An-eye-rin" and not "An Urine" as one so often hears it. But the greatest Aneurin in Welsh history was a poet of the seventh century, son of a tribal chief, who wrote a notable and somewhat abuse epic called Gododin. This poem celebrated the defeat of the Welsh by the English at Cattraeth: it was Aneurin's opinion that this could only have happened if the Welsh were blind drunk, as the English were no match for them at any other time. This unfortunate declaration offended both the Welsh and the English, and Aneurin was murdered by one of his fellow-countrymen. But the Welsh are not a people to content themselves with murdering a man; they must murder his reputation, as well, and Aneurin has ever since been known in Welsh history as "one of the three accursed hatchet strokes of the Isle of Britain".

With such a name, how could Mr. Bevan hope for a quiet life, a honeyed tongue, and the arts of peaceful persuasion? He will be lucky if he escapes Aneurin's violent end, for already he seems to be accounted one of the principal hatchet strokes of modern Britain.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Our eye is caught by a headline which reads "Americans Speak Better Than Ancestors". Oh yeah? Sez who?

It is now suggested that eggs may go to $1 a dozen. Before the crack-up, we presume, when they will go to eggnogg.

We read of a Toronto woman who has thrown a rolling pin 71 yards. Too bad that there was no contest in her field in the Olympics.

Once again we read of "beautiful blonde spies" in Washington. How is it then, that the spies who get their pictures in the papers are invariably frowsy old bags?

A sports writer says that Canada's runners in the Olympics suffered because of their faulty starting. We don't suppose this would have been noticed, however, if their finishing had been better.

Any unfortunate Chinese who wanted to buy an American dollar would have to fork out 10,500,000 dollars of Chinese money. We are still lucky enough in this country to be able to buy an American dollars at a premium of one-half of one per cent.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

IN a discussion on Dante's Vita Nuova in his The Complete Life, Professor John Erskine tells a story about his Italian professor at Columbia. His name was Carlo Speranza, and in class one day a student asked him: "You don't really believe, Professor, do you, that a boy of nine was bowled over this way by a girl he hadn't even spoken to?" This was the Professor's reply:

"When I was somewhat older than Dante, perhaps ten or eleven, I walked past a house which had a balcony, two or three storeys up, and on the balcony was a little girl. I did not see her face, but she had beautiful curls, and I fell in love with her desperately I assure you. Every day for a week I walked past, had my glimpse of the curly head, and lived on the memory until I walked again. At the end of the week, just as I was straining my neck in bliss, a woman came out and carried off the curly head. It was a flower-pot. Only on the first day had it been a little girl."

The students laughed, Erskine says, and one more sceptical than the others asked: "I suppose you never saw her again, Professor?"

The spectacles were put into place, the handkerchief was put back into his pocket, the text was lifted from the desk, and the face lost its smile.

"Until God took her from me, she was my dear wife," said Professor Carlo Speranza.

◆ ◆ ◆

HERE'S a story of how a certain Dr. Cutler once managed to capture the undivided attention of a school room full of restless boys. This is the way Erskine tells it:

"The Doctor looked over the music to be rehearsed and apparently lost in thought, took out a cigar, opened his pocket book, chose a clean new dollar bill, rolled it into a taper, stuck it into the candle flame on the piano, let it burn more than half its length, very deliberately lighted the cigar with what was left, recollected himself with a sudden start, smiled sheepishly at his imps. 'Bless my soul, boys, what am I doing? Of course we shouldn't smoke here. We'll sing now, if you please.' The boys were a bit older before they discovered that the bill was an imitation."

MRS. Wordsworth shared her husband's love of Nature, and was one of the most ardent admirers of his poetry. Like a perfect wife she loved, too, all those who shared her enthusiasm for his lyrics. In his Bookman's Holiday, Holbrook Jackson, the English biographer, bibliophile and critic discusssing Wordsworth's beautiful address to the stock dove, tells this little story:

Once in a wood, Mrs. Wordsworth and a lady were walking when the stock dove was cooing. A farmer's wife coming by said to herself, "Oh, I do like stock doves!" Mrs. Wordsworth was so touched that she took the old woman to her heart; "But," continued the old woman, "some like them in a pie; for my part there's nothing like 'em stewed in onions."

"YES, (Sydney Smith remarked on Macaulay—Jackson continues) he is certainly more agreeable since his return from India. His enemies might perhaps have said before (though I never did so) that he talked rather too much; but now he has occasional flashes of silence that make his conversation perfectly delightful."

WITHIN ten days of Lord Tennyson's death, William Heinemann—founder of the famous British publishing house—succeeded in bringing out a biography of the poet. When Tennyson died, Arthur Waugh hurried to Edinburgh, where the book was to be printed, and spent five hectic days and nights correcting the galley proofs as they came from the machines. Waugh, it should be stated, had been commissioned to write the biography. The first bound copy of the book bore the date October 14, 1892. Tennyson had died in the early morning of October 6th.

"HOW to Be Happy but Broke or Confessions of a Scribe" might be a good title for the book in which James Agate takes great delight in disclosing the secrets of his craft and earnings, and simply calls Ego 7. He begins by stating that in the 22 years since September, 1921, when he became a member of Saturday Review, he had written just over 6,000,000 words. That is 500,000 up on Dickens in the 34 years of his output, 1836-70. During this period Agate claimed to have earned about $350,000 of which income tax amounted to $100,000. His journalism averaged 5 cents a line, his book just over 4 cents per line gross. The gross profit on a volume of Ego (Ego 7 is one of a series, his diary for 1944) is $1,875 from which $375 has to be deducted for typing, $100 for what he calls "douceurs" to various people, $50 for illustrations; other expenses leave a net profit of $1,000, less $625 for the Department of Inland Revenue. The net personal profit is thus $375, which when stretched over a year and a half—the time it takes to write, amounts to $5 per week!!! Summing up Agate takes a philosophical view:

"I admit that I could have led a more economical life. I could have scraped this and cheesepared that. But I infinitely prefer having a great deal to look back upon to having a few pounds with which to look forward to nothing I care about. All that remains is for somebody to write of me: 'He was a fair dramatic critic, an admirable diarist, a prodigious worker, and a financial genius of the first order.'" (Exit: Fanfare of trumpets.)

A GOOD fella at the wickets has a price above rubies when College and University honour are at stake on the playing fields, but there are some prices even the most lenient authority must draw the line at. Esme Wingfield Strafford, recalling memories of Kin's Cambridge in Before The Lights Went Out—relates how a great match might have been lost over the spelling of a well-known four letter word.

A certain valuable cricketeer, remarkable more for brawn than brain, and too great an asset to make his loss possible on mere scholastic grounds, at long last came up for exam. It was his privilege and the authorities had no right to exempt him. Great was their consternation, when beside each question they found in the same round hand the same round oath—and nothing more. Sending for the candidate, the chief examiner said:

"Really, Mr. ——— you have put us in a very unfortunate position. You see the Board had determined to pass you, and they would have passed you, if you had not spelt it 'D-A-M.' As it is——"

THE author had almost a parallel experience. He despaired of surviving his "Mays" in history, even on coming up the next October! The famous Cambridge tutor, Oscar Browning, invited him to dinner, then casually remarked:

"Now, I expect you'll be wanting to get your Mays over. Let's see. Are you feeling like mediaeval history? Before his confession could be uttered a great hand clapped the dejected shoulder and he heard the booming voice say,

"My dear boy, why worry when there's nothing to worry about. I am responsible for history at King's and examining in history. Now sit down; there is the Mays paper and you will find everything you want in the library here, everything. Only I can't be bothered to stop and time you. You must do that yourself because I shall be out for the rest of the afternoon. I don't really think you should worry."

Letter To The Editor

FARM TAXPAYERS OF STONY LAKE

Sir: The Examiner, on August 16th, gave a report of the meeting held by the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association. Now, I wish to renew the views of the Farm Taxpayers of Stony Lake and those involving hundreds of taxpayers from Lakefield to Havelock via Stony Lake and thousands of tourists who have frequented the designated sections during the past years.

About 3 years ago last October, I alone started a drive for improvements along this section, I sent by mail over 10 typed copies relating the potentialities of the county and especially the route including the lakeshore property from Peterborough to Havelock via Stony Lake.

Later nine people along this route who were chosen, from different types of interest in the welfare of this section, to aid in a drive for support by signature or letter to have same forwarded to the proper authorities proving the interest, needs, potentialities, worthy cause, improvements necessary. During our drive, when the snow was 2½ to 3 ft. deep and roads had to be snowploughed for passage of these workers to get signatures totalling over 1,800, many of the cottagers were contacted for their aid. The report of theirs shows over 10,000 cottagers interested in our aims. Think of the taxpayers money coming from 11,800 taxpayers and consider the little we get in return for the tax money.

Some time ago I suggested and now again suggest . . . the large boulders along the section be crushed, placed on this route this season and work continued to bring this route suitable for the traffic using same. Widen the banks for at least half a mile to all lake landings (especially those of McCracken's and Crow's Landings) by placing necessary tile along each ditch and cover with suitable covering at a level with the road, thus making parking possible, safe and public for all to enjoy. The public wharfs should be extended in length and width according to the public demands.

Regulations for traffic rules on water should be enforced in the same degree they are enforced on land, thus safeguarding the inexperienced and weaker individuals using boats for transportation.

An investigation should be made learning who was responsible for black paint being used on buoys. A child could tell that a white cat can be seen farther at night than a blackone. Even a sneak thief along the lake knows enough to wear dark clothing while stealing from a lakeshore farmer.

At the cottagers' meeting it was reported that about 25 break-ins annually are being made along Stony Lake. I want to report that the average farmer a lake has experienced yearly sneak thief invaders who have their vacations timed according to the time when certain produce of the farmer is available. The berries, flower gardens, vegetables, corn, apples, chickens, homes and even the use of cottages, for nightly parties or sleep unpaid for, are some of the ways the farmer along the lake is forced to endure without police protection. You may learn that a lakeshore farmer may call for police investigation on Monday, the provincial has answered, "Send a man right out," but you neither see nor hear more of the man until another such answer is made without results. The use of a cottage without charge has been offered for police protection and investigation but that too is passed up without use or results. What can Stony Lake Cottagers do when the signatures of 1,800 taxpayers have done nothing but publicize our needs, worthy improvement demands, constant [illegible] for better improvements according [illegible] mands? Sincerely,

(MRS.) JOSEPH HAMIL-

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord.

Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened; and Jesus straitly charged them, saying, See that no man knoweth it.

But they, when they were departed, spread abroad his fame in all that country. As they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man possessed with a devil. And when the devil was cast out, the dumb spake: and the multitudes marvelled, saying, It was never so seen in Israel. (Matt. 9: 27-33.)

"That Strain Again . . ."

For a considerable time now we have heard nothing about the effect which the cocktail lounge is having on the mores of the good people of Ontario. No word has come which would indicate that these places are either undermining the well-being of the Ontario public—as was predicted—or adding to the amenities of life in the centres of population where they are located,—as was hoped. Ontario has, it appeared, just taken them in its stride. It can take 'em or leave 'em alone.

But we had, as it seems, underestimated Ontario's capacity for getting all steamed up over the ancient problem of "public drinking" and the cocktail lounges are back on the front page. This time the question is whether music may be added to whatever other attractions cocktail lounges may have to offer. The Ontario Liquor Licence Board, facing one of its periodic crisis, has made what seems to us an astute, though somewhat remarkable ruling. The number of musicians who may give forth in a cocktail lounge is strictely limited by its seating capacity. Fewer than one hundred imbibers are entitled to only one instrument: more than that may listen to a trio. How many would be needed to rate an orchestra is not indicated. Moreover they may not be "strolling players," tooting a flute one minute and gone the next, but fixtures. Seemingly no matter how badly they play, the management cannot fire them and hire some others who may stroll in and do better. But there must be no singers, singing being a sign of enjoyment . . . . Shades of "Sweet Adeline"!

Hogan Richer By $2,150, But Not Popular

DENVER, Aug. 23 — (AP). — Mechanical Ben Hogan was richer in cash today—but not in popularity with Denver fans—as he pocketed the $2,150 first prize from the Denver open golf tournament and went after money in the Salt Lake City open.

The Hershey, Pa., belter, who stretched his 1948 earnings to $27,477 Sunday as he won his seventh major tournament in a row, climaxed a poor week in public relations when he failed to show up for the formal presentation of prizes.

Hogan finished the 72-hole, $12,500 tournament with a 270, which was 18 under par for the Wellshire municipal course, but at the moment didn't seem good enough to win. For back on the 17th tee was Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, needing only par scores for the last two holes to cop the first prize.

But the 32-year-old Haas couldn't manage that either, takwent to pieces on the 17th with a one over par.

That left him needing a birdie on the 18th to tie Hogan. But the former national college champion couldn't manager thtat either, taking a par five that gave the first prize to Hogan.

At the presentation ceremony fans waited in vain for Hogan to appear and the money finally was accepted by a PGA official.

It had been a bad week all around for Hogan. When a fan requested an autograph, he turned his back and walked away. He refused to be interviewed by a sports broadcaster.

His actions brought him a panning by the Denver press and radio.

Orphans Turn Back Port Hope By 19-1

COBOURG, Aug. 23 — Pitching a no-hit game Saturday during which he posted 18 strikeouts, Don Ball of Cobourg Orphans turned back Port Hope, 19-1, in an OASA playoff.

The youthful hurler was robbed of a shutout as a result of an error in the 7th inning.

Ball walked five and twice retired the side on strikeouts. No Port Hope player hit to the Cobourg outfield. Cobourg will meet either Whitby or East Whitby in the next round of the OASA playoffs.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Joe Louis, retired heavyweight boxing champion of the world, still isn't saying when he'll file his retirement statement with the New York Boxing Commission.

Louis, in Indianapolis for the Negro national amateur Golf tournament opening today, told reporters he's "relaxing" now and that "there's plenty of time yet" to make his retirement official.

Reporters asked him about a report that he would fight again: "Is there anything to it?"

Joe shook his head. It could have meant "No" or "I don't know."

At Red Bank, N.J., Joe Van Blerck of Freeport, N.Y., won the national sweepstakes prize Sunday when his 225-inch hydroplane defeated favored contenders in a two-day motorboat regatta marked by a series of misfortunes for racers.

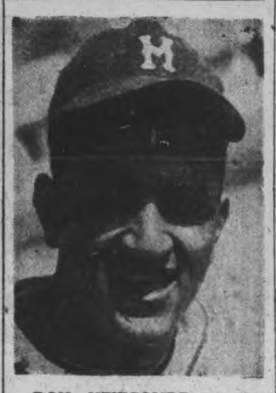
The Lahal, owned by Harry Lynn of Lake Hopatcong, N.J., and St. Louis, was beached in the Red Bank gold cup race when a propellor blade flew through the bottom and the $65,000 craft filled with water to climax the tough luck that dogged the top boats.

The gold cup was won by Sid Street, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo., who gunned his 225-cubic inch hydroplane Z-Z-Zip to Victory in the final event of the regatta. Guy Lombardo's Tempo VI, started late and dropped out of the 10-mile race when the Z-Z-Zip crossed the finish line.

Gustav Eder, 40-year-old German welterweight champion, Sunday retained the title which he has held 18 years. He fought a draw bout against 26-year-old Leo Sarosch of Essen before 30,000 fans at Berlin.

At Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark of New York, prominent owner of steeplechase horses, re-entered the flat racing sport Sunday by purchasing the two-year-old Algasir for $106,000 —believed to be the highest price ever realized for a gelding. Algasir holds the world record of 50 4/5 seconds for 4½ furlongs, established down the Widener straightaway at Belmont Park last June 16.

At Lake L'Achigan, Que., Ken Wolff of Tonawanda, N.Y., piloted his class C outboard hydroplane to victory Sunday in the feature free-for-all at the 17th annual Lake L'Achigan regatta.



Wolff covered the five-mile course in 4:17 1/10 seconds driving his famed "Black Maria." Runners-up were Jack Maypole of Chicago and Henry Shankeshaft of White Plains, N.Y.

Frank Gauthier of Winchendon, proved that the loss of an arm is no handicap to him. He swam from Boston Light to Kelly's Landing, South Boston, a distance of 11 miles, in four hours, 15 minutes.

Giana Gambi, noted Italian swimmer, will fly to Toronto this week to finish training for the world championship 10-mile professional swim at the Canadian National Exhibition Sept. 3. Three weeks ago Gambi swam the English Channel in the second fastest time ever recorded. Before the war he won a five-mile CNE swim here.

Organize CCF Party

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23—(CP)—Organization of the nucleus of a CCF party in Newfoundland—soon to become a Canadian province—will begin next month. J. W. Noseworthy of Toronto will fly to St. John's to head up the organization work, it was announced Saturday at the party's national convention.

DON NEWCOMBE of the Montreal Royals, now leading pitcher in the International League with 14 wins and only four losses, who recently pitched a no-hitter against the Toronto Maple Leafs and has since clipped the Rochester Red Wings for a one-hit shut-out.

Royals Sweep Doubleheader With Buffalo

By The Associated Press

One of the reasons manager Clay Hopper's Montreal Royals are so far out in front in the International league pennant race is because they are the only team in the league that is playing better than .500 on the road.

The Royals have won 33 games and lost 25 away from home for a 569 mark. At home, the Royals are no pushovers either as they have won 49 games and lost 18 for .731 galt, best in the circuit.

The runaway Royals swept their 17th doubleheader of the season Sunday beating Buffalo Bisons, 15-2 and 4-3.

In the opener, Frank Laga scattered seven Buffalo hits to win his 10th game against five losses. The Royals whacked four Buffalo pitchers for 15 hits including homers by Chuck Connors and Bobby Morgan. Lary Barton hit his 16th homer for the Bisons.

An error by Johnny Bero paved the way for three unearned Montreal runs in the second inning of the nightcap. Al Zachary started for Montreal but Don (no-hit) Newcombe had to take over in the final frame when the Bisons got the potential tying run on second.

Blank Giants

Newark Bears, behind the four-hit pitching of Clarence Marshall, blanked Jack Kraus and Jersey City Giants, 10-0 in a single game.

Joe Collins led Newark's 14-hit attack, belting two homers and driving in five runs. Lou Novikoff also clouted a round-tripper for the Bears.

Rochester Red Wings regained third place from Toronto Maple Leafs, taking both ends of a twin bill from Syracuse Chiefs while the Leafs divided a doubleheader with the last-place Baltimore Orioles.

Brilliant relief pitching by Glenn Gardner and Steve Gerkin enable the Wings to take the opener, 5-3. Al Papai stopped the Chiefs on there hits in winning the 4-1 finale.

After veteran Oscar Judd of Ingersoll pitched the Leafs to a 5-1 triumph over the Orioles in the first game, young Lyman Linde stopped the Leafs, 2-0 on two hits in the wind-up for the Orioles. Hank Biasatti slammed his 20th homer for the Leafs in the first game and Milt Stockhausen hit his second with one on to account for Baltimore's two runs in the second game.

Oshawa Juveniles Capture First One

Oshawa juveniles defeated the Peterborough Kinsmen 6-2 in the Motor City on Saturday to open their best-of-three OBA juvenile "A" playdown series. The return game will be played at six p.m. in Riverside Park this Tuesday.

McTavish on the home slab struck out 17 in a fine showing, but Corkery also pitched good ball and it was only in the late stages that the victors bunched blows to pull out the verdict. Both sides showed a lot of style at bat and in the field, as well as on the hilltop. Fred Hill of the Peterborough team suffered a concussion during the game when a runner slid hard, but accidentally, into him as he went up for a throw from catcher to second. Hill's head hit the ground hard and he was taken to hospital, but brought back to Peterborough yesterday.

Cobourg Flinger Throws No-Hitter

COBOURG, Aug. 23 —(ENS)— Marked by the superb pitching of Don Ball, Cobourg Orphans defeated Port Hope on Saturday night by the score of 19-1 to take this round of the OASA series and advance into the next round of playoffs against Whitby.

Ball turned in a no-hit pitching chore with 18 strikeouts and would have had a no-run game except for an error in the seventh that scored Len Ashby who had got on base by a walk. It was the finest pitching achievement ever recorded locally. Ball walked five batters but twice retired the side on strikeouts and not a ball was hit to the Cobourg outfield throughout the game.

Batteries: Cobourg—Ball and Ewart; Port Hope — Haynes, Smoke and Baxter.

Australians Remain In Davis Cup Play

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 23 — (AP). — For the fourth consecutive time since 1939, the Australian Davis Cup tennis forces today were in the challenge round against the as-yet-unnamed United States defending forces.

Little Billy Sidwell, freshman member of the Australian team, moved his forces into the last round of the international play Sunday when he won the fifth and deciding inter-zone finals match from Vladimir Cernik of Czechoslovakia, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

They were halted by a mutually agreed upon 5.30 p.m. deadline Saturday, when Sidwell pulled into a 7-5, three games to one lead. The little Australian had an even easier time with the Czech when they resumed their interrupted match.

Midget Aces Swamp Lindsay 27-3

Peterborough Aces defeated Lindsay in the nightcap of a double-header Saturday, 27-3, to open the first round of the midget playdown series at Riverside.

Lefty Bachelor, on the hill for the locals, showed great form, striking out 15 and allowing one scratch hit in the sixth. He walked seven or might have had a shutout. Lindsay had 15 errors in a ragged effort, while Aces committed but one.

McGrath, W. Ferguson and Bachelor led the offensive, the first driving in three runs, while Fergie hit a single, double, triple and homer in six tries. Bachelor had four for six, Mongraw, Driscoll and Gandy each had two safeties.

Petes Defeated By O'Hallorans

O'Halloran's took the Petes soccer eleven 6-3 in a league match on Saturday afternoon on King Edward Park before a fair attendance. Excellent soccer prevailed with two good teams. Petes were minus some of their regular players.

Smart combination in the early stages resulted in clever goals, O'Halloran's getting the first counter on Featherstone's rocket drive. This was short-lived because Eddie Lane carried the ball to the other end to shoot it across the goal mouth with players missing but Larry Payne made no mistake with the equaliser. Eddie again went back to make O'Halloran's custodian divert a rising drive for a successful flag kick that he put in below the cross-bar to take the lead. Towards the interval, Pyle, with his steadying influence, carried the play repeatedly into the Petes goal to bring out the class of Dalton Downer and N. Lane, full backs, but Pyle made it read 2-all with a smashing drive in below the cross-bar.

On resuming, O'Halloran's were up two more goals through the efforts of Duffus with his first time drives that Featherstone and Pyle had placed. There was no further scoring until 10 minutes to the finish when Smart broke away on the extreme right to climax his performance with a bullet-like shot that the goalie had no chance to save. Then Featherstone registered the sixth tally. Don Downer cut down the lead just before the whistle sounded.

O'Halloran's — J. Chamberlain, goal; A. Downer and W. Denesin, fullbacks; D. Gray, H. Pyle and T. Scott, halfbacks; C. B. Smart, A. O'Halloran, E. Duffus, A. Featherstone and E. Boone, forwards. Subs—E. Croall, P. Conners, J. Seabrooke.

Petes—G. Foster, goal; H. Payne ad D. Downer, fullbacks; N. Lane, E. Downer and W. Post, halfbacks; L. Payne, D. Downer, T. Hennessey, J. Patterson and E. Lane, forwards.

Saskatchewan Wins First Football Game

By The Canadian Press

To Saskatchewan Roughriders today went the honor of turning in the first official victory of the 1948 football season as the gridiron game got under way in sweltering weather.

The Roughriders opened the Western Canada Football Union schedule Saturday by walloping Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 16-7. The early start gave them nearly a two week jump on the east's two senior leagues, still in the exhibition game stages.

In three exhibition games Saturday, Toronto Beaches Indians were defeated, 16-7, by Calgary Stampeders, third team in the Western Canada Union, while Ottawa Roughriders beat Hamilton Tigers, 13-7, and Toronto Argonauts split up into two sides, with the light blues defeating the dark blues, 11-0.

Saskatchewan displayed strength in every department in upsetting the Bombers at Winnipeg. More than 4,000 shirt-sleeved fans watched them come up with a powerful fourth-quarter attack, good for 12 points.

Ken Charlton, the galloping halfback from las tseason's Ottawa Rough Riders, headed the winner's attack with 13 points. He scored two touchdowns and kicked three singles.

Kinsmen Lose To Kiwanis In Semi-Final

By FRED MAYBEE

Kiwanis defeated Kinsmen in the deciding contest, 12-8, to earn the right to meet Oshawa Tuesday in the first game of the finals.

Paul Estlick pitched eight innings for Kiwanis, outlasting his four rivals, and he deserved to win. The issue was always in doubt, however, as the teams battled to a finish. Hitting honors for the day went to Fitzgerald of Kinsmen, who had four solid hits, one a double, and drove in three runs. Conlin, Pagett, Giardino, Menzies and Curry each drove in a pair for their respective teams, while Sullivan had three safeties, one a double.

Don McGillen, Dugan and Ferguson each had two hits, while McGillen ran all over to make six hard putouts in left. La Plante fielded well, too, and hit the only homer of the game. Kiwanis meet Oshawa there Tuesday and at Riverside Friday night at 6.15.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Stick wizardy marks the play of the Owen Sound Crescents, currently leading the OLA senior "A" parade. And this will be apparent to lacrosse fans here tonight when Crescents play the Petes an exhibition at nine in Miller Bowl, weather being okay. Piper Bain has collected himself quite a crew of high scorers, fancy passers and solid checkers. Looks like they'll pick up the marbles this season and maybe the Mann Cup as well. The Petes, whom many think good enough for "A" competition, will have a stiff test in this one. And may be content to stay senior "B" for a spell yet.

* * * * * *

By the same token, the senior Petes' ballsters are liable to find the House of David touring pros tough competition at 8.30 tonight in Riverside, under the floodlights—set up by the bearded wonders of Michigan. An exhibition tilt and it should be a good one. The bewhiskered brethren stage some fast pepper ball and a mock infield workout as part of the pre-game program, before settling down to strut their stuff in earnest. We've seen them here several times in the past and always got a kick out of it. Don't let the beards fool you—they're young and with a lot of diamond savvy and practice.

Kiwanis Win Series

Kiwanis turned back Kinsmen 12-8 Saturday a.m. in Riverside to take the Lakeshore Junior League semi-final series. And they now play in Oshawa tomorrow and back here Friday in loop finals. The Kin outhit Kiwanis but had more miscues as they used four flingers, Doris, Plunkett, Richardson and Sullivan. As Estlick went the route in fairly steady fashion for the winers. Giardino, Jaquith, Stewart and LaPlante each had two hits for the Pagett pack while Fitzgerald and Sullivan were the big stickers for the Turner team. LaPlante and McGillen fielded well. Congrats were offered the victors after. Thus endeth that warmish serial.

A minor OBA twin bill at the park Saturday aft and part of the eve. Local Trojans trimmed Kingston 22-11 after dinner as they showed plenty of punch and speed on the paths, and Frizzelle hurled well. Corbett and Ball led 'em at bat. Al Menzies' young peewees go back to Kingston on Saturday and the team needs cars. In the p.m. go, Bill Murphy's bantam Aces walloped Lindsay 27-3, the Scugog crew having but nine boys on hand. Lefty Batchelor threw one-hit ball as his buddies bashed Lucas hard and they fielded well. Whereas the luckless Lindsayites had 15 miscues! W. Ferguson, McGrath and Batchelor led the hitters.

About The Damsels

Marines and Westclox girls may wind up their intermediate "A" finals at the Bowl tonight. Westclox won three in as many starts of the best-of-seven, and the same squads clash tonight in one or two tilts, if necessary. Over there Saturday, Cobourg colleens clipped Lindsay lasses twice, 2-0 and 8-3 to win their WPSU intermediate "B" series. Lindsay damsels went down fighting but didn't have enough pitchers. Made a good showing at that this year in the local league. A Saturday night exhibition, a seven-inning affair, saw B. Reid of Ashby's throw no-hit ball as her side won from Woollens 13-1. A swell slab effort.

Managers of Knights and Comstock's of the men's setup might check with their players anytime now so that they can soon submit one choice from each of their own teams to the executive for the most valuable player trophy. Legion and B-A might be considering this point, too. Executive and scorer take the four names submitted by the clubs and decide which player gets the trophy. No rush for a week or so yet, though. Meantime, B-A and Legionnaires tangle again tomorrow night at the Bowl for the city title and George Dormer Trophy. Legion won the first two, so B-A have to dig in this time.

Trojans Take First One From Kingston

The local Trojans trimmed Kingston Portsmouth 22-11 here Saturday to open their OBA peewee playdown series, next game being in Kingston on Saturday. Al Menzies' bunch showed power at the plate and speed on the sacks, behind steady hurling by Jerry Frizzelle, who fanned 13. Both sides slipped at times in the field, and Kingston had but three earned runs. The visitors were loose, but two double-plays helped. They used three twirlers, all being bingled hard. Corbett had four for five and Ball four for six to lead Trojans at bat, Ball driving in seven runs. Frizzelle hit a homer, Pagett a triple and Ball a double. Jenkins, H. Ball and Murphy were the main hitters for Kingston, Murphy's trio including a homer.

3-Horse Pile-Up

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Aug. 23 — (CP). — Leo Laurin of Ottawa was injured slightly yesterday in a three-horse pile-up which sent two Ogdensburg jockeys to hospital. The accident occurred when Lady Bolo, leading the field, stumbled and fell in the five-eighths of a mile race. The other horses tripped over Lady Bolo and threw their riders. John Osgood, riding Lady Bolo, suffered shoulder and chest injuries. Jack Lanphier suffered a fractured ankle.

SHOOTING AN EVEN 300 for four rounds, Mildred Babe Didrikson of Ferndale, N.Y., cops the women's national golf tourney at Northfield, N.J., and add another trophy to her big collection. Grace Lencyk (right) won tourney amateur division.

Cobourg Girls Get Series Over Lindsay

Cobourg girls eliminated Lindsay at the Bowl Saturday in two games to advance in the PWSU intermediate "B" playdowns. They won the afternoon one 2-0 and the evening fray 8-3, after Lindsay had taken the first of the series in Cobourg a few nights earlier. The losers had but one twirler and found the twin bill too much.

The afternoon tilt was a nifty with two first-frame Cobourg runs looming bigger and bigger in a twirlers' duel. E. Brown gave but seven hits and fanned eight, while J. Bryan gave nine hits as she struck out five. The fielding was good and fairly even, with B. Fisher, M. Moore of Cobourg and M. Owen and P. Graham of Lindsay best. K. Mulhall and R. Mackin each had two hits for the victors as H. Deyell, D. Madill and J. Bryan got two apiece for Lindsay.

NIGHT GAME

In the second scrap, it was a keen contest most of the way with both sides threatening toward the end. But Cobourg bunched blows better and cashed in on a few miscues. J. Rowden and J. Bryan pitched 11-hit ball each, having few strikeouts, but the latter walked a few more. B. Jamieson, B. Fisher of Cobourg, with M. Owen and H. Deyell of Lindsay, looked good in the field. R. Hay led the winners at bat with a homer and two singles, as D. Woods and H. Deyell each got three hits for the Scugog squad.

Remember When...

By The Canadian Press.

Cleveland's farm boy pitcher from Iowa, 17-year-old Bob Feller, started his first major league ball game 12 years ago today. He struck out 15 startled St. Louis Browns, missing the American League record by one and Dizzy Dean's major-league mark by two.

Kawarthas Get OASA Series With 33-2 Win

Bob Crowe's local Kawarthas won their first OASA juvenile "A" playdown round on Saturday in Kingston when they trounced the Kingston Frigidaires 33-2 in a weird game. The Kingston management declined to play the return game here, defaulting it to the K's, and giving them the series.

Kawarthas smashed the ball all over the place to rack up 15 runs in a wild first frame, and they hammered in nine more in the second. They bunched their 20 hits and had but one error behind three-hit hurling by Doris. The latter was in great form and had fine backing afield and at the plate, while Kingston kicked in with 11 errors. All the Kawarthas turned in a swell performance and all had a big day at bat. The teams:

Kawarthas: Thompson, 3b; Floyd, cf; Allen, 2b; Berwick, rf; Griffin, c; Doris, p; Grainger, lf; Grafstein, 1b; Evans, ss; Murphy, 2b; Dummitt, lf.

Campbellford Wins

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23. — (ENS).—After a second-rate performance on Thursday night, the Campbellford OASA squad caught their series with Warkworth on Friday night in a game at Campbellford, rallying from the previous evening's score of 17-12 for the villagers to blast the visitors in convincing style to the tune of 14-4.

Bruce McComb, who was a puzzle to the Warkworth batters in the first game of the series, repeated his stellar performance, giving Campbellford he verdict. The win sends the latter team into the next round of the intermediate OASA playdowns against the highly-rated Wooler nine.

It is likely thatt he first game will be played in Trenton on Monday night under floodlights with a return game expected to be here Wednesday.

E. Bull started on the mound for Warkworth and had to be replaced as he proved no puzzle for the heavy-hitting Campbellford team. Don Greenly, tired from his victorious efforts in the game at Colborne on Thursday, was called in to replace him, but the overworked Warkworth pitcher could not stem the tide.

Paul O'Sullivan was the potent man at bat for Campbellford, ensuring vicory with a triple, double and single to his credit. Bud Peloquin ran him a close second in ths regard with a circuit clout and a three-sacker.

As previously stated, Bruce McComb, who lasted well for the entire nine innings, kept the villagers in check without too much difficulty. Occasionally, when Warkworth men did reach bases safely his teammates tightened down to further efforts. However, the honors for the longest-hit ball of the evening goes unquestionably to the defeated team, Gerald Greenly swating the oval far into the night past the floodlighted area in right field during the sixth innings.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

In presentnng the Phillip Black Memorial Trophy, for mixed doubles, on Wednesday, Sept. 1, our club is going all out to make this tournament a success. The committee sent out the notices some time ago, and the response has been better than last year. Up until late Saturday night there were 72 pairs entered and that means we have room for 24 more entries. As we have over a week to go yet, it is our opinion the list will be "sold out" before the day of the tournament.

To local bowlers, don't be left out—get your partner and give your entry to the committee.

So far, we have heard nothing about the Globe and Mail doubles for ladies or gents.

About the Selkirk Trophy tournament — give your entry to S. Shields before Friday night. Rinks must be of schedule calibre.

Groups 3 and 4 play in the men's schedule this evening and Groups 1 and 2 on Tuesday night.

Wednesday night at 7 o'clock mixed doubles; choose your partners.

On Saturday night we had the largest turnout for the "Family Hour" tournament so far this season—16 mixed rinks—more players than were out on Friday night. The boys and girls seem to enjoy this tournament. The fee is very little, but the entertainment is great. They played two 10-end games.

The winning skips were: Geo. Soulby, Vic Hill, James Harrison and Ross Downey.

Red Sox Whip Senators As Indians Bow To Chicago

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy's rampaging Red Sox owe their amazing uphill climb to their great keystone combination — shortstop Vern Stephens and Bobby Doerr.

Sparked by the brilliant all-around play of this pair, the Red Sox today are in second place in the American league standings, only half a game behind the pace-setting Cleveland Indians.

Stephens and Doerr accounted for three of Boston's four runs Sunday as the Sox whipped Washington Senators 4-1. It was their fourth straight victory over the Senators and the 10th in their last 11 games.

It was a profitable day for the Sox as the Indians dropped both ends of a doubelheader to the cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox, 8-1 and 4-3, to lose 1½ games to Boston.

Doerr was the big gun of the Red Sox' victory. He hammered his 23rd home run with Stephens aboard in the third inning.

Three In Row

The Yankees made it three in a row over the A's as Vic Raschi pitched a four-hit shutout for his 17th victory against five defeats.

The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed by rain.

The White Sox not only whipped the Indians twice, but knocked out Bobby Feller in the sixth inning of the first game. Feller, who yielded eight hits and six runs in less than six innings, was charged with his 14th defeat. He has won 12. Pat Seerey, who was discarded by the Tribe, poled a two run homer to sink the Indians in the second game.

Blasting Hal Newhouser for eight hits in less than five innings, including a home run by Gerry Priddy, St. Louis Browns walloped Detroit Tigers 10-1.

Braves Move Up

Boston Braves moved two games ahead of the runner-up Dodgers, coming from behind to nip Brooklyn 4-3 on rookie Clint Conaster's eighth-inning home run with one on. The Dodgers went ahead in the last of the fifth, scoring two runs, the last resulting from Jackie Robinson's fourth steal of home this season. In all, the Brooks stole eight bases, three by Gene Hermanski. That made it 18 stolen bases by Brooklyn against the Braves in the last 19 tries.

Pittsburgh Pirates ruined the Cardinals' chances of taking over second place when they tallied three times in the 10th inning to defeat St. Louis 4-1. The defeat left the third-place Redbirds two percentage points behind the Dodgers and two games in back of the Braves.

New York Giants moved into a virtual fourth-place tie with Pittsburgh by defeating Philadelphia Phillies in both ends of a doubleheader at the Polo Grounds, 9-4 and 3-0. The second game was called in the Giants' half of the fifth inning because of a heavy rain.

Johnny Schmitz earned his 14th triumph as Chicago Cubs trounced Cincinnati Reds 10-3. The Cubs got 12 hits of three Red pitchers including Bill Nicholson's 16th home run. Hank Sauer banged his 28th for the Reds.

OSHAWA, Aug. 23 — Oshawa Legion whipped Kingston Blue Bells 28-7 here on Saturday afternoon in the first game of their OASA intermediate "double "A" playoff series. The second game is in Kingston on Tuesday.

Kingston scored a run in the first inning on an outfield error, but it was the only time they were ahead. Legion came back with three runs, adde four in the second and staged a six-run parade in the fourth.

They continued the assault with three in the fifth and eighth in the six to drive Bell Ringer from the mound. Kingston scored five runs in the fifth to shell Wilson off and Smykaluk took over.

Laing went best in the field. S. Harris whiffed six. J. Dunk led the winners at bat with a double and two singles. The teams:

Oshawa Fittings Drop Game To Brockville

OSHAWA, Aug. 23 — Fittings, Oshawa's junior "A" softball champions, lost a sizzling 5-4 decision in the first game of their OASA playdowns, here Saturday afternoon, at the hands of a snappy junior aggregation from Brockville.

Masowich pitched good ball for the Fittings team, but the Brockvilles made full use of the walks issued and the odd error committed. They came up with hits at the right time for their five runs. The return game of the series is at Brockville Saturday.

Work On Fire Rebuilding; Continue Survey

Inspector Lucas of the Fire Marshal's Department is assisting Fire Chief Smith in an investigation into the Kresge fire. The Inspector has already spent two days checking details of the $200,000 blaze and has not yet finished his inquiry.

Meanwhile there is plenty of activity in and around the building which, at a glance from the outside, appears almost untouched by flames.

Workmen are busy cleaning up the debris preparatory to beginning work on internal construction, and a salvaging firm is stripping the basement and main floor of items still of some value.

The salvage men were shaking their heads as they poked among the aisles of charred merchandise in the basement.

"There's not very much here," said one man who during a brief hunt found little that was even recognizable.

Already the first move has been made to restore the gutted interior. Planking has arrived to replace the present flooring which was partially burnt and the remainder buckled.

Today small boys were swarming on a truck that was carting away some charred stock. Occasionally one would shout with triumph and brandish a water-soaked and singed cushion cover, a child's broom or some other trinket taken from the rubbish.

An aesthetic touch was lent to the scene when several salvaged bubble pipes and began to blow large, many-colored bubbles while sitting on the charred refuse.

Annual picnic of the Peterborough Lock Co. was held at Nicholls Oval on Saturday with weather conditions made to order.

Practically every one of the 300 employees and their families were present, for this climax to the vacation period just ended.

Antics of two clowns added fun for the children.

The Lock Company's Sports and Athletic Club was largely responsible for the day's success. President of the club is Clarence Morgan. Al. Heideman and Jack Smith were in charge of the athletics, Frank Hickey in charge of refreshments, Paul Caravaggie in charge of attendance, and prizes were in the care of Dan Moriarity. Publicity was Clyde Cameron's responsibility, while the task of M.C. was handled by Paul Caravaggie and Warren Marshall.

Sports events comprised 32 events, from races for the tiny tots to ball games.

Pie-Eaters Galore

The race that caused special amusement was the pie-eating contest, watched by the whole gathering. One-half a chocolate cream pie was given to each of the 35 hungry contestants, who had to eat it with their hands behind their back. This race was won by Fred De Carlo.

E. H. Howson, president of the Peterborough Lock Co.; Robert Maybee, general manager; C. Westbrook, works manager; Clyde Cameron, superintendent, and Claude Bastable, secretary-treasurer, were among those attending.

The Peterborough Pipe Band entertained the crowd during the dinner.

In the evening an excellent show was staged by Ted Bradshaw, the magician.

George Adamson, a long-service employee, was the lucky ticket holder for the lucky draw, and won a mantel radio. The five other cash awards were won by John Kent, Harold Cockerill, Les Thomas, Joe O'Brien and Mrs. Irene Crowe.

"Mr. Peterborough Lock" was "Chub" Shannon, who was identified by Joan McIntyre.

"Miss Peterborough Lock" was Edna O'Hara, found by Betty McMahon after an afternoon search.

Kingston Rejects Company Seeking New Site; Claim Waste Kills Fish

KINGSTON, Aug. 23.—Directors of Kingston Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Friday learned that the Visking Corporation of Chicago which was considering building a $1,000,000 plant at Kingston, has decided to erect the factory at Lindsay. Representatives of the sausage-casing manufacturers had twice been in Kingston to survey possible sites for the plant which they said would employ about 200 people.

The site they had in mind was 13 acres at the end of Elliott's Lane, north of the CNR station in Kingston township, known as the Harkness property. The manufacturers were satisfied with the property as to size, location and price.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce previously objected to erection of the factory because the effluent would contain a concentration of sulphuric acid which would have killed fish, frogs and other aquatic life over a wide area and the birds which feed on them.

Unless the Chicago firm would agree to neutralize the acid before discharging it into the water, the board was unwilling to see the factory built.

❖ ❖ ❖

The board learned from the city engineer, David Jack, that the acid would "eat concrete" and could not be permitted to flow through city sewers. He informed directors vitrified tile would be required to handle the effluent at its source. Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, medical health officer, said the acid "would kill everything in sight."

B. H. Schenk, assistant manager of the sausage-casing firm told the board, through Secretary-Manager J. M. Hughes, that the firm had decided to settle in Lindsay and invited directors to visit the parent plant in Chicago where cellulose, glycerine and water are converted into casings.

Mr. Hughes reported that a representative of a large printing concern was looking for a five-acre site for a plant in central and eastern Ontario which includes Kingston. No decision had been announced yet, he told directors.

Civic Arena Up By November: Says Contractor

Construction of the civic arena will be resumed next Monday, Ald. Hurrell Dodds told the Examiner today. The contractor, Hugh Wilson of T. A. Wilson Lumber Co., is beginning this week, the delivery of lumber to the Park St. lot, and work will be under way again next week. The rink will then be carried to completion some time in November.

"The contractor has been engaged on a job in Madoc," Ald. Dodds said, "and he has a similar project at Lakefield. I expect our civic rink will be up by the first week in November. Everybody will be interested in knowing that it is now our turn to get construction under way."

Angler Spends Night In Barn

An all-night search ended uneventfully Sunday morning about 6 o'clock when provincial police located the object of their search. Unharmed from the night, John Morgan, Murray St., had become separated from two companions with whom he had gone on a fishing trip near Mount Pleasant Saturday night.

The two fishermen raised the alarm when Morgan wandered away and provincial constables George Henderson and Harry Cook combed through the area all night searching for him.

Morgan had spent the night in a barn near Mount Pleasant. He told the police that, realizing he had lost his way, he decided the wisest course was to wait for daylight before trying to relocate himself. He met the police just as he was leaving the barn Sunday morning.

Belleville Band Draws Big Crowd

Belleville Municipal Band entertained a big crowd at Ashburnham Bowl Sunday night. The weather was ideal and the program generous and uniformly pleasing. Ald. Hurrell Dodds was chairman, introducing the director R. F. Addison and his associates and announcing the numbers. The band played here in aid of the Civic Arena fund.

Familiar selections included the Faust music of Gounod, In a Monastery Garden, Colonel Bogey and others. The syncopated rhythm of El Saluda, a gypsy serenade, appealed to the large audience. Of special interest was the number International Patrol composed by Bandman Reg Hinchey. It has been frequently played the last few years since its publication. It is a clever weaving together of familiar phrases from marches and other national music in the general form of such patrols, and rates all the commendation that preceded it. The band composed of close to 40 instruments, is well equipped instrumentally, and gives the impression of a sound municipal investment. If it could double the number of its wood winds, its coloring would be deeper. That applies to most small city bands in this province.

Bandmaster Addison brought out the abilities of his musicians in a four part suite "Atlantis", exceedingly well played, and he must have anticipated the presence of many ex-servicemen in his audience with "Col. Bogey", an especially grateful number of them.

Appreciation of the visit of the Belleville band was expressed to Mr. Addison by Ald. H. Dodds.

Third Offenders Given 3 Months

Two third offenders were among the liquor cases before Magistrate A. E. Gee in court today.

John Burnside, 332 Rubidge St., and John Beatty, 153 Hart Ave., each were sentenced to three months in jail on their guilty pleas to being drunk in public as third offenders.

Bert Stabler, 502 Chamberlain St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

Gordon Hems, Toronto, was also fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public. Others pleading guilty to similar charges and receiving fines of $10 and $2.50 costs each were Timothy O'Donaghue, 995 Bolivar St., and William Walsh, 450 Mark St.

Gerald Monaghan, Nassau, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor.

FREE SMOKE

West-end residents report a through the city at 6.30 this morning blanketed the west end with smoke. One workman said the locomotive belched smoke from Jackson Park to the Brinton Carpet Company, and heavy atmosphere kept the clouds of sooty smoke close to the ground. 'Why can't the fireman do his coal shovelling outside the city" was the question.

HAVE EASY WEEK-END

Peterborough's fire department had an easy time over the week-end. The boys from the Aylmer St. station didn't have a single call for their services. The chief topic of conversation is still the Kresge fire with veterans on the force comparing this latest fire with other major outbreaks in the city in recent years.

CAR DAMAGED

A hit-and-run artist caused fender and wheel damage to the car of M. McKenzie, 30 Edgewater Blvd., about 10.30 Saturday night. The car was parked on George St. when the runaway vehicle hit it. Police were told that after the collision, the striking car just speeded up and was lost in the traffic. PC C. J. McGillen investigated.

PICK FOUR STUDENTS

Two students from the Collegiate and two from rural schools have been invited to attend a dinner at the Canadian National Exhibition on Warriors' Day, August 28. Collegiate students are Anne Boyle and Allan Lee, and rural students are Betty Parcells and Bernard Condon, both of Douro. Six hundred from all Ontario were invited and names of the 600 to whom invitations have been sent were submitted to Collegiate and High School principals except in rural areas where selection was made by the teachers.

LOTS OF PEACHES

Fruit merchants report that this is a good year for peaches. At the moment the market is in a period of transition with some of the early crop still dribbling in and the first of the next crop also arriving. Last week when there was a large supply of the early crop, the housewife was paying $1.19 for a six-quart basket; this has jumped meanwhile to $1.25-$1.30 a basket. The bulk of the peaches is expected to be on sale in a couple of weeks, but merchants will not hazard a guess how much the price will be reduced

$90 FOR RINK

The Sunday night band concert by the Belleville Municipal Band netted about $90 for the Civic Arena fund. More than 3,000 people attended the concert.

TO VOTE ON MARKET

London, Ont., council will submit at the December elections a bylaw to borrow $800,000 for a covered market. The proposed building will house 11 stores, 168 counter stalls, 111 truck stalls and provide room for parking 640 cars. It was expected that revenues from the building would retire the 15-year-old debentures.

A WHOPPER FROM STONY

Stony Lake moved into the fishing spotlight Monday morning when two New Yorkers tangled with a 22-pound muskie and landed it after a lively 20 minute battle. The two are Seth Baker, and Charles Whitney, both of Limestone, New York. They have been coming to the McCracken's Landing section for the past five years. They are in one of Choate's cottages. The muskie was 45 inches long.

YEAR'S BIGGEST MARKET

The biggest farmers market of the year was reported on Saturday. A bumper crop of vegetables this season has put produce stands at a premium. On Saturday an auxiliary line of stands was erected at the west side of the square. Several would-be stall-holders had to be turned away so large was the turnout. Tomatoes, potatoes, cabbages, beets and corn, as well as other vegetables, were on sale in large quantities. Eggs varied between 60-65 cents with specials as high as 70 cents.

Hec Thompson Gets Hole-in-One

Playing with Stan McBride, Stan Adamson and Jack Raines at the Peterborough Golf Club on Sunday, Hector Thompson scored a hole-in-one on the 165-yard fourth hole. It was the first "ace" at the club this year and the first in some years on the fourth. Delighted shouts of the foursome could be heard at the clubhouse, according to Hugh Logan, the pro.

The hole-in-one was made in competition between the Kawartha and Peterborough Clubs in the first-half of the city championship playoffs, sesond part being held next Sunday at Kawartha Club. Thompson is a member of the Peterborough Club.

Following are the cards turned in by the Kawartha golfers: Stan Adamson 85, Jack Raines 90, Jack Condon 90, Wm. Harle 86, M. Ruiter 80, Stan Whiddon 74, Fraser Dunfield 79, Les Reid 84, E. British Pastor Seeks Answer To A-Bomb Use

LONDON, Aug. 23 — (AP). — A British clergyman on Sunday raised the question whether the atomic bombs were dropped on Japan because of a reported Tokyo threat to massacre the war prisoners in retaliation for any invasion.

Rev. Percival Gough, rector of the Acton (West London) Church said the 1948 Crockford's Clerical Directory, to be published this week, cals on those who know the answer to speak out. The directory is an Oxford University Press publication listing clergymen of the Church of England.

During his sermon, the minister quoted the directory as follows:

"We have seen it stated that when the Japanese saw that defeat has become inevitable they informed His Majesty's Government and the Government of the United States through a neutral Power that if a landing were attempted on any part of their territory the prisoners of war in their hands would be massacred to the last man....

"There must be a few people both here and in America who really know whether this is true or not. We think that the time for them to speak has now come."

(Washington records showed that President Truman said at the time of the atomic bomb attack on Hiroshima in August, 1945, that the bomb was dropped "in order to shorten the agony of war, in order to save the lives of thousands of young Americans.")

Believes Canada Niggardly On Education

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Canada has been niggardly in the matter of higher education, Dr. Harry M. Cassidy told the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs here on Saturday.

Director of the School of Social Work, University of Toronto, Dr. Cassidy advocated extension of higher educational opportunities and facilities. He suggested the Federal Government should help to finance the capital outlay of what he termed community colleges.

Dr. Cassidy said that if Canada were to reach the level of the higher education facilities of the United States three times as much money would be required as that spent now.

A civilian program, similar to that of the Department of Veteran' Affairs was desirable. He submitted that Federal aid is necessary because of the inability of provinces to finance the proposed expansion.

Can't Get Teachers

Dr. Wallace, President-Emeritus of University College, disagreed with some of the points raised by Dr. Cassidy. He said obtaining teachers to undertake such a program is "a hopeless task." He contended that while any plan to give opportunity for higher education to all is "a noble idea," a loss of standards would result.

"Quality and quantity in education are total enemies," Dr. Wallace said.

"Our intensely specialized society demands vocational training. Our practical religion of 'getting on' is a dominating factor in our attitudes."

Divide, Multiply Perennials

By DEAN HALLIDAY

The secret of success when dividing plants in the fall is to do it early enough so that the plants' roots have ample time to become well established in their new quarters before the ground freezes

Whenever possible, divide perennials on a cool, cloudy day. If the work must be done on a hot or windy day, then protect the roots immediately when they are out the ground by covering them with wet burlap or newspaper. When the small rootlets dry out from exposure to sun, wind or drying air, they die, and new ones have to be grown before the plant can re-establish itself.

Perennial divisions are made in the early fall or spring with the exception of a few, like Oriental poppies, which are separated in August when they are dormant.

To divide, lift the entire clump from the border and remove enough soil to see the roots. Then cut apart in section with a sharp knift. Make new clumps with 3 or 4 stalks, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Divisions should be replanted immediately after they are made. Work the soil and have it ready before lifting the clump. Dig the hole to a depth of 18 inches and mix well-rotted manure into the bottom soil. Make the hole large enough to accommodate the roots without cramping them, as illustrated. Firm soil about the roots and water well.

Avoid the common mistake of digging up more plants than can be properly handled at one time.

Some gardeners soak the plants thoroughly before digging them up. This loosens the roots and they can be cut or pulled apart more easily.

The Best banking system

CANADA has a banking system which, for efficiency and dependability, is unsurpassed in the world. Competitive, flexible, adaptable to the changing needs of the country, it serves Canada's producers, her industries, her traders—and it serves your personal needs, too.

No customer has to fear for the privacy of his regular banking transactions. This privacy is completely free of political pressures or considerations—it is rooted in Canadian banking practice and tradition.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would fasten the Marxist foreign pattern on you.

Ackerman-Lawrie Wedding Charming Scene in St. John's

A lovely wedding took place in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday afternoon as Venerable Archdeacon W. P. Robertson performed marriage rites uniting Margaret Ella Lawrie and Benjamin Franklin Ackerman. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Lawrie, and the groom a son of Col. Charles H. Ackerman and the late Mrs. Ackerman, all of Peterborough.

The beautiful old church was decorated for the occasion with pink and white gladioli. Fred G. Mann at the organ played traditional wedding music, and while the register was being signed contributed one of his own organ compositions.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Barbara Lawrie, as maid of honor, and Mrs. John Cooper Cole, Mrs. W. R. Thomas and Miss Nancy Ackerman, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Attending the groom was his brother, Mr. Arthur H. Ackerman.

The guests were shown to their seats by Dr. John Cooper Cole, Mr. David B. Rogers, Mr. John Hooper and Mr. Gerald Juby.

White satin fashioned the bridal gown made on Grecian lines with a very full circular train and antique roseprint lace was used for a small hat with stiffened brim. The veil was of white net trimmed with the heirloom lace and caught at the edge of the train with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade of white gladioli and white iris. The attendants were frocked alike in ankle-length bouffant dresses of delphinium blue faille and wore matching pleated hats. The carried cerise gladioli.

The reception was held at the Chemong Park summer home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ackerman. Receiving with the wedding party was Mrs. Lawrie, the bride's mother, gowned in smoke grey crepe with matching hat trimmed with Bird of Paradise feathers, and wearing a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Ackerman, the hostess, was wearing a stunning blue satin dress with blue hat trimmed with ostrich plumes.

For their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman are taking the Saguenay cruise from Quebec City. When going away the bride was wearing a maroon gabardine suit and a black satin hat.

Paris And London Designers Turn To Synthetic Fabrics

PARIS, Aug. 21—(Reuters)—New fabrics perfected by research laboratories in France and Britain will be a keynote of autumn fashions both here and in London.

In the forefront of the fabric parade, undoubtedly, is rayon, either alone or mixed with older natural fibres such as wool, linen and silk.

Colors, subdued but lovely, are perfect as the background for the vivid rich touches which are being featured this autumn. Muddy beige and dark smoke grey are the most popular of the subdued tones although a deep dust purple is also proving a popular base for colorful accessories.

Stripes, ranging from tiny pin to several inches in width and with some graduating from narrow to wide on the same length, predominate in the fabric shows in Paris.

Rich but restrained shot taffeta is popular throughout and a feature of models both here and in London.

Several of the more luxurious examples, however, will not be available in Britain except for export as they are processed with more than the five per cent of pure silk which is allowed for home consumption.

Since the advent of rayon and nylon this can no longer be considered a great loss as many of the most practical fabrics offered to women today have no silk whatsoever in their weave.

New Type Of Nylon

The most popular nylon here in Paris is called craknyl and can be recognized by its pebble weave. It is used for every purpose from evening dress to bathing suits, and is practical in that it does not crease, dries in a few hours and folds into a minimum space.

Another fabric which is making considerable headway in the export trade is a gabardine called contre-plaque. This material was perfected and produced in France during the years of the occupation.

Women members of the Red Cross were the first to appreciate the unusual qualities of this 100 per cent synthetic cloth. Since the liberation, great quantities of this material have been produced and it has proved popular with all the French houses.

The material is wind-proof, water-proof and washable. It is pliable, drapes well, is durable and therefore in great demand for smart sports clothes.

Jersey is again in the fashion picture with many houses purchasing this interwoven rayon fabric and dying it in colors they wish to feature.

The house of Guillemin has for many season been the toast of the Parish fashion houses as the suppliers of an incomparable luxury satin. Drior, for example, has had great success with every model he fashioned from this heavy slipper satin.

New colors are basically subdued, with tones so mixed that they can only be called component. Grays, for example, are mixed with brown and blue; greens are blue; and blues turn green under certain lights.

There are few pure colors, and even white is shot with ivory and translucent pastel tones.

Mrs. A. Gardner of Peterborough. For the occasion the bride's mother was attired in pale blue printed silk with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother chose a two-piece dress of blue crepe-de-chine with white accessories and wore pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will reside in Moose Jaw.

Hats Cover Ears Will Be Worn Round the Clock

PARIS, Aug. 23 — (Reuters) — Keynote of the new autumn and winter hats now being shown in Paris is that they are fashioned to fit a small, neat head.

The 1948-49 hat is made for the new, tapered, short-hair style and is worn well down over the hair. Gone are the days of perching them precariously on top of the head or tying on curls.

The prettiest of them are reminiscent of the 20s and early 30s but with the 1948 look.

They are worn all round the clock and even the most decollete of formal evening gowns is capped in the new autumn collections with a tiny helmet of lame satin or feathers.

Colors generally are subdued and the Parisian favorite black is less popular than ever before. The most attractive models are fashioned in velvet and beaver-backed felt.

Exquisite to touch and lovely to wear are the soft mist-greys through a whole range of silver-greys.

Next in popularity come pale beige to amber, dull copper to deep, red-brown, neutral tones in off-whites and natural yellows, and midnight shades of blue and turquoise and the dark-green shade of weathered moss.

Ears will be warmer this winter than they have been for many seasons for every milliner in Paris has covered them—and the furriers are stealing their thunder by fashioning little Eskimo bonnets to be worn with their coats.

Here are some of the striking models so far seen in Paris for autumn and winter wear:

Lee Monnier showed a black plastic visor on a dark-green crown pierced with a feather of the same shiny black as the peaked brim.

For afternoon or cocktails, her loveliest model was fashioned ike a helmet with a rolled edge, the material ice-blue jersey ending in a soft, draped back scarf.

Young and delightful was another dressy model in flame-blue shaped like a baby's bonnet and trimmed with amber feathers.

Fred T. Gardner Weds In Moose Jaw

A wedding, of interest took place in Zion United Church, Moose Jaw, on August 14, when Rev. A. W. Ingram united in marriage Miss Caroline Luposki, Moose Jaw, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Luposki of Saskatoon, and Frederick Thomas Gardner, formerly of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Akers, Moose Moose Jaw, brother of Mr. Alfred Gardner, 552 Bethune St. and Mrs. Gordon Farthing 75 Parkhill Rd.

The bride wore a gown of heavy white satin with nylon yoke studded with seed pearls and was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length veil was held in place by a seed pearl crown and she carried American beauty roses. Miss Shirley Akers, sister of the groom, as maid-of-honor, wore blue taffeta and a chapel veil falling from a blue beaded headdress. Matching gloves and a Colonial bouquet completed her ensemble. Miss Helen Akers, as bridesmaid, chose gold brocade with net over taffeta skirt and wore a yellow chapel veil held by a beaded headdress, gold gloves and carried Talismas roses.

William Falconer attended the groom and William Jones and Stanley Luposki ushered.

During the reception held at the home of the groom's parents, a telegram was read from Mr. and

THE STARS SAY....

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, August 24.

Well-studied plans, worked out in realistic and practical techniques may be counted upon to make very definite and concrete progress in advancing desired objectives and cherished ambitions. The highest aims and aspirations have promise of full fruition if plans be well organized and carefully executed as to detail and with ideas for long-range security. However, any rash, intemperate and over aggressive acts could bring ruinous reactions on career, possessions and standing.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to push their highest objectives, fondest hopes and wishes, with sound, well organized plans and an eye to future solidarity, in which final results find reaction on the intimate life, position, popularity and prestige. Sagacity and sound tactics could yield rich results, but any effort to force the issues, use strenuous or exaggerated methods, could defeat high purpose and block aspirations.

A child born on this day has splendid equipment for attaining sound objectives, or long-term and far-reaching consequence. But over-strenuous or forceful efforts coud prove disastrous.

Ham Mousse Summer Dish For Your Leftover Ham

By MARY MOORE

Time is running out when we can serve such hot weather items as jellied meats and mousses, for we will soon want hot meals just as much as we are needing cool ones now — and for my own part I am sorry, for it has been so simple to go to the refrigerator on these hot evenings and simply assemble a supper, instead of having to cook it.

Of course, it had to be prepared sometime, but I have held forth on the theme of doing our cooking in big batches in the "coolth" of the day, and the virtues of this method for busy summer cooks is old stuff.

In the winter I think the best way to use leftover ham from the end of a whole ham is in a Guiche Lorraine Pie — but in summer I think Ham Mousse takes the honors, so read on:

HAM MOUSSE

Put 2½ cups ham through food chopper; add ½ cup finely chopped parsley. Soak 1¾ tablespoons gelatine in ¼ cup cold water, and dissolve it by stirring over hot water. Stir this into the ham mixture and add ½ cup good quality salad dressing or mayonnaise. Fold in 1 cup heavy cream stiffly whipped. If desired ½ to 1 teaspoon dry mustard may be added to the ham mixture before adding the gelatine,—I like this addition. Pour into mould with an attractive shape and chill until set. When ready to serve unmould and garnish with cress, sliced tomatoes, and gherkins.

As you can see this mousse may be moulded in individual shapes and served as one item on a salad plate.

VEAL ROLL for Slicing Cold (But may be used Hot).

Order a 4 or 5 lb. breast of veal with the bone taken out; also buy ½ lb. sausage meat, and hard cook 3 eggs. Lay the meat open so that you may spread the opening from which the bone came with the sausage; place the whole hard-cooked eggs end to end in this opening, roll up meat and tie with string. Tie securely in a cloth or large piece of cooking parchment, cover with boiling water, add 2 teaspoons salt and 4 peppercorns to the water, cover and simmer for 3 hours. Remove from liquid and cool, then chill overnight under heavy weight. This amount will serve twelve if carefully sliced with sharp knife. Spiced apple jelly or crabapples or pears are a delicious accompaniment to Veal Roll.

EMAY'S SALMON LOAF

One and one-half to 2 cups flaked canned or cold boiled salmon, 1 cup cooked macaroni or mashed potatoes, 1 cup hot milk, 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup finely chopped sauteed mushrooms, 1 tablespoon minced chives and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper and paprika. Mix all together. Pack into buttered loaf pan. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about ½ hour or until "set." This may be served hot or cold but is best if thoroughly chilled, and sliced and served with lemon and cucumber wedges. Naturally, since I invented this, I recommend it highly.

I think Sausage Rolls are served all too seldom for such a delicious dish. They are very simple to make but I will describe the simple method just to persuade you to try them again.

SAUSAGE ROLLS

Using not-too-soft biscuit dough OR plain pastry, roll out to about ¼-inch or a little thinner. Cut into 4-inch rounds or squares. Place one uncooked sausage on each, fold over pastry to make a "blanket," place on baking sheet and bake in very hot oven until pastry is golden and sausages are baked. These are good hot or cold, or reheated.

DOROTHY DIX

Unwanted Wife Finds Peace When She Obtains Divorce

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: After thirty years of what I supposed to be a successful marriage my husband announced to me that he had fallen in love with a girl twenty years younger than he was, and that he wanted a divorce so he could marry her. I agreed as I did not want to be an unwanted wife, and I have gotten along much better than I thought I would without him. Our old friends all stuck by me, and his new ones and his bride are pretty much left to themselves and I hear that the going is rough for him in his business and that his firm is about to go on the rocks.

I do not try to help punish them for the wrong they did to me, for I can go securely on my way, living the life I want to without having to consider the wishes of an exacting man. I have a peace of mind that is far beyond my expectations, and I believe that as time goes on I will find even more peace and satifaction. When a man throws away his wife after as many years together as we had, he is not worth grieving over.

MRS. M. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope this letter from a wise and brave wife will be read by the thousands of women who are breaking their hearts over the dastardly husbands who forsook them for girls young enough to be their daughters.

If there is one time in life when Fate metes out a punishment to fit the crime, it is when a man swaps off a faithful old wife for a young avaricious girl. For the old man's passion soon cools. He belongs to one generation and she belongs to another and they have nothing in common, so they bore each other to tears. While as for the girl, all she married for was to get the things that money buys. Nothing in life is more tragic than the sight of an old man sitting lonely at a table in a night club, while his pretty young wife dances and flirts with boys.

Husband Loses

The husband who forsakes his old wife for a young one thinks he has made a shrewd bargain, but he is mistaken. He has earned the contempt of all who know him. His old friends fall away from him and, 99 times out of 100, he loses his prestige in business circles. Men want to be able to respect and trust those with whom they deal.

I wish that every woman who has had an unfaithful husband had the courage to meet the situation with as much good, common sense as you have, Mrs. M. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband believes in one church and there is nothing that you can do about it that will change his mind. I believe in a different church and no one could change my mind. So as we can't agree we don't go to any church. But we have two children and we know we ought to take them to church. Please tell us what to do.

TOMMY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, the thing to do is to be broadminded enough and really religious enough to worship God, each according to the dictates of his or her conscience, instead of quarreling over the matter. All roads lead up to God, so why not take the one that appeals to you most and that is endeared to you not only by your by cutsom and habit. Take the faith, but by custom and habit. Take the children with you at times and encourage your husband to do the same, in an attitude of true humility and sincerely seeking the highest possible spiritual development.

US Worried About Canada Suspending Aid To Europe

OTTAWA, Aug. 23— (CP). — The Prices Commission will spend this week making a detailed investigation of the costs that go into producing a pair of shoes.

The inquiry will take all week and possibly a little longer, but Prof. C. A. Curtis, chairman of the commission, hopes to have it finished no later than September.

The first witness to appear on Tuesday will be a representative of the United Shoe Machinery Company which supplies most of the machinery used in shoe production. Representatives of John Ritchie Company of Quebec will follow.

Other witnesses which the commission intends to call are representatives of the Ludger Duchaine Shoe Company, the Savage Shoe Company, Hartt Boot and Shoe Company, and probably several others.

United Nations

The members of Canada's delegation to the General Assembly of the United Nations in Paris, opening September 21, will be announced this week, probably Tuesday. There has been constant speculation Prime Minister Mackenzie King will lead the delegation personally and stay on for the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers scheduled for London in the autumn.

As a rule at least two Cabinet ministers are included in such delegations. The Prime Minister was accompanied to Paris for the Peace Conference in 1946 by Defence Minister Claxton. External Affairs Minister St. Laurent led the delegation to the first General Assembly, but left after a fortnight. Health Minister Martin took over leadership of the delgation.

Europan Aid

American officials are expressing some concern over the suspension of Canada's aid to Europe. Since the European Recovery Program came into effect early in the summer, United Kingdom purchases from Canada have been financed with American dollars.

Canadian officials say this country has received one-fifth of all American dollars spent under ERP — slightly less than $200,000,000.

American sources admit they are concerned over the decline in Canadian aid to Europe which has resulted. They would like to see Canada keep its aid to Europe running, at least on the same scale that was in effect a few months ago. Canada was then giving Britain credits which amounted to $15,000,000 a month. They stopped when ERP started.

IN THE PRESENCE of girl guides and scouts from 26 nations, the flags of Canada, the Untied States, and Brazil, hostess countries are raised to mark formal opening of the 12th biennial conference of the world association of girl guides and girl scouts in Cooperstown, N.Y. Meat-Hungry US Folk Flock To Fort Erie

FORT ERIE, Aug. 23—(CP)—Meat-hungry Americans flocked into this border town near Buffalo during the week-end to take advantage of the lifting of a restriction formerly holding their beef purchased to $5.

The regulation was changed at the same time that the embargo on the export of Canadian beef to the United States was lifted.

The customs tariff on all beef and veal products now is three cents a pound. This allows American housewives to buy Canadian meat more cheaply than they can at home, they said.

Products still protected by the $5 limit are ham, liver, cheese and butter.

A MILESTONE in mental therapy was reached when 25-year-old Ernest Salisbury, who is shown here, and the doctor who restored him to mental health, Dr. Ira Altshuler, listen to the Detroit Symphony introduce "Eloise Symphony" which they composed together. Salisbury was committed to the Detroit county sanitarium two years ago suffering from delirium tremens. Doctors discovered his submerged taste for music and treatment consisted of letting him write music to find a normal outlet for his frustrated musical yearnings. Dr. Altshuler wrote the pattern for the symphony but Salisbury did all the harmony and orchestration.

16 Clinics Work On Mental Health Situation

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP). — One in 20 Canadians will spend at least part of their lives in a mental institution.

Despite the fact that in the last 15 years there has been a 60 per cent increase in the population of mental hospitals, health and welfare officials aren't unduly alarmed over the situation.

First of all Canada's aging population has a lot to do with it.

Dr. C. G. Stogdill, chief of the department's mental health division, said in an interview here that about 25 per cent of those now in institution are aged persons.

Then again, more persons are beginning to accept mental hospital care.

"While the mental hospital still is under a stigma, it is nothing like what it was some years ago," said Dr. Stogdill.

He added that Canada's 16 mental health clinics throughout the Dominion were doing much to assist persons in need of specialized treatment, but not hospital care.

Expansion Held Up

A shortage of trained personnel — and especially of social workers skilled in psychiatric treatment — is the main problem holding up post-war expansion of these clinics, particularly in Western Canada.

Sometimes sponsored by a school board, juvenile court, parent-teacher organization, or other group, the clinic is staffed by a psychiatrist, a psychologist, and a social worker.

Behavior of epileptics, children and others are studied at the clinic. Dr. Stogdill described as "a most healthy sign," the fact that teachers are beginning to show a great interest in what makes children behave the way they do.

As well as providing treatment, workers at the clinics tell teachers and parents how to detect undesirable behavior trends.

Dr. Stogdill said he felt the time was quickly approaching when mental health services should be integrated with other health services to the community.

"People are realizing more and more the part psychological factors play in illnesses," he concluded. "They also realize that delinquency has natural causes, and they are going to look for people who know the answers."

Apple Crop Good

GUELPH, Aug. 23—(CP)—Ontario's apple crop this season will be the "cleanest" in many years, Prof. H. E. Goble, provincial entomlogist, said here Sunday. Apple worms and other insect pests are conspicious by their absence, Prof. Goble said.

Will Marry Policeman

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23—(AP)—Beulah Louise Overell, 19-year-old heiress acquitted with a former fiance of murder charges in the yacht blast deaths of her parents, announced Sunday that she will mary Robert Cannon, 28, a Los Angeles policeman.

NO LONGER IN happy tears after her Friday victory in Hamilton beauty pageant, Betty Jean Ferguson, 20, of Halifax, crowned Miss Canada, 1948, was busy over the week-end answering calls of congratulation and sorting out piles of telegrams, letters and gifts.

'Silly' Parlor Trick Cures 21-Month Hiccup Attack

PASADENA, Calif., Aug. 23—(AP)—Theodore Syvertson, 69, is cured of his hiccups because of a simple parlor trick he previously had ignored as "silly".

The retired building contractor has been hiccoughing more or less continuously since he suffered a severe cold in November, 1946.

He tried all the stock remedies, spent eight or nine months in hospitals and consulted about 60 doctors. Even the shock of breaking his hip didn't help. He went right on hiccoughing.

Joseph Wollprt of Los Angeles, rapped on his door late Saturday night and insisted Sylverton try his remedy.

It consisted of bending at the waist and drinking water from the far side of a glass.

Halway through the second glass Slyvertson straightened up and said:

"Fella. That seems to be the ticket."

He hasn't hiccoughed since.

Medical Experts Decide Operation Necessary In Two Months To Save Deformed Baby

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 — (CP) — A panel of seven medical experts decided Sunday that 22-month-old Pamela Frances Lamphere, the baby with the outside bladder, should have an operation within the next two months.

The specialists, appointed by Judge Walter R. O'Malley to determine whether chances of survival waranted the delicate operation, convinced that if offered her baby less than a 1,000-to-one chance of survival, agreed with the doctors.

In the last few days, she said, she has seen children who have survived the same delicate surgery required if Pamela is to grow up normally.

Eight days ago, the mother, Mrs. Irene Lamphere, 21, told Judge O'Malley "I live for my child. I want her as long as I can have here. I'd lose her forever if she were operated upon."

The child's father, Fred, 23, a shipping clerk, had filed suit to compel the mother to agree to an operation, because he believed Pamela would die before she was five years old if the corrective operation was not performed.

FRANK WASNI of Winnipeg and Toronto, above, who was killed by a police bullet while fleeing from police in Hamilton. He was wanted for questioning in connection with a $12,000 Oshawa bank robbery. He died before reaching hospital.

PARACHUTE DESCENT of Airborne Lifeboat, attached to a parachute, the largest airborne lifeboat for air-sea rescue operations drops into Hempstead Harbor, east of New York City, during U.S. Air Force demonstration. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

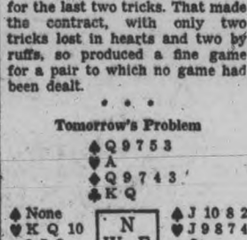
TIME IS THE ESSENCE

BUSINESS MEN, lawyers, diplomats, soldiers and performers in many other lines seem to like the expression "time is the essence" to indicate urgency in connection with one matter or another. But they have nothing on the bridge player who sees that the declarer has established in the dummy a card on which some other suit. When that condition develops, it is up to a defender to cash, as quickly as he can, any winner in the suit from which the later discard is threatened. Unless he does it at once, he may lose his chance to do it at all.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♦	1 NT	2♦
Pass	Pass	2 NT	3♦
Pass	Pass	Dbl.



North decided to try the off-suit lead of the heart J, which the master player in the West allowed to win, then went in with the A when the 9 was led, betokening a three-card sequence. Next he led the heart 5, which the K won, setting up the 7 in dummy.

Seeing that development, South's job was to switch at once to a spade, as patently West intended to toss one of that suit on the established heart. South, however, decided that prevention of club ruffs was more important, so led back his sole trump. West took that with the A, to prevent too many trump leads. Next he scored the club A, discarding the spade 3, ruffed the club 6 with the diamond 7 and spade 6. North ruffed this with the diamond 10, then led his spade A—too late. West ruffed with the diamond 4, led the club 9 for a ruff by the diamond 8 and then the spade 10 for a ruff by the diamond 6.

The club 10 was ruffed now by North's diamond K, but the spade J was discarded from dummy to leave the diamond Q and 9 there for the last two tricks. That made the contract, with only two tricks lost in hearts and two by ruffs, so produced a fine game for a pair to which no game had been dealt.

Canada's Lower Fur Prices Big Factor To US Buyers

American tourists are buying furs—lots of them—and many of them in the expensive class. One city fur retailer said that sales in his establishment were "at least as good as last year's busines." And, he pointed out, many U.S. fur-buyer come later in the year.

The cost of furs in Canada compared to the prices for items of the same type in the United States has a lot to do with the popularity of this big expenditure on this side of the border.

Most important single cost factor is the 20 per cent. luxury tax on fur coats and other articles of clothing in the U.S. Then, on top of that, the American consumer, buying in the States, often has to shell out with a city or state tax (or both) which may be anywhere from two to six per cent. None of these taxes is on fur goods sold in Canada.

On a $500 coat, this straight difference in the tax ratio makes a substantial margin—enough to make many Americans plan the purchase as a major part of their trip.

The recently extended regulation regarding value of goods which may be taken back to the U.S. duty-free—which now permits $400 worth of goods for each person—enables couples or families making the trip and staying the necessary 12 days to get an expensive coat and still come within the customs-crossing exemptions.

Although purchases have gone all along the prices range, it is generally agreed by merchants in the fur line that "Americans are big spenders."

"We don't even bother showing them anything below the $150 mark. They simply are not interested in cheap stuff," said one.

Types of goods sold varied. There is a strong trend this year towards the new 36-inch length "shortie" fur coats in the expensive furs—mink, persian lamb, seal and muskrat. Muffs, fur-trimmed slippers, fur hats and other accessories are also selling well among the four high-priced leaders.

Another factor in the lower cost is that, as in industry in the two countries generally, Canadian costs are lower. Labor and general overhead of producing a coat here are much less than in the U.S. For this reason, retailers can give themselves the same profit here as in New York and still sell the coat for much less. On coats in the "millionaire class," this difference might come to hundreds of dollars less . . . a substantial saving, even for a millionaire.

DANIEL MORRIS KELLER, 42-year-old Toronto man, was arrested Saturday night near Port Hope after a two-year chase which covered two continents. He is wanted here and in United States on large-scale fraud and forgery warrants. He flew the Atlantic from Belgium on Friday, was nabbed in a tourist cabin when police spotted high-powered Cadillac he was known to be driving. Blubbering and limp, Keller feigned illness as he was led to cells.

Flying Bug Bites Jimmy Stewart In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (AP).—Jimmy Stewart has been nipped by the flying bug again.

Folks said Jimmy had enough of airplanes during his five-year hitch with the United States Air Force. When he came back to the movies after the war, he did not show much interest in the flight talk of Hollywood's many pilots. "Don't have any time to fly," he shrugged.

Last year Jimmy met racing pilot Joe Debona. "I just missed winning the Bendix race by 30 seconds," Debona moaned. Jimmy was intrigued. "Maybe I can find you a faster plane," he said.

He picked a P-51 Mustang out of a mass of others rusting in a surplus dump in the Arizona Desert. The plane was lifted on to a truck and hauled to Santa Monica. Jimmy bought a 12-cylinder Rolls-Royce engine and work began to get the plane in shape for flying's biggest race.

Rebuilt From Scratch

Jimmy explained that the whole plane was dismantled and rebuilt from scratch. The interior of the wings were coated with a rubber substance and converted to gasoline tanks, since auxiliary tanks outside the fuselage would cut down precious speed.

Likewise, outside rivets were eliminated and the entire surface sanded, coated and painted with a slick lacquer. "We figure to pick up 15 miles an hour that way," Jimmy reckoned. He hopes the plane will do 500 miles an hour and upward.

To-day's Feature.

Hollywood's sighs and sounds: Margaret O'Brien walking through the MGM commissary in shorts and drawing a few whistles.....Estrer Williams swimming in an old-style suit for "Ball Game" and commenting, "I feel embarrassed with all these clothes on"....Bob Mitchum cooking dinner for Sonny Tufts while Mrs. Tufts is in the hospital.

John Garfield and Jennifer Jones doing tests for "Tough Sketch"....John Derek, Bogart's new find, losing his voice in his first big scene....Lucille Ball using the new panchromatic stick which permits actresses to make up (their faces) in 30 seconds.
